

THURSDAY JULY 30 1981

His Royal Highness Charles Philip Arthur George, Prince of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, eldest son of Her Majesty The Queen and His Royal Highness The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, was married in St Paul's Cathedral yesterday to the Lady Diana Frances Spencer, youngest daughter of the Earl Spencer and the Honourable Mrs Shand Kydd.

Day of unbridled romance in a grey world

A princely marriage is the brilliant edition of a universal fact and, as such, it rivets mankind. When the couple fluff their lines, the universal fact becomes instantly and poignantly human. Charles Philip Arthur George,

Prince of Wales and heir to the Throne, and Lady Diana Frances Spencer, were married before the alter of St Paul's Cathedral at 11.20 am yesterday, she having promised to take Philip Charles Arthur George, and he having omitted to mention that the goods with which he endowed her were worldly ones.

It was the most public of all private moments, watched by 3,500 guests insule Wren's light majestic cathedral, heard over loudspeaker: by one mil-lion people lining the processional route, and seen by another 750 million throughout the world on the most popular television programme yet transmit-

The marriage coremony, conducted according to the simple rite of the Church of England, was the core and the purpose of a great ceremonial occasion that assumed the gaiety of carnival rather than the gravity of state, with the participation of more crowned heads and commoners than London has seen since the

In a grey world, for a troubled nation smarting from a crown of social and political thorns, it was a day of unbridled romance, colour, and celebration, shared with half the globe. But the realities of the times were obliged to intrude discreetly with 4.000 policemen, many of them armed, lining the route, marksmen atop buildings, detectives mingling with the crowds, and two armed police sergeants disguised as footmen riding with the royal coaches.

But there were no unhappy incidents. Even the dismal English summer allowed itself a dry day of close, muggy heat, sunshine, and occasional cloud.

Nevertheless, recent attempts, real or imagined, on the lives of public figures, culminating in the firing of shots in the presence of the Oueen at the start of the Trooping the Colour cerefor a degree of security un-characteristic of great British public events.

The day was one of worry, and immense organization, for Sir David McNee, the Metropolitan Police Commissioner. Once the royal couple were safely out of his domain he revealed that the use of police sergeants as footmen had been an arrangement between his force and the Palace, not so much to add to an already weighty security apparatus, as to provide the Royal Family with a feeling of comfort.

But the day ended in relief. All missing persons were found, and in the City of London there was a single arrest, for street trading.

Crowds, drawn from many of the nations over which the British Throne holds titular sway as well as lost colonies such as the United States, had begun to camp along the two mile processional route on Monday, the most favoured vantage point being opposite the door of St Paul's. By yesterday morning every yard was packed by a red, white and blue multitude cheering everything that passed, be it a duchess or a dustcart,

From Buckingham Palace to Ludgate Hill there processed representatives of eight of the nine monarchies remaining in mainland Europe, the King and Queen of Spain having declined their invitation over the issue of Gibraltar's being used as a honeymoon calling place. They were followed by the British Royal Family in strength, led by the Queen in aquamarine, and ending with the bridegroom in the full dress uniform of a naval

But it was for the procession from Clarence House that the ultimate accolade was reserved. Lady Diana, riding in the Glass Coach, sat almost hidden in her spectacular wedding creation of ivory taffeta and old lace.

Only when she stepped from the coach on the arm of her father at the cathedral steps was its true magnificence revealed: a wildly romantic gown with 25ft of train that cascaded like a river behind her down the steps of St Paul's.

Her composure entirely regained after the strain of recent days, she walked the endless three-and-a-half-minute aisle on Lord Spencer's arm to the triumphant strains of Jeremiah Clarke's "Trumper Voluntary", heralding a service alive with joyful music. It was a long journey she joined her groen less than one minute late.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Robert Runcie, performed the ceremony of marriage, assisted by clergymen of many first time at a royal wedding since the Reformation, a Roman Catholic, Cardinal Hume, Arch bishop of Westminster.

At the moment of Cardinal Hume's participation, indepen dent television lost its precious picture from the cathedral for two minutes because of a power failure, but the BBC cameras caught every moment without fail. Outside, the crowd was stilled as the loudspeakers conveyed the couple's responses.

Continued on page 2, col 1

in exile outside Paris, accused Mr Bani-Sadr of appointing Ayatollah Khalkali as head of the Islamic tribunals and until the day of his overthrow of approving all the crimes committed by the present regime.

In a telephone interview with The Times Mr Bani-Sadr said

personally many times . . . to respect the right of the people of Iran to democratic liberties . . . Quite the reverse has heen achieved . . The lust after power stopped our pro-gress towards achieving our

A study into the coalfield is-

However, like Belvoir, the among the most profitable in almost complete.

Interview and refuge

Leading article, page 13

in Paris, page 9

A grand act in the theatre of kingship

In the familiar Reformation, words, with which millions of English men and women have wed for more than three centuries, the Prince of Walcs was married to Lady Diana Spencer. It was a grand act in the theatre of kingship; one of the last great ceremonies of the British monarchy this century. It was a colossal media spec-tacular, watched and wondered over by hundreds of millions at the round earth's imagined corners.

In a mysterious way it was a rite of passage also for the British nations, which still measure their calendrical progress by such royal landmarks: another step to the music of time by which the English monarchy has personified English history and made it human for more than a thousand

And it was a very grand English upper-class wedding, with a very English young man and a very English young man and a very English young woman nervously making their awesome old promises, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health.

They got married in the morning : on royal time. Bells chimed, as they are supposed to. And she was—yes, indeed she was—a fair lady. Even St Paul would have agreed that there was more to be said for marriage than that it is preferable to burning. And Sir Christopher would have come back to build his great dome as a stage, rising like a bubble over London, if it had not already been there.

The rosy morn had long since left Tithonus' bed, when the doors of St Paul's were opened on the stroke of nine. There were long, slow queues to get in, as early arrivals were filtered through a close search of bags and bodies. Inside, the great grey and gold ecclesiastical beehive buzzed with a national family wedding. Friends gossiped, enemies kissed one another effusively, and public faces were on view. Families sized each other up. Impossibly thin old gentlemen in spectacular uniforms and impossibly fat old out for the pens of Gillray and Rowlandson.

Lady Diana's flatmates in various blues were in the front row; Lady Spencer was in the fourth; and Lord Snowdon back in the tenth. Small boys in new suits fidgeted in the front row, and were kept in order by their big sisters.

The cathedral was prismatic with millinery, including such exotic headgear as that worn by Crown Prince Hassan of Jordan. Those pillars in the nave not decorated with Prince of Wales feathers sprouted more television crews than John Logie Baird dreamed of. The crimson of. Cardinal Hume clashed with the scarlet of the Yeomen of the Guard and the Gentlemen at. Arms. Heads of state and first ladies took their places. Nancy Reagan in cheerful salmon-pink, Mitterrand in unfrivolous sub-fuse, Mrs Thatcher in true-blue pillbox hat, the King of Tonga in his personal reinforced chair; (and one saw why).

The ecclesiastical procession was a stately text for an insider's

commentary on the Aisles of Power: all those influential former deans of Windsor who have advised on the Prince of Wales's education, the Speaker, who accompanied the Prince in his. carriage to his investiture, the disappointed Dean of Westminster playing away from home. It was a nice touch that the Military Knights at Windson, those surrogates who go to church in St George's Chapel on behalf of the idle Knights of the Garter every Sunday, had been included in the ceremonial.

The junior members of the Royal Family who have been divorced brought their second wives for the first time to such a royal occasion. The procession erroneously described as Foreign Crowned Heads (few of them: have been crowned) made its prodepending on the length of their reigns. Princess Grace of Monaco. (not a proper queen) led the way with her tall son, the Hereditary Prince; the King and the Queen of the Belgians, and the King of Norway, Edward VII's last grandson, brought up the rear, flanked by his Crown Prince and Princess.

At length they all to merry London came, and the Lord Mayor bearing the Pearl Sword, and waiving his right to meet the monarch at Temple Bar, received the Queen at the steps of St Paul's. For the first time the cheering could be heard inside. To which the people standing all about, as in approvance did thereto appland.

The Queen's procession was led by the Ogilvy children, followed by the senior royals in ascending order of precedence: Princess Alice Duchess of Gloucester, 80 this year; Princess Margaret in a colour officially described as azalea/peach with turban: Princess Anne with sharp small yellow silk cap tilted over her right eye. Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, who has usually been escorted to such occasions by the Prince of Wales. was in sea green, with one of those fluffy powder-puffs she likes on her head. The Queen was aquamarine and a grave

Behind her came the great-Continued on page 3, col 6

Fugitive Bani-Sadr escapes to France

By Our Foreign Staff

Mr Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, deposed President of Iran and Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces, slipped quietly to freedom in France early yes-terday. He has lived in hiding in Iran since he was deposed

The French authorities granted him political asylumthe third major figure from Iran to seek refuge in France —despite an official demand from Tebran that he be extra-The former leader landed secretly at a military air base west of Paris at 4.30 am in a Roeing 707 of the Iranian Armed Forces. Officials in Tehran claimed the aircraft had been hijacked. Fighters failed to intercept it.

It was captained by Colonel Behzad Moezi, described by Tehran radio as the late Shah's Private pilot.
The radio, monitored by Reuter in London said the deposed leader was accompanied by his Prime Minister Massaud Rajavi, leader of the radical mujahedin organization which helped Mr Bani-Sadr to remain in hiding in Iran.

M Claude Cheysson, the

I rench Foreign Minister, emphasized that Mr Bani-Sadr was free to stay in France provided he made no political statements in contravention of one of the most profitable and productive coal areas in Britain

Warwickshire could

Warwickshire coal boost

under a proposal that will be submitted soon to the National Coal Board. An application for from conservationists. Two pits, planning permission is expected among the most profitable in the country, are mining 1.8 itseld covers 108 square miles million tonnes a year from the

of countryside between Coven-field, and the proposal would-try and Leanington Spa and be to expand the capacity of become

Iran earthquake death toll may be thousands

An earthquake in south-east Iran killed more than 700 people, injured 440 and destroyed several villages. Six weeks ago a tremor in the same area killed 1,000 people. In the latest earthquake, 90 per cent of the houses in some villages were destroyed. The tremor blocked mountain roads, so rescue teams were flown in by helicopers. The governor of Kerman province said the death toll may rise to between 3,000 The Times Mr Bani-Sadr said soon after his arrival in Paris yesterday: "I still believe myself to be duty bound to the nation to struggle for the realization of our original aims at the start of the revolution.

"Mr Khomeini promised me necessally many times." toll may rise to between 3,000 and 4,000. About half the affected area was lying under rubble. Many people spent the night in the open after the destruction of their homes. Ayatollah Khomeini decreed. three days' mourning in the Page 8

Springbok baton charge by police

More than 30 people were injured in Wellington when New Zealand police baton charged a march on the South African Consulate by 2,000 opponents of the Springboks rugby tour. Demonstrators earlier occuprisesses at least 400 million these to 3.1 million tonnes a tonnes of recoverable coal, wear. A public inquiry would tonnes in the Vale of Belvoir.

Demonstrators earner occurring these to 3.1 million tonnes a pied the offices of the Welling ton Rugby Union and scattered ton's book Batting from tickets for the second All Memory has been held over the beautiful tonners in the Vale of Belvoir.

from a first floor window to protesters below. Police forced their way into the building and arrested the demonstrators. At Auckland, there were clashes at the offices of Air New Zealand, which is carrying the South Africans during the tour. But the third scheduled match of the Springhels nour

match of the Springboks tour was played without trouble at New Plymouth. Bus loads of tour supporters had arrived from Hamilton and violent clashes had been feared.

Lebanon dogfight threatens truce

The precarious five-day ceasefire in the Middle East suffered its most severe setback when Israeli fighters shot down a Syrian jet which allegedly tried to intercept a reconnaissance patrol flying over Lebanon. The dogfight highlighted one of the most sensitive sections of the truce negoriated last week by Mr Philip Habib, America's special envoy.

The The Syrians were not directly involved in the truce negotiations.

'Mistake' over art purchase

An art expert's view that the National Gallery, is mistaken in attributing a recently acquired painting to Jean Baptist Weenix has attracted support. "A courtyard with two figures" is the work of the seventeenth century Dutch artist's son, Mr Stephen Reiss has written to The Times. Mr Christopher Brown, who has charge of the gallery's Dutch paintings, commented:

"We believe it to be by the father, but if it were by the son it would not affect our reason for purchasing a fine example of Italianate Dutch painting Page 6

Book serial

Police driver sought after Toxteth riot death

The identity of a police driver involved in a hit and run fatality during rioting in Toxteth, Liverpool, on Tuesday night is being sought through an inquiry ordered by Mr Kenneth Oxford, Chief Con-stable of Merseyside. It is understood that an assistant chief constable from Northumbria will lead the immediate investigation of the incident, which led to the death in hospital yesterday of a crippled man.

The victim, Mr David Moore, aged 22, was the first person to die in the present spate of urban rioting in Britain. His

Silkin backed for deputy post

Depriord Labour Party have nominated Mr John Silkin, their sitting MP, for the deputy leadership of the Labour Party. Mr Silkin received 28 votes compared with 20 for Mr Wedgwood Benn, at a special meeting of the constituency party general committee. party's general committee.

No nominations were received for Mr Denis Healey. The nominations for Mr Silkin and Mr Benn came exclusively from ward branches in the con-stituency. Mr Benn received five nominations to Mr Silkin's one. Party officials said after the meeting that the vote was unlikely to have been affected by the absence of about 20 qualified delegates to the

Protests spread through Poland

Serious protests are spreading Business throughout Poland as the Court country's food crisis worsens.
Officials of the Solidarity trade union were meeting in Warsaw Events to discuss how to deal with a flood of demands from workers in all parts of Poland for action to counter widespread food shortages, price rise proposals troubles.

Tuesday night's disturbances the first outbreak there nearly four weeks ago and police vehicles made repeared charges to disperse rioters. Mr Oxford defended the tactics as being preferable to the use of CS gas.

There is considerable criticism of Mr Oxford and demands for his resignation or dismissal are increassing. Law and order on Merseyside is becoming a political issue. political issue.

general economic situation. The Polish cabinet has issued a statement saying that the situa marches and other demonstra-tions are planned for later this

the. fast-deteriorating

week and next week in many centres. Injuries bring

Test changes

Dilley and Lawson will miss the fourth Test match beginning at Edgbaston today because of injury. They are replaced by Old and Hogg in the England and Australian sides respectively. With three more Tests to be played, the score stands at 1-1 with one draw. Page 15

Home News 6 Letters Overseas 8, 9 Lurie cartoon 4 14, 18 Obituary Arts 11 Science 10 Sport 15, 16 17-19 TV & Radio 23 Rooks 14 Theatres, etc 23 24 25 Years Ago 14 12 Universities 14 24 Westher . 24

Times Information Service, page 24 University results, page 20

Acyal Wolding

Thousands stay to see the drive to Waterloo

Continued from page 1

and the priest's pronouncement of them to be man and wife. A tidal wave of cheering was in-tidal wave of cheering was instantly loosed.

In a moment of privacy hidden from the television cameras' unblinking stare, the couple adjourned to sign the register, he writing "Charles P, bachelor, 52, Prince of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, of Buckingham Palace", and she "Diana Spencer, aged 20, spinster of Althorp".

Althorp".

Below their entries were appended the signatures of Robert Runcie, Elizabeth R, Philip, Edward, Andrew, Spencer, Frances Shand-Kydd, Anne, Buth Farmer and Sarah Fermoy, Armstrong-Jones.

Man and wife, now Prince and Princes, of Wales, returned down the sisle to Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance, emerging into the world to an explosion of affection. He held her hand, awkwardly; they smiled, still with a vestige of shyness.

Together, in the open 1902 state landau, they retraced the processional route, a broad swathe cut through a dense forest of flags and periscopes, scattered with rice and rose scattered with rice and rose petals and watched from every window. Her veil aside, the Princess of Wales revealed the fresh English face, unencumbered with jewels, of a delighted girl of 20, her only adornment the simple Spencer family tiara. The principals and their retainers safely within Buckingbam Palace, the barriers came down and a great surge of down and a great surge of people flooded the Mall from end to end to watch an event deeply engraved upon the British consciousness, the family on the halcony. They emerged at 1.10; Charles held Diana's hand and gave her what the audience wanted, a kiss.

The crowd velled and cheered for more, and the couple came out again, and again, diminutive thumb-sucking pages and atten-dants huddling into the bride's skirts. A final appearance and a final roar was reserved for an old lady who stood on that balconv on her own wedding day in 1923. Oueen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, who dabbed ber eye more than once during the day.

Panoply of state relaxed

While the couple retired from public view to join 120 family guests in roasts and a wedding breakfast the Prime Minister entertained the political figures. hereditary monarchs and elected presidents, to an informal lunch at the Bank of England. Palace to Waterloo station to beein their boneymoon. The panoply of state was by now relaxed; the landau jossed over Westminster Bridge trailing a clutch of silver balloons and a prominent " just married " sign. lest anyone should not yet know. -the work of the Princes Andrew and Edward, who earlier in the day had jointly taken the role of hist man and acted as their elder brother's "supporters " They joined the train for the iourney to Romsey. Hampsbire. but not before the Princess had rewarded with a kiss the two men chiefly responsible for the clockwork efficiency of the day's events: the Lord Chamberlain. I and Marlean, head of the Royal Household and mastermind of the entire ceremonial; and his denute. Sir John Johnston.

A large station crowd swarmed over luggare trollers and nerched atop kinsks to sing "Por he's a jolly good fellow" as the fellow and his wife embarked on their brief railway journey to Hampshire and peace. They were pulled, appropriately, by a locomotive named "Broadlands".

But peace eluded them a moment more. Romsey station, and the road to their final retreat, were lined with more cheering, running well-wishers. Only when they swept into the grounds of Broadlands did a public.occasion end and a private life

The couple will spend until Saturday at Broadlands. That they should begin their married life there is a decision of significance, as was the choice of "I Vow to thee my country" among the wedding hymns. Both are, in their different ways, gestures of respect to the memory of the man the Prince would have wished to witness this wedding perhaps above all others outside his immediate family: Lord Mountbatten of Burma.

Credits

The Times photographic team was Malcolm Clarke, Chris Gregory, Brian Harris, Harry Kerr, Robin Laurance, John Manning, Johnathan Player, Mike Sullivan, Peter Trievnor (colour front page picture), Keith Waldegrave, Bill Warhurst.

An unworldly slip by the Prince, perhaps to comfort his bride

Some of the crowds melted away into a London otherwise empty and on holiday. But count-less thousands stayed, to see the less thousands stayed, to see the crowds melted "Then the Archbishop, shall say: With this ring bishop, the Prince of Wales case it is understood that nugget of Welsh gold given (1923), the Queen (1947), taking the ring, shall I thee wed; with my body omitted "worldly". Some there was no significance to the royal family more Princess Margaret (1960), the prince of Wales case it is understood that nugget of Welsh gold given (1923), the Queen (1947), taking the ring, shall I thee wed; with my body omitted "worldly". Some there was no significance to the royal family more Princess Margaret (1960), the prince of Wales case it is understood that nugget of Welsh gold given (1923), the Queen (1947), taking the ring, shall I thee wed; with my body omitted "worldly". Some there was no significance to the royal family more princess Margaret (1960), the prince of Wales case it is understood that nugget of Welsh gold given (1923), the Queen (1947), taking the ring, shall I thee wed; with my body omitted "worldly". Some there was no significance in the royal family more princess Anne (1973).

less thousands staved, to see the Princess, he in a grey suit and she in a canteloupe, short-sleeved, two-piece outfit with matching hat, drive in the with matching hat, drive in the most landau from Buckingham of the ring there, and princess hand all my thought that he had done the fourth so on purpose, to comfort his bride for getting his names in the wrong order of the Woman's left hand. And the Man, hold-most landau from Buckingham of the ring there, and princess margaret (1930), thought that he had done in the omission.

The wedding ring was the Clogen mine.

The wedding ring was the Clogen mine.

Repeating these words in the wrong order in her previous declaration in her previous declaration of the ring there, and the marriage cere-in her wedding source for her wedding source for her wedding the ring that the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith, Collingwood of May-with and the next royal bride smith and taught by the Archbishop, mony after the Arch- of her troth. But in any fair. It comes from a rings for the Queen Mother ring.

gathered at the elbow above a lace petticoats of Buchanan, was added for luck.

This is the Princess of Wales's wedding dress ivory tulle and trimmed at waist and hem with sketched by its designers, David and Elizabeth embroidered lace. The sweeping train is trimmed Emmanuel. The body of the dress is made of and edged with sparkling lace. The dress and ivory pure silk taffeta. The bodice has a frilled veil are hand-embroidered with tiny mother-ofneckline with intricately embroidered lace pearl sequins and pearls. A tiny gold horseshoe panels at front and back. The full sleeves are studded with diamonds, craffed by Douglas

Romance in cascades of silk

By Suzy Menkes Fashion Editor

The romantic ruffle that the Princess of Wales has made her fashion hallmark was the focal point of her fairy-tale wedding dress. A gentle flounce of ivory taffeta, overlaid with a second tier of pearl-encrusted lace, framed her sweet young face and long neck, which was entirely free of the state jewels that had been expected.

The impression given as she stepped from her glass coach, with a full skirt below a tiny waist and the shimmering train snaking behind her, was of freshness and romance.

The same summer magic was seen in the bridesmaids' dresses, particularly in the flounced and scaloped calf-length frocks of the vounger girls. With their gar-lands and baskets of meadow flowers, they could have been plucked from a Victorian child's: scrapbook.

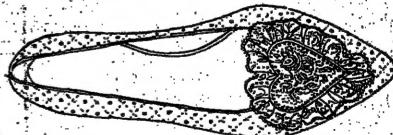

The golden Mountbatten roses -the same yellow echoed in the bridesmaids' sashes and in their flowers-was a poignant reminder of the much-loved member of the Royal Family missing from this happy occasion.

The Princess of Wales's dress was a triumph both in its overall conception and in its tiniest detail. David and Elizabeth Emanuel, the designers, managed to give the right sense of theatre and drama to a gown which we first glimpsed under a froth of veiling and then saw with its 25-ft train splashed dramatically across the blood-red carpet in the cathedral aisle.

The confetti shower of handembroidered mother-of-pearl sequips that spangled both the tulle veil and the antique lace panels of the dress threatened to outwinkle the rather simple Spencer family trara that sat above the Princess's famous

The creamy lace panels, (a florence of Carrickmacross lace presented to the Royal School of

Wedding slipper in ivory silk, decorated with mother-ofpearl sequins

Needlework by Queen Mary) was dyed just a shade lighter than the ivory silk taffets of the main dress, with its low neckline and central how: This gave a pretty contrast of tone on the bodice and to the edge of the gathered sleeves, as the Princess laid her pale arms against her husband's naval uniform.

The bride's shoes barely peeped out from under the layers of ivory tulle of the puffball skirt, but they were intricately detailed. Nearly 150 pearls and over 500 sequins decorated the heart-shaped central morif of these silk Cinderella slippers.

The delicacy of detail and of colour were the most surprising notes in an occasion when disting is always fairly predictable. Just as the Emaquels did not depart from their romantic last for the bridal dress, so the other members of the Royal Family were true to their own images.

The Oueen's coat and dress. with its waterfall of pleated crèpe de chine, was reminiscent of the outfit she wore for her Jubilee four years ago. But the pale aquamarine was in nice contrast to the Queen Mother's almond green, the familiar trembling osprey plumes around Behind these two gentle jewel colours, Princess Margaret sat chic in a deep azalea peach silk georgette dress with a double skidt. Princess Anne's cluster of golden yellow flowers perched on der brow was a rather unbal-lanced choice with her short bias-cut dress (which showed how quickly she has regained her figure after the birth of her daughter three months ago).

All the flowers of the field were represented in the colourful gathering at this summer wedding, with the bride's mother, Mrs Shand Kydd in the prettiest cornflower blus and Princess Alice and her daughter in-law, the Duchess of Gloucester, in periwinkle and hyacings.

Victorian-style bride dress-worn with circlet.

seiter with the pochette

DIFFERENCE AN HOUR MAKES. Sixty-minutes ago she arrived at St Paul's as Lady Diana Spencer. Now she leaves as Princess of Wales with her husband, the Prince, in the 1902 state landau on a journey that starts with the drive back to Buckingham Palace.

FAMILY CONFERENCE The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh exchange a word or two before the wedding. From the second row of chairs at the foot of the choir steps Captain Mark Phillip and Princess Anne-listen.

WHO GIVETH THIS WOMAN? The Archbishop takes the hand of Lady Diana from her father. The bridegroom is supported by his brothers, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward. Behind Lord Spencer stand his former wife and the bride's mother, Mrs Shand Kydd, her brother, Viscount Althorp and Ruth, Lady Fermoy.

The awesome promises made at last

Continued from page 1

aunt of the bride, the Dowager Duchess of Abercorn, in her other role as Mistress of the Robes to the Queen Mother.

The bridegroom processed in. surrounded on all sides by his supporters, brothers, private secretaries, and gentleman ushers, so that there was no hope of escape. He wore the full dress uniform of a naval commander, and looked relaxed for a man in his position, nodding cheerfully to right and left.

But the loudest cheer of the day and a fanfare greeted the bride, prepared by the Emanuels as a bride adorned for her husband in ivory silk taffeta and old lace. According to the heavy folders of heavily embargoed information, her veil was hand-embroidered with 10,000 tiny mother-of-pearl sequins, as they say in Come Dancing. Lo where she comes along with portly pace, on her father's arm, in her strong toil of grace, and with her train stretching 25ft down to the bridesmaids and pages. Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones stepped demurely up to take her bouquet and arrange her train. Then let the roaring organ, on which Handel and Mendelssohn which Handel and Mendelssohn played, loudly play "Christ is made the sure Foundation".

The Archbishop of Canterbury married them, using the tremendous old words, and reminding us that the Prince of Wales is also called Philip Arthur George. Lady Diana, understandably flustered, took him as Philip Charles instead of Charles Philip. which some Charles Philip, which some might consider an improvement. The Prince then left out "worldly", when undertaking to share all his worldly goods with her. Slips or not, they were man and wife, and Lady Diana had become Princess of Wales, third lady in the land, and had re-freshed the Royal Family with Stuart blood from five illegiti-mate lines of descent from Charles II and James II.

George Thomas read the great nuptial lesson from Corinthians with Welsh lilt and melodrama.

The Archbishop of Canterbury told them that here was the stuff of which fairytales were made,

In the ecumenical prayers afterwards, the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster had the most spiritual delivery, the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland the most robust, and the Rev Harry Williams, the Prince's Dean at Trinity, the most intellectual. He also was the first to lectual. He also was the first to pray publicly for "Diana Princess of Wales", who has entered the liturgy.

We all sang "I vow to thee, my country" to Holst's improbably best of hymn tunes, chosen by the Princess of Wales. The new serting of the National Anthem was rollicking, and the second verse sung without reference to the programm

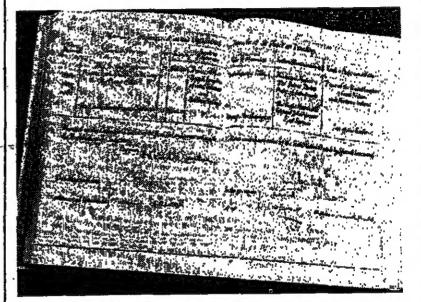

ence to the programm Mrs Shand Kydd, who looked strikingly elegant in hyacinth blue, took her former husband's arm with affection to lead him to the signing of the registers. From the north transcot that bright scraph, Kiri te Kanawa, filled the great dome with celestial concerts in harmony with the orchestra and massed choirs. The Queen managed a fleeting smile when her new daughter-in-law curtseved to her. In a democratic innovation the Royal Family processed back side by side with the Spencers; at previous royal weddings the royalties have always led, followed by their new in-laws.

Yeomen of the Guard tapped their feet to Pomp and Circumstance, and you could see the cager young boy buried under each perspiring old face. Now all is done, bring home the bride again, bring home the triumph of our victory. Tell me, ye merchant daughters, did ye see so fair a creature in your town before?

And as they drove away to a future, which they symbolize for all of us, and which yesterday for once looked golden, the air broke into a mist of bells.

When she said "I will" we could hear the crowd outside, listening to a relay of the ser-vice, roar like a giant in approba-

HISTORIC ENTRY : The official entry in the St Paul's marriage register bearing some of the most distinguished signatures in the land. Royal witnesses are the Queen, Prince Philip, the Queen Mother, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward, Princess Anne and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones. The Princess of Wales's parents, Earl Spencer and Mrs Shaud Kydd are also among the signatories, and so is her grandmother, Ruth, Lady Fermoy.

Archbishop's address

'A fairy tale beginning'

Following is the text of the and groom simply address of the Archbishop of gaze obsessively at one another goes sour after a time.

A marriage which really works is one which works for fairly tales are made : the Prince and Princess on their wedding day. But fairy tales usually end at this point with the simple phrase: "They lived happily ever after". This may be because fairy stories regard marriage as an anti-climax after the romance of courtship.

This is not the Christian view. Our faith sees the wedding day not as the place of arrival but the place where the adventure really begins.

There is an ancient Christian tradition that every bride and groom on their wedding day are regarded as a royal couple. To this day in the marriage cere-monies of the Eastern Orthodox Church crowns are beld over the man and woman to express the conviction that as husband and wife they are Kings and Queens of Creation.

As it says of human-kind in the Bible: "Thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the work of thy hands." On a wedding day it is made clear that God does not intend us to be puppets but chooses to work through us, and especially through our marriages, to create the future of His world. Marriage is first of all a new. creation for the partners them-selves. As husband and wife live out their vows, loving and cherishing one another, sharing life's splendours and miseries, achievements and setbacks, they will be transformed in the process. A good marriage is a life, as the poet Edwin Muir says:

"Where each asks from each What each most wants to

And each awakes in each What else would never be." But any marriage which is turned in upon itself, in which others. Marriage has both a private face and a public importance. If we solved all our economic problems and failed to build loving families, it would profit us nothing, because the family is the place where the future is created good and full of love-or deformed. Those who are married live happily ever after the wedding day if they persevere in the real adventure which is the royal task of creating each other and creating a more loving

That is true of every man and woman undertaking marriage. It must be specially true of this marriage in which are placed so many hopes. Much of the world is in the grip of hopelessness. Many people seem to have surrendered to fatalism about the so-called inevitability of life: cruelty, injustice, poverty, bigotry and war. Some have accepted a cynical view of marriage itself.

But all couples on their wedding day are "Royal Couples" and stand for the truth that we help to shape this world, and are not just its victims. All of us are given the power to make the future more in God's image and to be "kings and queens" of love.

This is our prayer for Charles and Diana. May the burdens we lay on them be matched by the love with which we support them in the years to come. And however long they live may they always know that when they pledged themselves to each other before the altar of God they were surrounded and supported not by mere spectators but by the sincere affection and the active prayer of millions of friends.

Thanks be to God.

A million cheers for the red, white and blue

By Robin Young, Hugh Noyes, David Nicholson-Lord, John Witherow, Frances Gibb and Ian Bradley

Riotous behaviour gripped demonstrators took to the streets, confronting nearly 4,000 police, reinforced by thousands of servicemen, and keeping hundreds of ambulancemen at full stretch. All along the procession route the royal wedding proved a riot of colour, good humour and fun. Many had been waiting more than 48 hours for the processions to the processions. in Trafalgar Square and the Mall were so thick it was almost impossible to move. The crowds were ready to cheer enything that went along the procession route — police, camera crews, dustcarts, and brush and shovel street sweepers, some wearing immaculate white jackets and red

The national colours of red, white and blue were everywhere, in every shape and form, from knickers to ice cream. Some of the younger patriots had the Union Flag painted across their face and hair. In Trafalgar Square a man clad entirely in union colours had a vantage point from 7ft stilts. Assorted pairs of red, white and blue underpants were to he seen in the fountains, while near Buckingham Palace people used the most around Queen Victoria's statue to chill champagne.

Every article providing an The national colours of red.

Every article providing an extra inch of height, from milk crates to park benches and step ladders, was commandeered for a better view. People balanced precariously on window ledges. The price of cardboard periscopes, in candy colours, scopes, in candy colours doubled in an hour.

In the carnival atmosphere, the crowds sanz "Rule Britan-nia" and medleys of cockney mock wedding ceremony and engaged in sessions of country dancing. As the bands of the and Irish Guard "Congratulations played "Congratulations" thousands of plastic Union Jacks heat the air in time to the music.

The roar which greeted the arrival of the processions was ranturnus. The crowd sang "God Sava the Queen" exuberantly as the Queen left Brokingham Palace, but the loudest cheers were reserved for Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, in the second coach with Prince Edward.

As Lady Diane's coach passed through the Strand 1.000 pigeons were released from the apper windows of the Swand Palace. They got a better when their many campers who had waited all night and for whom there was little; more than a glimpse of the coaches as they passed, but cheers echoed tumultuously all along the route, lined with a sea of flags, balloons and Union

All who saw her agreed that Lady Diana looked spectacular in her romantic wedding gown of silk taffeta, frothing with frills and finunces. She looked ecstatic, smiling constantly, as she responded to the huge cheers of the crowds. But only those around the steps of St Paul's saw the full detail of the maglificent gown, as the bridesmaids spread the 25ft train for Lady Diana to climb the sters.

The policemen lining the rout were supposed to be watchfully facing the crowds, but few could resist backward glances over their shoulders as the carriages passed. Many of the crowd listened to radios or fol-lowed the progress of the procession and service on portable route, the watchers joined in the hymns from the cathedral which were relayed on loud-speakers. Champagne corks popped and cheers rang out as the couple made their vows. At Buckingham Palace a youthful section of the crowd instantly changed their chant from Lady Di, Lady Di", to "Princess Di, Princess Di".

On the return route the cheering and waving was even more frantic. As the Prince and Pricess of Wales passed Aldwych at a brisk rate they wer surprised to be showered with rice, while in the Strand well-wishers in high windows strewed rose petals in their

Palace the culmination was the appearance of the newlyweds on the balcony.

A rapturous cheer swept A rapturous cheer swept from the Palace gates down the length of the Mall. The couple seemed taken aback by the thousands of Union Jacks waving below, but then Price Charles took his wife's hand and gave it a brief kiss. That and gave it a simple gesture was greatly with a cheer more resonnding than any that had gone before. Police had allowed tens of thousands of people up the Mall shortly before the balcony appearances. Many rane to the gates of the Palace; others clambered waist deep through the success of France's new socialist ruler, M Mitterand Unfortunately, he could not be present in person. He at the royal wedding. This Victoria memorial to get a hetter view. One youth, dressed in tails and carrying a Harrods bag, climbed high on a statue before being ordered down by police. Americans in the crowd assured their neighbours that their country had never seen anything like this. Back in Fleet Street, leading the revellers, were tow sisters from Thirsk in Yorkshire, who had been there since 2.30 on Monday afternoon. Miss Doreen Clark said: "I'm hoarse with n a pavement every time I rent on holiday". Meanwhile in Buckingham Palace, 120 guests sat flown to a wedding breakfast of brill in lobster sauce, chicken breasts stuffed with lamb mousse, and strawberries with Cornish cream.

Many thousands were still

Many thousands were still waiting outside the Palace at about 4.20 pm when the couple left for Waterloo Station, accompanied by a troop of the Household Cavalry.

Princes Andrew and Edward had attached about a dozen large silver and blue balloons decorated with the Prince of Wales's feathers to the couple's open coach, and thed on the back a large cardboard "Just Married" sign on which two hearts pierced with arrows had been drawn, apparently in lipstick. lipstick.
The joke, more traditional among commoners than princes, aptly captured the jollity of the day.

A whole nation of TV viewers

By Ronald Kershaw, arthur Osman, John Young, and Martin Huckerby

As the capital went noisily wild around the wedding processions yesterday, the rest of Britain appeared to go into purdah, with the streets deserted as the population sat encamped in front of television

Once the wedding ceremony Once the wedding ceremony was completed, however, the scene changed. Hundreds of thousands of people celebrated at street parties in cities, towns, and villages. No comprehensive figures were available for the number of street parties, but in Wales alone about 1,500 were planned and in the West Midlands about 1,000 parties were filling the streets.

In many places private cele-

In many places private celebrations were preferred, but at Tynemouth, Tyne and Wear, a harbour spectacular, complete with commandos storming the cliffs, was mounted yesterday evening. At Caernaryon Castle, in Wales, the scene of the Prince of Wales's investiture in 1969, visitors were offered a bumper view of the wedding with what was described as the largest portable colour televi-sion screen in the world, 48 sion screen in the world, 48 square metres of it, incorporating 26,000 cethode ray tubes.

Another example of civic festivity was provided by Harrogate, where the Great Yorkshire showground was used to stage medieval jousting, motor cycle stunts, and a firework display.

firework display.

Particular efforts were made by the communities near the royal couple's future home Higherove House. Gloucestershire. After starting the day with a marathon beli-ringing session at St Mary's Church, near Highgrove, local people celebrated with children's parties, barbecues, sports, and a rock concert. There were a few functions with aims clearly contrary to royal celebrations, but the numbers involved appeared to be relatively small. A march in Leeds to support the hunger strikers in Northern Ireland drew about 250 people, but about 1,000 had been expected.

about 1,000 had been expected.
From Newcastle-upon-Tyne
a coachload of people set out for Weardale, Tynedale and Teesdale in search of places where the roval wedding did not reach, while the organizer of a coach trip round the Lake District, on which every passenger received an "I hare Prince Charles" T-shirt, said the demand was such that he thought he could have filled two more coaches. two more coaches. In Upper Parliament Street.

Toxteth, Liverpool, there was tion, had guns and radios under little to celebrate as gangs of their ceremonial dress. One workmen did their best to was with the Queen's coach remove the debris of another night's rioting. Steel and concrete lamp standards lay across the pavements and police watched impassively as the burnt-out wrecks of cars and vans were loaded on to trailers.

vans were loaded on to trailers. Yet only a short distance away people were singing and dancing at street parties amid arrays of flags and bunting. At one party, in Arundel Street, residents said they were determined to show that Liverpool was not as bad a place as reports suggested and that it was celebrating the wedding like everywhere else.

In Birmingham, the police summed up the peaceable nature of the day when they said: "Things are so cheerful and well behaved that we have not had one item to note all day".

Apart from those providing

Apart from those providing basic services, few people were working. One was Mr Harry Crapper, a union shop steward who was the only man at work in Sheffield Town Hall. "I don't agree with all this junketing", he said.

Some organizations stayed in action for purely economic reasons: at South Crofty, Corpwall, tin miners worked as usual because the mine was losing money and could not afford to lose a day's output; the miners received comthe miners received com-memorative medals for their memorative medals for their efforts.

In the Outer Hebrides, the fishermen brought in the first herring from the Minch since the EEC decision to lift the British ban that has been in existence since 1977; four boats landed 260 tons of herring.

Generally, though British herring.

Generally, though, Britons devoted themselves to the pleasures of a day of celebration, complete with those eccentric touches which no royal event can be without: at likley, West Yorkshire, people ate sausages dyed red, white and blue, and at Horncastle, Lincolushire, a housewife named two newly born kittens Prince Charles and Lady Di.

Armed police on carriages

By Stewart Tendler and Peter Evans

Thousands of London police-Thousands of London policemen were on duty resterday for the royal wedding in what is thought to bave been the largest security operation ever in London. Estimates of the numbers of policemen on duty at any one time ranged between 6,000 and 11,000 for the exercise which ran from Tuesday morning to last night.
Armed officers were in the cordon of 4,000 policemen positioned along the two-mile wedding route through central London, marksmen were stationed on vantage points above, a large Special Branch contingent guarded the proces-sion of the foreign heads of state and policemen disguised as footmen guarded the Royal Pamily.

From 7 am, the route was continuously surveyed by a police helicopter which sent back television pictures to Scot-land Yard. Twelve cameras linked to nine television screens in Scotland Yard's special operations room gave complete coverage of the route and the ability to focus on individuals' faces and record them on video. On the ground, teams of detectives, four and five strong, took up position behind the growing crowd, and were linked to the police radio network by earphones.

Scotland Yard confirmed that two officers disguised as footmen rode with the royal coaches. Both the officers, trained in diplomatic protec-

and the Charles's. other with Prince

Charles's.

There were few visible security alarms. A man who tried to stand on a kitchen stool brought from his home was told politely but forcefully to leave it against the wall. In Aldwych, an explosives expert was called to check a motor-bike left in a parking area which had been converted for spectators and the press. Nothing was found and the motor-cycle was left where it was.

Several hundred feet above. Several hundred feet above, police observers, one with a ritle over his shoulder, watched the route and other high points with binoculars. Detectives on the ground watched as the signalled back reports. As the procession to St Paul's begin a line of observers could be seen on top of Protective measures foreign heads of state were clearly overt. Apart from motorcycle outriders, all were escorted by cars of Special Branch men. Special contingents escorted the Turkish and American cars.

Mrs Nancy Reagan, the American President's wife, travelled in a huge American limousine. She was preceded by a normal police car full of detectives and bodyguards. The signs of any weapons were few, but one uniformed member of the cordon at Aldwych could be seen carrying a holstered revolver beneath his tunic jacket, and others on duty along the route were visibly armed.

In the event the day's process.

In the event the day's processions in London turned out to be remarkably free from serious incident. At 6 am after the pre-vious night's fireworks, more than 100 children had been listed as lost, but by 3.30 pm all had been reunited with their families. The 10 people re-ported missing included a woman aged 70 who was later found. Of the 109 people taken to hospital on Tuesday night and yesterday with minor in-Brixton Rastas dance for peace

'At last, Diana, some privacy' juries, 10 were still in hospital by late afternoon. Scotland Yard reported at 4.30 pm only 24 crimes during Tuesday night's fireworks display and on the route yesterday

—23 of thefts and one of indecent assault. There were 15 arrests, 14 of them on Tuesday and one yesterday for pick-

MORNING ALL. A policeman makes use of his privileged position to take one for his own family album.

tomary fashion with street parties, knees-ups, and many a glass of what they fanised. The prevailing mood was a mixture of good humour and affection for the Prince and Princess, described by one old lady as the happy couple. It makes you fash good just to see them together she added. Good bless them. The benediction was repeated with many loyal toasts, and in Millman Street, Holborn, wine glasses at well as bear mugs years resised. Millman Street looked fand-song, as well as jolly, with its restored Georgian houses and strings of bifating. Mrs Romne Persey, who helped to organize the party, had invited 150 children, a few of them from the Hospital for Sick Children in Great Ormond Street near by. One young man, who had forgotten to shave, sipped a large gin and lemonade and said that Prince Charles was a real Prince Charles was a number of photographer asked a docker if there had been any racial black and brown children, a photographer asked a docker if there had been any racial rouble. "No, mate, it's Wapping, sin't it. We all stick together down here."

Children watched a Punch and Judy show on a small patch of grass until they were called to the long table which stretched from the Three Swedish Crowns and Old Star public houses. It was covered with dish Crowns and Old Star public houses. It was covered with immense plates of cold roast beef, rurkey, ham, and sausage rolls. A large wedding cake, with the inscription "Good luck to Charles and Diana", was proudly placed in the middle.

Long, hard night by St Paul's

By Ronald Faux

Why am I here? The royal wedding watcher on the next slab of pavement outside St Paul's cathedral considered my question. That unyielding stone might have been fine for fakirs but was no easy resting place for the 10,000 or more royalists sprawled on the numbing ground, enduring the long wait before the Royal Family rolled up in their well sprung coaches to the wedding.

"Why am I here? I have a

"Why am I here? I have a perfectly comfortable bed at home and a colour relevision in good order. I could watch it all with a helpful commentary instead of coming here and probably waying my flag at the back of somebody's head. Alienated black youth took to Anenated black youth took to the streets of Brixton in London yesterday to celebrate the royal wedding with a "peace dance open-air style" which owed more to the Ethiopian Royal Family than to say own Windsor version. back of somebody's head. It must be the atmosphere. You can really sense the excitement," my neighbour said.

By 10 pm on Tuesday the crowd was in noisy carnival mood, singing and cheering everything that moved with any helpful purpose, from the council dustcart to the silver airship that pottered over the cathedral. At 11 o'clock warmth still lingered in the ground from a heavy afternoon as darkness fell and the tail columns at the west end of St Paul's glowed beneath floodlights. I dread-locked Rastafarian record producer told the crowd that now "the king and queen" were married the people should enjoy themselves. There was to be no fighting or looting because just imagine what they will have to think about that on the soletision." began to covet the fold-up bed with its outrageous floral pat-tern and the sleeping bag a man near by had produced. He was enjoying a comfortable night's sleep. Next to him, as midnight struck, a woman was busily frying bacon and eggs. The mellow chime of St Paul's mingled with the urgent jaugle The inspiration for the wedding party came from Mr Lloyd Coxsone, one of the most celeof a burglar alarm in a shop. For me it was too noisy to sleep in that tightly-packed front line. The wine and liquor flowed, people started to sing. "I'm getting married in the morn-led to a night of rioting. He told The Times that black people respected the Prince of Wales because he cared about them and had opened the Moongering married in the morn-ing was popular and, more patriotically, "Jerusalem" Three performances of that were going on simultaneously shot Club in Lewisham this People like him being marat one point. ried to Lady Diana", he said.

"That is why we are holding a peace dares so that we can My neighbour woke me at 2 am. A beel of my shoe was sticking in his kidneys and we were both as stiff as the ground we were sleeping on. It was chilly and I watched him wrap get the community back to-spirit." D Elsewhere in the capital, too people celebrated the royal wedding yesterday in their cushimself in a copy of The Times, which he said was a fine insulator.

gether and generate some

By Lucy Hodges

and Louis Heren

Introducing the live bands, a dread-locked Rastafarian record brated Rastafarians in Brixton, who owns a record shop and whose arrest earlier this month that on the television ".

heavy reggae

By 3 o'clock everyone was familiar with the faces on the front line and the specialise of a stranger sky trying to infiltrate our exclusive tracks triggered a barrage of catcalls that usually sent the interlocation were those who had been positing a patch of pavement for three days. The thought of styone slipping in without first suffering a bruising couch for a night or two prompted a cheerful but firm remeval if the warnings were not keeded.

Four in the morning, twelfth hour of the vigil, was a depressing nine, marked, by the appearance of a dog with its own ideas about what should be done on pavements and by a the film of the stranger and by a the film of the stranger and by a thin film of the special succession. be done on pavements and by a thin film of grit over my hetr and clothes. My neighbour was singing " Jeruszlem" half a tone flatter than the rest of the revellers, and workers had begun laying a handsome stretch of red carpet down the cathedral steps.

Another mucking version of Viva España indicated our pavement commune's clear objection to King Juan Carlos's refusal to attend the wedding. At first light everyone climbed achingly to their feet and pushed towards the barrier, where we grouped like sardines in a tight-fitting tin.

Periscopes in patriotic colours bristled from the crowd and traders selling Union Jacks did brisk business: "Have a flag. If you don't want to wave it, stick it in your Christmas pudding", the salesman instructed as he collected £1 from a puzzled customer.

puzzled customer.

The time flew by in the early morning. We watched television men appear in morning dress to uncover the cameras near to uncover the cameras near Queen Anne's monument and council workers lay a bed of sand outside the cathedral for the horse drawn coaches. Columns of police poured into the area, all in chearful mood. The forecast of early showers proved wrong, sunlight flooded the west side of the cathedral as the first guests arrived, and the magnificent appearance of the Royal Family and the bride in her glass coach made the in her glass coach made the wait seem worth while.

Unfortunately, a man in front of me chose that moment to place his son on his shoulders, presenting a view of a dusty trouser seat. Thank goodness for the television replay.

Great divide in Ulster

By Richard Ford and Tim Jones

A soldier jumped from a Land-Rover, rifle at the ready and dashed across a street to crouch under a poster which grimly reminded everyone that six men have died on hunger strike in the Maze prison near Reliast. A couple of miles away Belfast. A couple of miles away in the "loyalist" heartlands of Belfast, pictures of the happy couple restooned the windows of countless terraced

In Protestant Belfast, the Union Jack defiantly flew, procountry. In republican Belfast, it was the tricolour of Ireland or the black flag commemorating the deaths of the hunger strikers that proclaimed their loyalty to an equally strong tradition. The two images summed up the division that has torn apart Ulster and is perhaps the most unhappy part of the Prince of Wales's future inheritance.

Throughout the morning streets in Ulster were deserted of both people and traffic as thousands, including many Roman Catholics, watched the wedding.

The narrow streets around the Shankill Road were decorated with red, white and blue bunting and Union Jacks. Many of them had been left up since the Orange Day parade of July 13. In the afternoon, street parties were held with pageants and fancy dress parades for the caildren. cutoren.

Desterity and diplomacy were two useful assets in Dublin as those with no strong. views on the royal wedding attempted to watch the spectacle while side-steeping H-block protesters, republicans and Welsh nationalists.

and Welsh nationalists.

Unlike its London namesake there was no bunting in Dublin's Fleet Street but the bars did a brisk trade. It was very much a "take it or leave it day" and city-centre traffic seemed as busy as ever.

Some of the most vitriolic and foul-mouthed reaction came from a small group of Welsh nationalists who stormed into the Fleet Bar demanding that the television be manding that the television be switched off. They were soon dispersed.

Thatcher lunch at the Bank

By Peter Waymark

The Prime Minister was the host at a lunch yesterday for visiting heads of state and leading political figures. It was held at the Bank of England, because wedding traffic and road closures would have made it difficult for the guests to have reached Downing Street.

The arrivals included the King and Queen of Tonga, Mrs Nancy Reagan, Prevident Minterrand, most members of the Cabinet, and Lord Home of the Hirsel, Mr Edward Heeth, and Mr James Callaghan, the former Prime Minusters former Prime Ministers.
They had a mea of salmon, lamb in mirred aspic, supreme of chicken, breast of duck, new potatoes and taled, followed by fruit soled, profiternies and coffee. There were no specials.

Miles Kington, page 16

A good day out for the anti-royalists too

Defiant left wingers escape the tyranny of the Windsors From Frank Johnson, Boulogue

As an act of open defience was one group largely consist- a party employee. He was a more satirical, might be in against the tyranny of the ing of the staff at Labour member of Newham North-east order. "hat was our idea of House of Windsor, over 100 Party HQ and of personal Labour Party, he explained, and fun", he explained. He too British left-wingers went on a day trip to Boulogne yester-day.

Sympathetic officials of the town's socialist mayor set up a reception centre to receive the refugees. Those Britons who succeeded in getting across the Channel—which is policed by the notorious "Royal Navy", itself a tool of the Windsors—were given rand. Unfortunately, he could not be present in person. He was at the royal wedding. This seemed to be what the Marxists call "an inherent contradiction" but no matter. Everybody enjoyed themselves hugely.

hugely. The outing was led by Mr Richard Balfe, Labour member of the European Parliament for a constituency with the fine old cockney name of Inner Lendon South. But, this being the Labour Parry, not all factions were singing dancing laughing and eating. Her sister Margaret were acknowledging his leader-said: "If I had known it would be as good as this, I would sit indeed of the day trip. There assistants and secretaries to shadow ministers. On the boat coming over, I made the error of asking them to point out Mr Balfe, the leader. "You can't miss him". I was advised. "He looks like an opportunist, a careerist and a creep."

Who needs a Labour split when you have a Labour day trip to Boulogne? I assured them that I had heard that Mr Balfe spoke well of them too. None the less, the Anti-Balfe Tendency were very amiable. One of the most refreshing things about Labour activists who believe in the brotherhood of the human race is that they seldom speak well of any particular member of it. The wretched Balfe having been dispatched, the name of a Labour MP called Huckfield came up and got a terrible thrashing which saw us a good few knots. None the less, the Anti-Balfe and got a terrible thrashing which saw us a good few knots across the Channel. He was MP for Nuneaton, it seemed, but because of impending boundary changes had managed to get the safer seat of Wigan—a careerist deed, apparently, Would he be on the trip today? "Only if M le Maire can offer him a seat", someone replied amid broad jollity.

amid broad jollity.

member of Newham North-east Labour Party, he explained, and was therefore one of the left-wing incomers to that constituency—"the bedsit brigade", Sir Harold Wilson called them—who had ousted Mr Reg Prentice. An heroic figure, then; the equivalent to a Battle of Britain pilot in bourgeois society.

Was he not worried about the Was he not worried about the apparent working class interest in this royal wedding? How could you have socialism with the workers going in for this sort of thing? He was very honest about it. He agreed that it was a problem, but hoped that under socialism the monarchy would "somehow wither away".

A bearded man called A bearded man called Stewart said the workers were enjoying the royal wedding because it was the only thing which could relieve their plight —unemployment and so on. He, too, was disappointingly reasonable, however, and didnot. not seem entirely convinced of this line himself. A man from Labour Weekly said his paper had thought of doing a special wedding issue about a working class couple getting married this week and all the problems him a seat" someone replied they would face, such as unem-amid broad jollity. they would face, such as unem-ployment and bad housing. I suggested comething jollier, was unconvinced.

The hated Balfe turned out to be genial enough. On arrival he gave an interview to French relevision explaining that not everyone in Britain was excited by the royal wedding. But he was anxious to emphasize that he was not necessarily a repub-lican. "There are gradations between ennul and opposition", he said.

he said.

Everybody's principal purpose, it turned out, was to wander round the town eating and drinking in moderation. So in the end they were not much different from day trippers who were Windsor's loyal subjects.

Working day for GLC chief

By Christopher Warman

Mr Ken Livingstone, left wing leader of the Greater London Council, wearing a blue striped shirt and blue jeans, London Council, wearing a blue table protein.

striped shirt and blue jeans, spent yesterday working on the country because fewer council business and attending people would be ill. When he

up on the wall in his office at County Hall was the invitation to the wedding and several examples of the sometimes imaginative and always highly critical letters he received after announcing that he would not attend the ceremony.

not attend the ceremony.

He explained at the time that the GLC had more important things to do. "No one elected us to go to weddings. We were elected to run the buses", he said. The buses were indeed running yesterday as was the Underground which Mr Livingstone used to travel to County Hall shortly before midday. He had intended to take the day off and go for a walk in the country, but a pile of correspondence and reports awaited his attention before he goes on holiday tomorrow.

his attention before he goes on holiday tomorrow.

The leader allowed himself the luxury of a lie-in until about 10 o'clock and then breakfasted as usual with a bowl of All Bran which gave him later the opportunity to make a political point. He argued that a socialist food policy should propose high taxes for bad food and subsidies for roughage and vegetable protein.

the councilsportored rock con- arrived at County Hall it was cert at Crysty Palace. Pinned empty save for security staff, people fasting in support of the irish hunger strikers, and Mr Dave Wetzel, transport chairman, who is a republican and left his home, where his children were watching the wedding on television. Immediately the telephone began to ring and Mr Livingstone explained amiably to colleagues that he would have been able to get on with his work except for the intrusion of journalists wanting to find out how he was spending the He then patiently turned his attention to those journalists and said that he personally and said that he personally favoured the ceremonial presidency instead of the monarchy.

"There is no evidence that the Royal Family is trying to get involved in politics but there is always the possibility of the right-wing military ele-ment using royalty to justify a coup. The potential for the in-volvement of the monarchy in such a way remains a worry. Having delivered this homily, Mr Livingstone got down to his work and later went to Crystal Palace with his wife. Christine. In listen to the concert before returning to County Hall to pick up more papers to take home. Keeping well in the background at the concert he refused to make a concert he refused to make a

مكنان لنظل

THE BRIDE RETURNS. Her beautiful dress shows to full effect as the Princess of Wales returns to Buckingham Palace with her husband.

Foreign reaction

How the world switched on to celebrate as well

The response abroad to the royal wedding, brought within viewing range by satellites to a good half of the population of the planet, was predictably mixed vesterday.

In the Commonwealth, Australia was offered saturation television coverage, more than enough to appease the royalists and to provoke the republicans. The country's best-known novelist, Patrick White, described the wedding as "a kind of rosy women's weekly romance to lull the more soft-centred among us and distract us from reality". Dame Edna Everage, alias Barry Humphries, the actor, wrote some commemorative doggerel which included the line: "Charles' Di is cast, his crown is jewelled with love."

The inhabitants of the small New South Wales town of Goodooga, recently voted the most boring in the country, took part in a wedding song contest where all entries had to be sung to the tune of "Waltzing Matilda".

The streets of Gibraltar were virtually deserted as most of the 30,000 inhabitants watched television and conserved their energies to see off the royal couple at the weekend. Their Mediterranean honeymoon cruise is due to start from there on the royal yacht Britannia, a fact which led King Juan Carlos of Spain to decline his wedding invitation.

In New Zealand the television transmissions came overnight at local time and offered a generally welcome distraction from the controversy over the South African rugby tour. The Wellington Parliament rose early to enable members to watch.

The British Army of the Rhine was given the day off at its bases in northern West Germany, so that soldiers and their families could watch the wedding on television. Many spontaneous street parties were organized

In Switzerland, television sta-tions were assailed by angry telephone callers after a Geneva pirate radio transmitter blotted out the television sound and caused the pictures of the wedding to deteriorate. In addition to political com-ments on the Maze hunger strikers, riots in Liverpool and hunger in the Third World, there was a take description of a violent incident outside St

Paul's. In the EEC, France experienced a flood of newspapers with curious headlines in English. The daily Parisien Libéré carried the banner headline, Love story, and the evening France-Soir had the main headline, Good Luck Charles Lady Di. The iconoclastic left-wing naper Liberation, however, offered the headline The latest illm of Buckingham incorperated over a photographic mentage of a topless Lady Diana being fondled by Prince Charles, In Greece newspapers continued to attack Britain for inviting former King Constantine of Greece deposed in 1974. President Konstantin Karamanlis declined to attend the wedding at the last minute on health grounds. There was no live radio or television coverage.

The press in West Germany continued to give enormous space to the wedding, in many cases contrasting it with Britain's problems in the inner cities, Northern Ireland and with unemployment.

Millions of West German citizens watched the four-hour television relay of the wedding. Frau Eva Rath, leader of the tiny West German women's party, injected a dissenting note by dismissing the wedding as Roman-style bread and circuses to keep people's minds off other things".

Elsewhere in the world, while the Chinese all but ignored the event, a newspaper in neighbouring Indonesia called the wedding "the greatest show on earth "

The state radio in Iran reported that the royal couple married "at the expense of the poor English people" against a background of street violence and economic collapse.

Television broadcasts lasting four hours drove most things off the screens in Japan, where millions stayed up to watch transmissions from London. A bank official watching through a shop window said: They tell us the British economy is declining. Well, if it is, the British certainly know how to go down in style

In Spain official sourness over Gibraltar's role in the honeymoon cruise was offset by wide press coverage, while the staterun television network carried long relays of the ceremony and processions. Thousands of British holidaymakers celebrated the day ostentatiously without any sign of ill-will on the part of Spanish citizens.

In Thailand, a well-known fortune-teller was quoted as predicting that Prince Charles was unlikely to take a mistress, though women would continue to chase him.

In the United States, saturation coverage began at dawn American time, with all three national television networks giving hours to the proceedings and events in London. The British Ambassador in Washington, Sir Nicholas Henderson, was bost at a wedding breakfast for prominent Americans and diplomats. Outside, protesters paraded a placard which said: "Irish starve while you feast ". In the Soviet Union, the media showed more interest in renewed rioting in Liverpool. Soviet television gave about one minute to the wedding preparations. From the Vatican City, the Pope sent a message of congratulation from his hospital room. "I pray that almighty God will bestow upon both of you His richest blessings of peace and joy in many happy years of Christian married life and in the high service to which you have been called."

FLATMATES. Girls who shared with Diana . . . Virginia Pitman, Caroline Pride, Anne Bolton.

Immaculate Prime Minister

Mrs Margaret Thatcher lives up to her reputation for looking cool, caim and collected on any and every occasion. Here, with not a hair out of place, she talks to an officer in ceremonial dress.

FLAGS GALORE: No mistaking the enthusiasm and affection of the crowds outside St Paul's

GOING AWAY. The other outfit every woman was curious to see. The Princess at Waterloo Station in a soft and pretty summery dress and jacket in canteloupe silk. There is, of course, the characteristic frill of white organza at the neckline. The outfit was made by Belville Sassoon of Belgravia, who designed that of the bride's mother, Mrs Shand-Kydd.

TV coverage

What BBC saw as ritual ITV treated as news

patches of the over-long warm-up at Buckingham Palace, to provide to its royal wedding coverage, the BBC treated us to a picturesque but pedestrian tour of the royal estate at Balmoral.

Independent television, about the same time, was interviewing the chief of the cardiac arrest unit at St Paul's. He was speculating on the possibility that the bride's father might need help during the ceremony.

It was a nice illustration of the difference in style between the two networks yesterday. The BBC treated the wedding as a ritual, independent television as a real news event.

The BBC used to be accused of handling royal occasions in the way proper English women are traditionally supposed to approach their wedding night. They are duly overawed by the immensity of the event but do not want to be caught relishing it ostentatiously.

That was not altogether true about the wedding. Angela Rippon, sitting behind her control desk in a studio hinting at the decor of Buckingham Palace, was obviously loving every mom-ent. But she and her colleagues seldom allowed a hint of possible complications to creep in.

Tom Fleming, the main BBC commentator, opened with a set piece beginning: "Once upon a time". He tried to maintain the fairy-tale theme throughout. For independent television, Alastair Burnet was sharper and more acerbic, knowing and real-istic. While acknowledging the magnificence, he was aware of the pitfalls. The tone had been set early on.

Independent Television News's first news broadcast at 7.30 am reported that hundreds had been injured in the crush at Tuesday night's fireworks display. A man was interviewed who had been helping to set off the fireworks and who had been burnt. Both channels speculated excitedly about the wedding dress, but only independent television pointed to a potential disaster. "Half an inch too long and Lady Diana would almost certainly trip on the cathedral steps."

Independent television was bolder, too, on the romantic angles. As the BBC gave a highly tangential report on female firefighters at Gordonstoun, the competition was running a cheeky "where are they now?" portrait of the Prince's former girlfriends.

"Charles has sown some rather mild wild oats", was the comment of Anthony Carthew, the reporter.

Later, Alastair Burnet sailed close to lese-majesty when he suggested that the Queen did not always seem to enjoy wed-dings. But, to his credit, he is the one commentator on royal occasions who consciously avoids the obvious clickes. Independent television had brought in Ronald

In one of the most desperate Allison, the former press officer glimbses of the obvious for him

"The wait has been well worth while, no doubt about that", trilled Allison at the first glimpse of the bride. When he started to go on about the pag-eautry and splendour that only Britain can do properly Burnet impatiently cut him off.

Yet Allison was not easily deterred. "He must now be getting very, very excited indeed". . he told us as the Prince drove to the cathedral. "He'll be feeling the emotion of the occasion as much as the splendour."

For the BBC, Tom Fleming could find cliches of his own. He gave us "the time-honoured ritual of a British royal occasion", the Princess as "a won-derful fairy-tale sight", and, in front of the Palace balcony, "a veritable sea " of people.

A view from 1,000ft up

He used "wonderful" and "magnificent" and "marvellous" rather too often. Everyone was trying hard not to say "radiant" and I caught it only once, from Judith Chalmers for independent television near the Independent television's camera mounted on an airship added to the spirit of the occasion rather than to the quality of the coverage. "Wonderful clarity from a thousand feet up", Andrew Gardner, the studio host, boasted, but the fact remained that clarity was even greater from the cameras at ground

The BBC had the best camera positions at critical moments. They gave us the better view of Lady Diana in her carriage and off the placing of the ring.
When the bride said: "I will",
the Archbishop's mitre was between her and the independent television camera. Neither channel made much fuss about the slight errors the bride and groom both made in their responses. For just under two minutes in the middle of the ceremony, independent television lost its picture from inside the Cathedral, but the BEC sportingly lent its own pictures.

Independent television said: There's an agreement with the BEC. If they had a breakdown, they would have taken our pictures. The power failure was at a linking station at Millbank". When it was all finally finished, there were brief studio discussions, but by then everyone was drained of imagination. When one of Angela Rippon's guests made the point that St Paul's Cathedral was very, very large, it was apparent that everything there was to say had been said, and much more.

Mr Kenneth Oxford, the Chief Constable of Merseyside, has ordered an immediate inquiry into the incident during Tuesday night's riots in Toxteth which led to the death of a young man in hospital early yesterday. An assistant chief constable from Northumbria, who has not been named, was understood to be on his way to Liverpool to head the importing time.

the investigation.
Mr David Moore, aged 22, the first fatal casualty of the present spate of urban rioting in Britain, was run down by a police vehicle. That was acknowledged by Mr Oxford, who said the purpose of the inquiry would be to identify the driver.

Acknowledged if the incident goald.

Asked if the incident could be termed a "hit-shd-run", he replied: "Yes you could put that interpretation on it".

After the worst night's rioting in Toxteth since the first outbreak nearly four weeks ago, Mr Moore's death seemed to have destroyed any faint hope of a truce. The Liverpool 8 defence committee denounced it as murder, and the Mersey-side Community Relations Council said it was appalled at the dangers of the aggressive use of police vehicles.

Witnesses said Mr Moore, who was crippled from a childhood accident, was struck by a police Land-Rover. But yester-day afternoon a black youth, who refused to be named, insisted that it was neither a

"armoured vehicle" which came over a hill at high speed and ran straight into a group of people.

The repeated use of vehicles to charge rioters was seen in the small hours of yesterday. On a signal they would roar off in convoy down the street, to be met by shouts, screams and a harrage of petrol bombs, bricks and other missiles.

During the rioting, cars were overturned and left as burning barricades, and lamp standards were felled with pickaxes. Tyres from a looted factory were flung across the streets and set alight with petrol councillor who is also a nurse, did not see the incident involving Mr Moore but was called to give him first aid. "It looked as if his neck was broken", she said. She added that the confrontation began when police ran down Upper Parliament Street, banging on their riot shields and shouting racialist slogans. Mrs Agnes Moore, the dead man's mother, said yesterday that her son was a very good-natured person and she just could not believe that he was involved in the troubles. He was

Miss Pauline Dunlop, a city

sation in t massive pt But Mr \ that Solida ment shou find a wa
The move about solv citizens of severe pri among Pi Walesa poi prices was Governmen programme he one of should be First, socio acceptable can be disc When I self-manage conflict be the Govern the beginn lem. but I organize ( self-manage and the G in start to cnoperate (self-mana) accomplish

The auti about an managemen ing it as a planning " tenets of a argument in a ps own; man independen a way to | of its pres still dete difficulties. oprimistica prospects f.

to terms.

li go EXCL

Mr, P Valere Bryan 27th, Toxteth flares again

Inquiry seeks police driver involved in riot fatality

From John Young, Liverpool

Mr Oxford yesterday defended the use of vehicles to disperse crowds, saying he preferred such tactics to using CS gas. Brushing eside demands for his resignation, he said it was "up to the public at large to show that this sort of belaviour on streets cannot be con-

Since the most began, some 700 police have been injured. Triesday night's toll was 34, of whom four were detained in hospital, one with a suspected fractured skull. There had been more petrol bombs than on any previous night, he said, but the police-had made only 22 arrests, mostly for possession of offen-

He also referred to an out-break of wandalism in Magbull, some ten miles from Touteth, in which shop windows were smashed and looted. "So there is a copycat element creeping in, and it may escalate", he

Despite Mr Oxford's appeal for a return to order, both his own position and the behaviour of the police in general are under increasing attack. Law and order on Merseyside is becoming a political issue, with Conservatives defending the police and Labour and the trade unions showing sympathy poince and Labour and me trade unions showing sympathy with the moners.

Mr Sydney Moss, former Conservative chairman of the county council's police countitee, restendey called on Lady Simey, the Labour chairman, to withdraw the remarks she made. on Tuesday about police methods. "It is her duty to support the chief constable and his men, and it is wrong for her to undermine his authority and morale in this way", he said. But Mc Jemes Stuart-Cole, Labour leader of the council, said he believed the police committee should have the power to dismiss the chief constable. "If we had that power we would give serious consideration to his position;", be added. "It is a matter of regret to me that we do not." Mr Colin Barnest, regional secretary of the Trades Union Council said at a press conference in Touteth yesterday that his council had been asked to support a "people's march against recism" in Liverpool on August 15. He would be seeking are council's endorsement next Thursday.

Dr Hiliary Hodge, a member the police committee, said that Mr Oxford had treated the committee with complete con-tempt. There was much wrong with police relations ith the public on Merseyside, and it was time Mr William Whitelaw, Home Secretary came there to sort it out.

The Liverpool 8 defence committee said that the events of the past two nights demonstrated conclusively that Mr Oxford was a police chief on the rampage, and that his officers felt free to engage in any form of brutality.

The Merseyside Community Relations Council said Mr Oxford had rended to increase tension in the city on his way home after visiting his sister, who lived in Toxteth and for whose safety he was Mr David Moore getting first aid as he lies fatally injured after being hit by a police vehicle in Toxteth

Lawyer says officers were brutal

Allegations of police Toxteth brutality were made at Liverpool City Magistrates' Court yesterday when 20 people Broudie said, and on Tuesday appeared after riots in evening Miss McCoy saw such Toxteth.

Mr Robert Broudie, a solicitor, said that he had heard horrific details of police brutality, misbehaviour un-bridled racialism and gross discourtesy during the recent riots.

He asked for reporting restrictions to be lifted for his clients, Donna McCoy, aged 18, a solicitors' junior clerk, of Ponsonby Street, Toxteth. Ponsonby Street, Toxteth, claimed. She continued on her Applying for bail, he said the way home but met more police-police had declared war on men who arrested her. She

A senior union leader cast which he says Britain needs.

chairman, attacks government neglect of inner cities and the view that free market forces should operate uncontrolled, irrespective of how much they burt innocent people.

But Sir John, in a long and reflective editorial for his union's journal, prompted by the recent urban riots, also calls for the police to be smengthened in their difficult, dangerous job, and for the quality of our educational

He says " parents must instill into their children the sanctity of family life and their responsibility to society," adding:

"Nothing can replace a mother's love and affection

Sir John suggests that bad housing, inner city decay, the absence of cultural activities, police oppression, criminal van-dalism, anvernment neglect, copycat violence, fears of a nuclear holocaust, uncontrolled immigration, lack of integration,

the undue influence of the news mcdia . . . manufactured unrest by professional agitators, may all have contributed to the

He too had suffered unemployment he says, had lived with his parents and two brothers in a Scotttish "single-end" house, known malnutri-tion and existed with no social workers to visit homes, and a

Saturday matinee film the only

All these experiences did

lence, looting and the mugging | The poli undisciplined, nor lead to vio- action.

not cause us to be ignorant and instructions to take industrial entertainment.

causes of the present unrest.

system to he restored.

vehicle driven at a crowd. Most of them managed to get out of the way but one white youth was hit by the vehicle and died later. On her way home about three hours later, Miss McCoy met a number of police officers running towards her and was knocked to the ground and hit with truncheons, he claimed. She continued on her strongly denied police allegations that she orged people to attack the police. Chief Inspector Geoffrey Greenwood, for the prosecution, said that Miss McCoy was seen in Upper Parliament Street at

Miss McCoy was granted bail with a curfew from 10 pm to 8 am until August 10. Also before the court were the front of a crowd apparently urging them to attack

Mrs Ann Harris, aged 39, of Carlingford Place, Toxteth, who was accused of throwing a petrol bomb with intent to burn Constable Kennetl

BOYD DOUBT ON LABOUR LEADERSHIP By Our Labour Correspondent

doubt today on whether the Labour Party. "with its pedes-trian leadership and internal skin cancers" can lead the revolutionary moral renaissance end to their 21-week pay fight, which has been the longest running national industrial dis-Sir John Boyd, general secretary of the Amalgamated Union of Engineering Workers, and a former Labour Party of 1926. Eight of the unions' memhers have returned votes in favour of accepting the Government's final offer, giving them £30 a year on top of the original 7 per cent, and the promise of qualifed arbitration in next year's negotiations.

Federation is the only union whose members have voted to reject the offer. Instead, they have called for a national strike, but its leaders have said they will abide by the majority wish of the other

Tonight the meeting of the 63-member Council of Civil Service Ulnions will instruct those members on strike to return on Monday and co-operate with managers in government departments in clearing the huge backlogs of Union leaders expect some shortlived resistance to the great majority of civil servants, however are expected to be in their offices text week.

The largest union, the Civil and Public Services Association, Union, whose executives recom-mended their members to reject the offer. Meanwhile, 160,000 industrial civil servants may accept a 5 per cent pay offer to run for nine months, which would give them a common settlement date with the 530,000 white-collar civil servants. They have also been made an alternative offer of 71 per cent to run for a year from the beginning of this union

weekly and evening newspapers after that decision exempted and raises the possibility that special class editor members some editors will leave the from nationally instructed industrial action.

The ballot vote requested by this year's NUJ conference, effectively empowers the union's ☐ The Glasgow Evening Times failed to appear yesterday after executive to involve editors with "hire and fire" powers in instructions to take industrial 70 journalists stayed at home in a dispute over premium payments for working on the day action if it so decides.

The vote follows controversy of the royal wedding.

Journalists on two after a union decision in 1975 to include editors in its policy papers, the Glasgow Herald and The poll may have wide for a closed shop in the news-molications on provincial paper industry. A ballot vote the Sunday Standard, did not go into work either.

Calf exports code gets angry response

By Hugh Clayton Agriculture Correspondent

The Government has quietly overruled objections from the animal welfare lobby and the Commons Select Committee on Agriculture to the export of live calves and lambs. Animal welfare compaigners responded angrily yesterday to the issue by ministers late on Tuesday of a voluntary code of practice for the owners of yards where animals are penned before they are sem abroad.

The publication of the code, which will take effect on September 28, shows that the Government has rejected the almost unanimous complaint from the animal welfare lobby that the export trade in live animals is cruel and should be banned.

Although the trade is outside the terms of the welfare inves-tigation by the select com-mittee, it said in a report last mittee, it said in a report last week: "It will be obvious from what we have said that we deplore this particular trade". Mr Robin Corbett, chairman of the Farm Animal Welfare Executive, an umbrella group of more than 10 of the largest of more than 10 of the largest welfare societies in Britain, said he would protest to ministers because his organiza-tion had not been consulted about the code although it had been asked for comments about

"The very publication of this code seems to amount to an admission that the existing regulations are not being fol-lowed", he said. "One is left with the feeling that that thing with the reeing that that thing is next door to useless. We want an end to the export trade in live farm animals. We have no faith in any bits of paper because all the evidence is that they are disregarded in practice." practice."

Farmers want the export trade to continue because of ealth of the livestock industry. Each year more than ten times as many calves are exported live from Britain as are esten as veal in this country.

The code, which is voluntary, says that calves on a liquid diet should be offered glucose and water after long journeys to ports and airports.

Ms Maureen Tomison, political affairs controller of the Royal Society for the Preven-tion of Cruelty to Animals, said: "We are very dis-appointed We will continue to press the Government very strongly to end this trade."

New money power for MPs sought

MPs will be urged to take an. moortant initiative in the conimportant initiative in the continuing barrie to tilt the balance of power between Westminster and Whitehall more strongly in favour of the Commons in a report to be published in September by the Select Committee on Procedure (Supply).

The key to the committee's reform plan is that a selection of the 190 individual votes the Commons uses to grant funds, or supply, to use the technical or supply, to use the technical term, to government depart ments should be discussed on the floor of the House. After their own careful investigations, the new depart-mentally related select committees would give advice on which particular votes should be examined by the whole.

The Commons would have the power to amend individual estimates by reordering their elements or reducing them, but they would not have the power to increase an estimate.

The indications are that the procedure committee wants eight days a session set aside for the purpose. Such a pro-posal might cause difficulties with the Government, although t is general sympathetic to the idea. Mr Francis Pym, Leader of the House, in evidence before the committee in May, suggested allocation of two or three

The committee, which has been meeting since January under the chairmanship of Mr Terence Higgins, Conservative MP for Worthing and a former Financial Secretary to the Francial Secretary to the Treasury, has proposed another idea that might not find favour with ministers, judging from their negative response, in a White Paper published on Tuesday. day, to reforms proposed by the Commons Public Accounts Com-

The reforms would have extended substantially Parliament's powers of scrutiny over public funds.

procedure committee be reconvened in the next session to consider how the Commons might gain a greater say in the disbursement of all £104,000m of public spending, not just the half of it covered by votes that grant supply to Whitehall departments.

Berger St. Car

The picture bought by the National Gallery as a fine example of Italianate Dutch work,

National Gallery 'mistaken'

Weenix work by artist's son, experts say

By Geraldine Norman, Sale Room Correspo

Only one man in England has f20,000-£30,000 but failed to find elicited the responses: "Did in parently noticed that the abuyer.

So the by's subsequently negoder a misapprehension over riated a private treaty sale to difference. I will look it up." the National Gallery on behalf eccut acquisitions. The gallery of the owner.

Ween's Senior visited Italy he always Italianized his interest of the owner. apparently noticed that the National Gallery is labouring National Gallery is labouring under a misapprehension over what artist painted one of its recent acquisitions. The gallery calls it: "A courtyard with two figures as Antony and Cleopatra", by Jan Baptist Weenix. Mr Stephen Reiss, managing director of the Royal Academy of Arts Business Art Galleries, has written to The Times that it is not by Jan Baptist Weenix with ruins of ancient buildings and figures in modern dress, as it is not by Jan Baptist Weenix but by his son Jan, who was his pupil and follower. His view is confirmed by Dr. Albert Blankert, of Utrecht University, author of an important study of the period, Dutch Seventeenth Century Italianate

teenth Century Italianate Landscape Painters.
Dr Blankert points out that a photograph of the painting has already been filed at the Rijksbureau as a work by Jan Weenix, the soul.
"The subject is probably not Antony and Cleopaira", he says. "It is the type of subject usually described as "Merry Company"."

The Naional Gallery announced the purchase of the painting in May. It had been

July, 1980 (again wrongly attri-buted to Jan Baptist Weenix), where it was estimated to fetch

A joint TUC-Government

campaign to encourage women to be screened for cancer of the cervix, which kills 2,000 a year.

has been suggested by Mr Len Murray, TUC general secretary.

George Young, Under-Secretary of State, Department of Health and Social Security, after Sir George's letter to The Times last week in which he said the Government was considering launching a national campaign to encourage women to come forward.

Mr Murray refers in his letter to the TUC's recent advice to union officers to press employers for cancer screening at the workplace.

He says in his letter: "One disincentive to the take-up of cervical cancer screening by women in the priority groups, particularly working women among whom the incidence of cervical cancer is especially high, is the accessibility of carpolar chiefs.

cytology clinics.

"Taking screening services to the workplace may be a means of increasing take-up markedly.

"In your letter to The Times, you mention that the Covern-you mention that the Govern-ment is considering a campaign to encourage cytology take-up. Could I suggest that the Gov-

of its campaign, and encourage

Mr Murray has written to Sir

in 1842-46 and was deeply influenced by his Italian contemporaries. He specialized in painting Italianare landscapes.

well as turning his hand to still lives and portraits.

The National Gallery painting is characteristic of this Italianate mode, which was adopted by several Dutch artists of the

Mr Christopher Brown, who has charge of the Gallery's Dutch paintings, comments that the picture was bought as a fine example of Italianate Dutch painting. The gallery is well supplied with the better known Dutch realist school of the period, but has little of the Italianate school. "We believe it to be by the Company "

The categorizes it as an if it were by the son it would exceptionally beautiful painting not affect the reason for our purchase. We believe it to be so it by the son "

The categorizes it as an if it were by the son it would not affect the reason for our purchase. We believe it to be a company to see that it is by the son "

The categorizes it as an if it were by the son it would not affect the reason for our purchase. We believe it to be a company to the son it would not affect the reason for our purchase. We believe it to be a company to the son it would not affect the reason for our purchase.

confirmed by my researches. tulips. Despite the boom in the Inquiries made of two leading art mistory industry, little work dealers in Dutch painting has been done on them.

By Annabel Ferriman, Health Services Correspondent.

studying two aspects of its cervical cancer screening practices: the age at which screening should begin, and who should issue the regular reminders about the need to be screened.

The Committee on Gynaeco-logical Cytology has submitted a report to the Government suggesting that doctors should screen women earlier, because of earlier sexual activity, which increases the cancer risk. At present family doctors are paid

Meanwhile, the Government is also considering comments from interested bodies on its consultative document about the recall arrangements for reminding women to have cervical smears every five years.

It is closing down the national recall centre at Southport in December, but Southport in December, but has not yet decided what other reminder system to adopt. One option that is being considered is that family practitioner committees, who pay and organize family doctor services, should take on the responsibility.

But Mr Ronald Purser, secretary of the Society of Administrators of Family Practitioner Services, has said

only for women over 35.

The Government is at present signature, making it "Gio Batta", short for Giovanni Battista. The signature on this painting was read by Sotheby's as "J. Weenix" and by the National Gallery as "J. B. Weenix"; to the naked eye it is almost unreadable.

If the signature truly reads "J B" it is probably a later (fraudulent) addition; if "J" it was probably placed there by Another cause for suspicion is a partially illegible date

"166..." The exact date of Jan Baptist's death is not known, but it is believed to have been about 1660...
According to Mr. P.

According to Mr Reiss, "no other work by Jan Baptist later than 1659 has ever been recorded." Blankert further points out that the brushwork and treat-ment of the figures are charac-

Dutch painting we are short of. which little knowledge is avail-Mr Brown points our that it able. There were nearly as is very difficult to tell the many artists in seventeenth-father from the son. This is century Holland as there were next year, but no money is being set aside to buy them. Consequently, three or four such committees might become computerized in 1982, but the vast majority not for another five or ten years.

Mr Purser thought providing a recall service was important enough for the Government to direct health authorities to provide funds for computerization.

The Government rather favours making it the responsibility of general practitioners. It is considering reorganizing doctors' pay so that those GPs who remind their patients are paid more, and doctors who fail to take on the responsibility

One difficulty in launching campaign to encourage is to ensure that the laboratory facilities are available to cope

At present about 2.5 million smears are carcied out a year, of which just over a million are on women aged over 35 and 1.4 million on women of under 35. But some middle class young women, among whom the inci-dence is less than among work ing class women, are probably being screened more frequently

Meanwhile the condition of

with the increased demand.

receive less.

cigarette holders, are more common. Commercial aspestos fibres are also very strong and tough, so they resist degradation in the body. Some fibrous minerals such as fibreus tale are probably too soft to sur-vive; but others may be as hard and resistant as asbes-TUC backs cervical smear campaign

tos. Zoltai is now working on ways of testing if that is the Suitable, computer systems will be available for them from

Science report:

Unexplored dangers of asbestiform

fibres

By the staff of "Nature"

abound in products from cos-metics and medicines hibricating oils, an American mineralogist has alleged and they may be just as dan.

gerous as the true ashestos which bas caused mesothe

lioma and debilitating lung

On the other hand, the fibres may be harmless. Professor Tibor Zoltai, of the University of Minnesota, says.

But they look so like asbestos fibres under the microscope that it is time medical scienrists paid proper attention to Zoltai has been interested in "asbestiform" fibres for some time, and has been conducting something of a cam-paign to have them recognized as a potential hazard. Some of them have not been in use in commercial products long enough to be sure whether they are carcinogenic or not;

they are carcinogenic or not; and others may never have been considered as potential causes of disease. So Zoltai's latest step is to detail, in a forthcoming paper in the journal Science, how widespread asbestiform fibres are. They occur in medicines, cosmetics, paints were table.

cosmetics, paints, vegetable oils, herbicides and per litter products, he says, where they are used as thickeners and absorbents. The "undoub-tedly asbesmoom" mineral attapulgite, for example, occurs in antidiarrhoesl procines.

Zoltai's warning will not be taken seriously by many scientists, who feel that the fact that a mineral forms fibres is not sufficient to class it as asbestiform, and therefore, by implication, dangerous.

Zoltai, on the other hand, points our that "asbestos"— a commercial term—aiready includes a number of distinct scientific grounds but largely because they are relatively common and easy to work. Why should those mineral fibres be dangerous and others not? After all the bio logical action of asbestos is still not understood.

Commercial asbestos is very unusual in certain ways.

It comes in two broad crystalchrysotile asbestos (long and silky and good for weaving) and blue asbestos (crocido lite). Chrysotile fibres are like flat sheets of paper which have been rolled into a scroll; crocidolite (the most dangerous form) consists of long silicate chains loosely bonded together.

Scroll-form minerals other than chrysotile may be quite uncommon, though ballosite, a porcelain-like mineral related to kaolin, appears to take this shape, says Zoltai. Chain silicates such as atta-pulgite, and sepiplite, which is used for tobacco pines an line forms, represented disease among aspestn workers.

Asbestos like fibres may © Nature-Times News Service, 1981.

LEVELS OF FALLOUT DROP AGAIN

The amount of radioactive fallout in the United Kingdom atmosphere continued to de-crease last year and was less than 1 per cent of the peak reached in 1963 to 1964, according to figures released today by the Atomic Energy Authority.

Its report also shows that the average concentrations of long-lived fission products such as Caesium-137 and Strontium-90 in air and rain in Britain in 1980 were about two-thirds of those in 1979.

Short-lived fission products, Barium-140 and Iodine-131, from the Chinese test explosion of October 15, 1980 of October 16, 1980, were first detected in the United King-dom atmosphere later that month, and about 50 per cent of the total long-lived amount of Caesium-137 detected in December was also attributable to the test.

The programme of continuous sampling of airborne dust and rainwater, and their analysis for various fission products and other radioactive nuclides, has heen carried out by the Atomic Energy Research Establishment at Harwell, Oxfordshire, for more than 25 years. The results are published every year.

Redioactive Fallout in Air and Rein: Results to the end of 1980.
AERE Harwell. Stationery Office.

HALIFAX SCHOOL PLAN REJECTED

Proposals to close four grammar schools and six secondary modern schools in Halifax and set up four comprehensives and a sixth-form college in their place have been rejected by Mr Mark Carlisle, Secretary of State for Education and Science.

Three of the comprehensive schools would have taken pupils only to the age of 16, while the fourth would have taken them up to age 18.

Mr Carlisle said be was not convinced that the preposed sixth-form college would be Republican sources did not the women's peace movement able to attract enough pupils.

Pay vote signals end to Civil Service dispute

pute since the miners' strike

The Inland Revenue Staff

work.

Newspaper editors who are members of the National Union of Journalists face being asked to join strikes as a result of a narrow vote in a union ballot. In a poli in which only 6,141 of the union's 32,000 members took part, members voted by a majority of 406 to end the six-year-old policy whereby editors with "special class" member-with "special class" member-ship were exempted from

By David Felton, Labour Correspondent

Leaders of the nine Civil return to work call, especially Service unions meet ronight from those members in militant prepared formally to call an areas where there have been end to their 21-week pay fight, votes for any all-out strike. The which represents low-grade clerical staff, returned a sub-stantial majority in favour of calling off the dispute. Majorities to end the action have been bigger in certain unions notably the Institution of Pro fessional Civil Servants, the First Division Association and the Association of Government Supervisors and Radio Officers. Voting was much closer in the Society of Civil and Public Servants and the Civil Service ernment might wish to com-mend the TUC initiative as part For Mr Higgins and his col-leagues, who were drawn from all parties, suggest that the employers to agree to work-place screening facilities?"

Editors no longer exempt from strike call

UNION TO REPRESENT DIVERS One of the largest diving

companies operating in the North Sea has agreed to recognize the National Union of Seamen. It is seen as a breakthrough for trade union organization in the offshore oil fields.

employed by Comex Houlder onboard the Uncle John, an emergency support vessel.

Comex Houlder, which is based in Aberdeen, is the first diving company operating in the United Kingdom sector to agree to union recognition which will cover about 30 divers. The company and the union have also agreed to

Leading republicans visit Maze hunger strikers

that these committees would than necessary, so the campaign be able to run only a re-would need to ensure that they minder system once they are were discouraged from present-computerized. were discouraged from present-

Belfast, yesterday to see the eight hunger strikers in what was being interpreted as a significant move in the crisis. The agreement is for divers > was election agent for Robert Sands, the hunger striker who became an MP after having talks recently with Labour Party.

From Richard Ford, Belfast

Three leading republicans raise hopes that a settlement visited the Maze prison, near was imminent.

Kieran Doherty and Kevin Lynch who today entered the seventieth, and sixty-ninth days The group included a memof their hunger strike respecber of the Irish Republican Socialist Party, Mr Gerry Adams, vice-president of Sinn Fein and Mr Owen Carron who tively, continues to deteriorate. Mr Kenneth Maginnis, the Official Unionist candidate in the Fermanagh and South Tyrone by-election, is no longer a part-time member of the Ulster Defence Regiment as They went to the prison stated in The Times yesterday. Miss Mairead Corrigan, the relatives of the hunger strikers, Nobel peace prize winner, is to interested clergy and members marry her brother-in-law, the of the Social Democratic and father of the three children whose deaths led her to form service, to hold a ballot

lop executive material.

Good public speaker Stereo cassette, mono radio

Decision maker Manual or automatic

Ability to delegate

Power-assisted steering

Breadth of vision

Sound financial sense Price from £8,545

Farsightedness

Halogen headlamps

Seats five in comfort

Accommodatingattitude

17cu.ft.ofbootspace

Distinguished appearance Sleek aerodynamic styling

Powerful presence 25 litre 6 cylinder engine

You'd imagine that around £8,500 would buy you a fairly exclusive, individual motor car.

Too often, it buys just the opposite: a car from a range of identical body shapes distinguished only by the level of trim outside, and a few extra ccs under the bonnet.

If however, you're ambitious for rather more than a different badge on the boot, take a look at the Vauxhall Viceroy.

As you see, it's not just a lookalike with a bigger engine. It's a unique, individual saloon.

The Viceroy has a powerful 2.5 litre 6 cylinder engine producing 114 hp(DIN), reaching 60 mph from standstill in 11.3 secs.* Its standard features give a feeling of exclusivity that anyone will appreciate.

Power assisted steering, central locking, a driver's seat that's adjustable for height, adjustable front head restraints and remote control driver's mirror are just a few of the features.

And whilst spending £8,545 on a car is undoubtedly a serious matter, the Viceroy has an added benefit to justify the price.

You'll actually enjoy driving it-a quality it shares with all other Vauxhalls.

Make an executive decision right now. Arrange a test drive with your local Vauxhall-Opel dealer. You can get in touch with him through your Yellow Pages, or just call one of the numbers listed opposite.

VAUXHALL H.Q.	LUTON	(0582) 21122 ext 8915
FLEET REGIONAL INFORMATION CENTRES	SHEFFIELD EDINBURGH BRISTOL WATFORD	(0742) 28786 (031) 337 3261 (0272) 299835 (0923) 33221

VICERDY MANUAL SALOON IMETRIC FIGURES IN BRACKETS). CONSTANT 56 MPH: 33.2 MPG [8.5L/100 KM].
CONSTANT 75 MPH: 25.9 MPG [10.9L/100 KM]. URBAN CYCLE: 20.8 MPG [13.6L/100 KM]. FOR VAUXHALL RENTAL CALL LUTON (0582) 21122 EXT. 8721. PERSONAL EXPORT ENQUIRIES (0582) 426197.

BACKED BY THE WORLDWIDE RESOURCES OF GENERAL MOTORS.

Iran earthquake death toll may be in thousands

An earthquake destroyed several villages in south-east Iran for the second time in six weeks, leaving more than 700 people dead and 440 injured according to first reports, the Iranian news agency Pars said.

The Governor of Kerman province, which is about 500 miles south-east of Tehran, told Pars the final death toll may rise to between 3,000 and 4,000. In some villages as many as 90 per cent of the houses were demolished, while about half the affected area was lying under rubble, Mr Abdolhossein Sayeh, the Governor, was quoted south-east of Tehran, told Pars south-east of Tehran, told Pars the final death toll may rise to between 3,000 and 4,000. In some villages as many as 90 per cent of the houses were demolished, while about half the affected area was lying under rubble, Mr Abdolhossein Sayeh, the Governor, was quoted as saying.

First indications were that the earthquake had hit a much wider area than the June 11 tremor, which practically destroyed the town of Golbaf. Reconstruction there had already started.

According to an initial report, the latest earthquake affected a much larger region. The earthquake, which struck at 5.24 pm (GMT) on Tuesday, blocked mountain roads. Rescue teams were being flown in hy helicopters.

Pars said rescue squads immediately started digging bodies and survivors out of the ruins and evacuating the injured to emergency hospitals set up at Kerman, the provincial capital.

The Tehran Seisomological Institute said the earthquake measured between 6.7 and 7 on the Richter scale. Its epicentre was close to the villages of Andoogherd and Shahdad, both about 30 miles from Kerman about 30 miles from Kerman. In this area an earthquake left more than 1.000 people dead and 1,500 injured, on June

Rescuers were being hampered by the mountainous and semi-desert terrain. Helicopters taking supplies between Kerman and Shahdad crossed Peaks of more than 12,000 ft.
Food and milk were among early supplies sought by Red Crescent (Red Cross) teams. Helicopters were taking the injured to hospitals in Kerman until field-hospitals could be set up. Telephone links were cut between Kerman and tut between Kerman and increase in magnitude. A read-febran.

A military aircraft carrying a quake capable of causing very medical team flew from widespread damage

Pertini pledges to resist terrorism

From Peter Nichols, Rome, July 29

President Pertini : "I believe in my people."

Storm grows over eviction

From Eric Marsden, Cape Town, July 29

Growing opposition to the Brigadier D. B. Nothnagel, the of Cape Town homeless critical of the refusal.

The octogenarian President

Pertini looked away from the wedding which he was watching on television and said sadly: "Our King opened the road to Fastism."

road to Fastism.

He followed the whole morning's transmissions. Like King Juan Carlos of Spain, President Pertini was one of the great absentees from St Paul's.

great absences from St Paul's. His absence, however, was in no way meant as a protest. When his invitation came he had thought that he would be on holiday by this time and so immediately sent his regrets and asked Senator Amintore Fanfani, the president of the senate, to represent him.

For a time he followed the broadcast with personal com-

For a time he followed the broadcast with personal comments. The British monarchy was deeply embedded in the life of the nation because it had kept out of political life, he said. "It is better that we are a republic here. The last kings betrayed the people too hadle."

badly.
One of the biggest crimes of the King was to agree to make the declaration of war-against Britain ond France in do this. I was then in prison and I wept with rage at the

So now there was no nostal-gia in Italy for the monarchy. Young people in particular felt nothing for the former royal family.

He had been asked on behalf of the former King Umberto who lives in Portugal if the bodies of his father and mother could be buried in Italy. The President was happy to grant the request as a human gesture but he had placed a condition: the former King should write to him with a formal request addressed to him as President of the Republic.

NZ police charge on protesters

By Our Foreign Staff

More than 30 people were injured in Wellington yester-day when police baton charged a demonstration against the South African Springboks rugby tour of New Zealand.

About 2,000 protesters were marching on the South African Consulate when they were confronted by two lines of police. The police warned them and then moved in on the crowd with batons, hirting the protesters on their heads, shoulders and arms. At least 30 suffered head injuries and two were taken to hospital by ambulance.

Observers described the ugly scenes as the worst violence known in New Zealand since Earlier yesterday, 20 pro-testers stormed the head-quarters of the Wellington Rugby Union and scattered tickets for the second All-Blacks-Springboks test from a first floor window to demon-

In Auckland more than 100 policemen charged into a proest march as demonstrators broke into the local offices of Air New Zealand. About 30 people were arrested. The air-line has been declared a target by anti-tour groups because it is transporting the Springbok

There were protests in at least five other cities around the country, including New Plymouth, where the Spring-boks played yesterday without any disruption by demonstra-

There was an atmosphere of fear in the town before the match. There were only about 100 demonstrators but bus loads of tour supporters wearing light blue armbands had arrived from Hamilton, where the Springboks match was cancelled on Saturday.

It was rumoured that they had formed a reprisal squad to beat up both the demon-strators and journalists who they now blame for encourag-ing the protestors. The demonstrators knew they had no hope of passing the police line 200 yards from the entrance to the ground.

Then as they passed a parked bus a group of about 20 men wearing armbands jumped out and surrounded them. For a moment it appeared the two sides would clash but police quickly moved between them and ordered the men to leave.

When a police squad was moved up to the gates of the plavers.

the depression in the 1930s.

The appearance on the screen the Duke of Edinburgh have had together when they were here. The Queen told him off about it, you know." The serious business talking about Italy's troubles had to await lunch because the wedding was too absorbing.

"I will telephone the kitchen eviction and prosecution of homeless blacks in the Cape Town area is being expressed by political, religious and wel-fare workers of all races.

In St George's Cathedral here tomorrow a "meeting of recon-ciliation" with the victims of the police raids will be held, at which the speakers will include evicted women who have been released from prison.

The meeting is advertised as non-religious and non-political under the slogan "all Cape-tonians together". Addresses will also be given by Adam Small, the coloured poet, and Bishop S. Naidoo of the Roman Catholic church

Mrs Helen Suzman, who yesterday led eight Progressive Federal Party MPs on a tour of makeshift camps being used by people evicted from the hostels at Lange, said they were appalled at what they found. Scores of women and children were huddled together under plostic sheets supported on plostic sheets supported on

She said that it was beyond belief that a civilized country

develop and even more incomprehensible that the authorities could deprive homeless people of their shelter in pouring rain and freezing cold.

Many of the arrests arose from a confrontation between homeless families and the police on July 16 when tear gas was used to disperse about 800 people who had gathered out-side the Lange commissioners'

Mr Brian Bishop, chairman of the Civil Rights League, who was at the court on that day, has disputed the police claim that action had to be taken because the crowd was pushing against the court door and breaking things while the court was in session. He claims that the crowd was tense but peaceful and that the use of force could have been sticks of wood.

Catholic church.

The King refused to do this. and see if they can manage His cousin, King Juan Carlos something for two". He did, of Spain, for whom President and they could. It was served Pertini has a great esteem, was on one of the smaller terraces overlooking the palace gardens.
The President still held to his view that terrorism in Italy brought some enthusiastic had its centre outside the memories: "What laughs we country. He had been told in Algeria that there were training camps for terrorists in North divisional commissioner of police, who said the police were absolutely restrained and used the least force possible under the circumstances. "They did a superb job of work in dis-persing, without any injuries to anyone, a crowd which had gathered, in contravention of the Riotous Assemblies Act". Mr Charles Simkins, a university expert on conditions in the black homelands, has given evidence in one of the courts hearing charges against people accused of illegal resi-dence in the Cape that if men were forced to return to the Ciskei homeland their families could face complete starvation.

people were living in urban-style areas in the homelands with no employment centres of their own. They had to rely on earnings from nearby white areas or remittances from migrant workers far away from

Job prospects in the home-metropolitan areas. The chances of finding work for a man forced to return home from Cape Town were less than one

Mr Simkins told the court

age of five, and the figure was higher in the rural areas. Mrs Fransina Mamfanya, aged 55, a welfare worker who was wrongfully arrested while visiting evicted squatters near the crossroads camp, has pro-tested to administration officials at her treatment during four chairman of the United Women's Organization, said that though she had her pass with her she was "chucked in a van" with more than 30 days in prison.

Mrs Mamfanya, who

He said about three million would feel the effects. But he could not say with certainty where the centre was. where the centre was.

Mehemet Ali Agea, the Turk who had tried to kill the Pope, the President's great friend, was brought out of prison in Istanbul, given money and told to kill the Pope or risk to be killed himself. Now the terrorist was expecting to be freed from the Italian prison in which he is held, but that, the President said, would not happen. Here he was under the closest supervision.

closest supervision.

The overwhelming majority of the Italian people, the President went on, were still determined to resist terrorism. He had disapproved of the Socialist Party's decision to print documents issued by the "Red Brigades" terrorist group in the party's newspaper. Despite this lapse, the front of a firm stand against the terrorists was still largely intact. He was satisfied with the performance of Senator Giovanni

He was satisfied with the performance of Senator Giovanni Spadolini, the new Prime Minister, and hoped his Government would last

In spite of Italy's difficulties, President Pertini has not lost his faith in his country.

"I believe in my people", he said, "I have seen this country terribly reduced more than once. The Nazis and the Fascists did dreadful things here. But the people manage here. But the people manage to overcome the most appal ling difficulties.

"I am one of them. I share their qualities and defects. They respect my sincerity, especially the young people. The overwhelming majority are He knew the motive of terrorism in Italy. It was a bridge between Europe, Africa and the Middle East. If it were destroyed, our whole world to hear a stupid question. not drug-addicts or terrorists.

"Groups of young people, from children on, come see me here. So far I have talked to 37,000 of them and I have yet

Angry Poles step up food protests

Warsaw, July 29.—Poland was hit by wildcat strikes and a fresh surge of food protests today with angry workers organizing rallies and demanding meetings with the authorities. About 2,000 textile workers at a Warsaw mill struck for three hours and bus drivers at one depot refused to take their buses out. buses out.

Regional leaders of the Solidarity union said the situation could get out of control and worked furiously to stem the tide of anger at food shortages, reduced meat rations and proposed price rises.

Solidarity said its Warsaw leaders were holding a crisis session to decide how to respond to demands from factories for a decision on protest action in the capital. Warning strikes were called for next week in Czestochowa, Piotrkow Trybunalski and Grudziadz. Protest meetings and hunger marches announced in other cities.

A four-day protest campaign in Poland's second city, Lodz, entered its third day. Tomorrow lands were poor. A survey had shown that 85 per cent of thousands of women are ex-pected to march through Lodz economically active males were in what is likely to be the biggest hunger protest to date. The Solidarity headquarters in Gdansk said protest messages were flooding in from all parts of the country. "We can no longer count the individual plants. There are too many of that 117 out of every 1,000 black children died before the hem," a spokesman said. Workers in many factories had decided against accepting the meat coupons for August in which allowances were reduced by some 20 per cent.

The government, confronted with a collapsing economy and dwindling supplies, said Poland did not have enough meat to ensure the ration allow-ance for the next two months. ance for the next two months.

It negotiated a compromise agreement with Solidarity earlier in the week suspending the cuts for September and looking for ways to make up the August deficit. But this appears to have done nothing appears to have done nothing to halt protests. The ministers were asked to take energetic steps to cope with the deteriorating economic in another sign of Poland's worsening plight, Mr Czesław Piotrkowski, the Mining Minister, said the country would face power cuts in the autumn and winers are presented to the country of a thorner of the country of t winter because of a shortage of coal. Production this year would be no more than 168 million tonnes, he said.

Anger over the food situa-Anger over the took situa-tion was running high in Silesia, a Solidarity spokesman said. In the eastern city of Chelm, close to the Soviet frontier, Solidarity is taking the initiative in organizing protests to prevent wildcat strikes and un controlled actions.

The siren of the main rail-way repair depot in the western city of Poznan was sounded for five minutes every bour today as a sign of protest More than 50 lorries took part in a motorcade protest in Lodz today, watched by thou-sands of people. The vehicles were festooned with the red and white national flag and posters

Arrigo Levi: A personal view

Centre challenge in Britain and Italy

The endless changing kaleidoscope of policical life under democratic conditions produces, from nime to time, patterns which sharply contradict the usual polarization of forces eround two main parties. And support by plebispine for one charismanic leader at a time of deep national crisis (as in the case of General de Gaulle in 1958) is not the only way in which the prevailing two-party system can be upset.

At the present time, there are two European committes, Britain and Iraly, where an ususual challenge from the centre is adding stape. This is a very upsetting development for the two dominating parties: Conservatives and Labour in Britain, Christian Democrats and Communists in livity.

Democrats and Communists in Indy.

There are obvious differences between the British and Italian cases, but the similarities are also striking.

So far, the rise of the Social Democrat Party in Britain seems to spring from a highly nursual event—the a highly unusual event—the simultaneous radicalization and polarization of both great parties. In general, when one of the two parties elects an "extremist" leader, the other happily rushes to the centre and scores sweeping gains in the succeeding election.

This happened twice in the past 20 years in the United States: When Senator Barry Goldwater led the Republicans to shameful defeat in 1964, and when Senator George McGovern led the Deimorate to a similar to the Deimorate to the similar to the past of the senator of the past of the senator of the senato Democrats to a similar débâcle in 1972.

I cannot recall another occasion when both parties simultaneously ran away from the centre in opposite direc-tions. This is the historic chance now offered to the SDP in Britain: A wholly different thing from the rise of Labour in the early years of the century, which was related to the widening of the electorate as well as to the huge social changes in the country.

Either of the two main parties, or both, may of course still recover their senses before a general election takes place, and Britain's peculiar electoral system may still produce in the end the most surprising the end the most surprising results: But the space offered to a new party of the centre by the "double polarization" which has occurred is obviously a huge one.

No such radicalization of the Christian Democrats (DC) and Communists (PCI) has taken place in Italy. Still, the two main parties are both losing ground in favour of the four centre parties.
In 1976, Christian Demo-

to the PCI), while the four parties in the middle got only 17.5. A series of elections in 1979-1981 has now reduced the big two's share of the vote by five or six points, and brought the share of the four in the middle up to around 25 per cent.

The fact that litaly now has, for the first time since December, 1945, a Prime Minister chosen from one of the centre parties (the Republication) centre parties (the Republican leader, Signor Giovanni Spadolini) is another powerful indication of the rise of a new challenge from the traly's electoral law, which is rigorously proportional, will of course never permit those huge shifts in the voting pattern which Britain's "first past the post takes all " system makes possible. But if the four middle parties con-solidate their gains in a futsonute their gams in a rur-ure parliamentary election, the face of Italian democ-racy will radically change. The Italian electorate, with its deep desire for change without danger seems to have The Italian electorate, with its deep desire for change without danger, seems to have realized that the political bipolarization of the middle 1970s could never bring about such change. Out of an excess of caution and ambiguity, Signor Berlinguer's Eurocommunists have apparently lost the chance they then had to become a reliable alternative to the reliable alternative to the Christian Democrats.

Now the four middle par-Now the four middle par-ties have their chance. Under Signor Spadolini's determined leadership they are offering the country a "new social compact." which is strongly reminiscent of the policies of consensus followed by the forces now coalescing at the forces now coalescing at the centre of Britain's political stage, at the time of the Lib-Lab alliance.

But one wonders which parties, in Britain and Italy, would suffer more from the rise of a new powerful centre the Labour Party and the resulting search for a "new left could have the surprising result of producing a new right-wing party, in lieu of the Conservatives. Could something similar happen in Italy? It is not impossible.

While the biggest of the four parties in the middle, Signor Craxi's Socialists, wants to follow President Mitterrand's strategy in France in order to take the Communists' place as the new main party of the left, it still could, in the end, lead the centre to success mostly at the expense of the Christian Democrats. The kaleidoscope of Italian democracy, which remained unchanged for so long, could produce, now it has started moving, quite unexpected shapes. Times Newspapers, 1981

crats and Communists together got 73.2 per cent of the vote (38.8 to the DC, 34.4

600 copies of Picassos hijacked

New York, July 29.—A lorry carrying 600 lithographic reproductions of paintings by Picasso was hijacked by gunmen yester-day when the driver stopped at traffic lights. Besides the lithographs, which were valued at $480,000 (about £252,000) and each signed by Miss Marina Picasso, Picasso's granddaughter, the lorry was carrying $50,000 worth of cash-mere jerseys and several cartons of women's shoes. Mr Bernard Gerstel, the driver, was unburt.

Mr Herman Finesod, the president of Jackie Fine Arts, which owns the reproductions, said there were 40 copies each of 15 paintings. The lithographs were to have been sold for $800 each. Mr Finesod, the police and the owner of the lorry said they had no idea whether the hijackers knew what it contained. Mr Finesod said they would have difficulty in disposing of the art works. All the stolen lithographs were reproductions of well-known paintings.

Police said the hijacking took place moments after Mr Ger-stel had turned off the Long Island expressway on to a ser vice road. Two men with guns jumped on to the running boards of the vehicle, climbed inside and ordered Mr Gerstel to put his head down.

One of the gunmen drove the lorry for a while, then Mr Gerstel was transferred to a car and released later in Brooklyn. The lithographs had been made in the United States from made in the United States from paintings in the collection of Miss Picasso. Mr Finesod said he had flown with them to France for Miss Picasso to sign them. When they were stolen they were being taken to a warehouse, to be inspected by

IN BRIEF Madrid protest at ABS cuts

Madrid, July 29.-More than 400 Spanish radio and relevision iournalists have signed a letter pournalists have signed a letter protesting at the decision to close the BBC's Spanish-language service for Spain. The letter was delivered to the British Embassy by a delegation of journalists. It said the closure of the service "would deal an incompanish the service before the service and the service of the service to the service of the service to the service of the service to an irreparable blow to the free flow of information between the two countries."

Minister convicted

Salisbury. - Mr Edward Pswarayi, Zimbabwe's Deputy Minister of Transport and Power, has been convicted of charging two lodgers in a house he owns too much rent. He was cautioned and discharged by a Salisbury magistrate.

Robert Moses dies West Islip, New York.-Robert Moses, the power broker who built more public works than anyone else in American history and imposed his will on governors mayors and presidents, has died aged

S Africa links

Lusaka.-Zambia imported goods worth 75m kwacha (about £40m) from South Africa in the first seven months of 1980—an increase of some 150 per cent over the same period

New paper planned

Washington.—The Washington Post is considering authlishing an afternoon newspaper if the Washington Star closes on August 7 a source at the news-paper said.

Wine flows over

Montpellier.—Thousands of gallons of wine flowed in streets near here today after French wine growers stopped and empired maker forties manufactured by the forties manufactured by the forties of the fo porting cheap Italian trine.

Reagan pressure on tax Bill waverers

From Nicholas Ashford, Washington, July 29

minute telephone calls to wavering congressmen from President Reagan and senior members of his Administrattion as well as fro the public in an attempt to influence the crucial vote in the House of Representatives in favour of the President's tax accepted, he was no longer

dent prediction he made last vates.
Hours before the House was men had never experienced a telephone blitz like the one that followed President Reagan's cent aprend over dent prediction he made high as 6 to 1 in the president might that the Democrats would high as 6 to 1 in the president with by a margin of 10 to 20 favour. Western Union removated that telegrams to Walter that Hours before the House was due to choose between the two usual volume parameter moon.

telephone bliz like the one ing tax cut, fortified that followed President Reagan's cent apread over that followed President Reagan's cent apread over the followed president Reagan's c The structure for empty of many

Israel shoots down Syrian jet in Lebanon dogfight affected a much larger region, of more than 1,000 square miles and reached into the desert of south-east Iran.

In Kerman at least 40 people were killed when old houses collapsed. Panic-stricken residents fled into the streets when

More than 50 doctors and the director of the Iranian Red Crescent arrived in Kerman by air today and army helicopters wer carrying help to isolated mountain areas where many roads were said to have been

(The United States geological survey in Colorado said the carthquake registered at least 7.3 degrees on the Richter scale, which would make it a major quake.)

The Richter scale measures ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold the earthquake struck.

From Christopher Walker, Jerusalem, July 29

The precarious five-day cease- stinians. fire suffered its most severe this morning when Israeli fighters shot down a Syrian jet which tried to intercept a reconnaissance patrol flying over Lebanon. The Israelis claimed the aircraft they destroyed was a MiG 25. The dogfight highlighted one of the most sensitive sections of the most sensitive sections or the truce negotiated last week by Mr Philip Habib, America's special envoy. The Syrians were not directly involved in the truce negotiations.

In diplomatic circles there were fears that a renewal of Syria could undermine the ceasefire. It could also reactiunresolved question of the Syrian missile batteries in the Bekaa Valley.

Damascus radio yesterday gave warning in an official commentary that Syria was prepared to intercept any Israeli aircraft flying in Lebanese air space. The threat contrassed sharply with the low profile which Syria maintained during the two-week war of attrition between Israel and the Pale-

Lebanese count cost of air war

From Tewfik Misblawi

Beirut, July 29

Five days after an American-sponsored ceasefire went into effect on the Lebanon-Israeli border, Lebanon is embroiled in a host of social and economic problems created by two weeks of virtual war between the Palestinian guerrillas in the country and Israel.

The difficulties-some of the most serious since the civil war six years ago - are largely the outcome of Israeli air strikes on Lebanon's infra-refinery. Medreco, at Zahrani near Sidon, also received direct hits, which brought the plant to a halt, fuel shortage. The refineries, fed with Saudi Arabian crude oil through the American-owner trans-Arabia pipeline used to meet about 40 per cent of Lebanon's petroi

Medreco officials said the days after essential refinery could resume produc-

repairs had been made; but the plant would not be fully opera-tional before September.

The petrol shortage has also affected the supply of elec-tricity, which is produced by diesel-powered generators. A series of Israeli attacks on a big power station at Jiyeh, south of Beirut, had already disrupted power supply in south and east Lebanon.

authority yesterday applied nationwide power rationing.

annual menace since before the civil war. Water is also pumped to factories and high-rise flats by diesel-powered engines.

The Lebanese electricity

Other Lebanese expect more shortages, especially in the water supply, almost a regular tween south La capital Beirut.

needs.

The Israeli military command said today in a communiqué, that the interception had come less than 24 hours after the Syrian announcement. It also denied claims that any Israeli jets had been shot down in the encounter. encounter, Mr Menachim Begin, the Israeli Prime Minister, confirmed that, despite Syrian opposition, Israeli overflights of Lebanon would continue because they were vital to Israel's defence.

He claimed that they enabled the Israeli forces to pignoint

the Israeli forces to pinpoint terrorist targets inside Lebanon and thereby minimize civilian Beirut: A Lebanese source who met Mr Abdul Halim liament House. About 30 police Khaddam, the Iraqi Foreign Minister, in Damascus quoted arrested the protesters. him as saying that Syria did not have enough missiles to guard Beirut against future Israeli air strikes (Twefik Mishlawi writes).

He added that Syria would agree to allow forces from other Arab countries to enter

CALIFORNIA STRANGLER

against the suspect because of structure, including roads, bridges, power stations and oil refinery installations. At least 15 bridges and roads, including the main coastal highway, have been either lestroyed or damaged, dis-rupting communication berupting communication be-tween south Lebanon and the Lebanon's second largest oil

From Ivor Davis Los Angeles, July 29

SURPRISE

A spokesman for Mr George Deukmejian, the Attorney-General, said: "We are going to take the case and review lack of evidence.

the evidence". or even months before the new prosecutors actually decide whether or not to put Angelo Buono, aged 46, on trial for strangling 10 young women.

Last week the District Attorney asked Judge Ronald George to dismiss charges against Mr Buono because of insufficient evidence. The chief

But in a surprising ruling the judge refused, and asked the State Attorney-General to take

Lebanon via Syrian territory.

prosecution witness was no longer reliable, he said.

California's Attorney-General has agreed to take over the case of the man accused of being the Hollywood hillside strangler after the Los Angeles District Attorney had unsuccessfully sought to drop charges

However, it may take weeks #### ground to push back demon-strators the men in armbands followed. Leading article, page 13 the case over CIA director confident of keeping his job

From Our Own Correspondent, Washington, July 29 about his past business activi-ties and his running of the agency since he took over at the beginning of this year.

The committee's investiga-tion, which started yesterday with an examination of documents presented by Mr Casey, is being held in secret, but it is becoming increasingly clear that the committee is un-likely to call for Mr Casey's resignation.

The investigation The investigation was brought about by the quick resignation two weeks ago of Mr Max Hugel, his chief of covert operations, after dis-closure of alleged financial improprieties by Mr Hugel.

Mr William Casey, the director of the Central Intelligence Agency, gave evidence under oath before the Senate intelligence committee today about his past business activities and his running of the intelligence committee, said he case with the control of the senate intelligence committee, said he case with the control of the senate intelligence committee, said he thought the poor judgment Mr Casey had shown in appoint-ing Mr Hugel was cause for him to resign.

Several senators have since spoken in Mr Casey's favour and members of the committee have said that nothing has been found to incriminate him. Mr Casey appeared confident before giving evidence. Sur-rounded by half a dozen body-guards Mr Casey said: "I've been through half a dozen of these before. It's going to be a cake walk." Smilingly he added: "My life is an open

Zambian unions meet on arrests

From Stephen Taylor Lusaka, July 29 The Zambia Congress of Trade Unions has summoned

emergency meetings starting to-morrow to consider the detention by President Kenneth Kaunda of the country's top trade union leader and three of his colleagues on Monday. The meetings, announced by the most senior official of ZCTU still at liberty, is the first re-sponse by the union movement to the arrest of Mr Frederick Chiluba, the chairman of the organization, Mr Newstead Zimba, the general secretary, two other officials and a businessman.

The detentions were ordered at what appeared to be the end of more than a week of industrial unrest in the vital Copper-belt region. In the midst of the crisis last week President Kaunda decided not to attend today's royal wedding in London. In a brief press statement last night which was approved by the Government, Mr Herbert Bweupe, the deputy chairman of the ZCTU, emphasized the gravity of the situation and urged union leaders and members to ensure peace and calm. This was seen as an attempt to forestall any violence of the kind that flared briefly last which had already been sche-duled for Friday and Saturday

se of force could have been others . . . "I was very angry and told them they treated us This view is rejected by like human rubbish", she said. Party pact sought in

From Andrew McLeod Buenos Aires, July 29

The statement, issued last night, said that Argentina's current hardships arise from the lack of any participation of the people in utterly important decisions concerning the destiny of the fatherland".

Senor Arnut was referring to a political pact between the Radicals and the Peronists in 1972 which led to the return of Mr Bweupe said that meet former President Juan Domingo ings of the ZCTU executive Peron to power, widespread committee and general council terrorism of the left and right. duled for Friday and Saturday which resulted in a military to review relations with the coup which deposed Peron's ruling party and the govern-widow, Maria Estela, from ruling party and the govern-widow, ment — would be held earlier office.

Argentina

A multi-party grouping has called on all sectors of the country, including the armed forces, to draw up a national project which would lead to national reconciliation and an orderly solution to Argentia's political and economic crisis. The group, which includes the Radical, Peronist, Intransigent, Christian Democratic and Movement for Industrial Development parties, called in a statement for a return to the rule of law, the drafting of a political plan and an emergency economic programme.

of the fatherland".

The statement was sharply criticized by a conservative politician, Señor Horacio Arnut, secretary of the Democratic party, who said it resembled old pacts which failed and which proved a fraud and led to the frustration of those who believed in it." believed in it".

cut Bili.

demanding food and regular supplies.—Reuter. customs officials.-New Times News Service.

There was a blitz of last- prepared to sustain the confi- sides reported their offices

Members of Congress on all House,

مكنامن للطل

Bani-Sadr flies to political asylum in France

From Charles Hargrove, Paris, July 29

Bani-Sadr of Iran, arrived in France at 4.30 am in a Boeing 707 aircraft of the Iranian

He landed at the military air hase at Evreux, west of Paris, the landing strip used by for-mer Emperor Bokassa of the Central African ampire in September, 1979, after his over-

Mr Bani-Sadr polied for political asylum. That was granted by the Foreign Ministry on the express condition that he does not indulge in any political activity on French soil", in the words of an official statement issued by the Quai

As soon as Mr Bani-Sadr's arrival in France was dis-covered, his extradition was demanded by the Iranian Government. But Mr Hassan Zamani, the Iranian Charge d'Affaires in Paris, who was summoned to the Quai d'Orsay, was informed that the former President had applied for political asylum, and that the demand for his extradition would not be met. Under strong police escort, Mr Bani-Sadr, who is 48, was driven from Evreux Air Base to Cachan, a suburb south of Paris, where he lived in exile from 1963 to 1979, and where he has a flat. His two daughters aged 16 and 18, who are at school, and their aunt, one of his sisters, are living there.

The flat, which is in a modest looking building, has been cuarded by the police since June 20, when Mr Bani-Sadr disappeared in Tebran. On his arrival at Cachan the former head of state was welcomed by a large number of supporters, as well as a horde of photo-graphers and reporters.

graphers and reporters.

In an impromptu press conference at the foot of the stairs of the block of flats, he declared that he intended to remain in France "until the day when the Iranian people open the way to democracy and will enjoy a political life worthy of the name".

He added that "recent developments and the popular developments and the popular resistance show that the Iranian people are determined to proceed on the path of revolution, and to oppose the terrorism of Khomeini ".

He emphasized that he had chosen France as his place of exile because he had two daughters living here, and had spent many years in this country before the revolution

Mr Bani-Sadr, who looked tired but relaxed, and had shaved off his bushy mous-tache, explained that since his overthrow, he had continued to live clandestinely in Tehran, under the protection of the people, and had been able to pursue his activities and move

The former head of state had at his side Rajari, one of the leaders of the left-wing organization of the People's Mujahiden, who had ensured his protection in Tehran and hidden him, and Colonel Behzad Moezi, of the Iranian Air Force, who organized his escape from M Claude Cheysson, the Foreign Minister, declared at midday today, as he left the Prime Minister's Office, that if Mr Banl-Sadr makes a political statement in France. he will place himself in contravention of the undertaking he has taken and even signed here this morning. If he does not make any political statements, Mr Bani-Sadr is free in France."

Former President Abolhassan French soil. " It is the general rule. There is no Basque, Central African or Cambodian rule. There are political refugees other than Mr Bani-Sadr.

He had not yet been informed of an extradition demand, but stated firmly: "There will be no extradition for political crimes and, a fortiori, for political offences. We shall only proceed to extradite people for common law crimes."

Colonel Behind Morsi explained that vesterday he had plained that yesterday he had submitted a flight plan for a Boeing 707 aircraft with a crew of five for a routine training mission in Iranian air space.

The aircraft had taken off at 22.30 from Tehran military airport and headed for Greece. About 23.15 the Iranian press agency reported the hijacking of an aircraft in Iran, and said that Iranian fighter aircraft had tried in vain to intercept

As the Boeing 707 carrying Mr Bani-Sadr, who was accompanied by five other people was flying over Greece, the crew notified the local air traffic control that it had been historical

At Evreux, the crew told the At Evreux, the crew told the French authorities that they had been compelled under threat to make for France. They demanded to be reparrated as soon as possible. The Ousi d'Orsay amounced that the aircraft would be returned to Iran. to Iran.

By order of M Charles Hernu, the Defence Minister, who as soon as he was informed early today contacted the Prime Minister and the Foreign Minister, strict security precautions were taken at Evreux before the aircraft landed. No one was allowed to approach it. The base is earmarked to receive aircraft outside normal traffic such as hijacked air-

Mr Bani-Sadr will not be received with open arms by other Iranian refugees living in France. A member of the staff of Mr Shabpour Bakhtiar, the former Iranian Prime Minister. of Mr Shanpour Bakunar, me former Iranian Prime Minister, also living in exile outside Paris, declared this morning that Mr Bani-Sadr "had no place alongside Iranian nationalists. He was the President of the Islamic Republic, the hand of the symmed forces. the head of the armed forces of the present regime, and co-operated closely with the Mullahs", he emphasized. He had appointed Ayatollah Khalkali as head of the Islamic tribunals. "Iranian nationalists cannot regard such a man as being part of the opposition to the regime of the Mullahs"; but it was normal that France. but it was normal that France, a land of welcome, should grant asylum to all those who applied for it.

The French Government's decision to do so in the case of one hand and Government re-Mr Bani-Sadr will certainly prisals and executions on the bring about a further deteriors—other. I contacted Mr Khotion in the already strained relations between Paris and Tehran. It could endanger the security of the 15 or so French diplomats, and the 100 French nationals still living in Iran.
The departure of the former Shah for the United States and the refusal of the American authorities to extradite him led immediately to the taking hostage of American diplomats at the embassy in Tehran in September, 1979.

There is a difference, however, because Ayatollah Khomeini enjoyed political asylum in this country from aurumn 1978 to February, 1979 and surred up revolution in Landra which home in Nauehla. The minister recalled that Iran fro mhis home in Nauphlethe former President had le-Château, west of Paris. applied for asylum, and that was granted on condition that Shah's family and several political tical opponents of the Khomeini activity in France and on regime live in exile here.

Mr Bani-Sadz, former President of Iran, speaking freely in Paris yesterday.

The ex-President's own story

Khomeini's heavy responsibility for the tragedy of Iran

By Hazhir Teimourian, who interviewed Mr Bani-Sadr by telephone soon after the former Iranian leader arrived in Paris.

A. I very much hope that my stay abroad will be temporary stay abroad will be temporary this time. One of my aims was to stop the cycle of explosions and acts of description on the one hand and Government reprisals and executions on the prisals and executions on the contacted Mr Kho-sonally responsible for the crassed? meini many times, directly and indirectly, but my requests were not accepted by him.

I subsequently thought it useful to visit abroad after the elections, because the people of Iran demonstrated bow unpopular those who have usurped power are. According to our findings only about three million people voted in the Presi-dential elections. The regime fabricated the other 11 million.

I still believe myself to be duy-bound to the nation to struggle for the realization of our original aims at the start of the revolution. Mr Khomeini promised me personally many times before the revolution in Paris to respect the right of the people of Iran to democratic liberties.

I was myself actively in-volved then in formulating our

Q. Mr Bani-Sadr, we were led to believe that you were determined to stay inside the country was succeeded in attaining government, the lust after power A. I have never seriously contry. What made you change stopped our progress towards your mind?

A I very much hope that my quite the reverse has been

A. It is irrelevant whether he knows what he is doing or not. I have accepted full responsibility for all my actions, even though some of them can now be seen not have been the best course. I think that Mr Khomeini hears heavy responsibility. meini bears heavy responsibility for the appalling disaster that has befallen the country. To a large extent, he has imposed this course upon our

Q. There has been press speculation here that your best option might be to join the Kurds in the western region of the country where they exercise full control. It is thought that given the present reign of chaos in the ayatollahs? Iran, you could overthow the Tehran government from the safety of that region which you could

A. I have never seriously con-templated that path. In fact, I remained in Tebran throughout the period of my hiding. No, we must think of a faster solution to the problem for the

try to find a quicker way of overthrowing the absolutions who lust after power only, and we must stop the Americans from installing a government in Iran. It is urgent.

Q. How temporary do you expect this your second exile in Paris to be? A. Very temporary.

Q. While you were in hiding, did you contact other opposition leaders who are also in hiding? For example, Mr Hedayat Matin-Daftari, leader of the National Democratic yours?

A. No, there were no such contacts made. Q. Finally, could I ask you how you arranged for your flight the people in charge and went to the military airfield, where the plane was waiting for us. Of course it was dangerous, but life is full of such dangers.

Spain and Nato

A change in strategic emphasis

Spain has completed preliminary soundings with all 15 member-nations about joining the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In this article, and another tomorrow, Richard Wigg examines what Spain offers Nato; how membership will affect Spain's armed forces; and what a new partner on the Iberian peninsula will mean for Portugal, a founder member.

A country's geography is immutable, but political events elsewhere and the tachniques of warfare can profoundly alter its geostrategic significance. The decision of the Government of Señor Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo to ask Parliament this autumn to approve Spain's entry into Nato comes when events of the past few years have greatly increased the importance of Spain for Western defence.

With its Causer islands

ern defence.

With its Causry islands situated just above the tropic of Cancer, Spain lies along the most significant shipping lane for the West today, the Atlantic route used by 400 ships a day. These include the tankers too large for Suez, bringing 65 per cent of the oil consumed by non-communist Europe. But with the hinterland of the Straits of Gibraltar (more important than the rock today) and its Balearic islands, Spain also commands much of the western Mediterranean and the North African coast.

The successive oil crises

North African coast.

The successive oil crises since 1973, the fall of the Shah of Iran, the invasion of Afghanistan and other signs of increased Soviet aggressiveness in the region have all heightened Spain's importance for Nato strategists. So has the peninsula's long-standing value as a vast logistical base for the central front in West Germany. American-made P3 Orion

American-made P3 Orion maritime surveillance aircraft piloted by Spanish Air Force crews regularly watch Soviet submarine movements in Atlantic waters, a contribution to Western defence preparedness carried out bilaterally with the Americans under the Treaty of Cooperation and Friendship. The Reagan Administration is negotiating the renewal of this treaty, which runs out in September, aiming to get wider staging facilities for its rapid deployment force in the event of a big Middle Rast flare-up. This would end subterfugés like fuelling American aircraft in mid-air from tanker-planes which have gone up from the United States bases in Spain.

The recent visit to Washing-

The recent visit to Washing-ton by the Spanish Foreign Minister showed that the Madrid Government and the military leaders are anxious to exploit heightened American interest in order to re-equip Spain's armed forces with modern United States weapons. A modernization programme for the decade of the 80s is underway and defence spending has tripled in monetary terms since the advent of democracy. But it has been estimated that the programme would cost over three times as much if Spain goes it alone than with help from the main Nato countries.

Señor Calvo Sotelo: Request to Parliament.

Except for ultra right-wing elements, identified with the attempted coup in February, Spain's senior officers accept the Government's decision to enter Nato above all because it means the prospect of better equipment and promotions (helped by a new law to re-juvenate command structures more in accordance with Nato age limits and the demands of round-tht-clock modern warfare).

"Only the Navy is ready to join Nato," a leading Spanish politician with a good knowledge of defence affairs told me. He was speaking in terms of equipment, defence preparedness and training, for the Navy has best appreciated how to take advantage of American aid under the bilateral treaty; and within Nato it has obvious roles both in the North Atlantic and the western Mediterranean. Yet of all the services, the Navy has evolved least towards democracy, with nostalgia persisting for the peace and order of Franco times. Franco times.

Nevertheless the main prob-lem lies with the Army, which has never defended Spain's frontiers in modern times and was organized by Franco against a threat from within : the elite Brunete Armoured Division and the Parachute Brigade are both

In a limited edition of 1,000 only in solid sterling silver and gold stationed around Madrid.

Both the Defence Ministry and the joint general staffs committee have been studying the formation of a special Nato force to be sent to West Ger-many. The ministry is hoping that the greater the integration into Nato of Spain's armed forces and the less risk there will be of the generals per-petuating the nineteenth cen-tury tradition of promuncia-mientos. For their part, the general staffs expect that the force might accelerate the delivery and financing, of modern, standardized Nato equipment.

Spain's geostrategic potential led to the setting up under the bilateral treaty, of the American bases—the aeronaval base at Rota, near Cadiz, and the Air Force bases at Torrejon near Madrid and at Saragossa, according to the property with a string of other together with a string of other facilities including links in the American strategic communica-tions network, oil pipelines and tions network, oil pipelines and storage depots. It has already brought about a de facto degree of integration in Western defence, which only the unrealistic can ignore.

But faced by the declared opposition of the Socialist Party of Señor Felipe Gouzalez to Nato membership, backed by to Nation membership, backed by a strong section of public opinion, the ruling Centre Democratic Union party (UCD) Democratic Union party (UCD) is loath to give open battle. A Socialist defence expert admitted to me that his party finds it difficult to maintain that the national interest is best served by staying out of Nato "when even the liberal constitutional-minded service see their professional group interests best served by entering".

ing".
The Socialists also have the awkward case to argue that the bilateral relationship with the United States and the con-tinuance of American bases serves Spain's interests and defence capabilities better than becoming fully integrated in Nato as its sixteenth member. But against this, the Socialists can count on the disbelief of the majority of ordinary Spaniards' that joining Nato will by itself prevent future coup attempts by right-wing Army officers.

If realism dictates that Spain's place must be inside Nato, realism equally dictates doubts on the effects of membership on domestic military ambitions. Even with a Nato brigade in Germany far too few officers will be exposed to international contacts over the next five years, the vital period for Spain's new democracy. A senior officer from a Nato country, who recently visited Spain, privately pronounced afterwards that it would be a long time before many Spanish Army officers fully understood democracy.

Tomorrow: A partner for

French MPs in clash on power for the regions

From Charles Hargrove, Paris, July 29

and departments.

" You are charged with decentralization, not outside the con-text of the state, but as the

The Gaullists had decided to use every procedural device in revealed the powerlessness of cause it was unconstitutional being inspired by a federal, not a unitary, conception of France.

But other less uncompromis-ing upholders of the "republic one and indivisible" among the

Gaullists and even more among the Centrists, while acknowledg-ing the need to loosen the deadening hand of the central administration on French society, deplored the precipita-tion and imprecision of the Bill.

"We hope for decentraliza-tion, but we deplore the poli-tical orientation of the Bill,"

The discussion degenerated mined course.

was swept aside.

one of them said.

The France of Colbert, the trai government; the left, tradi-cobins and Napoleon is being tionally Jacobin, was uphold-smantled at the gallop. The ing the rights of the regions Jacobins and Napoleon is being ismantled at the gallop. The discussion of a Government Hill, which will reverse 300 It was natural that M Michel Debré, the former Gualhist Prime Minister, and an arch-defender of the state against all regionalisms and particularisms, should take M Defferre sharply to task years, if not more, of central-It will place local administration in the hands of elected assemblies, abolish the prefects at the all powerful representatives of the central Government in the departments and regions, and turn them into commissigners of the Republic. This reform will produce a more fundamental change in constitution requires it, within it. To act otherwise is to act against the constitution," he French society than any others the Government has announced. the book to block or delay the discussion of the Bill. But the overwhelming majority steam-rolled all their objections, and Even by handling it at breakneck speed, the Assembly is bardly likely to get through the tiest two chapters of the Bill, at the Government would wish, before it breaks up for the summer at the end of this the Opposition to deter the Government from its deter-The motion of M Debre that the Bill could not be tabled be-

M Gaston Defferre, the Minister of the Interior, regards a number of other Bills and two years altogether to see it through Parliament, as his great life work. He refused to become president of the National Assembly to see it through.

In his opening speech, he maintained that the reform was based on two principles: free-com and responsibility; freecom for local authorities to administer themselves freely; responsibility to do so wisely. Decentralization is neither facility, nor neglect, nor dis-order. It implies great rigour

The debate revealed a into a battle of amendments, strange cleavage. The right, 250 of which have been tabled siben with reservations, de-lended the authority of the cen-two chapters of the Bill.

and if necessary exemplary

Jail breaks shock Belgians

Prom Jan Murray Brussels, July 29

The number of escapes from Belgian prisons has called into question the design of the country's most modern jail at Lautin, near Liège, which was opened about two years ago.

It was conceived as a highsecurity prison without bars, built as a tower block. There were bullet-proof windows instead of grills.

Last Friday three prisoners smashed one of the windows with a fire extinguisher and escaped, after holding warders hostage at knife-point. They were recaptured, but the ease of their escape is calling into question the prison regime and the architecture of the Lantin

In an interview today with the La Libre Belgique news-paper, Mr Julient de Ridder, Director General of the prison service, said the tower-block idea, widespread in Europe recently, was now recognized as a mistake. From their windows the prisoners could see over the walls, see visitors coming and going and make signs to people. In consequence, the idea had been abandoned for a new prison being built at Bruges.

Mr de Ridder criticized the warders. He said they had not always adhered to regulations and thus facilitated escapes. He blamed this on the fact that training for recruits had been too rapid after a strike by warders in 1979.

The authorities also feel that support committees for prisoners had contributed to some escapes by increasing prisoners' discontent.

Spanish Communist leader set to repel his critics

From Harry Debelius, Madrid, July 29

to oust him from the party leadership.

The crucial vote, due to-morrow, will decide whether Señor Carrillo, the originator of Eurocommunism, can hold our against "renovators" and against renovators and "Afghans" who want to depose him, but for different reasons.
The "renovators" argue that the internal organization of the the internal organization of the party is undemocratic and conflicts with its Eurocommunist line. The "Afghans", so called because of their refusal to condemn the Soviet Union for its invasion of Afghanistan, feel he is too soft.

The "renovators", who also split within its ranks at a meetwant to rejuvenate the party leadership, are estimated to control about one quarter to it was decided to draft a document than 1 200 delegators.

Victory seemed assured here intellectuals and what they controlly for Senor Santiago sider excessive emphasis on the mobilization of workers.

Senor Carrillo, who led Spair's Communists through speech in which he threatened to expel those who are trying remained at the head of the second second party in the post-Franco era, defended himself by counter-attacking those who would unseat him. He took time off from the heated debates at the congress to accept an invitation from Senor Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo, the Prime Minister, this afternoon for an exchange of views about domestic affairs. The Prime Minister scheduled similar 'separate meetings with the heads of all main parties, primarily for the purpose of discussing home rule policies. The ruling Centre Demo-cratic Union also dealt with a more than 1,200 delegates to mentary deputies and 22 the party's tenth congress, senators for signing a conserva-which opened here yesterday. They are also concerned the party of ignoring its elec-about the disaffection of the tion promises.

Russia accuses Pakistan

Moscow, July 29.—The Soviet to cancel the gains of the Union said today that a new Afghan revolution."

United Nations initiative on the Afghanistan crisis had little the special envoy, is expected to go to Kabul from Pakistan did not change its entire atti-to Islamabad next week by a drawal of Soviet troops United Nations special envoy had a genuine chance of suc-cess if Pakistan and other states in the region stopped "trying Reuter.

tude to Afghanistan. basis for negotiations aimed Tass said that a planned visit ultimately at securing a with-Tass also reiterated Soviet opposition to an initiative by the EEC over Afghanistan.—

F-12-20* 1 The Royal

Marriage Spoons THEY came back together yesterday from St. Paul's in three separate coaches; the Prince of Wales with his new bride, the Queen with Earl Spencer, the bride's father, and Prince Philip with the bride's mother — the first public signal of the new family link created by the fact of the marriage itself. That The International Historical Collection has devised therefore a set of six solid sterling silver spoons—one for each of the six principal members of the two families joined together yesterday by the caremony of a Royal Wedding. It is an edition as unique as the occasion itself. The centrepiece of the collection is, inevitably, the two spoons of the Prince and Princess of Wales. His bears the Arms which identify him as Heir Apparent and Prince of Wales. Hers bears a distinctive lozenge design taken from her family Arms, and with a idal surround of a 'true loves bow'. Then, on either side, are the spoons of the Queen and Prince Philip, presented as classic contrait-medallions inside a surround of the Garter, and surmounted by the appropriate Crowns. Flanking these are the spoons of Earl Spencer and of the Princess of Wales's mother, as daughter of the 4th Baron Fermoy. The sets, in solid sterling silver with crests finished in 24 carat gold, are restricted to only 1,000 examples at an inclusive price of £285 each. Every spoon is individually hallmarked, and the sets are delivered in hand-made In addition to the full sets, subscribers may separately acquire the two Prince and Princess of Wales spoons as a pair only — in hallmarked solid sterling silver with crests finished in 24 caret gold, at an inclusive price of $95 per pair, But in no circumstances will the limit of 1,000 full With manufacture permitted only until September 30, early application is particularly requested. The spoons are an exceptional commemoration, and one which will be prized as a family heirloom for Orders may be placed either by completing the order coupon below, or for subscribers who wish to keep this ment manapaper intact—by ordinary letter. To order in writing, simply follow the form of words used in the coupon International Historical Collection IHC House, Hammerwood, East Grinstead, Sussex. To International Historical Collection, IHC House. My cheque for £_____ and final settlement. Hammerwood, East Grinstead, Sussex. Please register my application for the Royal Marriage Spoons as advertised by you. I will I prefer to pay by Access/Visa Card No: set(s) of six solid steding silver spoons in the limited edition of 1,000 only, at the official issue price of £265 per set inclusive of all charges and prescription case. pair(s) of The Prince and Princess of Wales's spoons in solid stealing silver at the official issue price of £95 per pair inclusive of all to start to coocerate

(self-manas

The pathos and the power of chastity

Edith Sitwell A Unicorn Among Lions By Victoria Glendin-

(Weidenfeld & Nicolson, £9.95) Edith Sitwell was born in Scarborough Cricket Week and came of age during Doncaster Races; on both occasions considerably inconveniencing her parents at a high point of the social and sporting Yorkshire year. She continued to inconvenience them by her intractable character and extraordinary appearance. Even as a child she looked like an ageless, pointy little creature from the facry paintings of Fuseli and Richard Dadd. But humorous, and dangerous, about the eyes, already that. "I was always a little outside life", she liked to say. There was pride in it, but sadness too.

Since she became, among other things, a mistress of personal publicity, her literary reputation never took a slow and natural course; it arrived with an explosion, soured, plunged, rose again to new heights, slipped gently down-hill. She may yet turn out to be what she believed herself to be, our finest woman poet; on the stock market of fame, (we have no gilt-edged issue like Emily Dickinson) Brownings continue more bullish than when Edith was alive, and Rossettis hold steady, but Sitwells show every sign of recovery after years of respectful neglect.

respectful neglect.

She always enjoyed greatest acclaim during periods of public hysteria or distress: the Twenties of Façade and Gold Coast Customs, the Second World War of Street Songs with the muchanthologized "Still falls the rain". She wrote for a living: there is marvellous stuff in the prose potboilers like Fanfare for Elizabeth and Victoria of England, but also a fair amount of what her music hall heroine

Ready. What she lacked in scholarship and evident mean-ing she made up for in panache and instinctive sound, and it may be that we are ready for her particular incantations once

Should that prove true, Victoria Glendinning's book will have been a turning point. Edith, Osbert and Sacheverell Sitwell — "God's own Peter-Paniest family", Wyndham Lewis called them — have so often been examined as an indivisible phenomenon that Miss Glendinning appears to indivisible phenomenon that Miss Glendinning appears to have written the first full-scale life and study of Edith alone. The result is a book unusually rich in pity and wisdom, sympathy and wit. She draws copiously on unpublished material and published memoirs, particularly the latest and most erial and published memoirs, particularly the latest and most irresistible of the Sitwellian triptychs, John Pearson's Facades (1978), which she acknowledges, but what is quite new in Sitwell biography is the deep empathy with which the public and private life of this famous and difficult subject is approached.

We get close enough to be touched, delighted and alarmed by Edith, without ever seeming to peer impertinently, which she would not have liked. Impertinence was high on the Sitwell list of proscribed vices, though not as high as disloyalty and ingratitude, whether in the wretched Pavel Tschelitchew, ill-chosen love of her life, or any of the young substitutes any of the young substitutes whose work she mothered in his absence, in (as she saw it) T. S. Eliot to John Hayward, or from his fellow-citizens to the dying Beau Nash in her potboiler, Bath (1934). Her own loyalty to dependants like Helen Rootham and her sister was often tried by their suffering, but it never let up. Many of her letters are

Nellie Wallace (for whom, to her joy, she was once mistaken outside Finsbury Park Empire), would have called Vamping Till Ready. What she lacked in mixture of circumstance, infantile regression, death wish, pride, and, as in the nursery rhyme, "Nobody asked me, sir she said". She goes on:

An English gentlewoman of her time had less difficulty in keeping the world of sex away, whether from her own consciousness or in social life. The eye and ear were not then subjected to a continuous barrage of sexual reference. She projected too.

Her appearance was, of course, sinpendous, and contemporaries never tired of trying to do it justice. Virginia Woolf compared her to the Woolf compared her to the Emperor Heliogabalus, an ivory elephant. Pope in a nightcap, and the bone of a hare, picked white and studded with emeralds (she practised her resisting scales on descriptions writing scales on descriptions of Edith). Others compared her to a Flemish madonna, a hieratic figure in Limoges enamel, a sculpture from the West Front at Chartres, Queen Elizabeth I and Father Zossima Elizabeth I and Father Zossima in The Brothers Karamazov. In New York, Gotham City, where she enjoyed a series of outrageous triumphs from 1948 on, she was considered gothic enough to hang bells in. She was not to be left out of the game herself: "Beaked like a harpy", she wrote of her maternal grandmother "she had queer-roofed Byzantine eyes, and these characteristics I have inherited from her". She loved having herself painted and photographed, and the celebrated results — a generous selection is printed in the book — are often memorable and never dull.

She did not have nervous breakdowns, but went on nervous gallops like a horse. It was then that she most needed protection. She hated hatred above all things, but could never quite escape it, either of, or in, herself. It was partly to mitigate her near-hatred of Osbert's lifelong lover and companion, as Osbert's illness became worse, that she became became worse, that she became a Catholic in the Fifties.

Nevinson

Unfortunately it didn't work.
On the other hand, she loved a good scrap in public, and in her lifelong battling and feuding there is something of the wooden horse violence of Alice in Wonderland, with more than a flesh from time to time, of a flash, from time to time, of the Red Queen: "I shall be in fearful trouble with all the Americans", she wrote to John anthology of American verse for not putting them all in. I shall therefore say on my Preface that this is the First Volume only, and that of course they will all come in the Second. And then there will be no Second!"

Bang! A nursery triumph!
Throughout her life, as Miss Glendinning remarks, she was always an old woman and always a child. There was nothing in between Her transcendence of these two conditions. conditions, so movingly recorded here, is both dazzling and absurd.

Michael Ratcliffe

The Timerman story

Prisoner without a name, Cell without a number

By Jacobo Timerman (Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 57.95)

Former President Jimmy Carter in a letter earlier this month to his erstwhile Cabinet members and aides, declared it mers and aides, declared it salmost unbelievable" that members of the present administration could question the credibility of this important, timely and intensely moving book Such is the impact to the country in the book. Such is the impact it has had on the current foreign policy debate (if such you can call it) in the United States.

Jacobo Timerman's misfortune, it seems, is to have been imprisoned and tortured without charge for two years by a right-wing government both friendly and useful to Reagan's America - that in Argentina, one of those defined by Jeane Kirkpatrick, American Ambas-sador to the United Nations, as an "authoritarian" rather than a "totalitarian" regime.

The fact that 20,000 other Argentinians, many of them Jewish, have disappeared without trace over the past decade has been coolly passed over by conservative columnists anxious to prevent Timerman undermin to prevent timerman underiming the Kirkpatrick code of ethics. The fact that Timerman himself is Jewish, in common with many of his leading critics, has prompted parallels with mid-1930s Germany.

The William F. Buckleys and Irving Kristols of this world (are they, I sometimes wonder, of this world?) have sought to discredit Timerman, the former editor of La Opinion, Argentina's leading liberal newspaper, by questioning the morals of the newspaper's co-proprietor and suggesting that Timerman impeded the Nazi-hunter Simon Wiesenthal's quest for Joseph Mengele. Wiesenthal himself has recently said that Buckley is misrepresenting his past

The facts are chillingly simple. In Timerman's own words: "At dawn one morning in April 1977, some twenty armed men in civilian clothes invade our apartment in midtown Buenos Aires. . . They blindfold me, throw me to the floor in the back of the car, what feels like the but of a gun against me. No one speaks." His family did not hear of him for six weeks, when he telephoned them from the national police headquarters to say he could be visited for three minutes. For the next two years, by his own vivid account, he was subjected to an ordeal of solitary confinement and elecsolitary commences, and exec-tric shock torture which many others did not survive. His captors seemed to be enjoying themselves most when shouting "Jew! . . Jew! . . Jew!" as they wired electrodes to his genitals.

No charge was ever brought against him. Twice, following interventions by President Carter's Assistant Secretary of State for human rights, Pat Derian, the Argentine Supreme Court ruled that he must be released. He was not.

Finally, in September 1979, under continuing pressure from the Carter administration, the authorities summarily annulled Timerman's citizenship, confis-cated his newspaper and all his other property, refused him any access to an appeal court, and put him on a plane to Israel.

"Need one add," asks Time man, "that Argentine ning papers, jurists, political friends of the Government, Jewiss community leaders — all those who will one day elaim they knew nothing, like the German of the existence of the concertration camps - congramlated the government for obeying a court ruling and faithfull respecting the majesty justice? He is not, unsurprisingly, a forgiving man. He names names, and does not spare the reader the details of the mental cover me with the blanket, stick and physical anguish he entheir feet on top of me, and jam dured. Another Argentine newspaper editor who has also been imprisoned, aptly remarks in his review for an American paper that this book is something of a manual for those who may one day have to attempt to survive such an ordeal. But it is more, much more, Timerman's testimony should prove a lasting work of prison literature, whole worlds being conjured up in a rare "conver-sation" between two imprisoned eyes through peepholes. It also deserves a lasting place in the now neglected ethics depart-ment of US foreign policy making.

Already Timerman's silent presence in the Senate confirmation chamber has disposed of Ernest Lefever, President Rea-gan's unsuccessful nominee to succeed Miss Derian. As his book proceeds to a wider audience throughout the West, it should also serve to bring pressure on President Reagan not to abandon the one consistent and rich seam of his prede-cessor's conduct of external

Anthony Holden

Towards a freer, richer China

Coming Alive China after Mao By Roger Garside (André Deutsch, £8.95)

For the past fifteen years, the truth about what has been going on in China is stranger than fiction. Only some of the novelists have come close to capturing the sheer bizarreness of the Cultural Revolution and

Roger Garside — diplomat and China scholar has had some really first-rate material to work with in compiling this most accurate, readable book most accurate, readable book full of insights. Speaking and reading Chinese, being in Peking at a crucial period, knowing the background, and licensed by his Embassy to enquire into all matters of instructions interest, he reaped a egitimate interest, he reaped a rich harvest of fact. Nor has he tried to conceal that much of his documentation on the details of the political infighting came from two or three Hongkong-based publications, especially the daily Ming Bao and the monthly (now daily)

Zheng Ming, renowned for their reporting on Chinese affairs.

Mr Garside has a nice, easy style, good metaphors and the odd personal touch. He has produced what will undoubtedly be read as a textbook on the period for years to come, without any textbook dryness. I especially liked the opening to his chapter nine:

As the autumn of 1978 turned to early winter and the persimmons ripened in the Valles of the Ming Tombs, spheres of brilliant orange on bare grey branches, the pragmatists brought the political situation to maturity also.

The author's image of Chinese politics is hilarious: it is an elaborate acrobatic show, in which the foreign spectators

sit peering out from a smoked-glass box, and hold cocktail

The book is essentially a chronicle of the, years which saw the death of Mao, the comeback of Deng Xiaoping, and the cancellation of the Chinese left-radical experiment, The latest denunciations of Mao's last two decades in power amply justify Mr Garside's critique of that period and its ghastly consequences for hundreds of millions of people.

Like many other lovers of China, Mr Garside is delighted to see the country's transition to a freer, richer life (hence the title), though the world's most ancient surviving civilization is still not very free nor very rich.

A unique feature of the book is the wealth of primary material in the form of poems, wall posters and tracts which he has collected and translated into plain, clear English. Mawkish though much of it is, the documentation offers a glimpse parties whenever they get bored with the action.

The book is essentially a chronicle of the, years which know how exactly the news of the fall of the Gang of Four first reached the ears of the foreign press in Peking. Professional discretion seems to have taken the upper hand here.

One would have also wished One would have also wished to see more pen-portraits of the Chinese activists whom Mr Garside knew, but it is understandable that he has avoided hinting at their identity—except in the case of the intelligent but quixotic Wei Jingsheng, who recalls nobody more closely than Vladimir Bukovsky, one of the real heroes of the Soviet protest

A memorable statement by one dissenter is quoted. The person in question had been trying to beg a mimeograph machine from foreigners in China — dynamite if it were discovered by the authorities. affairs. He asked what the dissenter's readers would think if they knew he had obtained foreign assistance in distributing his opinions. He distributing his opinions. He quotes:

They would be delighted that foreign money was at last going to a worthy cause, to help them struggle for something worthwhile. They have seen our leaders go around the world seeking billions of dollars of foreign loans and imports for large-scale projects and they would be glad to see one mimeograph put to work for democracy.

It is not amiss to congramlate the Foreign and Common-wealth Office on its broad-mindedness in letting a serving officer publish such a topical book. It should be done more often, for it can only enhance the prestige of Britain's

A public private life

Bertrand Russell and his World By Ronald Clark

(Thames & Hudson, £5.95) Bertrand Russell is, I think, the first philosopher to be cele-brated in this Thames and Hudson series of small-scale coffee-table books (but I may lave missed another, since volumes come and go; Darwin, Henry James, Scott and Synge have shipped off the list in the last couple of years). Philosophers are not easy to illustrate. Their appearance is seldom pleasantly memorable and their sized conventions.

and their visual surroundings are not very interesting in themselves and have negligible relevance to what makes the relevance to what makes the philosophers worth studying.
As it turns out, Ronald Clark's Russell is presented as a philosopher only in a furtive, or at any rate secondary way, the centre of attention being his public career as social critic and his distinctive public minute life. should be done more rit can only enhance estige of Britain's State of Britain's David Bonavia with philosophy. Even the presentation of Russell's philosance of the accompanying caption's reference to the platonic nature of her friend-ship with Russell. ophy of mathematics in a nutshell, quickly slipped in between accounts of a visit to America in 1896 and falling in love with Mrs Whitehead in 1901, is perceptibly insecure.

But, as might be expected,
Bertrand Russell and his World, ship with Russell.

Here and there things seem to have gone adrift in the labelling. A darkly handsome late-Victorian Cambridge undergraduate is identified as "Charles Trevelyan, later Master of Trinity". Whoever he is, he could not have developed the rat-trap mouth of the G. M. Bertrand Russell and his World, provides a readable and reliable survey of the more concrete and straightforward aspects of its subject's career. What is more Ronald Clark handles the inflammable topics — Russell's later political megalomania, his priapic adventures, his aristocratic habit of command — with charity and good sense.

There are good pictures of could not have developed the rattrap mouth of the G. M. Trevelyan, who did become Master, without major surgery. (Charles was twice Labour President of the Board of Education.) A square-headed craggy young man with a moustache is represented as Aldous Huxley in a group at Garsington.

There are good pictures of some of Russell's women. One Garsington.
It would be a wonderful thing if some researcher were to find a cache of pictures of Wingens of Alys, taken three years after he married her, shows that that was not such an ill-judged enterprise as more familiar pictures, emphasizing a massive jaw, have suggested. Neverthe-less she could not compare with tein other than that weary old faithful in which he is jauntily revealed in his zip jacket nostrils flaring with aggression her elder sister Mary, Beren-son's wife, possessor of an excellent nose. Ottoline Morrell comes off better from the camera than from the caricaturas if about to address some Cubs who have left the tent in a mess. In this book a fine page of mockery from Private Eye ing brush of Augustus John. A picture of Lucy Donnelly is calculated to encourage accept-

Anthony Quinton

Fiction

Wild Harbour By Ian Macpherson (Paul Harris, £6.95) Of Age and Innocence By George Lamming (Allison & Busby, £7.95) Bread Upon the Waters By Irwin Shaw (Weidenfeld & Nicolson, £6.95) Dames

By Elizabeth North

(Cape, £6.95) Survival seems to be the matter of the moment and of memory. Not only the survival of ourselves in the cities, but also the survival of our good books. Most publishers declare that they cannot afford to keep books in print that sell slowly, but surely. Their survival involves remaindering while involves remaindering while ours involves remembering. Without the good books that instruct us, we do not have the tools which our minds need use. Wild Harbour is a forgotten book on survival that has been resurrected by reprinting. Written by Ian Macpherson shortly before the outbreak of the Second World War, it tells the story of a Scots couple who flee the certain war to come and live like two Crusoes in a mountain cave. mountain cave. Their existence is no idyll. "The callous earth, unchanged in war and pesti-

Crime

Here is the best espionage novel

I have met this year (What month is it? Oh, July. Thank you) and I rather doubt unless Deighton and Le Carré are in the offing that I shall see a better one before December. It is the story of a nice cryptogra-pher employed by the CIA at Langley whose girl friend is, by an appalling coincidence, shot as a hostage is an embassy stege in Germany. He discovers that, though the CIA know that the killers are under Czech protection, they intend to take no punitive action. So, amateur though he is, he insists on taking action himself.

A basis for a spy novel that is

The Amateur By Robert Littell

(Cape, £6.50)

savagery. The refugee couple's one act of pity and their decision to rejoin humankind result in their deaths. Between the harshness and loneliness of primitive withdrawal and the breakout of social anarchy, Wild Harbour sets down a survival and moral manual which suggests the stubborn and noble qualities that may make some of us endure another holocaust. It is a tract for past times that applies even more to these times. All praise to the publisher who has reminded us of it.

George Lamming's Of Age and Innocence is another good book well revived from oblivion. First published in 1958, it is set primitive withdrawal and the First published in 1958, it is set in the West Indian island of San Cristobal. It describes the events leading up to the first general election on the colonial island, where the blacks and the Indians and the Chinese immigrants and the Chinese immigrants are being united under the charismatic leadership of the mystic Shephard. They are learning to forget their ethnic divisions in common need to end white rule.

Lamming has an extraordinary gift for grasping the smell and feel of place and situation, also a grace of description

also a grace of description which can approach Conrad. He has, too, a talent for plotting, so that the insignificant object becomes of terrible significance. In this book, a lighter passed round a secret society of passed round a secret society of three boys becomes the instrument for burning down a madhouse, a paradigm for the way the island is being run. With the recent praiseworthy republication of another two of his novels, we are reminded of what we already knew, that Lamming rivals V. S. Naipaul as the major novelist of the West Indies.

unchanged in war and pestilence", Macpherson wrote, "occupied time as if there were no men, and we lived there, in that strict country." This first paragraph you know this. It is only a description of a consular official dealing with passport applications, but the writing is accurate, vivid, swift, compassionate, funny and illuminating. Yes, all that in eleven and a quarter lines.

Here is a writer absolutely on top of his material, able to be very funny about a very serious subject (Our old friend: abuse of power by a secret organis-ation. Old, but ever with us) and able to convert what he wants to say into purely fictional, and therefore effective, terms. There is even an excellent plot full of twists and surprises, each unexpected yet altogether likely. In some of Littell's earlier books he succumbed to a liking for a sort of vigorous whimsy that sometimes strained credibility. Here he is almost not startlingly new, and one that in ordinary hands would make an ordinary, while-away tale. But Littell's are no ordinary hands. By the time you have come to the end of the disciplined living becomes a tragedy of Hobbesian society as war reduces human beings to savagery. The refugee couple's one act of pity and their decision to rejoin humankind result in their deaths. Between the bashbases and lengthiness of the second of advocate from mugging in Central Park. The victim turns out to be a Faustian figure, who involves the good family in the evil and corruption of his choices and standards. There is a hard and illuminating tale in Shaw's novel, but it is embed-ded in the surfeit of the American disease — that obesity of detail and motive which makes the pages plump. Shaw does not cast his bread upon the waters. He casts his cake — and lets us eat it. Elizabeth North's Dames deals, in its way, with memory and survival, but from the potted biographies collected in a girls' school magazine. Five girls form a group at the school, calling themselves the Ambers. They set themselves against the Worthies, those who against the worthes, those who strive or become prefects. Their sims are negative — not to be hearty, public-spirited, or liked by the staff. Their least member is called Mousey.

Dames intercuts between the Dames intercuts between the entries in the school magazine and the Ambers' past and present lives. At the age of forty-one, Mousey flies to Ethiopia and reads on the aeroplane what is happening to the Ambers and other Old Damians. With this strewd device, Elizabeth North can contrast the hopes of adolescence with the quiet desperation of later existences. Her prose is laconic and evocative. This is a book which should be read by any mother who has read by any mother who has been to a private girls' school. But the writer fails where George Lamming and Ian Macpherson succeeded. She does not find the universals in her particulars. She talks some people, not to all of us.

Andrew Sinclair

Love Until it Hurts by Daphne Rae (Hodder & Stoughton, £2.95). A tribute to Mother Teresa and the work of the men and women of the Missionaries of Charity, who set up homes for the destitute and dying, and for unwanted children.

entirely free of that. The book is preceded by a foreword implying that most of its account is true. Such a claim is unnecessary. There is in the fiction everywhere the stamp of a deeper truth than merely actuality. Read it.

Tondo for Short, by Peter Inchbald (Collins, £6.50). Theft of a Michelaugelo sends Cockney-Florentine Art Squad 'tec to Soho, Hampstead, Italy. Little inclined to wander off story, but an attractive debut.

Mind over Murder, by William Kienzle (Hodder & Stoughton, £6.95). Heavy-handed, yukky-on-sex but fearfully readable story of murder with Catholicism in Detroit. It's an eyeopener.

No One Knows My Name, by Joyce Harrington (Macmillan, £5.95.). Disappearing-corpse murder at Michigan summerstock theatre (plenty of detail) with some delightfully crisp

For Reasons of State, by Antony Beevor (Cape, £6.50). Planued assassination of Latin American brute-dictator in London. Notable for characters with consciences, if a touch naive in presentation naive in presentation.

The Last of the Boatriders, by Donald MacKenzie (Macmillan, 55.50). Aged con-man comes out of honest retirement and pulls off the big one aboard cruise liner in West Indies against all odds. Plenty of nice humorous writing combined with clever

The Rumanian Circle, by Lionel Black (Collins, £5.75). Reporter Kate Theobald investigates, against New Forest settings, credit-card loss that leads to dialogue, alas mostly from The Security of the Persian delicious sex-pot victim. Gulf, edited by Hossein Amirsadeghi (Croom Helm £12.95).President Eisenhower destribed the Golf region in 1951 as "the most strategically important area in the world", though the West — and particularly America — has taken thirty years to realize it. The fall of the Shah, the invasion of Afghanistan and the Iran-Iran war have pointed to the dangers of instability in an area which contains a major portion of oil supplies to the West. This collection looks at the development of Western policy in the Gulf, and points to the pitfalls of current American thinking. There are useful essays on the fallacious notion af Saudi Araha and Iran as "twin pillars" Of Western interests; on arms supplies; on the Khomeini Revolution; and on there interlopers from the Principle Property of Principle Property of Principle Property of Principle Principle Property of Principle Princ

Premier cru

Words and Music A selection from his writings By Philip Hope-Wallace

(Collins, £9.95) "Are you a wine bibber?" was the first question ever put to me by Philip Hope-Wallace. We were both on our way by train to the opening night of the Stratford season and the tome of voice suggested that a negative answer would bring instant excommunication. So we drank Chateau Palmer '56. Just how long ago that was can be gauged not only by the vintage but by the fact that Stratford still had a station and the dining car was victualled by someone with the wit to know that even in an off year some properties managed to make very respectable wine.

Wine delighted Philip, red, white, pink or, best of all, with bubbles. Yet he rarely wrote about it. There is scarcely a mention in Words and Music, a collection of his writing, and "Are you a wine bibber?" was mention in words and waste, a collection of his writing, and the closest approach is the frontispiece showing him seated in his favourite chair in El Vino's. Wine was something to be shared with his friends and with his rendering of "Minuit, not his public. It fuelled his wit Chrétiens, c'est l'heure solenand in El Vino the jokes were nelle". He becomes almost as tried out and given the same professional polish before appearing in print that a Neil Simon comedy might undergo on tour prior to its Broadway

In the beginning the prose was rather solemn: those first reports from Germany for this paper on Goethe and Hindemith — heavyweight material indeed — and the theatre reviews for Time and Tide immediately Time and Tide immediately after the war. Then the quite uncharacteristic formality was shrugged off and replaced by the true tone of the conversationalist — and Philip Hope-Wallace was the supreme raconteur — with the occasional camon-shot line which hit you between the eyes, from right off the printed page. His phrase.

The prize pieces in this assembly made by his sister, Jacqueline, are not the reviews of plays or operas or concerts but the reminiscences and essays which form the opening and closing sections. Here the essays which form the opening and closing sections. Here the characters from the personal mythology occur time and again, including the provincial tenor who so impressed the young Hope-Wallace in Rouen Cathedral on Christmas Eve important a citizen of Normandy as Emma Bovary. And here is the true Hope-Wallace voice, francophile, enthusiastic, delighting in song and managing to convey it all in a personal timbre which should have been captured on record or cassette rather than between hard covers.

The final essays are flecked with melancholy, the writer deliberately turning himself into a kind of pagliaccio at odds with a changing world. The once assiduous traveller now prefers to sit at ous traveller now prefers to sit at home and stare or simply eavesdrop on a Jewish woman in St John's Wood saying, "Ven I am direkt hungrig, so I become a slice of bread and drippings."

The collection too is flerked slice of bread and drippings."

The collection too is flecked with mis-spellings of names, perpetuated by the publishers via, I assume, the sub-editors of Philip's main employer, The Guardian. A pity. Or, perhaps not. He revelled in misprints, particularly in his own copy, such as the description of a Tosca as a "tigress robbed of her wheles" emerging as a "tiger robbed of his whelks". And nothing gave him more pleasure than the fact the brass plate prepared for that favourite El Vino chair in celebration of his sixtieth birthday managed to get his name day managed to get his name

John Higgins

Arthur in Bronze armour

The Real Camelot Paganism and Arthurian

By John Darrah (Thames & Hudson, £4.95)

There are many roads to Camelot. The high road of medieval romance leads from that colourful liar Geoffrey of Monmouth to Tennyson and the modern musical. The low road of history points to a Romanized war-lord who led the British mailed cavalry against the Saxons in a series of battles culminating in Badon in AD 518, or perhaps 490. But a much older road leads farther back to a stranger Arthur. This interesting book identifies Arthur and his entourage as misry folk memories of range artificial. memories of pagan religion twenty centuries before the presumed historic Arthur.

This is not the first time it has been done. In 1901 Rhys demontrated how Malory had built a rambling medieval castle around the rude and ruinous remains of the ancient Celtic pantheon. What is new about Khomeini Revolution; and on Iraq as an "emergent Gulf power"; the best contribution is Shahram Chubin's lucid and concise article on Soviet intended by the regularly die defending groves against challengers are Superficially we may seem to have Christian chivalrous and courtly romance. But just beneath the surface, and protruding like granite through moorland, lurk the cults of sacred waters and the severed head, and the ritual relevance of copulation, castration and cannibalism. The heroes and heroines of the Matter of Britain are shown to represent ritual offices, and gods and goddesses in the religion brought to Britain by the first Indo-European in-vaders. Launcelot and Galahad, to Salisbury Plain? Stonehenge and Camelot are notorious castles in the air for enthusiasts, pseudoscholsrs, identified as annual kings, the and lunatics. But John Darrab priests who slew the slayers and shall themselves be slain. Superficially we may seem to have Christian chivalrous and prehistoric monument. It survives in the tales that cluster around pagan Camelot and its ruler, the once-and-future king, gray king whose name, a ghost, streams like a cloud, manshaped, from mountain leak, and cleaves to caim and cromlech still. There are many Camelots. The case for a Bronze-Age model is intertain-Bronze-Age model is entertain ing and persuasive. The enduring popularity of gods and goddesses in the religion brought to Britain by the first Indo-European invaders. Launcelot and Galahad, and their connexion with the grail full of blood, stick out like severed heads as prime cult figures. Even the sacred materials of paganism are preserved in the association of cult figures with ritual wheeled chariots, boat burial, swords in stones, and the erection of stone monuments. That Dolorous Stroke between the thighs is, of course, a vestige of rituals of barrenness and fertility. When Merlin moves the Round Table to Camelot, could it be a folk memory of the movement of the great circle of bluestones from the Prescelly Mountains to Salisbury Plain?

The enduring populatity of what the French poets called the Matiere de Bretagne is shown again by the film Excalibur on general release, quite a jolly adaptation of Morte Malory arrived very late on the Malory arrive may have been longer ago than

Philip Howard

Television

Over the top

A Man of the Black Mountains

BBC 2

anyone could upstage the If anyone could upsiage the Black Mountains, it was Janice who ran the pony-trekking side of the business and looked like a kind of secularized Doris Day. So powerful was the resem-blance to Calamity Jane, that many must have watched Don many must have watched Don Haworth's film about a sheep-farmer near Llantony expecting Janice to burst into song and the Deadwood Stage to come whipcrackaway over the hill from Hay at any time. She did sing, in the end, taking tired drovers and haymakers through "On Top of Old Smokey" in the pub, shouting the lines ahead one at a time, just as Doris would have done. Just as Marie Lloyd would have done, too: 50 years ago, she would have been on the halls, not on a horse.

One could hardly have too much of Janice, nor indeed of Trevor Powell, the subject of the film, whom neither divorce, diabetes nor a cautious old Dad had prevented gambling his way had prevented gambling his way with sheep, dogs, horses from the age of eight. In a deliciously funny scene we watched him mischievously beat down the mischievously beat down the price on a dog that, though healthy and dashing about having a lovely time, took not a blind bit of notice of any command that was yelled at it across, the field. The vendor asked £120, but settled for £85, and Trevor expected to sell it again at the end of the second again at the end of the season for up to three times the price. No. Janice and Trevor great.

The trouble with A Man from the Black Mountains was that the Black Mountains was that Mr Haworth was bewitched by the dignity of labour and gave us just a little too much of it at each stage; too much trekking, too much rounding up, too much shearing, too much (unsuccessful) buying and selling, too many slow-pan shots up the mountainside as far as what looked like the same bit of sky, and, above all, far too much cowboy music applied equally to the equestrian dream-world of townee trekkers which it fitted perfectly, and the professional perfectly, and the professional rusiness of rounding up sheep,

The gaunt, raised spine of the Black Mountains, packed between the Usk and the Wye, offers some of the most magnificent landscape in Bri-tain, and Mr Haworth had glorious weather in which to film. It is Kilvert country: that it looks superb on a small screen we knew both from Betjeman's film about the diarist and from the dramatized series of short films from the diary itself; it looked superb again here, but too much again here, but too much scenery without disciplined action or a strong point of view, palls, and only Deryck Guyler, by turns offering and mocking the timeless Documentary the timeless Documentary Voice, gave the film a little of the edge it had earlier promised

but never quite gave. Michael Ratcliffe

Manadeus, Peter Shaffer's international smash play and winner of five Tony Awards, is to become a film next year, with ocations in Prague, Budapest, Salzburg and Vienna.

Milos Forman will direct from Peter Shaffer's screenplay of Amadeus, which opened in London in 1979 as a National Theatre Production and in New York in 1980. The play is now running in London, New York, Vienna, Warsaw, Berlin, Munich, The Hague, Brussels

■ The third Dance Umbrella Festival is planned for October and November, at four London venues, including the Riverside Studios, the ICA and The Place. Associated festivals will b in Bristol, Brighton, Cardiff, Warwick, Manchester, Liver pool, Norwich and Glasgow.

y Mermaid Theatre

OPENS AUGUST 19

BOOK NOW 101-736 55682

Neither Charles Osborae him-self nor his best friend would claim that his gifts include a flair for public relations. In the small world of literature he has shown a remarkable capacity for polarizing opinion to the point where the middle ground has been abandoned and the only question to be answered is whether you are pro or anti Osborne.

For a Literary Director of the Arts Council this is an odd situation at any time. But this year when the whole question of literary subsidies has come to a head it has proved explosive.

Today the full Arts Council will hear and probably accept the recommendation of Mr Osborne and the Literary Panel that the £35,000 grant to the New Fiction Society should be cut. Rumours that this was to have a leaked our well in happen leaked out well in advance and the customary confusion arose with accu-sations that Mr Osborne was acting dictatorially. In fact, the panel had voted eight to four in favour of the cut.

Meanwhile the Writers' Guild has called for Mr Osborne's resignation, the Society of Authors has issued a swingeing attack on the council's literary policies and attitudes, Margaret Forster has resigned from the panel in dismay at its declining powers and informal and secretive meetings of various literary groups are being organized to coordinate further attacks.

But the truth is that much of the personal animosity which has arisen has tended to obscure the issues which ultimately raise questions about the stature and organization of the Arts Council as a whole, Margaret Forster's resignation, for example, was emphatically not a comment on Mr Osborne, but on the way she felt the demonstrates a misunderstanding of what the panel was supposed to do: "The function of the panel is to advise on policy. Unfortunately Margaret was more concerned about whether George, Betty or Bert of grants." got grants".

For Mr. Osborne, this merely

At stake is the £852,000 available to literature from the total grant of £80.25m for the council this year. The key debate has been on how this cash should be allocated, but cash should be allocated, but lately minds have been concentrated still further by the possibility that literary grants should be ended altogether. This arose from comingency planning by the council in case its total grant is either not increased next year or reduced. Mr Osborne stresses that the fears were generated by nothing more than thinking out loud by the council and the abolition of the literary grant was just one idea among many that had been floated. "Anyway" he added, "I'm not looking for a new job."

new job."

Yet there is a cruel logic in chopping the whole literary department. It is the newest of the council's offspring, having been born only in 1965, 20 years after the others. It began as a system of parcelling out about 15,000 annually directly to writers. But 16 years later it remains the least publicly visible of the council's operations. Its writers subsidies, publishers gnarantees, society grants, support for little presses and magazines and its poetry library are small-scale and little-known. Compared to the effects nbrary are small-scale and little-known. Compared to the effects of cutting the Royal Opera House and the National Theatre, the protests would be prominence of writing in this comtry's artistic history, it has always been the poor relation in terms of the council's allocation of its cash. The reason is that nobody is quite sure how to subsidize literature - by paying the authors or by encouraging debate has come to a head this year with a sharp switch of resources away from individual writers, a move which has coincided with fears that in any Arts Council cuts next year, literature will be the first to go. At the centre of the storm is Charles Osborne (pietured), the Literary Director of the Arts Council, whose blunt manner and strong opinions have fanned the flames of the controversy. BRYAN APPLEYARD reports.

literature since 1965. Yet, despite the sales and subsidizing publishers. The sweeping policy changes yet is ironic and, to the Arts Council's tronic and, to the Arts Council's interary agitators, justification for some furious lobbying.

The key change at the heart of all the rethinking is the switch from helping writers towards helping readers, as Mr Osborne puts it. As a result this year, grants to writers will more than halve to around £40,000 while grants to publishers, notably the Carcanet and Anvil presses, will be more than doubled to over £100,000.

E100,000.

The 40 or so individual writers who received grants last year will be cut to five "writers of outstanding literary quality who have a record of proven achievement." On the face of it, that would include Graham That this fear should arise in Greene, who presumably does precisely the year in which Mr not need the money. But, Mr

Osborne says, Greene is not among the 54 applicants for bursaries and anyway, would not get one if he were. So immediately an ambiguity arises as to how deserving receivers of bursaries are selected. There is clearly an informal means test at work. This happened with the previous system; Miss Forster remembers against over those grants.

the decision itself have infuri-ated concerned bodies. For one thing, the change in emphasis was partially justified by Mr Osborne with the aid of the McGuigan Report, a study by Mr Jim McGuigan into the success of literary grants.
Published in 1979, it was suppressed by the Arts Council consultation was a spectaclar way of fanning the flames. That affair has combined with other sudden and unexplained moves, like the abandonment of the council's literary prizes after just two years, to unify and organize the opposition. Writers and publishers organi-

"rather naughty".

The naughtiness arose from the suggestion that the grants were awarded on excessively narrow criteria and on the basis of the taste of a few London literateurs with a rigid idea of "serious writing".

With writers' and publishers' side the Book Marketing Council has organized a meeting with number admirably. Stephanie

Baxter, excellently partnered by number admiratory. Stephanie Baxter, excellently partnered by Mel Tomlinson, shows a sensitive flair in the pas de deux. Karen Brown and Cassandra Phifer dance their gaillard prettily and with good timing.

The programme began with another work by Balanchine, Concerto barocco. In this, Rach's music (the double violin concerto in D minor) evokes choreography of quite a different kind from the wry, sinewy style Balanchine found for the Stravinsky. The Bach ballet is more formal and open, with a calm but passionate elegance.

It could have done, I thought, with a little more bite in its performance; the dancing seemed slightly too careful, as if they were all conscious of having to be on their best behaviour. All the same, Elena Carter and Judy Tyrus led a

A little more bite, please

The bitter battle of the subsidized books three panel members — Fay Weldon, David Harsent and Liz Colder. The inspiration behind this move is the belief that books are inadequately mar-keted and the best way the council can improve the econ-omics of serious writing is to improve its marketing, a sensitive area as the council cannot be seen to be subsidizing the profits of commercial organiza-tions. Mr Desmond Clarke, director of the BMC, says: "They haven't a clue about marketing and it's really the only way ahead."

The overall and continuing controversies emerging from the literary section, however, are beginning to have an impact on the council as a whole. Members have given conflicting interpretations of the troubles. One has said it specifically arises from this department's problems, another that it indicates the need for a complete rethink of the panel system. For one thing, the curious lack of any external consultative group or constituency presents. group or constituency presents an impossible constitutional puzzle: who is doing what for whom and why?

whom and why?

The problem for the campaigners is that the Arts Council has been so consistently battered that successive assaults suffer from diminishing returns. "But," said Mr Mark Le Fanu of the Society of Authors, "bashing the Arts Council may be a repetitive occupation, yet it continues to be necessary."

Yet their opponent is a powerful one. The first secret

Yet their opponent is a powerful one. The first secret meeting of the opposition reached him via the literary grapevine and, as a member of the Poetry Book Society, he instantly demanded representation. A colleague went along but decided further representation was not representation perfectly respectable account of a work that can always give pleasure.

Geoffrey Holder's Dougla (music and choreography are both his) does not pretend to be in the class of Balanchine, but as a piece of slightly exotic light entertainment in dance it has both flair and punch.
What can be said, in defence of giving a nonsense like Royston Maldoom's Adagietto No 5 between two Balanchine

Royston Maldoom's Adagento
No 5 between two Balanchine masterworks? Admirers of Mabler are hardly likely to forgive grabbing the slow movement from his Fifth Symphony and dumping such trite, pretentious movement on it.

The music all evening was above Covent Garden's usual ballet-night standard.

John Percival

Theatre

Rosmersholm

Watermill, Newbury

The Watermill Theatre is more than just a pretty place, more than just a summer theatre straddling a mill-race with local trout in the restaurant and picnics on the lawn. Sometimes the postage-stamp dimensions of the stage are stretched to or the stage are stretched to accommodate real dramatic intensity, as happens in the final act of Rosmersholm.

Ibsen's great play is curiously matched with the Watermill Theatre. The deadly mill-race of the stretches are really mill-race of the stretches. the story, constantly a reminder of the suicide of Pastor Rosmer's wife, should be a haunting symbol of natural forces which extend beyond the politics of the drama. Perhaps because of the actual presence of a mill-race, it does not take on the function of a symbol, sacrificing the spiritual dimen-

The Gorgeous and The Damned

Rock

Pretenders

The damned? Not exactly Visconti's, but the time and place are right. And if Berlin in the thirties seems an unlikely milieu for a gay agit-prop show to find its style, remember that the stage where Sally Bowles sang might 10 years earlier have supported the mordant wit of Bert Brecht and friends in cabaret.

Hammersmith Palais

For their second encore on Tuesday night the Pretenders delivered a rousing version of "Higher and Higher", Jackie Wilson's soul classic, with the aid of the voices, trombone, saxophones and guitars of the Bureau, who had played the opening set. It was perhaps the least self-conscious thing they have ever done on stage, and as have ever done on stage, and as such it made an instructive contrast with the main body of their set.

There is still a degree of tension in the Pretenders' performance, and it is by no means entirely of the creatively fruitful kind. Perhaps it is a legacy of their extremely rapid rise to prominence a couple of years ago; more likely the roots go deeper, into the posturing of

Ibsen ideas overcome a clumsy emphasis Rosmer has been swayed by Rebecca West and Norwegian radicalism; nothing is more unacceptable than an apostate

sion until it meshes with action in the last scene, when it becomes terrifying in its suddenly accentuated reality.

A certain stiffness throughout Michael Elwyn's production at first heightens the artificiality of the dialogue in Michael Meyer's translation. Entrances and embraces of friendship are halting and clumsily restrained events, so that the human exchanges are no more substantial than Beata's ghostly presence. Then, teath's ghostly presence. Inen, too, the resonant actorish phrasing of the speakers is over-emphatic for the intimecy of the room so that exposition is archly stated. Rosmer and Dr Kroll are friends, Kroll is conservative, and intolerant.

The five friends in cabaret who make up New Heart, only girl, gives the songs London's only surviving gay theatre group since Gay Sweat-shop's eclipse, find in the streets sneepen plants of sharply realized: a gay diplomat

Going higher, then too high

Playing, as they do, behind Chrissie Hynde, this is a hopeless aspiration. Their col-lective pose is undercut firstly lective pose is undercut firstly by her dominance of the group's direction (as singer, chief writer and sole distinctive personality), and secondly by the real warmth and charm which she cannot help but show beneath her hard-bitten facade. Pete Farndon, Martin Chambers and, to a lesser extent, James Honeyman-Scott should realize that they cannot convincinely that they cannot convincingly pretend to be heavy-metal thumpers on songs with the sensitive emotional shading of "Kid" and "English Roses".

Miss Hynde's own confidence has increased noticeably since last year's tour, although she still strains to reach the highest the three men in the band, who notes in the more-exposed seem badly to want to be seen songs. She presented us with a as the epitome of haughty brave ration of unfamiliar songs become the subject of debate in the intervals, a testimony to the continued importance of Ibsen's presentation of ideas. The effect of the performance as a living event slowly intensifies, although the formal grouping of speakers seldom alters into naturalism. Standing and seated, the actors present their heads in profile, in the manner of silhouettes or cameos, but the story extends finally into the human drama as the failures and an emancipated woman".

If the humanity is damaged by such extreme underlining, the issues are clarified and become the subject of debate in krecht songbook plenty of illustration for their revue-like scenes of repression and suppression, whether of gays, lews, women or (a shade incongruously) H block.

As that suggests, the thinking is vague and the performance often embarrassingly amateurish: some prose scenes get very wordy and mawkish, and the sight of boys in fur coats and diamonds is apt to pall. But from the group's forthcoming second album, of which the chrissie Hynde knows, as Bruce Springsteen has said that the very best rock and roll talks to the "secret heart" of the listener. Like him, too, she chooses to speak through the medium of rock classicism; sooner or later, if she wishes to fulfil her true potential, she will need to think more carefully about her context.

Catherine Scheil as Rebecca and Christopher Neame as Rosmer, in apparent keeping with Mr Elwyn's scheme. They are restricted to a steady lime of development, with Miss Schell maintaining a knowledgeable, deadly smile except in the single mainent of joy before she sources. Rosmer's offer of of idealism become apparent. Several layers of Ibsen's atmospheric relationships are missing in the performances of Catherine Schell as Rebecca and single moment of joy before she spurns Rosmer's offer of marriage; the key to her performance seems to be Kroll's bitter accusation of her bewitching nature. Mr. Neame moves from sombre joy to handsome desolation, but the rigidity of the two characters intensifies the shock of the climax. When Hazel Douglas as the housekeeper watches the couple in horror from the window, that horror casts a chill across the theatre. chill across the theatre.

Ned Chaillet

the doomed Jews but finally expresses a victim's vision of

Gordon McDonald has the most haunting monologue as a nine-to-five Whitehall dignitary living only for his daily half-minute talk with the boy who sells him a lunchtime sandwich. And the cast's final escape to freedom, up a ladder in the flies, is a tribute to the last scene of Orton's last play that falls perfectly into place. falls perfectly into place.

Anthony Masters

Concerts

Arditti Quartet

Dartington

A Dartington audience, containing so many keen chamber musicians, is not likely to be satisfied by second-rate quartet playing, even in twentieth-century music. So much the more meaningful, therefore, were the ovations that greeted the Arditit Quartet on Tuesday night after every item in a crazily taxing, but marvel-filled programme that included not only two new works, but also, as classics.

Royal Liverpool Philharmonic

Albert Hall/Radio 3

ously regenerating performance under David Atherton of Tchaikovsky's Second Symphony with which they ended their #### desperate musical expression, though it is possible that some part of the thrill was due to quartet by Ronald Caltabiano. one's fear that at any second the work might turn into the rather more-banal crude and effortful coursings of Xenakis's Ikhoor, which had preceded the Bartok quartet on the pro-

Scored for string trio, though often sounding like the seething product of several more instru-ments, Ikhoor shows the blood of the gods being furiously driven by a pulse rather faster than would be safe below Olympus. This violent vibration, more several they divide is the more savage than divine, is the motive force for music which flows with awesome strength through vessels of various shapes.

It must be said, too, that a work of blissful innocence has a particular value in a programme

playing, fresh- voiced, here almost like a recorder consort, there a hovering suspended movement in stillness that showed both true affection and understanding for the emo-tional and structural sinking behind Tchaikovsky's orches-No less remarkable for its revelation of the particular energy that pulses through this symphony was David Atherton's control of its pacing. The contrast in chemistry of that same toughening and interfertilizing of eighteenth and nineteenth-ceantury sensi-bilities revealed in Tchaikovsky's Variations on a Rococo Theme, composed only four years later, was the more acutely felt last night on a performance which made the Albert Hall seem to shrink to a

on the composition course at Darrington two years ago, was invited to return with some-thing for performance this time: an instance of the Summer School encouraging its

The quartet itself was possibly an image of Caltabiano's career at the moment, filled with promising openings. Beconfidence and respect for the medium, but some of the gambits appeared too next. However, when the work began to develop in a more-continuous fashion it began at once also to more strange.

tenth of its size, so intimate and vitally engaging was the rapport between soloist, orchestra and

Moray Welsh's incisively pointed, strongly-bowed parterning of every figuration, his refined chamber music making with the woodwind, the variety of voice within each cantabile line, are only random examples of an exquisitely imagined and executed perform

Paul Griffiths

Before the interval Sibelius's Karelia Suite, beautifully paced and tellingly phrased, prepared the way for a remarkably committed and intense performance by both orchestra and Moray Welsh of Hugh Wood's single-movement Cello Con-certo, commissioned by the BBC

Hilary Finch

Barenboim brilliance in the Wagner workshop

Tristan and Isolde

Opera

Bayreuth Festival

The 1981 Bayreuth Festival opened at the weekend with new productions of Tristan and Isolde and Die Meistersinger. They promise to make up for the absence this year of the Nibelung's ring, Chereau's version having been filmed and set aside. Peter Hall's new interpretation still in the planning stage. Sir Peter could be seen in and about the Festspielhaus, soaking up the atmosphere of what is still the Wagner's family workshop, and a theatre with an atmosphere like no other, even when Bavarian rain streams down the green hill, as it did on Saturday.

The new Tristan confirms Wolfgang Wagner's active propagation of the new Bayreuth — a new producer, Jean-Pierre Ponnelle, who, of course also designed his own settings and costumes, a new conductor, Daniel Barenboim, and a new Isolde, Johanna Maier, as well as Rene Kollo's first Tristan to carry out Wagner's stage directions, usually ignored out of tasteful cowardice, in the scene when the love potion has been drunk, and the lovers are to grimace and gesture wildly, before falling upon one another's necks. That, and Ponnelle's realization of the second act, pure fairy-story, exquisitly beautiful and touching because it so simply and poignantly captures the spirit of courtly love which the romance of Sir Tristan and the fair Yseult typifies.

Ponnelle was able to realize that ideal, unrealistic but A second act pure fairy-story...the spirit of love enthralling aspect of love because his hero and herome look so personable on stage that they can act with violence and extravagance as well as, in their love scenes, the blameless innocence of children content here. to kneel and gaze into one

There is plenty of controversial matter in Ponnelle's mutual adoration without need-complete love, whence this hymn to perfect spiritual union etween man and woman. Maier and Kollo seconded him, vocally and visually as, invisibly but tremendously did Barenboim in a sensuous and dynamic, but scrupulously poised, almost classic reading of the music. Some Bayreuth stalwarts wondered, remembering recent Tristan conductors at Bayreuth who have rushed their fences intemperately. Barenboim gave us a most musical, deeply loving, superbly played and singable Tristan. A great Bayreath debut which may offend Israel, but deserves the

It suited the devotion of, on the one hand, Hanna Schwarz's brangaene and on the other, of Matti Salminen's doting, fervent grandfatherly King Mark—only a caricature if you require Red Riding Hood's grand-mother to be middle aged and sprightly — as of Hermann Becht's solid henchman Kurwenal He raised Kollo's mad Tristan in the third act to terrifying excess of grief and hysterical action. In the first

That first vision was captivating Isolde, ringed by her sembroidered white, royal cloak, and Kurwenal, are heard, but crowned with white flowers seen only in silhonette against a (which she rips away in her curse monologue), clutching herself in glee as she plans the complains?). He lies there, destruction of her exclusive some of large complains.

6 Then the producer tries a brave but exciting folly?

countly victim. The king's ship is a primitive affair, all logs, with a tree-trunk for prow, Tristan and his retinue are sometimes glimpsed behind the huge mainsail. It is in the third act that Ponnelle, as producer-designer, and dictator of lighting follows his Tristan into brave, exciting folly and artistic suicide. Kareol, the ruited castle on Brimany's shores, has become a tiny desert island, hardly able to accommodate the shepherd (who does not attempt to play his joyful call), let alone the production, and before discussing it, I must praise him for attempting, with some success, to carry out Wagner's stage

ing to prove it by physical act it permitted Miss Maier to occupants of Mark's ship. The propose Isolde as a spider with bring Tristan to destruc.
Isolde's voice off-stage, perhaps about never having experienced and the propose Isolde as a spider
with bring Tristan to destruc.
Isolde's voice off-stage, perhaps about never having experienced
and the propose Isolde as a spider
with bring Tristan to destruc.
Isolde's voice off-stage, perhaps about never having experienced propose Isolde as a spider-witch, luring Tristan to destruc-tion, only to find herself trapped in the same glutinous web.

action, from the first sound of Isolde's voice off-stage, perhaps from the beginning of the act, is imagined within Tristan's mind as his life ebbs away.

> turous song of love, completed and transfigured by death, is his not bers. The notion is poetic, but an > onanistic fantasy, a perversion of Wagner's intention, which was of complete, ultra-human, simultaneous and everlasting

No words can properly reflect the import of the end of Tristan and Isolde, though Wagner's music describes the spiritual union perfectly, as Barenboim left no doubt. Much of Ponnelle's production deserves re-thinking, because so much is sensitively and rellingly imagined, in the true spirit of the most-wondrous drama ever written about the interdependence of woman and man.

William Mann

"Entertaining and intelligent..." two superb performances from Bates and Smith." Derek Malcolm The Guardian MERCHANI NORY PRODUCTIONS and CYRIC INTERNATIONAL present ALAN BATES MAGGIE SMITH ISABELLE ADJANI ANTHONY HIGGINS QUARTETY ANNUA SHEILA GISH NAME OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

NOW SHOWING AT

GATE

CHICAN ADVINGABLE

PLAZA OF PECADED CROS 437 934

Ballet

Dance Theatre of Harlem

Covent Garden

The Harlem company's second programme at Covent Garden again reached its climax in one of Balanchine's ballets, this time Agon, a work nearly a quarter of a century old now but still looking so fresh that it but still looking so fresh that it might have been made yesterday. The tough, muscular strength of it, and its flip sophistication, both owe a lot to the quality of life in New York, which is one reason why the Harlem dancers respond so well to the choreography.

Virginia Johnson's dancing in the second pas de tois is, as in previous seasons, a marvel of # previous seasons, a marvel of style and phrasing; Donald Wiliams and Keith Saunders give her suavely sure support and dance their own display

that included not only two new works, but also, as classics, Barrok's third quartet, Ligeri's second, and Webern's baga-telles.

The Barrok was particularly remarkable for the combination of extreme exertion with clarity of detail, the white-but import-

Surrounded by the kaleido-scopic artistry in sound, shape, and colour in the sky opposite the Albert Hall on Tuesday, it was all too easy to pluck eulogistic metaphors out of the air for the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra's rigor-

second curiously enough a wedding march taken from Tchaikovsky's opera Undine revealed a standard and character of wind

second album, of which the most enticing were the lyrical "English Roses" and two viciously sexy rockers, "Bad Boys" and "Louie Louie Had His Day". Her best vocal of the night, full of beautifully judged phrasing, came during the less distinguished cadences of "Jeal-Richard Williams Chrissie Hynde; charm undergeath

Three issues for our survival: the price Europe must pay

by Dr Henry Kissinger

American Secretary of State, 1973 to 1977

Friends Friends of States often forget that perience for us. At the end of the Second World War our secret dream was to join the group of the non-aligned and play the role between Great Britain and the Soviet Union that India and others mirrored in America. There later arrogated to them is no monolithic American selves. In the immediate view. But with a new postwar years every great administration in Washing-American initiative was put ton that has the support of forth as a final act from the overwhelming majority which we could again with of the people, America is no draw into our isolation—the longer in trauma. It is more Marshall Plan, even Nato, the confident than for decades Greek-Turkish aid pro- and determined to vindicate Marshall Plan, even Nato, the Greek-Turkish aid pro-gramme, the policy of containment, were all presented as temporary needs until the underlying harmony of international relations reasserted

It is only in the last decade or so that we have come to learn that never again will we solve any problems in such a way that we can withdraw from foreign affairs. We acknowledge now, as the European states have done for centuries, that the solution to every problem is an admission price ticket to a new set of difficulties.

recognition arrived when we have had to come to grips with the fact that our resources are no longer infinite in relation to the challenges. In 1950 the United States had 52 per cent of the free world's gross cent of the free world's gross one could leave defence national product. Every largely in the hands of decade since then it has declined by 10 per cent. At American strategic power. 22 per cent today the United States in which both States is still the largest sides possess tens of thoussingle economic unit in the ands of strategic nuclear world, but we have to face weapons the significance of the fact that various group- that ings of hostile forces could alter. have a preponderance of The choice for America strength against America should not be between Armaalone. So we share now not geddon on the soil of the merely a community of United States and the de-basic vested interest in our joint survival with our allies. There are three issues of immediate relevance— security, East-West relations and North-South relations. On all of them Europeans which their debate has been

> 'I am in favour of a North-South dialogue, but also a West-West dialogue 3

For this reason it is incon-ceivable that the United States could ever dissociate its defence from the defence of Europe. We must recognise, however, that the military conditions of the 1980s are not those of the 1950s. When the United States had a monopoly of nuclear power, and later a preponderance and overwhelming superiority, one could take chances. that strategy is bound to democratic values but a fence of our allies in Europe.

Our strategy must still envisage the ultimate of stratesic weapons if Europe can be defended in no other way. But it is the duty of all Nato nations to create other options for their leaders, by a new approach to nuclear strategy and a strengthened conventional defence. This increases the credibility of the deterrent and permits the flexible application of our power should deterrence fail. What we must avoid is a situation in which the Soviet Union can blackmail Europe because it doubts what we might do. Nuclear blackmail against Europe should be technically impossible to dissociate from nuclear blackmail against America. Such a reappraisal cannot be expressed in parameters. pressed in percentage terms, it can only be put forward in terms of capabilities. If Europe has no better reason for its own defence than to please an American administration then we are all in trouble.

Europe must reassess its defences because we cannot trust our security to concepts developed 30 years ago. Nor can we rely on the goodwill of leaders who do not understand the concept of goodwill and whose military capacities have increased at 5 per cent a year for nearly two decades while the West has stood still.

Europe and the United States develop common policies in other key areas, even where this is not required by the legal obligations of the Nato Treaty. After all, we are interested in each other's securterested in each other's security, not because we have signed a document. I hope the day never comes when the only reason we associate ourselves with the defence of Europe is because there is a legal obligation. A legal obligation must reflect a shared conviction of common interest. For that reason I think we must discuss what poli-I think it is important that cles to adopt in critical curope and the United States areas such as the Persian Gulf that affect both our vital

Dr Kissinger: an obligation to our allies.

It is not helpful, that there to the modern state. In the exists an American policy in whole Soviet history they the Middle East and a Euro-have managed only three pean policy for the Middle East. Unless they are coordin-ated, which they are not now, the Soviet system informs our approach to negotiation. The system has severe structural difficulties in the mechanisms of leadership. The Politburo is more similar to the feudal court in medieval Europe than it is successions.

function. They are not needed to run the economy, the government, the army. They specialize in vigilance against dangers that they must invent, so justifying their excessive military months than all the rest of the produced the produced more weapons into Angola in six countries themselves, they months than all the rest of have responsibilities too. spending. Therefore Afghanstans are no accident—they are almost all built in to the system when an opportunity presents itself.

when I was in office in 1975 we had the problem of the first appearance of Cubsn troops in Angola. Some of my colleagues and I were then convinced that the issue had nothing to do with which of the various Angolan factions prevailed but a great deal to do with whether Soviet proxy forces from a Caribbean island could be introduced to a distant continuous and that if distant continent and that if they could the consequence for the equilibrium of the world would be very serious. We could not convince Congress at the time to appropriate the ridiculously small sums that were involved. Six years later, with Cubans in Ethiopia and East Germans all over Africa, everyone understands the implications.

But the price has gone up. We must recognize this tendency of the Soviets to escape their dilemmas by foreign adventures. We must be determined, brutal if necessary, in resisting this. But I also believe that we have an obligation to our people, to our allies and those Soviet leaders who may be looking for an alterna-tive, to show them a way out of the arms race if the possibility exists.

North-South relations is another area of potential misunderstanding. It is often said the United States tends to look at North-South relations largely in East-West terms. But I defy anybody to the world had introduced into all the rest of Africa combined. That is what triggered President Ford and me to look at Angola in East-

> 'It is statistically improbable that the United States is always wrong and the Soviet Union always right?

Of course what is going on in the developing world re-presents one of the great historic changes. There is a delusion here as well. Many of us tend to think of developing countries in the way we did of Europe in the time of the Marshall Plan, That is to say we have thought there was an automatic connexion between economic progress and political stabi-lity. In fact, in many developing countries the process of economic development is bound to produce the oppo-site. This is not an argument against economic development, but it is an argument about being thoughtful about what it is we can work for and how we should do it. I would argue, for example, that the primary cause of the collapse of the pro-

Western Government in Iran was a rate of economic growth of 10 per cent a year. It moved the population from the countryside into the cities and attacked many Western interests. It created new sets of political values, but no new political institu-So before going too deep into the North-South dialogue when I was in office I regret to admit I never read the declarations of the Group of 77, now grown to over 100. I read a staff summary which was good for my emotional equilibrium. Now retired to private life I have read the originals word for word and I formed this conclusion: it is statistically improbable that the United States is always wrong and the Soviet Union always right.

Yet you would not learn this statistical truth from the declarations of the non-aligned. We do not ask for support for all our policies was good for my emotional support for all our policies but we can ask to be spared a constant attack on our motives, using the rhetoric of our adversaries and then on top of it asked to build a new economic order that is never defined and that, based on these premises, we could not really approve.

I began by reporting the new confidence in the United through a dramatic period and the astonishing, indeed exciting, thing is that the American people, with a spontaneity that even their leaders did not for a while perceive, have let it be known that they do not feel ashamed of their worth, that they feel they have a duty to their values to defend freedom and to build a better world. Now this may seem naive to some, but cynics have never built cathedrals. Great endeavours are not begun without a measure of naivety. We in America have overcome our problems of will but our adversaries have their problems of structure. History will not do our work for us and we must seize at this moment the unique opportunity, if we work together, we ought to have a dialogue to do our work for ourselves. with each other to define C Times Newspapers Ltd, 1981

Our once and future King, but a long time to wait

by Anthony Holden

The Prince is wed; long live to write about the boring side the Prince. As we wave him and of a prince's life. his bride off into the Spanisa. The popular sunset, the nation's thoughts naturally turn to the future of Charles Philip Arthur George, 21st Prince of Wales—monarchin-waiting, it seems likely, for many a long year yet.

Prince Charles recently told a private dinner party that he expects to be in his late fifties before ascending the throne.
There is no question, for all the public opinion polls, of the Queen's abdicating in his favour, The Prince and Princess of Wales will quite possibly be grandparents, like Bertie and Alexandra before them, when Charles finally inherits his birthright.

It is, as Charles himself has put it, a daunting prospect. Doubly so for a man who is often asked: "When are you going to get yourself a proper job?" The Prince, understand-ably, believes he already has a considerably demanding job, which he is doing to the best of his equally considerable abili-

de

ret he' fell

the щet

ches

Only

lic o

bezi

Satu

cano

Vow

Бσ

waye

this other fami

Burn

Cr

The

Greg

Kerr ning, Sulli

front

The popular imagination invariably pictures Prince invariably pictures Prince Charles astride a horse (or, more recently, falling off one), rather than chairing a committee or behind his desk, where he spends rather more of his time It will be his task in future to make the more private side of his work more public. If that requires some sacrifice of off-dury pursuits such as polo, so be it. His princess, one suspects, will not demur.

It is Charles's great misfortune that the British constitution allots no specific role to the Prince of Wales. Many of his predecessors have used this omission as a licence to make student of his ancestors than any other recent member of the Royal Family, aspires to

He has learnt much from the lesson of King Edward VII, whose exclusion from the conwhose exclusion from the con-stitutional process by his unbending mother led him into the paths of dalliance. He has also taken note of Edward VIII's conduct as Prince of Wales; whatever was to befall later, Edward shone as a prince

A winner's bow to the Queen ; what does the future hold for the heir?

Already, despite his comparative youth, Prince Charles has begun to broaden the traditional tasks of the heir to the to help deprived and disadvan- parents, all have been the throne. It was in the family radition that he chaired the Queen's Silver Jubilee Trust in 1977, which raised an astonishing £16m in a country of just 56 million people. It was his own innovation, however, to set up the Prince's Trust, which for the best part of a decade institutions, children in the now has been raising money care of councils rather than aged children.

It was no hollow promise, therefore, when the Prince offered his services recently to ease the burdens of those living in the inner cities. Blacks in areas of urban blight, youths who have been in and out of prime concern of his workaday energies for some years.

It will perhaps be as well, in the future, if the Prince's staff are more selective about the ritualistic tasks of monarchy he undertakes: planting trees, laying foundation stones, ship, have met with princely unveiling plaques. He has two disfavour. His closest advisers, younger brothers, launched notably his private secretary yesterday upon the public scene, to start taking over the burden of mere appearances.

His parents too are auxlous that Charles absents himself from publicity for a while. He has set himself such a cracking pace these last few years that there are whispered doubts in the Royal Pamily about his ability to settle down, to take the time and trouble to build his marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage, to develop the stable family life which is marriage.

the time and trouble to build y his marriage, to develop the stable family life which is increasingly the prime symbol of the monarchy to its people.

As he and his bride retreat to their Gloucestershire fastness, enjoying a well deserved break from intense public scrutiny, he will be required to reflect on more than merely ensuring the succession.
(Though that, of course, is an immediate priority: Prince Charles himself, it should not be forgorten, was born six days before his parents first wedding anniversary.)

sciously build himself a more substantial public reputation than that of a swashbuckling royal action man constantly risking his neck to prove his mettle. He is made of sterner stuff, and it will increasingly be his task to see that his future subjects appreciate it. future subjects appreciate it.
The ritualistic visits to government and industry could perhaps be converted into a full-time job.

Many suggestions have been placed before his staff in recent years; among them the foundation of an investment bank, the governor-generalship of Aust-ralia, the chairmanship of a pioneering, export-winning com-pany called HRH Electronics. All, save the governor-general-the political climate changes, the monarchy would be well advised. I believe, to play a more direct and conspicuous role in the nation's economic

There is not space here to rehearse the myriad ways in which this could be done with (Though that, of course, is an ancient titles and dignities, immediate priority; Prince Suffice it to say that he has charles himself, it should not already in many ways proved himself abreast of the contem-porary world—in his under-standing of the importance of In the next two or three years, the Prince must consciously build himself a more substantial public reputation than that of a swashbuckling dustry is therefore a curious

There is much he can continue to do as a patron of the arts, a roving ambassador for British exports, and what may politely be called a glorified social worker. Now, moreover, he has a princess more than capable of sharing those somewhat soft-edged roles. The governor-generalship now looks politically impossible, though time may ease his path to a stint as a oussi-monarch in stint as a quasi-monarch in Australia or Canada.

In the meantime, as this week's euphoria fades and we return to Mrs Thatcher's long. hot summer, Prince Charles cannot, alas, expect his honey-moon to last until his mother quits the scene.

"Would you buy a Rembrandt for its canvas?" I asked.

An acquaintance remarked that, at £1,650, the Royal Oak stainless steel watch by Audemars Piguet was more expensive than most gold watches.

Which was perhaps missing the point. The value of the Royal Oak is more a consequence of the way the metal has been used, the design reflecting its strength and character, than the material itself.

In any sphere of artistry and craftsmanship, as I pointed out to my friend, materials alone do not make a masterpiece.

What matters is the way they're used.

And who uses them.

Muddling through in style

Yesterday, all the cheep jokes came to an end. No more standing around in smart bars, listening to sophisticates snicker that "the wedding is so lower middle class, don't you think, old boy? I mean really, some of the weird people who've been invited-at is to die". No more pokinvited—it is to die". No more poking fun at the Queen Mother for wearing hats that look like shower caps, no more cracks about Prince Andrew's horniness. Gratefully, the feeble half-wimicism of the week—
"I hear that Naucy Reagan fell down and cracked her hair"—has run out of steam. For some reason, certain members of the Buckingham Palace crowd thought it was worth repeating crowd thought it was worth repeating at kinch and dinner.

All in all, it has been a difficult week for the Prince, who seems a really decent sort, and the attractive young woman who is now his Princess. The pressure they underwent was brutal. With the country in deep recession, it was all too convenient for critics to charge "this is not the time for such a show."

The cliché about the Royal Family being an anachronism was trutted our hourly. The Irish hoosed and hollered at "the typical insensitivity of the Brits—royal feasting while Irish patriots are starving to death". ("If you've ever eaten Irish food", a young lord said to me, "you know they're taking the easy way out"). Jan Morris, the well-known author, wrote a letter to The Times vesterday, putting on record one citizen's sense of revulsion at the ostentation.

GUEST DIARY

by Herb Caen

The visiting columnist of the the extravagance and the sycophancy surrounding today's wedding". As the old showbiz saying goes, nobody liked it but the people, and the people

When it comes to staging a spec-tacle like yesterday's, the British are without peer. In fact, they make it look easy, which is what comes from not years but centuries of experience. Hollywood in its glory days made a good stab at dazzling the rubes, but the vulgarity was built in at the factory and even the phoniness had no reality. London is not a movie set, it is a real city—in many ways, the grandest of cities—and when its best brains get together, for once, to produce a memorable occasion, the result is the greatest show on earth, without a trace of Barnum & Bailey. The British are justly famous for muddling through—at terrible cost. The country never quite recovered from its victory in the 1914 war, as it is still called here. London is chockablock with statues and canotaphs and memorials to the millions of British soldiers who died in that one. It is hard to keep from spitting when passing the equestrian statue of Field Marshal Haig, who sent so many brave men to their death for a few vards of mud. But when a Churchill was needed, he came along. And after the country's second greatest disaster the victory of World War II, Queen Elizabeth came to the London in 1953 was still a city of austerity, depressing, with bombedout ruins and a shattered economy. It was time for a young Queen of serene beauty, and the people rallied around, as they did yesterday for an event that was more than a wedding. It was a bit of all right, mate—a show that had it all: perfect cast, perfect weather, perfect performances, and here I include the BBC, which gave the American networks a lesson is how to cover a major story with restraint and artistry.

For Londoners, it was a two-day party and a reaffirmation of faith. The vibes were good. The innate friendliness of the English spilled over at neighbourhood street parties.

This San Franciscan was needled nicely: "We've got only one Queen mate, I hear you've got thousands. Shall we have a pint of lager on that

Last night, half a million turned out for the fireworks show in Hyde Park, and everybody, from the bobbies to the skinheads, was frightfully decent, singing "Hail Britannia" and getting that good patriotic feeling that needs a justifiable outlet now

To watch the display, I stood on the roof of the Dorchester Hotel with Richard Burton, who is staying here in the Eisenhower Suite (Ike lived here during the Second World War). As the fireworks burst, I said, " Very sexy, very sensual for the eve of the wedding. I remember all those movies where, just as you fell into camera panned to fireworks over Monte Carlo".

"Ah yes", he smiled wistfully. "It always fizzled out, didn't it? I'm very nervous about the wedding. Not very nervous about the wedding. Not about my BBC assignment—about Lady Diana. Poor dear, making her dramatic debut before an audience of 400 million people. She gets one thance to do it, and she has to do it perfectly. Her knees will be trembling, her spine will turn to jelly, her stomach will churn. I know from experience.

Experience.
Then she has to wear a difficult gown up and down steps. A gown is a treacherous thing. I've worn one many times onstage, and never failed to trip over it at least once a night."
Lady Diana was perfect, even if she did mix up the Prince's name during the ceremony.

The Dorchester did a classy thing yesterday morning, supplying all its guests who ordered room service with a split of champagne and a bottle of orange juice, for a commemorative Buck's Fizz. Thus fortified, I walked through Hyde Park toward Buck House at 7 am, stepping over the bodies of people who had slept there all night.

From a perch on the Victoria Memorial, facing the Palace, we sang songs with the crowd, traded jokes with the coppers, and watched the drama slowly unfold. The timing was oh so slow. It was as if a master director had said "Make 'em wait. Milk it for all it's worth".

But once the first Guardsman stepped out smartly, to wild applause, the pace Dicked up, and then it all the pace picked up, and then it all became a marvellous montage of bands (British military bands have a lilt all their own), troops marching along with that inimitable swinging stride, pipers, limousines, funny ladies in funny hats, famous men waving a bit uncomfortably, the un-flappable Queen drawing cheers, the Queen Mother getting friendly laughter ("Get a load of that hat I") and the cavalry, ah yes the

And then the memories came flooding back. Then the tears came. The British fighting man, standing fast, falling too often, dying so gallantly in faraway places with strange-sounding languages. On a day like yesterday, when romantic overtones are uppermost, you cannot help think-ing of the long and bloody road, the bravery and the blunders that led to this charming little moment in a country's history.

It was a day for tears and laugh-ter. The show in Sr Paul's, if one can call it that without disrespect, could not have been duplicated by anyonanywhere at any time in history.

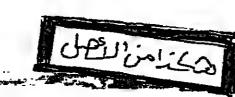

Surely there could never have been better music performed more ably.

The 1001 things that could have the The 1001 things that could have gone wrong didn't.

It is no secret that hundreds of us news people—even those few looking for a sensational incident—sighed in relief. Then the church bells began tolling over the ancient rooftops, and the crowds began milling through the crooked streets, as they have so many times in the past, and will again.

One of the greatest stories ever told is still a long way from its end.

مكذا من الأصل

P.O. Box 7, 200 Gray's Inn Road, London WC1X 8EZ. Telephone: 01-837 1234

AND EVEN THE SUN SHONE

It was a day of great public happiness as well as of private happiness for the royal family. Everything went well, so well as to impel hyperbole. 'No matter how great the ceremony or how important the pageant, the first visitor is sure to tread on the skirts of the last carpenter or decorator", our forerunners wrote of the marriage of the Prince of Wales to Princess Alexandria of Denmark 118 years ago. The enthusiasm of their reporting reprinted in another part of this issue does not conceal some fairly chaotic moments in the ceremonies at Windsor that day. Not so yesterday in London. The splendour and precision of the pageantry again con-firmed the view that nowhere else in the world are these things done better. The solemnization of the marriage in the great architectural spaces of St Pauls cathedral was everything the word implies. The Archbishop of Canterbury spoke in a simple and elevated way of the married state so that every marriage partook of the dignity of this one. The cheers of people who packed the way from St Paul's to the Palace were gentle cheers of pleasure and well wishing. Security, a nagging worry on any such occasion in these times, was complete - and unobtrusive. Television gave hundreds of millions of people an illusion of presence: its power to purvey and by purveying propagate malevolence and violence was seen to be a power also to purvey and so propagate pleasure and happiness. The national response to the royal marriage is itself a source of hope. It is no surprise that enjoyment, gaiety and feelings of loyalty should predominate. The people's affection for the Queen and her family and their recognition of the Crown as a recognition of the Crown as a principle of unity in national life are plain enough to make that expectation. More significant were the absences. No disgruntled group sought to seize the publicity of the moment by disrupting proceedings. Nobody tried to shout anybody down. There were no counter-demonstrations. anyondy down. There were no counter-demonstrations, no aggro. The unemployed and the disaffected urban young, who have little enough to cheer about in their own condition, #### did not choose this moment to air their grievances. The only

The return of Mr Bani-Sadr to a life of exile in Paris is replete with irony. It is nearly twenty years since he fled to France after taking part in an abortive uprising against the Shah organized by the Ayatol-lah Khomeini. Now, after a struggle for power in which he proved himself less adept than the Islamic fundamentalists, Mr Bani-Sadr has been forced out of Iran again, this time by the Khomeini regime. The wheel of revolution and exile has turned full circle. had helped into being.

Mr Bani-Sadr joins a growing number of Iranian exiles opposed to the rule of the They range from clergy. monarchist supporters of the late Shah's heir, Reza Pahlavi Khan, to militant left wingers of the Mujahiddin e Khalq. They also include a number of prominent ex-politicians, including the last Prime Minister under the Shah, Mr Shaphour Bakhtiar. Mr Bani-Sadr is the kind of figure perhaps the only figure - who has the necessary stature to forge the disparate elements of opposition into an effective force.

There are a number of obstacles, not the least of which is that the French Government has made it clear that it will discourage political activity. Another problem is that when in power, Mr Bani-Sadr relied too much on the impact of his own personality, and failed to cooperate sufficiently with others. Although became a charismatic figure head with popularity he failed to put together any

PRESIDENT IN EXILE party machinery. If he makes the same mistake in exile his chances of leading a cohesive opposition will be reduced. There are, moreover, people in the Iranian emigration who find Mr Bani-Sadr's mixture of left-wing ideas and Islam unacceptable. The former President's plane had scarcely touched down in Paris, for example, before Mr Bakhtiar was denouncing Mr Bani-Sadr as a "common criminal" who had received his "just reward" at the hands of a regime he

> This argument will have some appeal. But Mr Bakhtiar, like other survivors of the Shah's reign, is widely regarded as tarred with the brush of monarchical rule. Mr Bani-Sada by contrast in the sada by con Sadr, by contrast, is respected for his courage and determi-nation in standing up to a regime which had betrayed his: original hopes by taking the path of cruel tyranny. As President in exile he will-attract those who deplore the despotism of the Shah and the clergy alike, and who share Mr Bani-Sadr's belief that pluralism, freedom of expression and economic ration-Iran. These include the young idealists of the Mujahiddin, whose leader, Mr Massoud Rajavi, accompanied Mr Bani-Sadr into exile.

Mr Bani-Sadr and Mr Rajavi may be less effective outside the borders of Iran than if they had stayed inside the country. On the other hand, they were clearly finding it difficult to operate under- full circle again.

sprinkling of shop stewards and managers falling out about holiday time and payment in lieu on the royal day off sheer force of babit.

This one-day reign of peace must not be mistaken for what it is not. It is not the end of strife, the beginning of deference, a universal acquiescence in the status quo. It is evidence rather that loyalty and respect for the Crown reaches far into groups whose members are otherwise at odds with the system; and where it does not reach there is still recognition that it would be impolitic to insult deep popular feeling by insulting the Crown. It is evidence therefore of the presence of a strong stabilizing factor in British society and a basic health that should help in the binding up of society's selfinflicted wounds.

The revels now are ended.
The Prince and Princess of Wales begin their honeymoon. Wales begin their honeymoon.
Everyday life and business resume. No magic has been worked on the stubborn problems of economic performance and social regeneration. They are as they were. But in returning to them the nation has reason to be encouraged by what it has just seen of itself.

ground, and came to feel that their best course would be to remain at liberty rather than risk capture and almost cer-tain death. The Khomeini regime, after all, faces a chaotic situation. The clergy have not only to conduct a debilitating war against Iraq, they have also to manage a hopelessly dislocated economy, and achieve political stability in a country which is in a state of near-permanent anarchy. Mr Bani-Sadr's cal-culation is that the mullahs' regime will collapse under the weight of its own incompetence, and that he had better be out of the way when the structure of clerical rule comes crashing down.

The fact that the former President now refers to Ayatollah Khomeini as "Mr" is the clearest possible indication that he has indeed broken once and for all with broken once and for an will the man he once revered as the man. The stage is thus set for executable herween the alling Ayatollah, beset by problems, and his erstwhile protege and spiritual son who at forty three is still problems. relatively young and confi-dent. The Khomeini regime, it is true, appears to have plete control of the parliament, the presidency, and the press. But the Shah, too, appeared to wield absolute power over Iran's institutions. The return of the Ayatollah from Paris proved that the Shah's hold was illusory. The Ayatollah can hardly be comforted by the thought that the wheel of fortune might turn now reached a point where the issues at stake go well beyond that of sporting contacts with South Africa. The tour itself is undesirable. It arouses justi- wealth governments "vigorously fiably strong feelings both to combat the evil of apartheid inside New Zealand and in many by withholding any form of other countries. In insisting that it should proceed the rugby authorities have blundered. These basic elements cannot be emphasised too much. But now there is the wider question of whether the response from the rest of the Commonwealth is in its best interests and in accordance with its own traditions.

COMMONWEALTH GETS OUT THE STOCKS

The meeting of Commonwealth Finance Ministers in September has been moved from New Zealand to the Bahamas. That would be an appropriate gesture of protest if the New Zealand Government was violating a Commonwealth undertaking into which it had freely entered. Mr Muldoon, the New Zealand Prime Minister, has indeed said that he expects his Government will withdraw from the Gleneagles Agreement on sporting contacts with South Africa, because other Commonwealth members have put an unacceptable interpretation on

He would do better to say that the New Zealand Government would continue to honour its Gleneagles obligations in the

Sir, The headline of your recent leader (July 24) discussing the policy statement on defence adopted by the National Executive Committee of the Labour Party seems to me to be seriously misleading in two respects.

First, "Labour's naked Britain" implies a policy of total unilateral disarmament and abolition of all tion in any resolution or state-been preserved for more than argues.

Deterrence dangers

From Dr David Seddon

The dispute over the Springbok future as it has in the past. It rugby tour of New Zealand has not reneged on its commitment, nor has it adopted an unreasonable interpretation of it. The agreement says that it is the urgent duty of Commonby withholding any form of support for, and by taking every practical step to discourage contact or competition by their nationals with sporting organizations, teams or sportsmen from South Africa".

word "discourage" should be noted. The agreement does not say that governments must forbid or prevent their nationals from having such contacts. It allows the possibility that citizens of Commonwealth countries remain free people who may occasionally act in a manner that is displeasing to their governments. The Gleneagles obligation upon member governments is not to use every atom of state power at their command, but to do their best to dissuade their people from such sporting contacts.

That is precisely what Mr Muldoon has done. He objects to the tour. He has said so publicly. He has tried to persuade the rugby authorities to call it off, but he has failed That puts him in exactly the same position as Mrs Thatcher, who tried and failed to persuade most British athletes to stay away from the Moscow Olympics. She rightly re-frained from using the power of the passport to prevent British athletes competing in Moscow, just as Mr Muldoon has declined to use the power of the visa to prevent the Springbok rugby players from entering New Zealand.

The New Zealand Government is being pilloried there-fore not for failing to honour the Gleneagles Agreement, but for allowing some of its nationals to behave in a way that is lawful but not to the liking of other Commonwealth governments. That is a different and, it might as well be said bluntly, a sinister devel-opment. The commonwealth has survived as well as it has up to now because it has been sensitive to the differing circumstances of member countries. The looseness of its discipline, the breadth of its tolerance have rightly been regarded as its virtues. It would be seen in a different light if the citizens of member countries were no longer to be permitted to conduct themselves in a way that affronted the other Commonwealth governments.

Second, as your leader recognizes, "there has undeniably been a much more widespread resurgence both in this country and on the continent of Europe of the old fear of nuclear weapons". For a substantial and rapidly increasing number of people in this country that fear, together with a realization of the ghastly dangers of a policy of defence centred on nuclear weapons, has created an awareness of the need for alternative policies.

defences. But there is no sugges-The remarkable growth over the ment, whether of the NEC or past year of the Campaign for party conference, that any future Nuclear Disarmament and other related or similar movements demonstrates that "the demand that Britain should disassociate labour government would leave Britain naked, as implied. What is rejected is the notion that nuclear weapons constitute "the basis on itself from nuclear activities and which this country's security has nuclear entanglements" is becoming ever more widely supported within this country. Your leader thirty years", as your leader.

correctly observes that "it would be quite wrong to imply that it is only on the left wing of the Labour Party that the cause of unilateral nuclear disarmament has waxed once again"; it would be equally, and perhaps more seriously, wrong to imply that only members or supporters of the Labour Party now adopt a unilateralist position. The demand for Britain's disassociation from the nuclear arms race now comes from British people of almost every social background and political persuasion, and will continue to do so, with growing presistence and strength.

Yours faithfully, DAVID SEDDON.

School of Development Studies, University of East Anglia.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Factory farming and the meat diet From Dr Alan Long

Sir, Publication of the report of the House of Commons Select Committee on the "factory farm-ing crisis" (report, July 25) and the political corollaries in the United Kingdom and EEC should not divert the consumer from his responsibilities in objectionable farming practices.

The obsession with protein The obsession with protein, particularly of animal origin, and the greed for "convenient" and "cheap" food (with the consent unwillingness to pay for decent work and stockmanship on the farm) have contributed to the the farm) have contributed to the development of a mechanized "aggroculture," stuffing feed into animals remarkable for their output and fecundity, short gestation, and rapid growth before puberty. These depredations, contributing to the cult in "high" standards of living, have been abetted by the involvement of the drug industry and some vets.

abetted by the involvement of the drug industry and some vets.

Although pigs and poultry have been notoriously exploited, the cow too has suffered. Shakespeare used the plight of the cow and her calf to illustrate a paradigm of man's remorselessness. Four centuries later mankind goes to even greater lengths to squeeze milk and calves out of her.

her. In the last 25 years yields of milk from the cow have been increased by a third, while the time spent in direct stockmanship has been reduced from 123 to 44 hours per year per cow. Mastitis (a catarrh-like discharge into the milk in the widder) constantly milk in the udder) constantly threatens the British herd. Profigate medication cannot save the modern cow from culling due to "overproduction diseases" before she can start her fourth lactation. The markets in hamburgers, mince, and sausages are manipulated to dispose of the resulting yields of cow beef.

The average Briton consumes each year the meat from animals weighing more than himself. In weighing more than himself. In his lifetime he devours eight beeves, 36 pigs, 36 sheep, and 550 poultry. Factory farming requires factory killing: 3,000 animals are slaughtered every minute in the working day. In this massacre all the victims die by bleeding out effort their throats, have been cut: after their throats have been cut; many are sentient when they are stuck, and some are despatched stuck, and some are despatched sentient into scalding tanks. In 1979 the British Medical Journal published a magistral "Prescription for a better British diet", which recommended, among other reforms, a reduction of meat consumption by 15 percent. By adopting this salurary initiative consumers could spare 155 million animals a year from the initiative consumers could spare 55 million animals a year from the borrors in modern farming (the fare of five and a half million animals a year). Blackguarding farmers or waiting for political reforms are not enough to oust the cruelities and violence in modern food production: our knowledge and appetite can exert immediate mercy.

iood wishe ALAN LONG. The Vegetarian Society, 53 Marloes Road Kensington W8.

A voice abroad From Professor Alan Thompson

Sir, Lord Carrington's statement Sir, Lord Carrington's statement that BBC broadcasts in Italian are heard by only a "few enthusiastic sleepwalkers" (report, July 20) is not borne out by experience. Four years ago, when I was a governor of the BBC, I was invited to address a university audience in Rome in the British broadcasting system (a historical and contemporary analysis of our achieveporary analysis of our achieve-ments and problems in this field). The lecture was also attended by Italian diplomats, editors, poli-ticians and broadcasters, including a prominent representative from the Vatican. The British Minister at our Rome Embassy kindly took the chair.

The overwhelming impression I received was one of considerable admiration and respect for our admiration and respect for our broadcasting system, and not least for our broadcasts to Italy. The occasion was particularly signifi-cant for me: over 30 years previously, as a young soldier, I had broadcast political news programmes on behalf of the Allied forces on our military radio station in Rome.

station in Rome. It is true that our relations today with Italy are excellent.
Nevertheless, continuing international friendship requires continuing effort in the cultural and broadcasting fields. Furthermore. the million Italians who listen to the BBC include the most influential people in Italian life politicians, academics, business-men, teachers, artists and men, teachers, artists and religious leaders. In her recent visit to Italy, Her Majesty the Queen made a most moving and eloquent speech at the Quirinale Palace, advocating the cause of British-Italian friendship in world affairs. To save £210,000 by closing down the BBC's Italian service seems to be a miserable postscript to Her Majesty's triumphant state visit.

Yours faithfully, ALAN THOMPSON, 11 Upper Gray Street, Edinburgh 9.

15 Walton Street,

Kidney patients From Mrs Philippa Foot, FBA

Sir, In your leader of July 24 on the choice of patients for kidney dialysis or transplant, we read that it would be "hard to say in principle" that a patient's blindness or the fact that he was separated from his wife and family should be excluded from the decision. This is dangerous nonsense, implying as it does that the handicapped or unfortunate have a diminished right to life. "To him who hath" indeed! Yours faithfully, PHILIPPA FOOT,

Long-term destiny of inner cities The movement from city to country has already started, as was recognized by the provisions.

From Lord Walston

Sir, Of course the immediate problems of the inner cities must be dealt with. Conditions of life for those living there must be improved, and jobs found for them. But the difficulties and hardships which have long been apparent to those who live there, apparent to those who live there, and to a few others, and of which the country at large has been made painfully aware in the past weeks, must not blind us to the long-term situation. Inexorable demographic forces are leading to an exodus from the great conurhations to pleasanter areas.

These conurbations grew up as part of the Industrial Revolution. People left the rural areas in their hundreds of thousands to find work in the new factories. The factories, for sound economic reasons, were placed in areas of good communications - ports and good communications — ports and railways — and where raw materials, largely iron and coal were available. The men and women who worked in these factories had to live within walking distance of wheir work. They were attracted by higher wages than they could earn on the land, and by freedom from the watchful eye of landlord, farmer and parson.

Today none of these factors exist. Rural areas now have the services that formerly were found only in towns. People will happily travel 20 miles or more to work. Conditions of life in small market towns and villages are becoming preferable to those in great cities.

From Police Inspector Peter F. Maddison man, an officer.

shoulders.

erconal expe

The stipulation in the police officer and the community. It also ensures that every supervising officer is to a great extent in touch with the views of the men under his command, as he has had lems faced by them during their police work.

Mr Stokes's point about the need for highly trained officers of high educational background also shows a lack of knowledge.

Within the service there are opportunities for rapid promotion

by graduates and non-graduates of proven potential under the special course scheme. Supervisory officers of all ranks are given thorough training at both local and national level into all aspects

Manning the police force varied backgrounds to contribute to the leadership of the service.

The Trenchard scheme was discarded as not being suitable to the needs of a modern police service. One must not make the mistake of thinking that all old fashioned ideas with regard to the police were better than today's practice. practice. Yours faithfully, was recognized by the provisions made for new and expanded towns. The population of Greater London is declining; East Anglia has the greatest growth in population of any of the English regions, and rural Cambridgeshire the highest population in-

has the highest population in-crease of any of the shire counties: 11.5 per cent from 1974-5 to 1981-2, compared with the almost static population of England and Wales during the same period. With few exceptions the modern technological and service industries are those that move out of the city; and the most adventurous of the labour force

By all means let us make Toxteth and Dockland attractive places to live and work in: but do not let us delude ourselves that better housing, subsided factory sites, and more open spaces will stop the exodus. The long-term plans must accept that, as the decades pass, fewer people will want to live and work in London, Manchester and Liverpool, Expenditure in these cities must not starve the former rural areas, to which industry and people will go, of the investment needed to go with them.

receive them.

Yours truly.

WALSTON,

Town's End Springs, Thriplow, Cambridge. July 26.

Sir, The letter from Mr John Stokes (July 23) shows a sad lack of confidence in the leadership of the police today. I feel that his suggestion that the introduction of an officer class shows an insensitivity into the distinction which must be drawn between her which must be drawn between her Majesty's Forces and the police PETER F. MADDISON, 23 The Orchard, Sedgefield, Stockton-on-Tees, HM Forces are primarily structured to preserve the country from outside aggression and as such consist of teams of men Cleveland. from platoon upwards who act as a unit under the direction of one man, an officer.

The police service, while, as the recent riots show, having to work in concerted numbers under good leadership, is fundamentally a community organization. Each police officer must be capable of working at an individual level within the society being policed with a high level of responsibility and direction being placed on his shoulders. From Mr W. P. Kirkman From Mr W. P. Kirkman Sir, As a careers adviser in two universities I have been closely concerned with recruitment to the police during 16 years. The achievement of adequate salaries for police officers was a step of crucial importance. The position now, taking both pay and lodging allowances into account, is that police officers are, quite reasonallowances into account, is that police officers are, quite reasonably, among the best paid members of the community. Certainly, for example, the starting salary for a constable aged 22 compares favourably with starting salaries. service that every officer regard-less of potential must serve as a uniformed constable during the first two years of his service reinforces the links between the favourably with starting salaries in other jobs to which graduates

Any sensible police officer will tell you that proper policient, British style, can take place only with public consent. There is a real danger inherent in the latest police pay increase, just an-nounced for September. It is that the police will become a well paid elite, more and more separated from the communities which they serve. This will be particularly likely in areas of high unemployment, where the distinction may well be between those with no pay, and those — the police — with substantially above average

Is not this likely to increase alienation between police and public, thereby making proper policing even more difficult? Yours faithfully, of policing, the training itself being under constant review. Mr Stokes must realize that the W. P. KIRKMAN. introduction of an officer class would divide the service, not 19 High Street, improve it. Officers of all ranks Willingham, prefer the present egalitarian system which allows men of many Cambridge. July 27.

The centre hope

From Mr David Green

Sir, I have fought two general elections and one by-election in the Liberal cause, apart from dedicating a considerable proportion of time and energy to it over sixteen years of my life. Beyond specific party considerations however I did it also in the conviction that there was no hope for this country unless we could create a focus for all of those scattered throughout the Liberal, Labour and Conservative parties whose concern is that we should at last have progressive non-doc-trinaire realistic government.

Part of our national tragedy has been that extremists of the right and left, finding no independent outlet for their energies because of our electoral system, have infiltrated the two major parties, and have increasingly procured the adoption by them of dogmatic irrelevances that spell destruction for all of us.

Experience made clear, to me at least, that the historical and philosophical legacy of the Liberal Party rendered it incapable alone of gaining the confidence of those in the least confidence of those in the broad centre of British politics, which in truth accommodates a considerable majority of the electorate. Until that became possible the old parties would continue to be able to divide and

The emergence of the SDP provided the hope that in a true alliance with the Liberal Party that would come to pass, and the Warrington by-election has added real substance to that hope. If however that hope is to be realized, then the Liberal Party too must accept that it will involve fundamental rethinking of its traditional partyres. traditional postures, for these are as surely dictated by the historic pattern which has produced the Conservative and Labour parties as is the inherent weakness and danger in them. Our national condition is one of fast accelerating decline. It is one in which democracy itself could easily, and in a very short time, be at risk. The national interest is that as many new members from the broad centre of British politics be got into Parliament as possible, and as quickly as possible. And if the Liberal and SDP parties are to be sincere in that intent that involves putting up the candidate most likely to win, regardless of which of them holds his certificate of origin. Yours faithfully,

DAVID GREEN, Rhyd yr Harding, Castle Morris, Haverfordwest, Dvfed.

Dread of the X-ray

From Dr P. M. Fenton

Sir, Bel Mooney (June 16) may well be right when she says that X-rays to determine bone age of immigrant children are undesirable, but she actually detracts from her case by illustrating it with a hysterical mother's interpretation of what sounds like a routine X-ray of her son's wrist.

If she ever set foot out of NW1 she would see that many worse things happen to children in developing countries (from where many immigrants to the United Kingdom originate) than an X-ray of the arm.

While such trivial things as an unnecessary visit to the doctor for an untreatable condition seem to occupy Ms Mooney to such an extent that she sees fit to have an article in The Times about it, there are children all over the propical world in vast numbers who would dearly love to have, and benefit from, an X-ray in order to assist diagnosis of fractured bones, osteomyelitis,

Many doctors and nurses working in poor conditions in undeveloped countries would read Ms Mooney's article with a sneer and put it away. Some would be sufficiently annoyed by its attention to detail to write and ask: "Has she nothing better to do?". Yours, etc, tuberculosis, etc., etc.

P. M. FENTON, Vila Base Hospital, PO Box 55, Vila, Vanuatu, South Pacific.

Test of nerve and enterprise

From Mr Bruce R. Miles Sir, From Australia to the English team of the Third Test: congratulations upon a wonderful victory.
To the Australian team: congratulations also for being part of possibly the best cricket match in thirty years. For all cricketers, coaches and especially the international teams, is there not a lesson in the Third Test? It is obvious to all that batting is more difficult than once it was. The fielders are more strategically placed, the pitches are more capricious and the fast bowlers move the ball from the pitch as much as the slow spinners once did. Such hazards are met by at least two alternative

The first is to be ultra-defensive, to score runs at the rate of ten per hour and to ensure that the bat touches the ball only in the most dire circumstances. Such practices may have some success but one certain result is the emptying of the world's cricket grounds.

the world's cricket grounds.

The second way to counter the new hazards is the Botham method. That is to hit the elusive ball as hard and as often as possible: to take a chance upon making no runs, very few runs, a century or cricketing history.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if wouldn't it be wonderful if everyone, coaches especially, realized that the Botham way is the better way? Then the cricket grounds would be full and there would not be enough television sets to follow the action day and night.

Yours faithfully. BRUCE R. MILES. Cricket Supporters' Association, 36 King Street, Sydney, NSW 2000, July 22.

The issue of Gibraltar

From Lord Boyd-Carpenter Sir, Dr Sala's bland reference in your issue of today (July 28) to "lack of diplomatic tact" in connection with the forthcoming most welcome visit to Gibraltar by their Bears Highwasses the Prince their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales is quite staggering in its effrontery. To suggest that because a foreign country has seen fit to put forward a claim to what has been British territory for 2½ centuries, and whose inhabitants wish to remain British, the heir to the British throne should not be allowed to visit that territory is an absurdity. Am I not to visit my absurdity. Am I not to visit my house because to do so might be tactless to a neighbour who is trying to take it from me?

Anglo-Spanish relations are not going to improve until Spain recognizes, as she did tacitly before the late General Franco raised the issue, that Gibraltar has been British for a long time (longer than it was Spanish), is British, and will so remain. It does not help a return to sanity in this matter to try to avoid the issue by being metful about Spanish "sensitivity". It is kinder and wiser in the long quite clear about it. And if Dr Sala is concerned about "diplomatic tact" he might usefully address himself to his friends in Madrid who are still blockading the Rock and hampering its airport fifteen months after their Foreign Minister promised to stop it.

am, Sir, your obedient servant, BOYD-CARPENTER, House of Lords, July 28.

Royal choice

From Dr J. A. H. Wylie Sir, Many will recall that when 600 of us signed Professor David Martin's petition against the overbearing replacement of traditional forms of worship in the Church of England by Series II. III and their sequelae, we and all other opponents of the Liturgi-cal Commission were summarily dismissed as disbelieving dons or reactionary old fuddy-duddies. How refreshing and indeed instructive, therefore, that the Prince of Wales and his bride-to-be, young and intelligent trendsetters both, opted for Series I to splemning their reading to the setters both, opted for Series I to solemnize their wedding. In the face of this salutary proof of their errors, is it too much to hope that arrogant principals of theological colleges and others who seek, directly or indirectly, to foist upon the cowed faithful their invalid and ugly liturgical ducklings will now, with due humility, desist and amend their ways accordingly? I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant, JOHN A. H. WYLIE, 9a Portland Place, Kemp Town, Brighton.

Road to ruin?

From Mr William Golding Sir, The controlled passion in your third leader today ("The high price of eight minutes", July 25) is unanswerable. Let us hope that those in authority find it irresistible!

We are in process of tying the country down under a system of concrete deserts that will serve no more than a few years of heavy traffic, then be as useless and less attractive than linear earthworks. This latest bit of bureaucratic cheeseparing drives a fist through the dreams of Samuel Palmer and the visions of Blake. Hear the voice of the bard:

"God us keep From single vision and Newton's sleep!"

With hope still, Yours sincerely, WILLIAM GOLDING, Ebble Thatch, Bowerchalke. Salisbury, Wiltshire. July 25.

COURT AND SOCIAL

COURT CIRCULAR

BUCKINGHAM PALACE July 29: The Marriage of the Prince of Wales with the Lady Diana Spencer was solemnized in St Paul's Cathedral this morning. The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh, with Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother and other Members of the Royal Family, drove to St Paul's Cathedral in a carriage procession escorted by a Sovereign's Escort of the Household Cavalry, with two Standards, under the command of Lientenant Colonel Andrew Parker Bowles, The Blues and Royals.

First Carriage

First Carriage (Semi-state Landau) THE QUEEN
THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH Second Carriage
[Binte Landin]
Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother
The Prince Edward

Third Carriage
(State Landau)
The Princess Arme, Mr. Mark
Philips
Captain Mark Phillips
The Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon
Viscount Linley
Fourth Carriage Fourth Carriage (State Landau) Princess Alice Duchess of

The Duke of Gloucester
The Duchess of Gloucester
Earl of Ulster Fifth Carriage (State Landau) The Duke of Kent The Duchess of Kent Earl of St Andrews Lady Helen Windsor Sixti Carriage
(State Landau)
Princes Michael of Kent
Princes Michael of Kent
The Duchess of Grafton
(Mistress of the Robes)
The Earl of Westmortand
(Master of the Horse)

(Master of the Horse)
Seventh Carriage
(State Landau)
Princess Alexandra, the Hon
Mrs Angus Oglvy
The Hon Angus Oglvy
Mr James Oglvy
Miss Marina Oglvy

Miss Marina Ogilvy
A Guard of Honour found by The Queen's Guard, made up of a strength of 100 and provided by The Prince of Wales's Company, 1st Battallon Welsh Guards, with The Queen's Colour, and accompanied by the Band of the Regiment and the Corps of Drums of the Battallon, under the command of Major Guy Sayle, was mounted in the Forecourt of Buckingham Palace.

Silver Stick in Waiting (Colonel Andrew Hartigan, The Life Guards) and the Field Officer in Brigade Waiting (Colonel David Cordon Lengox, Grenadier Guards) were present.

The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh, Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother and other Members of the Royal Family, were received at the Steps of St Paul's Cathedral by the Right Hon the Lord Mayor

(Alderman Sir, Ronald Gardner-Thorpe) and at the West Door by the Dean and Chapter, the Bishop of London and the Archbishop of

of London and the Archbishop of Canterbury.

A procession was formed and Their Majesties and Their Royal Highnesses were conducted to their places.

The Earl and Countess of Harewood, the Hon Gerald and Mrs Lascelles, the Duke of Fife, Captain Alexander Ramsay and the Lady Saltoun, the Marchiotess of Cambridge, the Duke of Beanfort and Lady May Abd Smith and Colonel Sir Henry Abel Smith vers present in the Cathedral.

Sovereigns, Heads of State and other Foreign Representatives were also present.

The Prince Andrew, drove to St Paul's Cathedral in a carriage procession escorted by a Prince of Wales' Escort of the Household Cavalry under the command of Major Anthony De Ritter; The Life Guards.

Fire Curtage (1902 State Landau) THE BRIDEGROOM The Prince Andrew

Second Carriage

(State Landau)
The Hon Edward Adeans (Private Secretary to The Prince of Wales)
Mr Francis Cornish
(Assistant Private Secretary to The Prince of Wales)
Major John Winter
(Equerry to The Prince of Wales)
The Prince of Wales, with The

(Equerry to The Prince of Wales)
The Prince of Wales, with The Prince Andrew (Supporter), was received at the West Door of the Cathedral by the Dean and Chapter, the Bishop of London and the Archbishop of Canterbury.
Raving been joined by The Prince Edward (Supporter), a procession was formed and Their Royal Highnesses were conducted to their places.
The Earl Support and the Lade

Royal Highnesses were conducted to their places.

The Earl Spencer and the Lady Diana Spencer drave to St Paul's Cathedral in the Glass Coach and were received at the West Door by the Dean and Chapter, the Bishop of London and the Archhishop of Canterbury.

The Lady Diana Spencer was joined at the Cathedral by Lady Sarah Armstrome-Jones, Miss India Hicks, Miss Sarah Jane Gaselee, Miss Catherine Cameron and Miss Clementine Hambro (Bridesmaids), and Mr. Edward van Cutsem and Lord Nicholas Windsor (Pages).

The Service was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Dean of St Paul's, The Lesson was ready by the Right Hon the Speaker.

The Address was given by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Prayers were said by the Right Reverend the Lord Coggan, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Reverend Harry Williams.

At the conclusion of the Service the Registers were signed in the Dean's Aisle.

vice the Registers were signed in the Dean's Aisle. The Bride and Bridegroom were conducted to their carriage and, escorted by a Prince of Wales' Escort of the Household Cavalry, drove to Buckingham Palace.

The Queen and The Duke of Rdinburgh, with Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother and other Members of the Royal Family, the Earl Spencer and the Hon Mrs Shand-Kydd, proceeded to Buckingham Palace in a carriage Sovereign's Escort of the House-procession escorted by a hold Cavalry, with Standards... Her Majesty's Body Guard of the Honourable Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, under the command of Colonel Sir Henry Clowes, was on duty under the Dome and in the Quire of St Paul's Carhedral.

The Queen's Bodyguard of the Yeomen of the Guard, under the command of Colonel Hugh Brassey, was on duty at the West end of the Cathedral and under the Dome.

Or me Dome.

The Governor (Major-General Sir Peter Gillett) and Military outside the Chapel of St Michael and St George, in St Paul's Cathedral.

A Tri-Service Guard of Honour

Cathedral.

A Tri-Service Guard of Honour found by The Royal Nevy, 1st Battalion The Royal Regiment of Wates and Royal Air Force Srawdy, accompanied by the Band of The Royal Marines Command of The Royal Marines Command of Lieutenaut-Colonel Simon Stocker, The Royal Regiment of Wates, was mounted outside the West Door.

was mounted outside the West Door.

The Route of the Procession was lined by detachments of the Armed Forces.

was fined by detachments of the Armed Forces.

The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh gave a Wedding Breakfast in honour of the Bride and Bridegroom.

The String Orchestra of the Weish Guards under the direction of Major D. N. Taylor played selections of music during the Wedding Breakfast.

The Bride and Bridegroom subsequently left the Paince for Broadlands and were escorted to Waterioo Railway Station by a Travelling Escort of the Household Cavalry, under the command of Lieutenaut Colored Andrew Parker Bowless. The Blues and Royals.

By command of The Queen, the Lord Somerieyton (Lord in Waiting) was present at Royal Air Force Northolt upon the departure of The President of the Federal Republic of Germany and Frau Dr Carstens and The King and Queen of the Belgians and bade farewell to Their Excellencies and Their Majestles on behalf of Her Majestly.

By command of The Cuean the Majesty.

By command of The Queen, the Lord Charteris of Amisfield (Permanent Lord in Waiting) was present at Royal Air Force Northolt this afternoon upon the departure of The Queen of the Netherlands and Prince Claus of the Netherlands, and at Heathrow Airport, London this evening upon the departure of The President of the French Republic and Madame Mitterrand, and bade farewell to Her Majesty and His Royal Highness, and The President and Madame Mitterrand, on behalf of Her Majesty. Her Majesty.

Princess Alexandra will open the Wolfson Building, the headquarters of the new International Centre for Eye Health, Department of Preventive Ophthamology of the Institute of Ophthamology at Moorfields Eye Hospital, London, on September 15.

Photograph, by Harry Ken

Members of the Gloucester and Kent royal families in St Paul's Cathedral. From left: Lady Helen Windsor, the Earl of St Andrews, the Duchess of Kent, the Duke of Kent, the Earl of Ulster, the Duchess of Gloucester, the Duke of Gloucester and Princess Alice Duchess of Gloucester,

Forthcoming marriages

Mr P. A. C. Russell-Cobb and Miss S. M. J. Chichester-Clark The engagement is announced between Piers Andrew Courad, son of Mr Trevor Russell-Cobb, and Sophia Melissa Jane, daughter of Sir Robin Chichester-Clark and Mrs C. G. Falloon

Captain C. W. Hird and Miss S. Murgatroyd The engagement is announced between Colin, eldest son of Mr between Collin, eldest ion of all William Hird, of Casterron, West-moriand, and Mrs Hazel Staley, of Hemel Hempstead, and Sue, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs Brian Murgatroyd, of The Haven, Bill-ingshurst, Sussex.

Mr D. R. Murphy and Miss L. A. Gosling The angagement is announced between Roy, son of the late Mr and Mrs H. O. Murphy, and Lucy Gosling, MVO, daughter of Lieut-Colonel and Mrs W. D. Gosling, of Mr D. H. C. Brigstocke and Miss N. A. Cenek The engagement is announced between David, eldest son of the late Mr Geoffrey Brigstocke and of Mrs Brigstocke, of 48 Rowan Road, London, W6, and Nancy, only daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert Cenek, of Syracuse, New York

darys and St Johns, Tamion, same lighted and St Johns, Tamion, same lighted and same and same series of the States, to echapists and Head of R E. St. The Rev D Addison, Non stipendiary fiest at Bisley with Oakridge, diocess of Sioncesier, to be Priest in Charge I Newland with Recurrock and Gear-cil, same diocese. The Rev J M Brotherion, Vicar of St ary and St John, Oxford, and Rutal san of Cowley, diocess of Oxford, to Vicar of St Mary, Portsea, diocese Portsmouth.

recently Bishop of Mashonahud, Zhababe, to be Rector of Empissham, Rulland, and an Assistant Bishop of Peterborough, discess of Peterborough, The Rev L R Caddick, Vicar of Oundle, diocess of Peterborough, alocase of Deterborough, alocase of Cottarstock, te

Church news

Ьu

re cle

der

Har

pul

met mor and trea

grou

Satu

life

canc

Vow

Bo

Wavy

woul

men

fami

Burr

Cr

The

was

Greg

Kerr

ning

the

Mr S. M. Haciane and Miss C. N. Alcock

The engagement is announced between Simon Mark, eldest son of Mr and Mrs P. H. Haslam, of The Green, Allestree, Derby, and Catherine Nina, only daughter of Captain R. K. Alcock, RN, Rtd, and County Councillor Mrs N. R. Alcock, of Brantham Court, Brantham Suffolk.

Mr L. J. B. Spencer and Miss C. M. Langford

The engagement is announced between Leonard, son of the late Mr L. J. Spencer, of Edinburgh, and Mrs J. French, of Eastry, Kent, and Carolyn, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs G. A. Langford, of Bedey House, Bayston Hill, Shropahire.

Marriages

The Hon Gay Greville and Mrs S. Cobbold The marriage took place on July 25, 1981 in Perth, Western Australia, between the Hon Guy Greville and Mrs Susan Cobbold.

and Miss M. Parton The marriage took place at Beaconstield on July 25 between Mr Phillip Johnson and Miss Miranda Parton.

Orchestra counts the money notes

By Our Music Reporter After running into serious finan-After running into serious innec-cial difficulties last year, the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra has achieved a notable reversal of its fluancial affairs and by March this year it had eliminated the deficit from the previous year. By a combination of measures By a combination of measures the orchestra increased its income from ticket sales by about 33 per cent, to a total of £294,000. It gave 10 more concerts than last year, more than a hundred in all, and also increased its ticket prices by about 15 per cent. Despite that increase, the average audience fell only slightly, to 85 per cent.

Varions economies were also made by the organization and an appeal last summer to members of the Philharmonic Society brought in donations of £5,050.

Church appointment

The Right Rev Dom Victor Farwell, Abbot of Worth, was yesterday reelected Abbot President of the English Benedictine Congregation for a further four years by the General Chapter of the Congregation meeting at Buckfast Abbey.

Vicar of Snottisham and Priest in Taking of Fring and Ingoldisthurpe, diocess of Norwich,
The Rev S K Reynolds, Vicar of St. Peter, Greenhill, diocess of Snotherds to be Priest in Charge of Surghvallis with Stelknobes. Doncaster. same dincese. Dincaster. same dincese.

The Rev D Phys. Non Stipendiary Priest in the diocese of Southwark, to be Parish Priest of St Mary Magdalena with St Michael and All Angels. Woolwich, same diocese. The Rev D Shirets, Vicar of St Michael and All Angels. Blackheath Park dioces of Southwark, also to be Sub Dean of Greenwich, same diocese. The Rev D S Skelding, Revior of Norton Causes, diocese of Lichfield, to be Rector of Hinstock and Samkrock, same diocese. and Templechoud, diocese of Bath and wells.

The Ray B G Henry, Chaplain RAF, 10 be Provest of St Paul's Exthedral. Ricosta, and Archdeacom in Cyprus. Ricosta, diocese of Aberdeen and General States of States of States of Bertington with Beston Crarge and Cound, diocese of Hereford Team Ministry, of the Ewysis Bixold Team Ministry, diocese of Revolot, to be full-time Chaplain of Napsbury Hospital, Shenley, diocese of St Albans.

The Ray A Luy, Parith Pries; of St Margaret the Queen, Strestham Hill, diocese of Southwark, to be Vicar of Christian Berting Ray & Ray Chemister, Priest of Christian Berting Ray & Marcharda, be vicar of Christian Berting Ray & Marcharda, but the Vicar of Christian Berting R Diocessan Director of Ordinands, same diocessan Director of Ordinands, same dioces. Rev R E Messer, Honogary Could of Excita and Stillhauflest with Natoura, and area secretary for the USPG. diocese of York, to be Priest in Charge of Chwood and Priest in Charge of Chesser of Southwell.

The Rev R W H Miller, Residential Courses Tutor for the Giocostorshire LEA, to be Vicar of Elitestey with Bolkansall Educate of Elitestey with Southwestern of States and Honography Respirate of States (and Honography Respirate of States). The Rev D Owen, Vicar of States and Wells.

The Rev D Owen, Vicar of States of Battern and Free Chesser of Directed of Chemisford, to be Rector of Directed of Chemisford, with the Market Chemister appointed to work in the Raveningham Group of Farishes, diocese of Norwich.

Retirements and resignations on Aogust 51

Camon R Lindsay, Vicar of Lower-water with Bullermore, diocese of Car-liale to retrie in July, 1981.
Camon L. C. E. Monro, Vicar of St John the Escapelist. Farton, diocese of Perramouth, to retire on July 31.

Birthdays today

ORKNEY REJECTS

Marchester

Open Grants Medical

Appointments

Mr Henry Moore, OM, CH,

the sculptor, is 83. Sir Edmund Compton, 75; Mr A Meredith Davies, 60; Miss Frances de la Tour, 37; Sir Martin Flett, 70; Professor Ian A. Gordon, 73;
the Viscount of Kelburn, 42; Lord
Killanin, 67; Miss Wyn Knowles, 58; Lord McCarthy, 56; Professor
L. W. Martin, 53; Mr Gerald
Moore, 82; Professor C. Northcote
Parkinson, 72; Mr P. Plouviez, 50; Sir Richard R. Powell, 72;
Mr Daley Thompson, 23; Sir
Dennis White, 71; Dame Marjorie Williamson, 68.

Latest wills gar paid):

Aldridge, Mrs Dorothy Emily, of Wanstead, London ... 288,712
Crapper, Mr Charles William, of St Mawes, Cornwall ... 2203,131

Latest wills include (net before

Luncheon

Prime Minister The Prime Minister and Mr Denis Thatther gave a luncheon yester-day at the Bank of England for heads of state, governor Generals, and beads of covernment or their representatives arrending the mar-riage of the Prince of Wales and Lady Diana Spencer. Among those present were :

The King and Queen of Tonga, the Queen of Lesotho, vialueton Tanusmani, of Western Samed Mrs Kenneth Kannes, the Lite President of Maiswe, Miss CT Kadamira, the President of Thindsed and Tobseo Mrs Clarke, the President of Set Lanka and Mrs Jayawardene, the President of India, the President of Cyprus and Mrs Kyprianou, the President of Nairy and Mms de Robart, the President of Kirball, Mrs Hills Limann.

The President of Dominics and Mrs Marie, the President of Zimbabwe and Mrs Esnama, the President of Vanuali and Mrs Bokomani, the President of Gupana, Mrs L F S Burnham, Mrs A M Obote, Obote.

The President of the Federal Republic of Germany and Fran Carstens, the President of France and Vime Millerrand, the President of Fortugal and Senhora Earth the President of Ireland, May Remaind France, the May Remaind France, and Lage Meraited and Mark Miller of New Zealand and Mark Miller of New Zealand and Mark Miller of New Canacad and Mark Miller of New Canacad and Mark Miller of New Guines and Lage Cun-Mustro, the Governor-General of Papea New Guines and Lage Cun-Mustro, the Prime Minister of St Vincent and the Greadines and Lage Cun-Mustro, the Prime Minister of St Vincent and Governor-General of the Solmann Hagnes and Lage Cate the Governor-General of the Solmann Hagnes and Lage Cate the Governor-General of the Solmann Hagnes and Lage Cate the General Endless of Twalls and Mark Lawii. Minister of Tuvalu and Mrs Laut!

Prince Gabbent and Princess Lindiwe of Swazdland, hr Vice-President of Nigeria and Mrs Etwatene, Dr and Mrs Ferrart, Mr Charter, Nionio, the Greek Prince Minister, hin and Shrimail Rajit Gandil, the "overnor-General of Australia and Mrs Praser, and Mrs Praser, and Mrs Praser, and Lady Cash, the Prince Minister of the Enhances and Lady Cash, the Prince Minister of Berhados and Lady Cash, the Prince Minister of Berhados and Bar Adams, the Governor-General of Canada and Irs Schreyer, the Prince Minister of Berhados and Birs Adams, the Governor-General of Canada and Irs Schreyer, the

The Governor-G neral of Fill and Ledy Cakobau, the Prime Muditur of Fill and Lady Mara, the Governor-General of Great and Lady Econ, the Governor-General of Jamaics and Lady Governor-General of Macritius and Lady Economics and Lady Economics

The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayorese, the Speaker, the Lord Chief Justice and Lady Lain. Mr Harold Marmillan, ON, Lord and Lady Home of the Hirsel, Sir Harold to Bloom, Mp. and Lady Wilson, Mr Edward Heath, MP. Mr James Callaghan, MP. and Mrs Gordon Mr Lord Mrs Gordon Mr Lord Mrs Gordon Mr Lord Mrs Gordon Gordon Mr Land Mrs Gordon Mr Lord Mrs Gordon Mr Mike Pattison and Mr Peter McCoy, Mr Mike Pattison and Mr Peter McCoy, Mr Mike Pattison and Mr Peter McCoy,

Reception

Mr Nicholas Edwards, Secretary of State for Wales, and Mrs Edwards were hosts at a recep-tion given at the Welsh Office yesterday on the occasion of the marriage of the Prince of Wales and Lady Diana Spencer. The guests included:

GUESIS ATTIMOOD:
The Archbishop of Wales, the Marquess and Marchoness of Anglesey, lords [leutenant and deputy Neutenants of Welsh counties and their ladies: Lord and Lady Cledwon of Ponthos, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayores of Cardill. Sir Hugu Poolibus the Wales Herald Extraordmary and Mys I Anes, Major General and Mys LA R Napler and My Wyn Roberts, MF.

Moreover... Miles Kington

My Day By Stanley Hoggis (who for 50 years has been the Royal Railway Porter-in-Waiting) Many people seem to think that getting the Royal Family on to a train is easy. It isn't. They seem to think that once you're out of the State Coach you're somehow magically on the train. But you aren't. Somebody's got to get all that lug-gage from the Coach to the Royal Luggage Van. And that's me. The Royal Porter-in-Waiting. If you've ever wondered why royal parties seem to hang around on the platform a long time, shaking hands and telling the station master he's got a nice little station here, it's because they're waiting for me to get finished and give them the nod.

See, what happens is this. The State Coath arrives, and royalty gets out, it might be one of them, it might be four or more. Then the Lord Chamberlain looks for a porter. Of course, he knows I'm there, lurking, but this is the tradition. "Porter!" he cries. "Porter! Oh, I say, there's to porter." Then royalty says to him, "What is the your Majesty; there is never ing the State Trolley. It's a big, one when one wants one." This is all railway ritual, naturally, because then I come forward with the State Luggage Trolley and we have the follow-ing ceremonial exchange. "Blimey, keep your hair on. What do you want taking?"

"All this luggage."

"Whose luggage?" "The Queen's luggage."

"The Queen's moving house. from the look of it. Stone the I then fill up the State Trolley and take it to the Royal Luggage Van, and pretty soon it's all loaded up, assuming there's not too much mail or some blighter hasn't filled the van up with bicycles. After which we have another little rirual in which the Lord Chamberlain tips me, and it goes a bit like this. I then fill up the State Trolley

"Here's a little tip." "You can say that again."

" All right, make it a quid." Then I ceremonially give it back to him, and that's it, unless royalty has a complaint, like there's someone sitting in their reserved seal, which doesn't happen too ofter.

trouble, my Lord Chamberlain?"

And he says, "There is no porcourse, Most dans royalty isn't travelling so I'll pend it polish-

VII, with separate lockers for whisky, playing cards, stuff like that. Or I'll go down to Victoria and practise being a porter, you know, grab a trolley marked "For Passenger's Use Only", keep tight hold of it and stand starting into the distance for staring into the distance for hours on end. These days people are pretty tight with money and don't hire porters much—they just want to pick your brains about trains. I always tell them "Platform 18", no matter what what the question is. Never fails to work.

The present royalty are a good lot, but George VI was my favourite. I remember once he was going on an overnight trip to Carlisle, and by some mix-up I put all his luggage on the sleeper to Edinburgh. Next time he saw me he said, "Hoggis, you acted like a real porter there", and we had a good you acted like a real porter, there", and we had a good laugh, George VI was a very patient type and would have made a good railway porter himself, I think, but of course he had the mistreruna to be here. had the misfortune to be born into the wrong social strate.

That's about it, really, Oh, thank you, squire. No, really, that's fine, if that's all you can

(Stapley Hoggis was talking to Miles Kington,)

OBITUARY

WILLIAM WYLER Noted Hollywood

craftsman

William Wyler, the film director, who died on July 28, aged 79, was one of Bollywood's supreme craftsmen.

If he did not have the creative personality of a Hitchcock or a John Ford, that was partly because his choice of subjects because his choice of subjects was 50 varied — embracing westerns, epics, crime stories, melodramas and war films — but also because he shrank from putting his personal concerns into his work. The concerns into his work. The record was nonetheless formidable: three of his films, Ben Hur, The Best Years of Our Lives and Mrs Miniver won best director Oscars and many of his leading planes won Oscars.

director Oscars and many of his leading players won Oscars

He was a mericulous worker. In was a mericulous worker of times he would shoot each scene, and had a great interest in the technical possibilities of the cinema. His collaboration with the cameraman, Gregg Toland, which produced a style of film-making involving deep focus photography and long takes, was much admired by young French critics, notably André Bazin, and it had the advantage of allowing actors to build their performances uninterrupted by rapid cutting.

Wyler was born in Mulhouse, in Alsace, in 1902, and educated in Lausanne and Paris. He seemed set for a musical career but a chance meeting at the age of 18 with Carl Lausanne and but a chance meeting at the age of 18 with Carl Laemmle, the head of Universal Studios, took him to Hollywood where he began as an assistant director— among other assignments was the 1925 silent version of Ben Hur—and then cut his teeth on two-reel westerns.

From the inevitable anonymity of such work he moved to more substantial pictures and first attracted attention with Hell's Heroes (1929), a remaker

Hell's Heroes (1929), a remaker of Three Godfathers, the sentimental story of three cowboys who find a baby in the desert.

These Three (1936) was another landmark: a strong film in its own right — based on Lillian Hellman's play, The Children's Hour, it was the study of a lesbian relationship ac' a girl's school and drew outstanding performances from Meria Oberon and Miriam Hopkins — it also marked the start of a fruitful relationship not only with Tolan; but the producer, with Tolan. but the producer, Sam Goldwyn, for whom Wyler made some of his most success-ful pictures.

They include Dodsworth, from the Sinclair Lewis novel about an American couple changed by a visit to Europe with fine playing from Walter Huston and Ruth Chatterton; Dedd End, with Humphrey Bogart, set in the New York slyins; a powerful version of Withering Heights, with Haurence Olivier in one of his best screen roles; and The Little loxes, from another Helman play and featuring a favourite typer actress, Bette Davis, who also appeared for him in Jezebel and The Letter. The climax to his series of films was Mrs Miniver, Hollywood's enormously popular (though now dated) tribute to the British war effort. After it, Wyler enlisted in the United States of the United States of the States of the British war effort. After it, Wyler enlisted in the United States of the States of the States of the British war effort. After it, Wyler enlisted in the Letter it. They include dated) tribute to the British war effort. After it, Wyler enlisted in the United States Air Force, reaching the rank of colonel and directing an excellent documentary, Memphis Belle. He returned to Hollywood in 1946 to make probably his best film, The Best Years of Our Lives, a sympathetic and unsentinental story of war veterans trying to adjust to civilian life. trying to adjust to civilian life. The Heiress, from Henry James' novel Washington Square, via a stage adaptation, and Carrie, from Theodore Dreiser's novel, were both literary subjects notable for their craftsmanship and the performances of Raiph Richardson as the tyrannical father in the first and Olivier as a man reduced to penury by a fasci-nation for an actress in the second.

In very different mood, he made Roman Holiday, a romantic comedy with Audrey Hepburn, and The Desperate Hours, suspense thriller with Bogart. a suspense thriller with Bogart. By this time, to combat the growing threat of television, Hollywood was demanding more films on the epic scale and Wyler showed himself fully equal to the challenge. The Big Country (1958) was a sprawling and very watchable western, while Ben Hur was an even longer film, 3% hours, which altogether won 11 Oscars. In 1961 Wyler re-made These Three under the title Children's Hour and was able to give a

Hour and was able to give a franker treatment to the lesbian theme than had been possible in the 1930s under stricter censor-ship. His attempt to translate John Fowles' novel, The Collec-

John Fowles' novel, The Collector, to the screen was less successful, and How to Steal a Million, was a lightweight romanic thriller.

In 1968, though, Wyler turned for the first time in his career to the musical and came up with a very distinguished contribution to the genre in Funny Girl, helping also to launch the career of Barbra Stressand as the Broadway star, Fanny Brice. His last falm, The Laboration of L. Q. Janes, was another departure, being an ambitious attempt — particularly in the context of Hollywood—to tackle racinism

Wyler was married first to the actives. Marrane

Wyler was married first to the actress. Margaret Sullavan After their devorce he married Margaret Tallichet, who tur wees him with their love children.

corrections and colors are considered and colors and colors are considered and colors and colors are colors and colors and colors are colors and colors and colors are colors and colors and colors and colors and colors are colors and colors and colors are colors and colors and colors are colors and colors an

Interjewel Limited

Norwich.

The Rev R C F Pitcher, Curate in Charge of Danasholme Conventional Distric, Corby, diocese of Peterborough, to be Vicar of Estown, Pirmouth, diocese of Extern.

The Rev D A Porter, Curate of Worting, diocese of Winchester, to be Offer at greatly reduced prices a number of important pieces of individual jewellery in a special corner of Torrini's Showroom,

22 Old Bond Street, London, W.1 Telephone 499 2537

From The Times of Monday, July 30, 1956 25 years ago

China maps her frontiers

There has never been any doubt of China's determination to assert her power to the very limit of what she conceives to be her own legitimate frontiers. The new flag unfurled in Peking in 1949 was depicted as in Pesing in 1949 was depicted as waving propelly over territories which had slipped out of Chinese control during a contury of weakness and decay. The armies were quick to make good their claim. The march into Tibet in 1950 was unhesitant; the claim to Farmosa has never been abated in the slightest. (Both claims had been no less vehemently staked by the Nationalist Government though in their days of rule on the maintain they had mare the never to size effect. days of rule on the mainland they had never the power to give effect to them.) Aside from these well-known assertions of title there are other points along Chion's fromtiers where disputed claims have yet to be settled. In most cases the claim can be deduced from official maps published in China and it is perhaps a mark of China's present pacific liment that some of the first hold claims have lately been modified.

Grants Research Council: C56.154 for companing equipment for the sindy of X-ray diffraction of intact muscles at rest and during contraction by Professor J Lowy and Dr F R Poulsen Million Keynen Development Corporation: 545.957 for field studies of passive solar gain in houses by Mr J Chathleid and Mr A Horson Scoticsh Health Education Group: Reposted for a sessional studies decation between the Scoticsh Health Education Group and the OU by Mr N Factor Corporation of the feasibility of a moderation instrument by Professor D L Nattal.

United States Army: 558.157 for recent into acoustic to selsmic coupling at porous ground surfaces by Dr K Attenborough.

Leicesier Grant Medical Research County: £17,508 to Professor R Whittam Professor J D Swalos and Dr H Thurston for re-search into Appertmenton.

Down to earth again, trailing clouds of glory Life at the

With the start of the Fourth Test match at Edgbaston today the time has come for England to leave the clouds and get back to business. They have to show that their great victory at l'eadingley was more than a passing glory. Both sides have injury problems. A tdoublesome back will prevent Lawson playing for Australia (Hogg will replace him) and Old comes into the England side in place of Dilley, who threw his shoulder out at Derby on

Australia will have spent a good deal of the last 10 days brooding upon their

Brearley: time for clock-watching.

ire, with all their first (unings ckets in hand, are 323 behind

A scindlating 100 by Turner, and another later on by Neal, took Worcestershire to an impressive score of 376 for five declared here vestrates.

This was Turner's fourth century this season and the 33rd of his career. He went on to make 161, and then he had been at the crease for 190 minutes histing 28 hearndards 18 was also Meal's fourth hundred and by the time seen his back Neal, too, had peppered the boundaries, bitting

s six and 23 fours.

It is something like 19 years since Worcestershire last played a county championship match at the War Memorial ground, Amblecote, and in packing up the threads the county must have been impressed by the support they received yesterday. Nobody could remember when last the half dozen turnstiles had come so close to overheading.

Three quarters of an hour after Kapli Dev had bowled his first ball they were still clicking rhythmically at £1.80 a time, and having sold out of scorecards the secretary announced his intendent to order "a second edition".

secretary sunounced his intention to order "a second edition".

At the start the club had been thoughtful in making their mark on an historic day, Handel's Water Mosic trumpeted across the ground inviting early birds tocrowd round the television sets in the tenrs beside the pavilion.
When the cricket lestivities began Turner won the toss and immediately signalled his intentions. He swiftly built up a bead of steam and raced along a spec-of steam and raced along a spec tacular course with all the majesty and surging power of an

Scott, C Sharp, b Griffiths . 43 Neale, c Cook, b Kapil Dev 123 Pairl, b Williams O Remsley, c A J Lamb, b riffiths

Total (5 wkts dec. 96 overs) 576

Total (5 will see, 96 over) over 1 ov

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE: First lanlage

Total 111 overs: 53
F. G. Williams, A. J. Lamb, R. J. Boyd
Joss, T. J. Vardiev, Kapil Dev. et G.
J. G. Mallender, T. M. Lamb, and J. G. Hillibs.

Points to date: Workesters are 4. Northants 2. Umpires, W. L. Budd and K. E. Palmer

Second XI competition

close to overbeating.

Northampton

Turner century of Worcester

eases path

By Peter Marson

STOURBRIDGE :

seemed to be cruising to victory to be beaten as they were was a shattering experience. More happily, their win at Worcester at the weekend gave Kent the chance to play himself into the Test side. He will almost certainly come in for Chappell .

مكذا من الأصل

Just how thin a time of it England had been having until Headingley is shown by the fact that the miracle there provided Willey with his first taste of victory in 18 Test matches, the last 12 of them off the reel. Gatting, after 10, and Dilley, after 11, were also playing in their first winning England

For Australia, last week's collapse was the second of its kind in four Test matches. Against India at Melbourne in February, after gaining a first innings lead of 182, they were left to make 143 to win; on an easier batting pitch than Headingley's. They were bowled our for 33-by Ghavri, Doshi and Kapil Dev. Greg Chappell and Walters were playing for them then, as well as Hughes, Dyson, Border, Wood, Dillee and Marsh.

Apart from being such a glorious justification of the game of cricket, and more particularly of Test cricket; and more particularly of Test cricket, the Headingley match restored the perspective of the series. There is kitle to choose between the sides. The psychological advantage which Australia held after winning at Trent Bridge belongs now to England. To have changed the England side, had it not been necessary would have been not been necessary, would have been to underste the value of team spirit. Emburey may expect to play today, Brearley is going in first, and Dilley has bad to withdraw, but the players

Lancashire fall to Hughes

By Keith Macklin
SOUTHPORT: Middlesex, with nine first innings unckets in hand;
we 232 runs behind Langashre.
Trafalgar Road at 11 o'clock

Trafalgar Road at 11 o'clock yesterday morning was a sight to gladden cricketing hearts. The compact little ground was bursting at the seams, and outside in the road queues formed 400 yards long, many people waiting an hour to get in. Not everyone, it seemed, was glued to the nuptials at St Paul's. There were even one or two women to be seen among the 7,000 crowd.

Middleser put Lancashire in, and after Kennedy had been missed at third slip in the sixth over, the opening partnership with Fowler took the score past 50. Daniel, making the ball kick; and Selvey were the opening bowlers, and Fowler, after a slow start, emerged from his recent spell of three ducks in four innings to reach 32 before being caught behind off Selvey.

The first change bowler was Hughes. He is a cheerful young man who chatted amiably to spectators on the boundary edge, and bade me a pleasant "Good morning" as I walked round to bade me a pleasant "Good morning" as I walked round to the press tent: His good humour could not at first coax much life out of the wicket, and his first two successes had a degree of luck about them.

who shared in the Headingley triumph are basically back together.

They have, unfortunately, had little cricket since then, the days in between having been taken up mostly with the one-day competitions. The best thing to have happened to any of them was Gooch's 100 on Sunday. At Edgbaston he will be at number four, or possibly if Boycott and Brearley give England.

a good start.
Erearley's first opening parmer for England, back in 1976, was Edrich, his second Wood, his third Amiss and his fourth Woolmer. That was during Boy-cott's self-imposed exile. When Boycott returned to Test cricket, against Australia at Trent Bridge in 1957, Brearley went in with him; together, in England's second innings, they made 154 of the 189 must were needed to win. Today will be Brearley's thirtyseventh Test match and the twenty-fifth in which he has gone in first. With so few overs being bowled these days, he and Boycott will have to be careful, they do get in, not to fall badly in first that was less of a danger because of the way he plays.

There is less grass on the pitch than at Trent Bridge and Headingley, and it looks flatter and truer than Lord's. This will the sixth time England have played Australia at Edghaston. have played Australia at Edghaston.
On the first occasion, in 1902, Australia were saved by rain, having been bowled out in their first innings by Hirst and Rhodes for 36; on the last, in 1975, when Gooch, winning his first cap, made a pair, Australia won by an innings, also after rain.

This time 2 draw is the likeliest result. In spite of that, what occurred at Headingley has reawakened the interest of many who were beginning to think that Test cricker had become an ungovernable bore. They are eager to give it-another chance.

Hughes: eyes down for one up?

give it-another chance.

ENGLAND (brum): J. M. Brearley (bilddlesex, captain), G. Boycott (Yorkshire), D. I. Gower (Leicestershire), G. A. Gooch (Essex), M. W. Gatting (Middlesex), P. Willey (Northamptonshire), I. T. Botham (Somerset), R. W. Taylor (Derbyshire, wicketkeeper), J. E. Emburey (Middlesex), C. M. Old (Yorkshire), R. G. D. Willis (Warwickshire), M. Hendrick (Derbyshire).

AUSTRALIA (from): K. J. Hughes (captain), G. M. Wood, J. H. Dyson, T. M. Chappell, M. F. Kent, G. N. Yallop, A. R. Border, R. W. Marsh, R. J. Bright, D. K. Lillee, R. M. Hogg, T. M. Alderman, Umpires: H. D. Bird and D. Oslear.

Sussex inspired by Imran

By Alan Ross
GUILDFORD: Surrey, with all first innines wickets in hand, are 263 runs behind Sussex.
Sussex, withing a good toss in what is a fairly crucial match for both counties, batted agreeably down the line for most of the day to make 302. On a dusty-looking pitch that was taking spin by early afternoon, it could be a good enough score.

enough score. Jackman and Thomas moved the ball about on a humid morning, but once the sun had broken through builthab and Pocock did through lunishab and Pocock did the bulk of the work. Surrey's chances in the run-in to the championship look like, being budly handleapped by the absence of Clarke, whose premature return at Lord's last week after his leg operation may cost Surrey dear. Without him they are going to have to rely increasingly on their spinners.

Surrey only play one match a season these days at Guildford, which seems a pity. One of the season these days at Guildford, which seems a pity. One of the largest crowds ever seen there sat under trees along the river bank with the university buildings straggling up the hill behind them. Imran's 90 was the best innings of the day, ended by a wild stroke after tea which finished in the hands of Lynch under the trees at mid-wicket. Sussex earlier lost four wickets for 111, but Greig and Imran, with some powerful and good-looking driving, added 85. Mendis had gone first to anest catch at slip by Roome and Barclay, at 53, was bowled by the left-handed Thomas.

Farker was going well enough when he was sumped on the leg side off Pocock, setting off for a run, it seemed, under the illusion that the ball had gone through. Greig was caught mistiming a pull, but by then Suasex were racing along under a hot sun. They lost three wickets for seven going for runs in the early evening, but Phillipson and Arnold, with an assorment of interprint and empirical extended. Arnold, with an assortment of interesting and surprising strokes, put on 42. Surrey dropped a couch or two, a stimping was missed, and one way or another, unless the pinth goes to sleep, they may be struggling today.

Susaex: First Innings

GD Mandis, c. Rope, b. Jackszm. 14

I.R. T. Bartlay, b. Thomas. 14

I.D. Booth-Jones, c. Richards, b. Jackman

P. W. G. Parker, et Richards, b. P. G. Parker, et Richards, b. P. G. Parker, et Richards, b. 14

A. Gregg a Runcher, b. Thomas. 22

Pocack
I A Greig c Buicher, b Thomas
Imrus Khan, c Lynch, b Pocack
I J Gooid, b Thomas
G S Le Roux, c Lynch, b hombab
C P Philipson, at Richards, b

SURREY: First lange

Umpires: R Julian and D Shepherd

This was the first county game played in Rinckley for 17 years; Leicestershire, in fact, have not taken a championship match outside Grace Road since 1956 in Coulville. The Hinckley Town club these days share an expensive and pleasant sports field complex with the local football and rugby clubs. If the adjacent village of Barwell is included loosely as being in the Hinckley district, first-class cricket has now been played on four separate grounds in the area since 1911, something which not many towns of equivalent size can claim. On a day when there was sufficient strength in the sun for many people to watch chirtless, there cient strength in the sun for many people to watch shirtless, there were around 2,000 spectators at the start and half as many again in early evening when the Royal Wedding was finished on tele-Wedding was himshed of course, made it hard to gauge but this was roughly four times the number which Grace Road might have attracted. Like several other county clubs in recent years, Leicestershire may have discovered that the occasional game "in the coming" draws a larger crowd than their headquarters ground.

is far from

By Richard Streeton RINCKLEY: Leicestershire have scored 350 for four wickets against Notinghamshire, the leaders in the championship, sponsored by Schweppes, found an innocuous pitch too good for their bowlers yesterday. Balderstone and Steele shared a first-wicket stand of 206 for Leicestershire, the bottom-placed team in the table, though they stored too slowly for their, side to get full batting points. By the end Davison was in sight of becoming his team's third century-dormant

that the occasional game "in the country" draws a larger crowd than their headquarters ground.

The pitch was slow and lacked bounce and, according to local opinion, it will stay that way. It was, in the familiar phrase, a good toss to win. By lunch Leicestershire were 101 from 46 overs with the over-rate commendable but with suspicions already lurking about the run rate. Rice and Hadlee found their fangs drawn by the wicket and Bore, in his slower style, and Hemmings did most of the bowling. Cooper was industrious and early in the afternoon actually got one ball to rise and hit Balderstone on the structure.

Steele gave a chance to Birch in the gulley when 59 and the total 144 but otherwise took runs without errors on both sides of the wicket. Steele, hitting out, was bowled in the 82nd over.

Balderstone scored 60 and Steele 36 in the morning and it was Steele afterwards who pressed observed more agreesticals.

Was Stelle afterwards who pressed onwards more aggressively Laicestershire: First Innings I C Baiderstons, conserved better 100 I F Steels b Bore Decter, b Etce 100 I F Steels b Bore 200 I F Steels b Bore 200 I F Steels b Bore 200 I B Devison, not out E Effect. 6 Weightman, b 12 Effects, not out 2 Extract (n-b S. I-b 7) 14

Umpires: D G M Error Herrish.

NOTTINGNAMSNIRE: P A Todd, N I Wightman, D W Randall, *CE R Rice, I D Sirch, R E Dexter, R J Hadlee, *E N French, E E Herrorings, K E Cooper and M & Bore.

Total (91.1 evers) .. .. 288

G W J Athey, J D Love, *8 N Harrier, *D L Bairstow, P Carrier, G B Stevenson, J P Whiteley, M Johnson and S Stuchbury to bat.

Bonus points: (to date) Yorkshire 4. Warwickshire 3. Umpires: G T Sponcer and P J Eele.

Somerset v Glamorgan

chards C Loyd, b Richards
Holmes, c Lloyd, b Richards
Lloyd, b-w. b Richards
Moseley, b Bridge
A Nash, c Poppiswell, b

N S Hobbe, not put ... Extres (b 10, 1-b 9, n-b 7) ...

Yorkshire v Warwick

Rugby Union

Moolman and his pack earn Springboks win

Taranaki 9 ... South Africans-34. when he left the field-in the 34th Mominant first half display paved the way for a South African victory today by three goals, a try, three penalty goals and a dropped goal against a goal and a penalty. Several of the Springboks' leading players were making their first appearance of the tour and, after the uncertainty about whether the match would go ahead following the strife at Hamilton on Saturday, they clearly enjoyed playing before a crowd estimated at 28,000. and, after the intertainty about whether the match would go ahead following the strife at Hamilton on Saturday, they clearly enjoyed playing before a crowd estimated at 28,000.

The Springboks led 21—0 at half-time but heavy conditions, the territory led of match period.

the tourists' lack of match prac-tice, and a spirited comeback by Taranaki made the second half much more competitive. When their forwards become match-bardened, the Springboks will have an impressive first-choice ream, but considering the amount of possession they gained today, the winning margin should have been winning margin should have been greater.

It was something of an indictment on the play of the Springbok backs that the right wing, Mordt and centre, Gerber, scored only two of the four Springbok tries—the other two going to the lock, Moolman, who, with Stofberg and Burger, was outstanding. Inevitably, the Northern Transvaal stand-off, Botha, boosted the score with three penalties, three conversions and a drop goal. Cockrell's throwing in contributed much to his side's lineout strength.

Mordt had an unfortunate beginning to his New Zealand tour

TARANAKI: K Crowley: M Watt, K James, B Robins, P Wharchats: J Cameron, D Loveridge: R Elmes, J Stainer, E Teeming, I Ellason, C Cooper, R Fraser, D Westign, M Cares Contain. AFRICANS: G Pienar: R
GOUTH AFRICANS: G Pienar: R
Mord: D Gerber. W du Piens. G
Germishuys: N Boths. D Seriontent;
F van de Merwe, R Cochrell. O Oosthuizen, L Moolman. B Geldenhuys.
T Stofberg, T Burger, W Claassen (captain).

caus; the timing of his passes and his decision to cut back infield on more than one occasion meent

Tranald's only try came in the '77th minute when the Ali Blacks scrom half, Loveridge, gave the pass for the former international wing, Watts, to score. Crowley converted and kicked a penalty.

tries went begging.

Eight past or present inter-nationals have been included in the Manawatu XV to play the tourists on Saturday at Palmerston North, Manawatu were last year's national Manawaru were 125 year. K Grand champions.

Table: A lunge: J Bryon. K Grand granderon. A Tatana: D Rotlerson. M Donaldson (captain): G Knight. B Kenara K Maharey. E Fleming. F Oliver, M Shaw, G Old, M Rosenbrook.

Athletics

Ovett out by fifth of second in world record attempt

Steve Oveit narrowly failed to break his won world record for the 1,500 metres in Bucharest last night. He won his race in 3min 31.57sec, just over one-fifth of a second outside the record of 3min 31.35sec. John Walker, of New Zealand, finished second.

Oveit, aged 26, from Brighton, also holds the world record for the mile at 3min 48.8sec, set last year in Oslo. In his relemtless rivalry with Sebastian Coe, he could be said to be dead level; both men hold two world records, monopolizing middle-distance running between them. Coe has the 800 metres at 1min 41.7sec (set in Florence early in June), and the 1,000 metres at 2min 12.2sec (set in Oslo a month later).

Both men brought back gold medals from the Moscow Olympics: Coe in the 1,500 metres and a silver in the 800 and Ovett a gold in the 600 and a bronze in the 1,500.

On the European circuit this season, both have gona after on the European circult this season, both have gone after records, Coe being the more successful, but both men knowing the records, toe being the pure successful, but both men knowing the galling failure (albeit relative) of being a mere hundredth of a second away from the target.

The use of "hares" to pace races has led to disquiet at the contrivance of records and can end in farce, as was seen in Oslo towards the end of June when the pacemaker, Byers, of the United States, wou, in that race the runners claimed they were misled by inaccurate lap times shouted out, whatever the reason, the gap left at the end was too great even for Oven's lengthened stride.

The controversy has moved the International Amateur Athletics Federation (IAAF) to censure the use of "hares" and to write to national associations reminding that the test of the proposition of the properties of the propert them that the mechanics of grey-hound racing are not acceptable in their sport.

Ovett : the lengthening stride.

DIVIDENDS FOR MATCHES PLAYED subject to rescrutiny.

23 PTS (Max.) .. £247,794-00 221PTS .....£24,779-40 22 PTS .....£5,309-85 211 PTS ..... £411-30 21 PTS ..... £105-90 201 PTS .....£29-65. To the Change dividends to make at 12p.

4 DRAWS..... £65-35 12 HOMES ...... £332-20 6 AWAYS ..... £4-95 Above dividends to enits of 10g

TO CONTACT YOUR LOCAL COLLECTOR-ASK YOUR FRIENDS OR NEIGHBOURS

VERNONS POOLS LIVERPOOL THIS WEEK MR. TWICE LUCKY ROY WOODHOUSE OF ROTHERHAM WINS. With a full cover perm. 4 DRAWS ..... £38.75

INDTHING BARRED)

(NOTHING BARRED)

10 HOMES ..... £27.90

8 AWAYS ..... £7.85

8 GOES A PENNY TREBLE | CHANCE-5 DIVIDENDS 23pts (Max) .. £240,520.00 221pts ..... £2,490.85 22pts ...... £680.45 21pts ..... Σ17.85

Above Dividends to Units of 100. Treble Chance Dividends to Units of Ip. Expenses and Commission for 11th July, 1981—29.5%.

ASK YOUR LOCAL COLLECTOR FOR VERNONS EXCLUSIVE COUPONS WITH THE INSTANT COPY

ZEITIERS POOLS LONDON ECIVALET ALL 'NEXT BEST' TOPS RECEIVE LOWER STAKES MAKE TOP WINNING EASIER THE ONLY 25-a-1p THE WORLD'S EASIEST CRICKET POOL

TREBLE CHANCE HO ZI POINT WHINENS

221 Pts .. £18,140.30 for

22 Pts ... £644.45 22 Pts ... £644.45 1212 Pts ... £29.50 21 Pts ... £6.25 25p
FOR 5p FOR 10p

23 Pts . . . £571.55 ) 23 Pts .... £124.25 221 Pts ... £99.40 25p 3-Pts: 9-10-23-24-36-43-46 4 SUPER . £232,45 . £464.90 2 Pts: 3.17-20-26-29-33-34

AWAYS Paid on 3 x 3 & 1 x 2 goal # DRAWS . £98.60 - £177.20 111/ Jule 1931-05.7% Expenses and Commission for TELL YOUR FRIEND ABOUT YOUR LOCAL COLLECTORII
TELL YOUR LOCAL COLLECTOR ABOUT YOUR FRIEND..
OR GET YOUR COUPON DISECT FROM ZETTERS LONDON E.C.1

luck about them. However, it, was Hughes who was to become the bowler who took the heart out of the brittle Laucashire batting. He removed Keunedy, caught on the boundary edge, and his namesake, swishing outside the off stump, and Laucashire had created another batting. unies to bell. FALL OF WICKETS: 2—2 FALL OF Gits : Lencashire Alidicaer A. Alidicaer A. Lordbetter and B 'J

Gloucestershire shattered Derbyshire lead the procession attack as Warwickshire's first innof memorable feats to celebrate a ings stumbled to 111 for five. But famous day, by shartering Clour, succession ends with Farreirs

A Broad a Mahar. 5 Tunniculus

Satisf Maharman a Maha shattering Gloucesterablica at Derby yesterday. Colin Tunnicilifica took five for 40 and Paul Newman grabbed four for 11 as Gloucestershire crashed. for 11 as concenterance crashed from 64 for no wicket to 91 all out. New wicketkeeper, Remard Maher, took five catches as Bob Taylor's understudy.

majesty and surging power of an express train.

He hit $3 out of 68 in 14 overs: 92 out of 116 in 25 overs and with 37 minutes to go before lunch 101 with his 17th boundary out of 132 (Scott 25) in 98 minutes. When Scott, his partner, was out at 198 Turner bad made 147 in 46 overs.

This pitch might not last. If it does deteriorate then Turner's and Neal's indings will have given Worcestershire ample cover. With these two in irresistable form Northamptonshire were condemned to a wearisome day chasing leather across a field that might have been manufactured in the glass factory down the road.

WORCESTERSHIRE, First Innines It had all began so brightly for the home county, Andy Stovold racing to a whirlwind 50 before becoming Tunnicliffe's' first becoming Tunnicliffe's' first victim. The Derbyshire openers, Wood and Wright, kept up the tempo, which Skele and Miller carried on, as Derbyshire reached 248 for four wickets, a lead of 157 runs. A superb 200 not out by Javed Miandau sparked a Glamorgan Miandau sparked a Glamorgan recovery against Somerset at Taumon. They reached 336 for nine declared, then had Somerset in trouble at 23 for two-in trouble at 23 for two.

Garner and his fellow West Indian, Richards, who took three for none in seven balls in a remarkable spell of swing bowling, reduced Glamorgan to 105 for six. But Miandad reached 100 in 172 miantes, and went on to 200 in 291 minutes with a six and 29 fours, his highest score in England. Richards achieved career-best figures of four for 55.

The Warwickshire batsman, Phil The Warwickshire batsman, Phil Oliver, made a heroic return to senior cricket following a knee operation with the day's dustanding performance against Yorkshire at Scarborough. The home side were 71 without loss at the close in reply to the visitors' 288, of which Oliver made a career-best 122 (21 fours) in his first innings of the season.

successive stands with Ferreira (35) and Small of 63 and 86 for the sixth and seventh wickets enabled Oliver to stage his rescue act and reach his maiden first-class century. In all Oliver batted for 200 minutes and raced to his second 50 in only 35 minutes.

crisis for themselves at 81 for three.

Clive Lloyd and O'Shaughnessy steadled the ship until lunchtime, when the acore was 111 for five, though O'Shaughnessy should have been caught at allly mid off by Edmonds off the slow left-arm bowling of the Irishman, Monteith. In the afternoon the sun blazed, the hear tents are out of placese.

In the afternoon the sun blazed, the beer tents ran out of glasses, and Lancashire wickets tumbled as Hughes continued his successful spell, with his length and line much improved. Licyd, playing an unusually careful captain's innings, reached one of the slowest 50s of his career with a gentle late cutoff Edmonds.

LANCASHIRE: First limitude S. Lancashires: Lancashires: S. Lancashires: S. Lancashires: Cond. Salvey S. L

O'Shanganess, Lemm, Edmands.
P Hughes C Radley b Bughes C H Lloyd, b Daniel.
Abrahams, c Rownton, b Hughes W Raidy, c Downton, b Hughes Summons. Edmands. b Hughes V Radmard, C Selvys b Monleith J W Allott, b Hughes C J Scott, and on Extras (1-b S, 3-b 17)

167 S-205, 0-244, 10-244, BOWLING: Daniel, 18,3-56-56, Briwer, 12-3-37-1; Maghen, 27-78-5; Edmonde, 18-8-24 Monteth 11-3-50, MIDDLESSX: First Indiago W N Slack, c Fowler, a Alfort G D Barlow, nat out C T Redge, nat out C T Redge, nat out C T Redge, nat out Extras (2-5-2, 1-5 3)

Total (I wit. IS avers) ... SI C Cook. K P Temins. ... P H Edmonds, †P R Downlos, D Moutetin, M W Selvey. W W Daniel and S P Runhes to bat.

Tou! (88.3 evers) ... 244
ALL OF WICKETS: 1-59, 2-73, 80, 4-120, 5-144, 6-152, 7-8-205, 9-244, 10-244,

With six regulars either injured or absent on Test dury, Yorkshire owed much to their left-arm seam bowier, Johnson, who took a career-best four for 43.

A splendid century by the South African, Ken McEwan, was the highlight of the Essex total of 310 against Kent at Canterbury. McEwan (102) reached his century in 207 minutes and hit 15 fours. Essex, who wan the toss, started well with an opening stand of 78 off 22 overs between Hardie (71) and Lilley (32).

Hardie reached his 50 out of 85 in 85 minutes (eight fours). Then Turner (51) reached a balfcentury in 105 minutes (four fours. Underwood had his season's best return of seven for 93 in 42.2 overs, despite the efforts of McEwan and company.

McEwan and company.

Richard Hayward, aged 27, a left-handed batsman, stored a malden first-class century on his malden first-class century on his maiden hist-class century on this first appearance for Hampshire in their total of 330 of five against the Sri Lankans at Bournemouth. Hayward, mixing strong drives with powerful pulls, reached 101 with three deliveries to go before he close.

Ris runs came in 198 minutes, he hir 16 boundaries, and became only the third player to score a century on his debut for the county. Greenidge, captaining the 122 (21 fours) in his first innings of the season.
Only Amiss (32) provided much and cowley put early resistance to the Yorkshire on 116 for the fourth wicket.

Derbyshire v Gloucester GLOUCESTERSHIRE: First Innings

Bainbridge, comments of the Comments of Wilkins, C. Miller, b Tunnichire thaner, b Novania of the childs, a Mahier, b Tunnichte Siaridge, not out a 2, 2-2)

Total (31.1 evers) 91
FALL OF WICKETS: 1-64, 2-69, 3-71, 4-85, 5-84, 5-84, 7-85, 8-89, 9-89, 10-91
BOWLING: Ottham, 9-3-20-1; Tunnkiffe, 11-12-40-5; Wood, 4-1-13-0; Newman, 7-5-11-8

DERBYSHING: First, lumings
8 Wood, labow, b Bainbridge 52
6 Wright b Survidge 52
7 Kirston, labow b Wildens 58
8 Stools, soo oak 58
Miller, run oat 52
Mills soo out 52
Mills soo out 53
Extras to 5, lab 1, w 7, p-5 41
33 Total (4 wkts, 73 overs) .. 248 Anderson, +B J N Farel, C J a bat.

FALL OF WICKETS: 1—92, 2—106,

—116, 4—226.

Bonus polati (to date): Derbyshire

Gloccaticstatire 0.

Limpires: J Van Getovest and A

pagara.

Hampshire v Sri Lanka AT BOURNEMOUTH HAMPSHIRE: PLSE Innings

HAMPSMIRE Piret Innings

C G Greenidgen, e Gunatieke, b Ganashinghe

E L Smith, e Gunatieke, b Ramashinghe

J N Rice, fun out

N G Cowley, e Gunatieke, b Wijesuriys

R E Sayward, not out

V P Terry, rus out

101

V P Terry, rus out

102

C C Curson, not out

Extres (-b & 1, b-b 11)

Total (5 wits)

330 J W Southern, M J Balley, K Steven-m and S J Majone to bal.

FALL OF WICKETS: 1-10, 2-120, Umpires: R Paker and P S G SIEVENS.

SRI LANKANS: S. Wethmung. N. D. P.
Betharaichy. R. S. Madugalle. R. L. Dise.

- L. R. D. Mendrs. T. Goonasekers. A.
Ranashingher. D. S. De. Sitva. 1 H. M.
Gunatileke. R. J. Wijesutiya. and P. L. J.
Fernando.

W Ulley, b Underwood K W R Fintcher, c Cow Underwood

Kent v Essex

wood

K R Pont, c Sapista, b Johnson

K P Pont, c Sapista, b Johnson

France, st Knott, b Johnson

F E East, c Cowwirey, b Underwood

J K Lover, b-b-w, b Underwood

J E East, not out

D L Achaid, c Cowdrey, b Underwood

bond Extras (b 5, 1-b 4, w 1) . 10

Total (5 evers)
G J Tavare, C W Cowdrey "Ash Intel, A PE Knott, G W Johnson, J W Sheeherd, E Baptiste, D L Underwood and K S Sarvis to bet. Ren's Section (10 date) Beech S. Stringers; W B Avenue (10 date) Beech S.

Today's cricket

BIRMINGHAM: England v Australia
111.30 to 6.300.
COUNTY CHAMPSONSHIP
DERBY: Derbyshire v Goustershire.
CANTERSIRY: Kant v Essex.
SUUTHYORT: Lancashire v Middlesex.
HUNCKLEY: Lakestershire v Motting-bannshire.
TALLEGO 7.01.
CUILDFORD: Surrey v Sammot.
ETUURBRIDGE: Workshire v Morthamptonshire (11.30 to 7.0).
CCARBOROUGH: Yorkshire v Warwickshire. SCARBORDOMAN SAITS SAITS AND SAITS S

ORTHAMPTON: Northamptonelire II TARCHENTE II.
CENTRAL AVENUE, WORKSOP: Notinghamshire H v Dorbyshire II.
WORCESTER: Worcestershire II v Gianorean II.

BRADFDRD: Yorkshirs II v Surey II.

MINOR COUNTIES

BOWDON: Cheshirs v Northumberishd.

COURAGE CC. READINO: Berkshire v LAKENHAM: Norfolk V Lincolnshire. KEYNSHAM: Somerset II v Willishire For the record

SERRAMOZZONI (Naly): European Imiter champlonships, second round: M Wilander (Sweden) best L Cancellott Haly: 6—6, 6—4; J Nystrom (Sweden) best S Virtones (Finland). 6—1, 6—0.

Saw Diego (Celliornie): Open tournament: first round: T Austin beat S Jacque, 6-0, 6-0; K Jordan beat T Holladay, 6-2, 7-5; B Bunge (WG) beat A Klyomura, 6-1, 6-4; K Lathern beat L Allen, 6-2, 6-4; Y Vormack (SA) beat W While, 6-4, 6-4; P Louie beat F Vacques (Pera), 3-6, 2-5, 6-0. Badminton

SANTA CLARA: Warld Games for non-Olympic sports. Gold winners: Men's samples: Chen Chengle (China; beat F Hansen (Denmart), 9-15.
15-7. 15-12. Women's singles: Chans Ailing (China) beat Stundae Kiwang 18 Korrat, 7-11. 11-4, 13-4, signifer Gobbes: San Zhisa and Yan Moning (China) beat T Kihistrom and S Karisson (Sweden). 12-15.
15-4, 18-6. Bronze medal: W Cilliand and D Travara (GB), Women's doubles: Chang Alling and Liu Xia (China) beat N Berry and 1 Webster (GB). 17-15. 15-2. Alived (GB) (GB). Elivaria (GB) and (GB) (GB).

Football

Total 12 wkts, S overst .. 23

Athletics

ATMEHAS
TIO METRES HURDLES: 1. T
Campbel (USt. 13.08ec: 2. I Julius Coechoslovakia: 13.68: 5. G Bakos (Himsely), 13.97.
TRIPLE JUMP: 1. M Mariow (US).
16.73 and Holling (US).
16.75 J. Judmas (USSR). 16.55.
DISCUS: 1. W Schndd: (EG.
67.44 metres: 2. I Bugar (Crechoslovakia).
66.36: 3. J Powall (US).
10.078ec: 2. S Floyd (US).
10.078ec: 2. T Darden (US).
13maica). 45.51seca: 2. W McCloy (US).
45.66: 3. T Darden (US).
45.66: 3. T Darden (US).

Kent will not renew the contract of their all-rounder. John Shepherd, at the end of the season. Shepherd, aged 37, who first appared for Kent in 1966 and played five Tests for the West Indies, has scored nearly 11,000 runs and taken over 950 wickets in his first-class career.

WORCESTER: Glamorgan 350 for 5 dec 1/1 L Jones 160:, Worcestershire 160: 3.

Two great teams merged to form British eight

By Jim Railton

After a week of trials at Thorpe, Penny Chuter, the national coach, has nominated the British men's has nominated the British men's heavyweight eight for the world antipionships in Munich from September 2-6. It is a union between the national squad eight and Oxford University-Thames Tradesmen, who won the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley.

The new eight is strengthened by the inclusion of three Oxford Boat Race parsmen, Andrews, by the inclusion of three Oxford Boat Race oarsmen, Andrews, Riand and Mahoney, and Justice, of Thames Tradesmen. Both Jus-tice and Mahoney are Olympic silver medal winners. The new eight also has Colin Moynihan, a hero in Moscow, back in the coxswain's seat. Moynihan had the presence of mind when the rudder line snapped in the citympic final to steer with his hands behind his back manipulation. ing the rudder mechanism. He is a lively and extrovert character and his coxing experience at inter-national level is a particular asset. In merging two great eights, surprises are inevitable. I find it difficult to imagine the tall, cangling Andrews selected for the place in the engine room.

Bland, who has stroked magnificentive this year and to the point of collapse in the Grand, has established a reputation as a stroke rather than an engine-room cars-man. He is selected for the four seat, while a solid boat mover with the experience of Mahoney is back

With Mahoney promoted to the four seat, Miss Chuter would have had the stern five of the Olympic silver eight, which would normally be considered as a marvellous launching platform for a new eight. But with a month to go before Munich, further experi-ments in the order could be on

Another surprise is the omission of Charlie Wiggin, Olympic bronze medal winner in coxless pairs, who looked even fitter and better this

No doubt, however, Miss Chuter has seen new potential. She and the selectors must be congramlated on the brave but necessary experi-ment in the unique situation in which Britain have found themselves this season: three eights each capable of making the world championship final. It takes nerve to break up a national eight who had beaten the East Germans this Season

CREAT BRITAIN EIGHT: M D
Andrews (Oxford University) bow. C J
Walboney (Oxford University) C Seymour (Thames Tradesmen). J L Bland (Oxford University) A Justice (Thames
(Tradesmen). J Princhard (Lander), M
Tradesmen). J Princhard (Lande

Cycling

Yates will not defend title

By John Wilcockson Sean Yates, aged 21, the reign-ing national amateur pursuit champion, who represented Britain at the Moscow Olympics, will not defend his title at the national track championshion, preliminary heats for which start on Friday evening at Leicester.

Yates, who has been competing for the Paris-based club ACBB this season, is returning to this country next week, but only to ride in the Benedictine Grand Prix, a 116-mile road race, at Market Harborough on August 3. This is the final selection race before the announcement of Britain's team for the world championship road race, in Prague on August 30. A good performance from could gain him selection in the six-man road team, along with his ACBB colleague, John Herety, AUBE colleague, John Herery,

Yates, of Forest Row, Sussex,

Also competing in the Benedictine GP and hoping for a place in the world championship team are Bob Downs, winner last Sunday of the Tour of the Cotswolds; Joe Waugh, who rode well in the same event, finishing fourth after a trash; Mark Bell, winner of the second staze of last week's Show jumping

Britain leave out their man of the moment

Britain's show jumpers this weekend seek a fifth successive victory in the Prince of Wales Trophy team competition, which provides the finale to Eickstead's four-day Nations Cup meeting, starting at the All England course in Sussex today.

The British team take on seven other nations in the biggest line-up since the event was first staged on the ground. A victory for Britain would not only improve the one-point advantage they have the one-point advantage they have over West Germany in the President's Cup world team champloaship after eight events, but give them a lift in their attempt to retain the European title in Munich in September.

Britain's five-strong team—David Broome, Liz Edgar, Harvey Smith, John Whitaker and Malcolm Pyrah.

John Whitaker and Malcolm Pyran-look so powerful ou paper that there is no place for Nick Skelton, who last week picked up more than £12,000 with five victories in the Royal International Horse Show at Wembley. Skelton, aged 23, who is on the European team shordist along with the five riders nominated for the Rickstead event, will be challeng-ing for the show's top prize money on the first three days. As compensation for his nen-inclusion this weekend, he will be in the team for next week's Dublin inter-

Tennis

WORTH CONWAY (New Hampshire)
FURE round: B Fritz (Frence: beat b Horewar (Brazil), 6—5, 7—5: I Lend (Czetosipozelia, beat M Bauer, 7—5 6—4: P McNamara (Australia) beat (
Tanner beet M Ostola (Yugoslavia)
6—2, 4—6, 6—2: H Selomon beat Praioux (Chile), 6—3, 6—0:
Tchscher beat G Lewis (NZ), 7—6, 6—1: M Purcell beat A Kanibero, 6—4 6—2: E Dibbs beat C Strook
6—3: J Lapidus beat E W
Dulen, 7—6, 3—6, 6—4.

Moseley ...
D Breakwell, not out
C H Dredge, not out
Extrac (w 4, n-b 4)

Swimming mediey: 1. A Baumann (Canada), 2min 2.78sec (world record).

ADD METRES: 1. 9 Cameron (USmalos). 45.55:seca; 2. W McClay (US). 45.66: 3. T Darden (US). 45.66. 400 METRES: 2. I Zaprionova Bulsaria; 52.41secs; 2. J McCrepor (CB). 52.60; 3, G Biaszak (Poland). 52.61.

Dash and durability should carry Piggott to a Goodwood double

Racing Correspondent

Henry Cecil has achieved a lot in his comparatively short period as a trainer. He has trained the winner of the Goodwood Cup three times and today visitors to that beautiful racecourse at Goodwood, set deep in the heart of West Sussex, should see him welcome another hero into the vinners' enclosure in the handsome and athletic form of Ardross who was runner-up to Le Moss in the same race 12 months ago.

Poor Ardross had the misfortune to be beaten by Le Moss not only at Goodwood but also at Ascot and at Doncaster. But in defeat he still managed to earn the admiration of Cecil so much so that he was determined to buy him during the winter as a replacement for Le Moss when that horse retired to stud.

With the help of one of his lacement for Le Moss when that orse retired to stud. With the help of one of his one-standing owners, Charles Steorge, a syndicate was eventually formed and the deal completed. Ardross left Kevin Prenercast's stable on the outsidits of the Curragh, crossed the Irish ea and joined Warren Place in me for the start of this season. Ardross's reappearance was Ardross's reappearance was elayed until mid-May at York here he won the Yorkshire Cun asily. He then progressed to oyal Ascot where he duly won the Gold Cup in what Race form escribed as a control While share. escribed as a canter. While there every reason to believe that days covered trophy is at the tercy of this fine stayer, it is dill nice to be able to report at Ardross has not frightened run for the place money and perhaps the glory. Mon's Besn and Donegal Prince have both won marathous ar Royal Ascot—Mon's Bean the Ascot Stakes last year, Donegal Prince, the Queen Alexandra Stakes this season. Popal's Ioy has won a Cesarewitch and Set 10th proved no problem to Donble Florin when he won a handicap at Ascot in June.

The only other runner, Halsbury is the only three-year-old in the field and how nice it is to see one of that age group taking pot luck. Tener-hooks, Dickers, Gaulois and Proverb are the only intre-year-olds to have won this race since the war and Halsbury does not appear to measure up to the required standard, especially with Ardross in the line-up.

Provided that Ardross does not offer the required standard, especially with Ardross in the line-up. ally with Ardross in the line-up.
Provided that Ardross does not disappoint he could easily be the first of two winners for Lester Piggott who will be on Standaan in the King George Stakes. The five-furiong course at Goodwood, which is down hill for the first half looks tailor-made to suit the speedy grey, who won the Palace House Stakes at Newmarket earlier in the season. on the season.

On the fourth and last day of Royal Ascot, Standaan was runnerup to Marwell in the King's Stand. Stakes, All in all, those two performances were a far cry from the day that he managed to win the Stewards Cup here at Goodwood two years ago with only 7st 10th on his back and they encourage me to think that he should be up to beating King of Spain and Welshwyn.

Wolverhampton off

Monday's race meeting at Wolverhampton has been cancelled because a culvert under, the course is damaged and in urgent used of repair. John Ford, the clerk of the course, said research; The culvert will be repaired immediately, but our repaired immediately, but our ill nice to be able to report will. Ardross has not frightened lithe opposition away.

A few are clearly prepared to be equalled by Steve Cauthen, that

King's Lake drowns the cheers of To-Agori-Mou's supporters grasp of To-Agori-bios at Good-wood yesterday.

The score between these two outstanding rulers is two in favour of yesterday's winner and one for To-Agori-biot. The third needle march between the two rivals gave Vincent O'Brien his fourth triumph in the centroplace of Goodwood's number festival.

As always, the race provided a tirilling climar. That much improved four-year-old, Beimont Bay, made the early running, Halfway up the straight the leader was tackled by Las Fandango, To-Agori-book and Dalean. Noalto was on the far rails. found it no easy matter to find a way between Belmout Bay and To-Agori-Mou. It says much for King's Lake's courage that he battled on so strongly. The margin between the two principals at the line was a head with the fast finishing Noalto only a neck away in third place. Noalto was slightly flamend by this result as Frank Dur's coit had been left behind when the pace quickened two furlongs from home, but it was still a fine per-

The Denville race is definitely on the spends of To Acori-Mod, for whom Guy Enwood had no structure to offer. The 2,000 Guhans winner ran a stighty race and there will never be much between him and fing's Lake.

The acoust was siss on speed in the other pestern race, the Richmond Sarker. Superbly ridden by Fullip Waldron, Tender King, quickened magnificently to best Calem by a neck. The beavily backed twourite, there, had every chance but dropped out of content on two furlangs from home. However, there had also been considerable confidence behind the winner.

considerable confidence behind the winner.

The light of battle was in John Sunchiffe's eyes afterwards when he said: "With the possible exception of Right Tack, this is the best two-year-old I have ever had in my care. He may race will be in either the Prix Robert Papin or in the Cincract Stakes."

Suntiffe considers himself in fortunate to have bought Tender T. King for only 8,200 guiness at the Newmarket December Sales. "I tried to buy a Habitat colt who

Goodwood programme

Television (BBC 2): 2,30, 3.5, 3.40 and 4.15 races 2.0 SELSEY STAKES (Maiden 2-y-0 c & g : £4.591 : 6f)

3.5 WILLIAM HILL SOUTHERN HANDICAP (3-y-o: £7,470:

Full results from Goodwood

Sample of the Sky in Sk

(3.33) RICHMOND STAKES

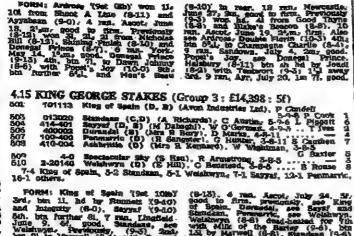

8 ran TOTE: Win, 21p: places, 12p, 16p, Dual F: 12p, CRF: 52p, 1 Hindley at Newmarket, 11, 3), 1min 28.79anc.

Green II: 29-0. £21.009 5t1

TMBER KING. 5 . by Princes
Tynderfort — Cider Princes LESSI — Commodules — Lid.,
R-11 — Waldron (11-4)

Calum, th c, by Red Resent—
Ermyn Lass ( ) Stone: R-11

L Piggott (3-1) 2

4.45 DRAYTON HANDICAP (£3,895 : 1m) 516

Music—Sarsh Van Fleet (Mrs. A Mulnos). 7-8-10

Nosite. Ch. C. by NonostroLyrical Shelki MonostroLyrical Shelki MonostroMattaboy. 20-1. Last Branch Shelli Shelki Tolli Shelki Nonitali Shelki Shelki

u, b c, by Steel Reart—Light Link (R Tikkoo), 9-7 G Starkey (4-1) 3 ALSO RAN: 9-2 Arch Melody, 5-1 Burnet Helr (4th), 12-1 Quay Boy. 9 Rin. TOTE: Win. 21p: places, 15p. 25p. Dual F: £1.27. CSF: £1.46. P Haslam. at Newmarket. 2-1, 2, 58.6488C. Adonis Rez. of C. by One For All—Scottist Lass (C B George). 9-0
L Piggott (5-2 Av) S
ALSO RAN: 8-1 Affiliation Order,
Tideorth Tattoe, 14-1 Angelus Chimes,
Dancing Sovereign. 16-1 Kaie Astro.
Tender Venture, Turston Prince (4th). TOTE DOUBLE: King's Labs and Papuretto. E43.65. TRLEHE: Tender King. Castellass and Pendi Polist. E20. JACKPOT: £868.20. PLACEPOT: £5.55.

Doncaster programme

3.45 SHEFFIELD HANDICAP (£2,481 : 5f 140yd)

Redcar TOTE: win. 566: places. 25n. 18n.

Jones. 4t Cowestry. Sh. hd. 2l. 1l.
Frankryman. 7-2 fav. poper Lai 19-11

4th. 25 rab.

A. 287 rab.

CAP 13-70.

CA

Sport in brief

Goodwood selections By Our Racing Correspondent 2.0 Torrey, 2.30 My Dad Tom, 3.5 Grain Race, 3.40 Ardross, 4.15 Standaan, 4.45 FANDANGO TIME is specially recommended 5.15 (5.16) BRIDAL STAKES (3-y-e maideds; £1,155; about 1m 6f)

4.15 WAKEFIELD STAKES (Maidens: £1.035: 1m)

4.45 DORTMUND HANDICAP (3-y-o fillies: £2,141: 7f)

Eboracum.

5.15 (5.47) NICHOROVE STAKES
(2-7-9 maiden pilles; E1.170; Si )

QUIEM OF THE BLIES, b ; by Steel Heart—Social Smarth (Boldvale Lid) B-11 M Birch (16-1) 7

Favoured Lady N Common (9-1) 2

Seamab ...... P Cook (5-1) 3

TOTE: Win. £1:98; places, 5.5, 2.10.
229. Dua) F: £4.51. CSF: £16.25.

M W Easterby, at Sherel Hutton; 2.4.

Jonoceane (11-2, 44), 12 rsp.

PLACEPOT; £70.60.

6.15; 1. Tropical Blaze (11-2); 2, ontos (11-4 fav); 5, Sahitius (7-2).

Ebor Handicap

Way and fancied players find the going hard

It was business as usual at Burnham and Berrow yesterday, though late in the day before the third round of the English amateur championship was completed and the last 32 was decided.

It was the kind of mixed day when one might easily have written that they were all-unare driv-ing down the Mall. A Union Jack flew above the ample standard of the English Golf Union by the or the English Con Common by the clubhouse, and all the chairs faced the same way in the main lounge, but on the Course the work of elimination continued on a plorious day freshened by the lightest

It was not an easy day for the seeds and Paul Way, the first of them to reach the fourth round. of them to reach the fourth round, won only on the last green. So also did Peter McEvoy, frittering away a five-up lead after 11 holes against Roper, who is from Catterick. Way will most today Mark Thompson, the England boys' captain, who at 17 will be only a year younger than his opponent. Thompson was one of the quartet of English boys who won the European junior team championship in Rome earlier this year. ship in Rome earlier this year. Paul Downes also had a hard match against John Ambridge, the only scratch colfer in Hert-fordshire this year, and one of those amateurs who qualified for after being one hole down earlier on as he had been the previous day, had taken the lead by the little and the standard of golf turn and won the last two holes on both sides continued to improve in spire of lengthy delays.

The was not in the dunes, he was in the rushes, and if not there in the buckthorn. He reduced the gap to two round the little won the last two holes to square the match, but missed the little gap to the square the match, but missed the little gap to the little gap to the square the match, but missed the little gap to the square the match, but missed the little gap to the square the match, but missed the little gap to the square the square the match, but missed the square the match that the square the match the square the square the match the square the square the match the square the squ Ambridge looked likely to done.

square the match when Downes left a long putt eight feet short at the 15th. But Downes boled bravely to retain his lead and at the next hole went two un with four by the next hole went two up with a birdle from 18 feet. Ambridge was two down and looked beaten as his ball trickled over the back of the 17th green, but he holed the chip; whereupon his opponent followed him in with a 15 foot putt for the match. Downes was not putting well at the zeginning of the week but now appears to have found his now appears to have round us touch again on well-neigh perfect greens and this could be significant if the weather stays fair so that power is not called for. But he will not have an easy match this morning against Davenport who reached the last eight a year ago.

Malcolm Lewis departed the scene in much the same ways as Peter Deeble, another seed, had done before him. Although he won the first against Rogers, a Hampshire county player, this was followed by a nightmare sequence in which he lost five consecutive holes.

Two other seeds, Geoffrey Godwin and Roger Chapman were both taken to extra holes before whoming. Few, who had scored four birdies in the last six holes of his match in defeating Keith Hodelsteam was two match the ot his match in defeating Keith Hodgkiuson, was two up with five to play against Chapman, but the Walker Cup player, who has been putting beautifully, squared the match with birdies at the 14th and 16th. At the 19th he holed from seven feet for his par, his young opponent missing from half that distance.

P. Way (Nevil) 1 hole M Rose half that distance.

P Way (Nevill) 1 hole M Rose (Hallowes): M Thompson (Middlessbrough) 1 hole J Morough 1 hole M Torons (Royal Midsurey): M Mayls (Thomdor Park) 2 and 1 G Emergon (Parksione): Ridgeman (Trentham) 3 and 1 G Emergon (Parksione): Ridgeman (Trentham) 3 and 4 P Morough 1 hole Catterior (Workington): A morough 1 hole C Laurence (Warren): L Walker 1 hole C Laurence (Warren): L Walker (Schole) 4 and 3 B Alles (Elikhar editions :

had a two-week trial with Villa. Nottingham Forest's England goalkeeper. Peter Shilton, who asked for a move at the end of last season, will decide his future in two weeks' time when the chub's manager. Brian Clough, returns from holiday. The striker, Trevor Francis, who has been linked in the close season with Manchester United, said: "My contract has a year to run, but nothing surprises me about what happens at Forest." The assistant manager, Peter Taylor, said: "Brian Clough has made it clear that we expect Shilton to complete his contract, which has two years to run. At the moment we are more interested in buying players than selling." Jacklin steps up challenge for

From Mitchell Platts
Hamburg, July 29
Tony Jacklin, who had planned to spend this week on holiday with his family in Soto Grande, Spain, has arrived here to copete in the 142.000 German Open, which starts here tomorrow. Jacklin has changed tils mind in order to increase his prospects of earning a place in the European Ryder Cup team to meet the United States in September.

Jacklin is well aware that with States in September.

Jackin is well sware that with only three points—counting events remaining he needs to put in some solid performances to climb among the top 10, who will automatically gain places. In fact, Jacklin, who won the Jersey Open last mouth to highlight his return to form, would move into the top 10 if he collected the $7,000 first prize on offer this week.

Nick Faldo, who has already

Yachting

Tribunal may decide Blair's worth The Football League champions, Aston Villa, are set to sign Coventry's Scottlab under-21 international midfield player, Andy Blair, but the two clubs are unable to agree on a fee. It is understood that Coventry want £500,000 but Villa value the player at around half that sum. The Villa manager, Ron Saunders, said: "I have spoken to Blair and Coventry. He wants to join us, but for the first time in Aston Villa's history we may have to go to an independent tribunal to agree on a price." Saunders is also pursuing his interest in the Israell international striker, Moshe Sinai, who recently had a two-week trial with Villa. Nottingham Forest's England

By John Nicholls

There were two places for a royalist yachtsman yesterday—watching the wedding on television or the first race of the Admiral's Cup series at Cowes. Of the two, the wedding would have been the better choice. It had more more mentioner burpose and. have been the better choice. It had more movement, purpose and, most important of all, a satisfact-tory result.

The Admiral's Cup race, on a course set in the middle of the Solent, was an 'unsatisfactory event. It was started in next to no wind after a postponement of two bours and a quarter and eventually had to be shortered just before 6.0 when the time limit expired. By this time the 48 competing yachts had completed less just before 8.0 when the time limit expired. By this time the 48 competing, yachts had completed less than half of the scheduled course. Unfortunately for them, the time limit expired at a predetermined time and not, as is customary, at a given elapsed time after the start. So after losing over two hours at the start, on a day with little wind, the course always looked far too ambitious.

Calman (W. McCowan), sailing for Bermuda but until a few weeks ago one of the contenders for a place in the British team, led from the start to the abbreviated finish. She took nearly five hours to templete the course and was followed by Almagores (G. Borromeo, Italy) and Scaramouche (C. Kirch, US).

Calman was receptionally well sailed. To reman ahead through all the vagaries of wind and tide needed strong herve and good fortune. Her good fortune occurred when she managed to retain her lead after rounding the first mark on to a downwind leg and against a sluicing tide. She crabbed across to slacker water by the shore while astern of her places changed up and down the fleet with every puff of wind.

An Admiral's Cup race that deserved a wide berth

Of the British trio, Victory (Peter de Savary), sailed by Philip Crebbin, was the only one to look competitive. She was eleventh to finish after always being among the leaders and ought to be well placed on corrected time. Yeoman XXIII (Robin Alsher) and Dragon (Brian Saffery Cooper) made pour starts and were soon struggling in the second half of the fleet.

Yeoman recovered to finish six teenth but Dragon had a day she will wish to forget. With the benefit of hindsight it was clear the race ought never to have been started and it was no surprise to learn later of protests against the committee.

FIRST RACE: Provisional placines on committee.

FIRST RACE: Provisional placings on corrected time: 1. Camma II Bermuda!; 2. Almagores (ligity): 3. Pinta (Germany): 4. Vanquard Woodly Jumper (heland). British (Hongkonni): 5. Attaque (Sweden): 6. placings; 16. Victory; 26. Yeoman the XXIII: 30, Dragon.

Yachting HELENBURGH! Abscors national championship Founder's Trophy: 1. Thampionship Founder's Trophy: 1. William of the Coronal Company of the Coronal Company of the Coronal Company and Cleechtorpes! 3. Rutned Dude: (M. Holmos, Grimshy and Cleechtorpes! 4. Monarch (D. Glen, King Georges! 5. Mr. Toppy Turry (5. Fitzgerald, Covenham).

LYMINGTON: National Level, rating championship of the Coronal Company of the Coronal

Smallest yacht finishes

original 163 yaches had failed to complete the course. The reacons for the retirements ranged from seasickness in the crew to the loss of a yacht because of captive. But only four rows had to be rescued and no life was in danger during the race.

The first running of a double-handed sailing race attracted the

in The cream of the world's most reallantic to the by the British team of Chay Blyth and Rob James, sailing the John for the Shuttleworth-designed trimaran Brittany Ferries GB. The 65 foot trimaran reached Newport in six mimutes less than 14 days 14 hours, beating the record for a westerly crossing of the North Atlantic under sail.

Brittany Ferries GB also won between 69 and 85 feet overall.

Brittany Ferries GB also won Class I of the Race—for vachts between 69 and 85 feet overall.

Class I of the Race—for vachts between 69 and 85 feet overall.

Class II (45 to 60ft) was won by the Italian trimaran Starpoint. seems to finish; but she was heaten to finish; but she was come by the Italian trimaran Canlings of the fining of the f

Tennis

Scott scatters another seed to face Heath

By Lewine Mair
Robin Scott, who hails from the East of Scotland and has previously made little impact on his sailies down south, yesterday aunihilated Craig Haworth, the eigth seed, in the 18 and under section of the junior grass court Championships, sponsored by Prudential, at Devonshire Park, Eastbourne.

On their two previous meetings, the tall, lean Haworth had won 6—3, 6—3, and 6—4, 6—0, but yesterday Scott, the 16-year-old Scottish junior international, won, 6—2, 6—1. Scott, who lost fewer than half a dozen points in the first five games, looked much the stronger

It will be interesting to account the stronger

Devon (Nottinghamshire), 6

Foron (Nottinghamshire), 6

Girls 18 AND UNDER; round: T Turton (Buckinghamshire), 6

Cirls 18 AND UNDER; round: T Turton (Buckinghamshire), 1—6.

L Grack Lancashire), 6—6.

A Jones (Surrey) bout J Fielcher (Expect), 6—6.

Hook (Cambridges), 6—6.

Field (Surrey) bout J Fielcher (Expect), 6—6.

Yorkshire) beat L Browne (Profitshire), 6—6.

J Herzis (Warwick-bire) (Yorkshire) beat L Browne (Yorkshire), 6—6.

J Herzis (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

J Herzis (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

J Harris (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

J Herzis (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

J Harris (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

Cheshire), 6—6.

J Harris (Warwick-bire), 1—6.

Line (Barris), 1—6.

J Harris (Barris), 1—6.

J Harris (Barris), 1—6.

J Harris (Lancash), 1—6.

J MacKinkey, 1—8.

J MacKinkey, I Machiney (East of Scotland), of the control of th

A Swede settles ancient family score

By John Hennessy

Whereas Miss Massey is one of the leading American professionals and the holder of the title. a woman in other words who was bound to cut a dash. Miss Montgomery is a Swedish amateur, who is too little known in this country. They lead by one stroke from Belle Robertson, the British amateur champion, and by two strokes from a Scottish amateur of younger vintage, Gillian Stewart and an English professional, Jenny Lee Emith.

Miss Montgomery's attecedence is a little clouded, but seems to have a Scottish flavour derived, through the French, from the through the Frepen. From the spoilus of war after the Battle of Hastings. The Montgomerys are apparently devoted admirers of Britain and her golf yesterday was one in the eye for those of us abandon and the essence of her

Golf Correspondent

Debbie Massey fulfilled her expectations and Charlotte Montgomery exceeded hers, on the first day of the Britsh women's open championship, sponsored by Pretty Polly, at Newcastle yesterday. Both took 71, three under par, for the first took 71, three under par, for the first of Arizona. She won an important amateur matchplay course.

tournament, the North and South, two years ago over there, and was a member of the successful Swedish team in the European championships over here recently. In spite of her unfamiliarity with British conditions, Miss Montgomery was the steadier of the two foreign invaders. Only twice did she stray over par, through taking three putts at the seventh and underclubbing at the 11th. Elsewhere, as her score suggests, and underclubbing at the 11th. Elsewhere, as her score suggests, she hauled in five birdies with a variety of devices. She chipped dead at the third, got home at the long fourth (427 yards) with a four wood, holed a long putt at the sixth, bit close with a nine iron at the 13th and reached the 16th green, 420 yards downhill, with an eight iron.

Miss Massey, by Contrast, traded who attempted to identify the play is recorded in her putts, only probable winner.

She has not played here since a masterly, apart from two poor chip shots, both of which cost here. a stroke.

a stroke.

Mrs Robertson, at 45, was the most consistent golfer on the course, with only one hole over par. That was the price she had to pay for a tee shot into the rough at the 11th.

She could cut only six of the long holes down to size, the minth (476 yards) where she was on with a five wood; but a four became a three with a nine iron to eight feet at the seventeenth (348 yards) and a three became a two with a three iron to 12 feet at the fifth (175 yards). She claims that her ambition here is to finish top amateur, but she must surely cherish the prospect of improving on her joint second place last on her joint second place last year.

LEADING SCORES: 71: O Massey (US), "C Monigomery (Sweden). 72: "R Robertson, 72: "G Stewart, J Lee Smith, 75: T Fernande 'Sri Lanka; "P Barry, "J Melville, "M McKenna, Y Saundern, J Chapmen, 76: "W Attorn, "P Nilsson (Sweden), "C Barker, M Burton, D Reid, "H Hagstrom, Tr. M Thomson, "P Clark, "P Smille A Sheard (SA), B Lowis, "P Smille A Sheard (SA), B Lowis, "P Christians," C Warrin, B Reide, "C Biourhams, C Panton, G Flynn, "C Wonders, G Flynn, "C denotes smateur," on her joint second place last selling."

Ryder Cup place From Mitchell Platts

O Bunny Arias, at 16 the youngest boy ever to turn professional, heat Ilie Nastase (Romania) in the first round of an open tournament at the Orange Tennis Club, New Jersey, yesterday. The young American rallied after a slow start to win 1—6. 6—3, 7—6. Nastase was penalized a point after spitting at a linesman and then the chair umpire.

O The world Sooc champion, Kenny Roberts, and his old rival. Britain's Barry Sheene, dominated final testing at Silverstone vesterday before this weekend's British Grand Prix, sponsored by Marlboro. Both rode works Yamahas, and Roberts put in a Imin 31.7sec lap at an average speed of 114mph. Sheene, on top form after a year in the doldrums when he quit Suzuki to run his own team, recorded a second fastest limin 32.2sec at 113mph, complaining of minor engine problems. The world championship leader, Marco Lucchinelli (Italy) was third fastest.

O The reigning world champion, Guo Yaohua (China) faces strong challenges from top Avian and European players in the World Cap table tennis tournament starting today. Gre., who won the men's singles title at the world championships in Yagnalavia last April, will have to fight bard for the first prize against national champions. Nick Faldo, who has already stade sure of his Ryder Cup place for a third successive time, is another late entry. He had to obtain a release from the United States tour and in particular from the Canadian Open

Yang, the smallest yacht in The Observer/Europe 1 Transatlantic race reached the finish at Newport, Rhode Island on July 18 and best the deadline for the end of the event by 24 hours.

Yang, skippered by the veteran French/American Jean Lacombe, was the 76th July to cross the line at the end of the 3,000-mile voyage from Plymouth. She finished eight day behind the penultimate boat, the concrete cruising yacht, Wild Thyme, of Durham, sailed by the Kayll brothers. Flag officers of the Royal Western Yacht Club, which organized the race, reported that 27 of the original 103 yachts had failed to complete the course. The reasons

Business News

THE TIMES July 30 1981

Easier borrowing for state industries

The Treasury is ready to approve more flexible arrangements for borrowing by state-owned industries. In response in pleading by the chairmen of the nationalized industries, an acreement has been reached in principle that the industries should be able to borrow from the National Loans Fund on variable terms depending on the project for which the finance

But the question whether state industries should be able to borrow freely in private sector markets remains open. There is as yet no indication that the Treasury is prepared to consider any relaxation of the contentious external finacing limits, which limit the extent to which nationalized industries can borrow from ourside

Ministers remain firm on the finance limits, which are seen as essential to the maintenance of a steady Public Sector Bor-of a steady Public Sector Borrowing Requirement.

Mr James Driscoll, director of the Nationalized Industries Chairmen's Group, said they had three main aims: to loosen the external financing limits, which, he said, were stifling valuable public investment; to enable nationalized industries to use risk capital borrowed from government; and to enable nationernment; and to enable nationalized industries to borrow freely in private sector markets.

Although aware that his first proposal was sure to run into strong Treasury opposition, Mr Driscoll emphasized that the group was asking for only an additional £500m in a year.

This, he pointed out, was only one tenth of the margin of error in the estimates of public sector borrowing.

It appears that the Treasury is prepared to look again at the system whereby nationalized industries have to horrow from the National Loans Fund at a fixed interest rate, repayable after 15 or 20 years.

Sir Derek Exa. Coal Board chairman, reinforced the argument earlier this week when he said that if he had been able to finance half his borrowings hy dividend capital, he could have turned a 657 Mm deficit have turned a £57.8m deficit nto a £70m net profit. The argument is that nationa-ized industries such as coal, thich are as risk-prona as any rivate sector business, should e able to borrow from govern-tent for flexible periods and te able to pay back flexible

A Treasury and Civil Service elect committee has been examining finance for nationaized industries, and is expec-ed to report on August 12. By he heginning of October, a working party of the National Economic Development Office will also have concluded its

Collieries plan for greenfield Midlands site

Plans to develop a Warwick-shire coalfield almost as big as the Vale of Belvoir will shortly be presented to top officials of the National Coal Board, An application for planning permission is expected to follow early

A feasibility study by the coal board into the 108 square miles between Coventry and Learnington Spa is nearly complete, and all the indications are that it could become one of the most profitable and application coal. profitable and productive coal areas in Britain.

areas in Britain,
It possesses at least 400 million tonnes of recoverable coal, compared with Belvon's 550 million tonnes,

The Warwickshire coalfield study, although at a relatively early stage, has already run into objections from local conservationists, who are attempting to defend the countryside and the Duke of Rutland and others defended Belvoir,

At present there are two pits mining the rich "Warwickshire thick" coal, so-called for the depth and quality of the seam.
They are Coventry, about three miles north of the city centre, and Daw Mill, about eight miles to the north-west.

Both pits are among the most profitable in the country, with Daw Mill having already been substantially extended to produce 1.1 million tonnes a year.
Coventry produces 700,000 tonnes a year. The feasibility study will look at proposals to increase Daw Mill's capacity to 2 million tonnes, and Coventry's to 11 Bur if the coalfied were to be developed properly, new col-lieries would have to be built south of Coventry.

The coal board insists that the Warwickshire coalfields cannot be compared with Belvoir, and it needs to be fully exploited to meet future energy demands.

If the feasibility study proves satisfactory, the coal board could apply for planning permission early next year. There would then have to be a public inquiry. If the experience of Belvoir is anything to go by, it would be highly unlikely that work could begin before-1985. The Belvoir public inquiry has taken two years, and the greuments are continuing with-arguments are continuing with-in the Cabinet about whether the coal board should be allowed to go shead. Mr Michael Heseltine, Secretary of State for the Environment, wants to block the scheme, at least at present, and the impending Warwickshire study might give him more reason to arge delay.

LEAMINGTON SPA

COMBITTE

the coal board's pleas that it needs the Belvoir coal, as well as its assurances that it can minimize environmental dam-

The South Warwickshire coalfield covers Coventry, Kenilworth, Warwick, and Leamington Spa, However, its boundaries cannot be drawn precisely as its full extent is still not clear. Boreholes are still being dug mainly south of Warwick and Leamington.

The coal board has been at pains to play down the impact of the intensive review it is conducting into 20 pits, some of which may have exhausted their supplies of coal.

The Coal board has been at pains to play down to recent decision to movide the coal.

decision to provide the coal board with additional support board with additional support to enable uneconomic pits to be kept open was studied by the all-party Commons select committee on energy, whose report on industrial energy pricing policy was published on Tuesday (Edward Townsend writes).

The report said: "We do not underestimate the difficulties of defining uneconomic pits, still less the hardship involved in their closure, which by its nature would be unevenly concentrated in small areas heavily dependent on mining for employment."

However, given that the Government wished to keep such mines active for social reasons, it could see no reason that the additional expenditure should be a burden on Department of Energy expenditure and consequently reflected in coal prices. The committee advocated, instead, that the cost be treated as a social ser-But the Department of vices or employment protection Energy has been convinced by responsibility.

Convicted man made chairman of Italian bank

Embarrassment has been caused in the Italian banking world by the confirmation of Signor Roberto Calvi as chairman of Banco Ambrosiano.

A week ago, Signor Calvi was sentenced to four years imprisonment and a Lir16,500m (£7.3m) fine for illegal currency export. The Bank of Italy has issued a statement denying that it gave its assent. denying that it gave its assent.
Signor Calvi, who is at provisional liberty pending the appeal hearing, was confirmed yesterday afternoon at a board meeting in Milan over which he

However, the meeting decided to request authorization from the Bank of Italy—necessary because modification of the statute of even a private bank requires central bank permission—to support Signor Calvi with an executive committee.

committee.
The only resignation from the board announced after the meeting was that of Herr Carl Von Castelberg, a Swiss citizen, who was also a defendant at the

who was also a defendant at the trial, but was acquitted.
Reports are current that Signor Carlo Azeglio Ciampithe governor of the Bank of Italy, made known to Signor Calvi at a meeting last Friday that he would favour his resignation in the interest of upholding the credibility of Italian banking, and that the central bank may still press for him to go. The Bank of Italy declines all comment on these reports.

declines all comment on these reports.

Banco Ambrosiano is Italy's second biggest private bank, after Banca Nazionale Dell' Agricoltura.

The offences for which Signor Calvi was found guilty concerned share dealings by La Centrale, an Ambrosiano subsidiary, with anonymous finance companies in Liechtenstein and companies in Liechtenstein and

La Centrale receptly bought 40 per cent of the Rizzoli pub-lishing group, which owns

Calvi: Recently sentenced

Corriere Della Sera, the leading Milan daily newspaper, but it is uncertain whether the government and Bank of Italy will allow the purchase to go

Only recently, Signor Calvi recovered after swallowing, while in prison, a large dose of tranquillizer pills, in what the prosecutor described as a suicide attempt.

He has both long-standing associations with Varican financiers and was on the membership list of the P2 Masonic group, which the government has decided to ban as a secret

Business Diary, page 19

BL urges unions to break negotiating deadlock

Leaders of the 11 unions rep-resenting BL's 53,000 manual carworkers are being pressed by the company to take morthodox action to break a nine month-long deadlock over wage negotiating procedures. The management is seeking to deal with a temporary negotiating body.

The joint negotiating committee, which was set up nearly four years ago to introduce central bargaining and end the wage leapfrogging resulting from individual plant deals, collapsed in the bitter aftermath of last November's settlement.

Both sides agreed to form a more workmanlike body.

It was acknowledged publicly by the unions that the existing council was inadequate. Privately, they admitted that the core of militant shop stewards who dominated its discussions had turned it into an undisciplined body which was unable to take researchile decisions.

There was also widespread unrest in union headquarters over the dominant role of the Transport and General Workers, who provided the chairman, Mr who provided the chairman, Mr Grenville Hawley, the union's national automotive officer. For much of the winter, BL kept nagging union leaders to get to grips with the problem, but it was not until March that the two sides met formally to consider draft proposals by the company. As expected TGWU's role on a new council was again role on a new council was again the main issue. BL proposed that union executives should each nominate a fulltime officer and 12 further representatives, who could be either fulltime officers or shop steward mem-bers of individual plant commitees. The unions were left to themselves to decide how these 12 posts should be split The TGWU demanded half the seats and the chairman's casting vote. It based this claim on its 55 per cent share of BL car employees. There was an immediate outcry from the other unions, led by Mr Terry

Duffy's Amalgamated Union of Engineering Workers, with 30 per cent membership in BL factories.

Another issue of which much has been made by shopfloor militants was a BL proposal that shop stewards should work normally unless carrying out officially recognized union duties. There were protests at what some shop stewards described as "a blatant attempt to hamstring the whole shop steward movement in BL by making stewards subject to managerial permission to carry managerial permission to carry

Hawley, national automotive officer of the TGWU: Moderate under pressure.

Armstrong : Leading management team.

However, it is privately felt by some union leaders that BL's request is long overdue. Too many shop stewards have come officials, there has been little or no progress. Now, with time running out for settlement of the 1982 pay deal, which should commence in November, the company has told the unions that talks must start in August —and the only solution would seem to be a temporary negotiating body comprising one full time official from each

BL has emphasized that after winning central bargaining in the face of a bitter rearguard action by shop stewards who saw it as an attack on their traditional power base, it will not consider reverting to local plant negotiations. But the test-plant negotiations. But the testing time will come in the next few weeks, when individual plant meetings will be held to fix wage demands.

The feeling in some union circles is that falling a surprise concession on council membership by the TGWU, they will go along with the full time officials proposal with Mr Hawley leading the union team. ing the union team.
It is conceded, however, that to regard the holding of the office as a perk enabling them to avoid the drudgery of the assembly line or workbench. But union leaders acknowledge that it is an emotive issue which will have to be handled carefully if BL is to avoid a confrontation.

Despite six subsequent meetings between a management team led by Mr Geoffrey Armstrong, director of employee relations at BL Cars, and union film history, although hir Davis said that there was not agree-ment yet to move sound stages and production facilities.

The newspaper also disclosed that Mr Davis's previously unidentified partner in the take-over of Fox earlier this year was the Richo company con-trolled by Mr Marc Rich, New York financier who shunned

EEC holds up £360m British aid for steel

From Peter Norman Brossels, July 29

The European Commission is allowing the British Governallowing the British Government to give the British Cor-poration £190m of aid, but a further £360m requested by the Government earlier this month, is being withheld pend-ing a thorough examination of British Steel's restructuring

The Commission has made the £190m conditional on British Steel limiting its finished production to 13.9 million tonnes in its present finan-cial year, which ends next March.

Any increase in output and any use of the 6.6 million tonnes of capacity that is being held in reserve will require the permission of the Commission.

mission of the Commission.

The Brussels authorities have imposed other conditions on the grant. Until the end of October, the British Government will only be able to give British Steel the cash to cover emergencies. The Covernment also will have to report to Brussels monthly on the aid disbursement.

ment.

During Sentember, the Government will have to inform the Commission about the steel corporation's restructuring programme for 1982 through to 1985. Final decisions will only be allowed after a joint examination of the proposals by the British Government and the Commission.

Commission.

The Commission's decision is in response to a British Government request to grant f1,280m to British Steel to finance its 1980-1982 restructuring programme.

In May, the Commission approved a £530m tranche and began investigating the request for the remaining £750m.

By the beginning of this

E750m.

By the beginning of this month, the Government had written to Brussels to say that it was secking permission for only £550m of additional aid. The £190m approved by the Commission this week is part of this.

of this.

The conditions applied to the aid show that the Commission is determined to apply the sion is determined to apply the strict EEC code on state aid to the steel industry that was agreed by ministers in June. It linked the issue of cutting capacity to the granting of state aid.

The Commission is concerned about the 6.6 million tonnes of capacity that British Steel either has mothballed or is running on short time. This is far larger than the 0.9 million tonnes that British Steel will scrap in 1981-1982.

It is thought in Brussels that

t is thought in Bryssels adoption of the code last month might have persuaded the British Government to drop £200m from its request.

British Steel made no formal comment immediately on the Commission's decision, but the corporation's leaders. clearly believe that the British steel industry has done more than its European competitors in reducing capacity. They consider that the EEC should scrutioize steelmakers in countries like Italy, where capacity has been expanded (Edward Townsend writes). British Steel has cut manned capacity from 21.5 million tonnes to 14.4 million tonnes in 18 months and reduced its labour force by about 70,000.

The EEC Commission has authorized the Danish Government to participate in the financial restructuring of the steel company Det Denske Stalvatsevaerk (DDS)

Permission was given on con-dition that a group of independent experts reports to the Commission on the company's Richo as one of the specialized viability. Also, DDS must recommodity trading companies duce production of light which are highly secretive about their financial dealings.

Hollywood's Fox on the run

From Ivor Davis, Los Angeles, July 29 The closing and relocation of the film studio would, however, end a glorious era in Hollywood

Mr. Marvin Davis, the oil ycoon who is the new owner of Twentieth Century Fox Studios, is planning to move the operation out of Los Angeles several miles west to an area near the Santa Monica airport within the next two

In a interview with the Los Angeles Times Mr Davis, who paid more than $800m (about £430m) for Fox, also said that deal with Home Box Office, America's biggest paid cable network, to produce 20 films all costing less than $4m that will be screened first on pay will be screened first on pay television.

This would mark the first step by a leading film studio into the pay television market.

It was also disclosed last week that Aetna Life and Casualty Company has become an equal partner with Mr

Davis in developing the sixty-three acres where Fox is situated at present, next door to the mushrooming Century City, a high rise office building and hotel comple. Most of Century City has grown in the past decade on land that was once Fox's sprawling film back lot.

The apparent decision to capitalize on the valuable studio land, where hundreds of films have been made is not surprising. Mr Davis said that the property was too valuable to have a studio sitting on it.

Richo, based in the Dutch Antilles is said to be a sub-sidiary of a Netherlands corpo-ration which is one of the largest trading organizations in the world.

publicity.

According to public docu-ments, Mr Davis owns the voting stock of Fox and the unnamed partner owns the same amount of non-voting stock. Mr Davis and Mr Rich have been partners in previous ventures Published reports describe

Sketchlev

Industrial workwear rental, dry cleaning and textile finishing

Year ended March	1981 £000	1980 £000
SALES	59,870	51,727
TRADING PROFIT	6,316	6,302
PROFIT BEFORE TAX	5,163	5,742
PROFIT AFTER TAX	3,008	3,214
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·

EARNINGS per Ordinary share 21,4p NET DIVIDENDS per Ordinary share 9.0p 8.0p

"I am able to report that the first quarter of 1981/82 opened the year satisfactorily.

Since then there has been some flattening of sales in the Cleaning Division and we must continue to look to the future with caution whilst disposable incomes continue to fall and memployment to rise." Mr. Gerald Wightman. addressing the A.G.M. held on 23rd July.

Sketchley Public Limited Company

The 1981 Report and Accounts are available from the Secretary at Rugby Road, Hinckley, Leicestershire LE10 ZNE

Response to Beesley out soon

cation services in the United Kingdom is expected to be published within the next 24

Sir Keith Joseph, the Secreta:y of State for Industry, published the Beesley findings in April after they use studied for three months by the Department of Industry.

The study, conducted by in April after they had been The study, conducted by Wher Frofessor Michael Beesley, lished private sector providing certain services in competition with British Telecom.

The British Telecommunica-tions Bill which received the Royal Assent last Monday, empowers the Government to license private operators of telecommunication networks or the providers of new services.

When the report was pub-shed Sir Keith invited

The Government's long-Professor of Economics at the comment from the telecom-awaited response to the Beesley London Graduate School of munications industry to be report on the possibility of Business Studies, favours the aubmitted to him within two privately-funded telecommuni-private sector providing certain months to allow him time to formulate a policy and make a statement tomorrow before Parliament's summer recess.

The Government is expected to favour in principle most of Beesley's findings.

signed a Commons motion two weeks ago encouraging the Gov-ernment to pursue liberaliza-tion "relentlessly."

□ Sterling $1 8640 Index 92.1

Stock markets

FT Ind 525.3 FT Gilts 64.45

☐ Gold $402.50

Dollar

Index 112.0 DM 2.4415

□ Money

3 mth sterling 14%-14% 2 mth Euro S 1814-1814 6 mth Euro S 1814-1814

Because of resterday's holiday the United Kingdom figures( above) are those of Tracsday's close.

Italy aims for 10pc inflation

The Italian Government aims bring inflation down to out 10 per cent over the at three years, Signor zurio Merloni, president of e industry confederation, said. Signor Merloni was yesterday eaking at the end of a preninary round of talks with anor Giovanni Spadolini, the me Minister, aimed at find-a ways of reducing Italy's cer cent inflation.

During the talks Signor agoing reported on his proess in discussions with union idens, which are expected to augue at least until the end

Zimbabwe takeover

The Zimbabwe Government has taken control of Caps Hildings, the country's biggest pharmaceutical manufacturer. The state bought 42.6 per cent of the equity for $Z4.5m (£3.3m). Mr Enos Nkala, the finance minister, said this was in line with the government policy of actively participating in strate-gic industries.

Merchant bank annual meeting

Shareholders of merchant bank Arbuthnot Latham gather at the group's London head office today for the annual Thirteen days ago, the group suspended Sir Trevor Dawson and Mr Michael Barrett from running their unit trust offshoot Arbuthnot Securities, after stockbrokers Halliday, Simpson became the subject of a Stock Exchange inquiry. Halliday, Simpson subsequently closed.

TODAY

British Shipbuilders annual report. CBI industrial trends. Electricity Council annual

Central Electricity Generating Board annual report. Statement on the establishment of the Council for Engin-

Fifteenth report of the Committee of Public Accounts. Company results (half-yearly): ICI; Lonrho; F. Pratt Engineering.

About 150 Conservative MPs

CBI survey 'pessimistic' The Confederation of British

Industry whose director general is Sir Terence Beckett (above) will today reveal the results of its quarterly industrial trends

The CBI report is expected to show that business leaders remain pessimistic about any increase in output for several months and have little hope for a reduction in the rate of redundancies.

ICI results will set market mood

The stock market mood after the royal wedding holiday break will be set today by the first-half results from Imperial Chemical Industries. Its secondquarter profits are expected to be between £70m and £90m against £103m last year and £52m in the first three months of this year. Fears that the half-time dividend may well be cut are balanced by optimism that the dividend total for the current year is likely to remain unchanged. First-half results indicate a major improvement over the same period in 1980.

BUSINESS BRIEFING

US and Japan indicators show declining trend

Further signs of falling down from 60 in both March economic activity in Japan and and April. The drop implies the United States came yester-that the Japanese economy is day with the publication of the likely to decline in the coming latest leading indicators in the two or three months.

Although another month's figures will be necessary to consider wised figures showed a drop of 1.5 in May. Originally the index was thought to have dropped by 1.8 in May.

The Japanese leading indicators fell ast October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since last October that the figure has fallen the self-st time since tors for May dropped to 40,

French output slightly up

French industrial production has staged a slight but fragile recovery this month, mainly in the consumer and intermediate goods sectors, according to an official survey of 2,500 indust-The two sectors might con-

tique to improve slowly in the coming months, while produc-tion of capital goods is expected to decline, the survey said.

Japan exports fewer vehicles

last October that the figure has fallen below the so-called "boom-or-bust" line of 50.

Japanese vehicle exports in June fell 0.4 per cent to 512,839 from 514,904 a year earlier and were down 2.4 per cent from May's 525,601 total, reflecting self-restraint in shipments to the United States and the EEC.

Vehicle exports to Britain fell to 19,255 in June from 24,773 a year earlier and 20,695 in

Steel fall forecast Bethlehem Steel is expecting profits in the third quarter from the relatively strong levels of the first and second quarters. The United States company says that it is experiencing some reduction in customer demand for its steel products, although this undoubtedly includes the seasonal decline that normally occurs at this time of year. It expects higher profits for the It is now projecting industry shipments of about 92 million short tons for 1981, up from 83.9 million last year and compared with "the low 90s" it

£82.5m power plant order

predicted three months ago.

The Bahrain ministry of works, power and water has awarded a Dinars58.2m (£82.5m) contract to Brown Boveri to build a gas turbine power station. Rated capacity will be 543 megawatts, derated to 426 megawatts because of the high temperatures. Construction will begin in November and com-pletion is scheduled for 1985.

UK architects for Hongkong hospital

John R. Harris Partnership, a British architectural firm, has been selected to design a extremely tight schedule behavior to design a the Hongkong Government's the colony's New Territories, will be one of the largest in the Far East.

Mr John Harris, senior part one, said his firm was on an contractor. It is hoped the hospital will be fore the Hongkong Government's decision to proceed with the scheme is also likely to be well-makes up the bulk of the hospital costs, to go to a British companies.

Three offers for Mrs Mason's Illingworth stake

A SZM tax bill to pay",
Mrs Mason said the offers had come from one American company and two UK companies, but refused to name them. Talk that entreprenuer Mr Graham Ferguson Lacey was interested in buying the stake has been dismissed by his spokesman as untrue. He of Mrs Mason but he is not interested in buying her Illingworth stake".

Word is that a client of merchant banking group, Samuel Montagu is negotiating for the shares. Mrs Mason said

Mrs Pamela Mason, the Los ngeles-based director and adding shareholder of IllingMrs Mason added; "I may Mrs Pamela Mason, the Los Angeles-based director and leading shareholder of Illingworth Morris, is considering three written offers for her 46 per ceut stake in the Yorkshire textile group.

She said from America's west coast yesterday: "None of them make you throw your hat in the air, but I am forced to consider them because I cannot stay with a company which doesn't pay dividends. I have a SZm tax hill to pay".

The bank were unavailable for comment yesterday.

Mrs Mason added: "I may decide not to sell the share at all. The offers are certainly not a lot higher than the Illingworth share price. If I can't find anyone to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing those to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing the company will be a company will be also the company to take over the company I will go ahead with my plans for removing the com

Almost three weeks ago Mrs Mason sent a telex to a York-shire newspaper demanding the resignations of Illingworth chairman Mr Donald Hanson, joint chief executive Mr Peter Hardy and the director responsible for development, Mr Tommy Yeardy—the man she installed on the board two year's ago

She also called for the board to convene an extraordinary general meeting where she would vote her stock to sack them if they did not resign.

Mr Hanson and Mr Hardy have said they have no intention of resigning and regret, in g day were with their advisors.

It is understood that the board, in resisting Mrs Mason's attempts to sack some of them, are looking closely at the make up of the 46 per cent stake for which she claims to speak.

The stake is widely believed to be controlled by Mrs Mason, they say, the way Mrs Mason's former wife of actor James public statement calling for Mason, as the executrix of the their resignation has damaged the company.

Illingworth held a board meeting Monday and the following day were with their admissible could result in advice which could result in Mrs Mason being relieved as the executrix of the estate and free others from her influence.

That is vital to the fight be-tween the board members. If successful, Mrs Mason would be left speaking for just 9 per cent of Illingworth.

Changes at Waterford Glass

Business appointments

the June quarterly reports from Gencor, the South African enough. Marievale, a marginal mine vulnerable to fluctuations

Mr Owen Kealy, financial director of Waterford Glass, has been appointed managing director of the Waterford Glass Group following the death of Mr Noel Griffin. Mr Colm O'Connell, production director, has been appointed managing director of Waterford Crystal with overall responsibility for crystal with overall responsibility for crystal production. Mr Thomas Aspei, commercial director, will assume responsibility for crystal sales. Mr Thomas Healy, general manager (personnel), has been appointed a director of Waterford Crystal.

Mr Andrew M. Love is now managing director of the Dutton-Forshaw Motor Group.

Mr E. A. Stott has gone on to the board of Denbyware.

Mr Hugh Brown, who is to join the board of Associated Biscuit Manufacturers in October will assume responsibility of group finance director from January 1, 1982. Mr C. B. Barber, the present group finance director from January 1, 1982, mr C. B. Barber, the present group finance director fire province with the group. Mr Brown was previously finance director and latterly managing director of Lyons Tetley.

was previously blance infector and latterly managing director of Lyons Tetley.

Mr Keith Hainsworth, managing director of Miller Buckley Developments, has been made a director of Buckley Investments, the main board of the Miller Buckley group.

Mr M. G. J. Wylie has been reappointed as chalman of the Post Office Users' Council for Scotland for a further period from September 1 until August 31, September 1 unot August 31, 1984.

Mr Martin Prevezer has been appointed managing director of Entores from October 1. Entores is the parent company of Entores (Metal Brokers), ring dealing members of the Metal Exchange. Professor Royston Goods and Mr Jeffrey Wallis have been appointed part-time members of the Monopolies and Mergers Commission. Members reappointed for a further fures-year period are:
Mr H. L. G. Gibson, Mr E. A. B.
Hammond, Mrs C. M. Miles and Mr R. G. Smethurst.

Mining

Gencor shows value of gold futures market

from Gencor, the South African mining group, was the announcement that Marievale had sold gold forward. That the South African Reserve Bank was prepared to grant permission for transactions in the futures markets became known in May. But with the exception of some trial transactions by Anglo Vael, a smaller mining house, Gencor is the first of the majors to use the futures markets seriously.

The sale was modest enough Marievale, a marginal ceived during the three months was $460 an ounce, against costs of about $320 an ounce. Not only did Marievala realize not only old Marievala realize more than its average received price, but it also sold at prices well above those prevailing in the spot market at the end of

This, of course, is the point of hedging in futures markets. But in fact the transactions But in fact the transactions allowed to the South African mines are rather more limited than the full and elaborate scope that futures trading strategies offer. It is understood that the Reserve Bank has frowned upon the mines compile delivering gold. Transactions and transactions are strained to the second transactions and transactions are strained to the second transactions are second transactions. in the gold price, sold forward 280 kilogrammes of gold at prices between $490 an ounce in July of this year and 1625 an ounce in June 1983. Compared with the 32m gold futures pared with the 32m gold futures has frowned upon the mines contracts, representing some 33,000 tonnes of gold, that actions therefore are effectively restricted to foreign markets last year, this is tiny.

But to Marievale the experiment is more important. The mine produced 312 kilomines of the futures markets is considerable. As a marginal grammes of gold in the June mine, Marievale is a textbook example of how physical prices.

quarter, a typical figure, example of how physical prices which was not much above the can be played off against amount sold forward. The futures. A further decline in prices are significant as well the spot gold price implies a Marievale's average price resharp reduction in the mine's

Indices

Sterling
US dollar
Canadian dollar
Schilling
Belgian frame
Danish kroner Deutsche mark
Sewiss frame
Guilder
French fraue
Lira
Yeu

Gencor mine; greater financial sophistication is now being dded to group operations.

profitability. This in turn may sophistication on the mines' endanger investment plans part, and a cautious recogni-Nevertheless, the mines' tentative move into the futures markets is potentially another part, and a cautious recogni-tion of the value of futures Gencor and Anglo-Transvaal will be followed by other min-ing companies before long. step towards the full integration of the gold market. It implies greater financial

Other

Michael Prest Mining Correspondent

Markets

Gallaher expects talks with Ofrex

Gallaher, the United Kingdom subsidiary of the American Brands tobacco group, believes talks will soon take place with the Ofrex board.
On Monday Gallaher announced it might launch a counter-bid for Ofrex Ofrex is already subject

Bank Base Rates

Barclays ...... 12% C. Hnare & Co .. *12% Lloyds Bank .... 12% Midland Bank .... 12% Nat Westminster .. 12% TSB ..... 12% Williams and Glyn's 12%

Wall Street high flier under fire

From Anthony Hilton, New York

John Muir, a fast-moving wall Street firm and a major participant in the American new issue boom which last year saw more companies floated than at any time since 1972, has been named as a defendant in three legal actions involving companies it helped to bring to market.

Shareholders in Basic Earth corrections or government bonds. But she celebrated case where several senior officers of a major American life assurance company, but have been inflating sales and profits over many were lent to a Canadian company, Marsta Cession Services, with which some of Cayman Resource policy sales.

The SEC's complaint was that the suit alleges. in three legal actions involving companies it helped to bring Shareholders in Basic Earth As a result, the suit alleges, Cayman is not engaged in the re-insurance business at all, but

Science Systems, Security
Science Systems, Security
America and Brady Energy, all of which went public under the Muir umbrella, are alleging that they bought the shares on the strength of "false and misleading" prospectuses. The companies and Muir dismiss the suits as totally unfounded. "an investment tool of Muir" Muir parmer Mr John D. Sullivan declined to comment companies and Muir dismiss that his firm had not seen the suits as totally unfounded.

But earlier this week a more serious legal action was launched against the brokerage house, alleging that it wisses.

the $4.8m (£2.4m) proceeds raised by it for a company called the Cayman Islands restranger to controversy. Since 1973 he has been at odds with the American regulatory

The SEC's complaint was that Mr Dirks used his knowledge to get all his client out of Equity Funding-which was one of the hottest stocks of the early 1970's and then informed the press of the scandal before he told the authorities. As recently as January of this year, afterta seven-year inquiry, the SEC publicly censured Mr Dirks for his actions, though he is appealing against that

He also caused a stir last year by employing a cult figure raised by it for a company called the Cayman Islands reinsurance Corporation.

The action, brought by a shareholder in that company, alleges that he acted imaccording to the prospectus the funds were to be used in the reinsurance market, or invested short term in blue chip 1973 he has been at odds with year by employing a cult figure from the 1960's, the yippie leader Mr Jerry Rubin, who had been on the run for drug offences for the better part a decade and who is now serving as an analyst for a sentence. He gathered further publicity with his investment the first to suspect the Equity with his investment book Heads you win, tails you win, which came out in 1979.

Sterli	ng: Spc	ot and	Forward
New York Montreal Amsterdam Brussels Copenhagen Dubliz Frankfurt Lisboz Madrid Milan Oslo Paris Stockholm Tokye Vienna Zurich	Market rates (day's range) July 28 51.8540-8660 52.2730-2800 74.15-607 14.20-28k 1.2430-2800p 4.527-50*2m 120.70-121.70e 182.00-183.30p 2256-63ir 11.35-42k 10.78-84i 9.65-70k 433-457 31.85-32.05ecy 3.83-854	Market rates (close) July 28 51.8695-8645 52.2859-2860 5.064-06421 74.30-406 14.25-26k 1.2465-2480p 4.544-555/m 121.30-50e 183.00-90p 2265-67fr 11.404-414-24 9.68-70k 4413-424-27 32.00-455cy 394-95f	1 month ,70-80c disc 1.55-1.65c disc 1-c prem-par 64-74c disc 420-520ore disc 10-30p disc 10-30p disc 15-50c disc 35-53c disc 35-53c disc 35-53c prem 62-72c disc 55ore prem-25ore dis 275-25ore prem 8-4gro prem 8-4gro prem	3 mc 1.90 3.65- 115- 115- 115- 115- 165- 56- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18- 18

Effective exchange rate compared to 1975, was down 0.3 at $2.1.

	Dollar S	pot organ aranty arangs	Rates	•
4	* treiand	1.4920-1.494
% -31.5	† Canada	1.2260-1.226
45.4	Natherlands	2,7155-2,717
-18.5	Beigium	39.85-39.9
+22.0	Denmark	7.6660-7.672
+9.2	West Germany	2.4410-2.44
-11.3	Portugal .	65.10-85.2
+38.2	Spain	96.20-98.
+82.6	Italy	1214.00-1215
+14.0	Norway	6.1200-6.12
-11.5	France	5.8000-5.80
-55.7	Sweden	5.2050-5.21
+31.3	Japan	237.30-237.
	Austria	17.17-17
changes	Switzer land	2,1120-2.13

Based on trade weighted changes from Washington agreement December, 1971. (Bank of England Index 100).

EMS Currency Rates

ECU currency central against rates ECU % change % change divergence from central adjusted to limit % rate? plus/minus Beigian Iranc 40.7985 Danish krone 7.91917 Garman D-mark 2.84502 French Iranc 3.99528 Dutch guider 2.81318 Irish punt 0.685145 ( Italian lira 1262.92

t changes are for the ECU therefore positive change denotes weak rurrency.

* adjusted for sterling's weight in the ECU. and for the lira's wider divergence limits. Adjustment calculated by The Times.

Euro-$Deposits

(%) calls, 194-184; seven days, 194-184; one month, 194-18; three 185<sub>M-1811</sup>... Sovereigns (new): $100-102 (£53.25-54.25). EMS (tgures relate to Wednesday's rates. All others are for Tuesday</sub>

Money Market Rates

Bank of England MLR 12% (Last changed 19/2/81) Clearing Banks Base Rate 13% Discount Mkt Leans% Oversight: High 13

Week Fixed: 124-124 Treasury Bills (Dis%)

7 menths 144-14 8 menths 144-14 9 menths 144-14 10 menths 142-14 11 menths 142-14

Gold (ired: am, 3403.00 (an ounce); a months 144-144; a months 154-154; a months 154-154; b months 154-154; a months 154

Pluance House Base Rate 13%

John Brown

Preliminary Announcement of 1981 Results

·	SA	LIENT F	EATURES
	1981	1980		1981	. 1980
	£m	£m	Per ordinary share
Turnover	582	463	Earnings	24.7p	13.7p
Profit before tax	14	21		•
Profit retained	15	9	Dividend	4.25p	4.25p
Shareholders funds	108	92	Net assets	110p	93p

Extracts from the Chairman's Statement

The final outcome substantially confirms the assessment I made in the Interim Report, although process engineering and construction and Leesona each achieved slightly better figures than the worst we then were prepared for. The accounts figure of over £23m net bank balances is greater than I suggested in January it would be, in part reflecting real gains but also containing some fortuitous excesses of receipts over payments, not of a permanent nature. Also in the accounts, shareholders will notice the unusual and substantial tax credit and the consequent effect on profits retained and earnings per share: this is because provisions in the Finance Bill, 1981 enable us to release taxation provisions made in earlier years now no longer required.

The £6.5m adverse swing from the previous year's profit to a significant loss from the gas turbine division was the expected consequence of very poor order intake and tremendous pressures on margins. Now the order book looks much healthier; we still need a lot more new business however to achieve our targets this year and market conditions are not yet by any standards easy.

It was a good, steady performance from process engineering and construction in a difficult year. Especially encouraging were the improving activity levels from Crawford & Russell in the United States, a trend that continues today.

Leesona also did well, despite the deterioration in Italy and another dreadful year from the two old John Brown plastics machinery companies in the United Kingdom. There is still no sign of any upturn in Italy but the outlook for the United Kingdom factories is looking distinctly better, although still very much dependent upon continuing improvements in productivity and upon a revival of the United Kingdom domestic market before too long.

The textile machinery division of Leesona had a good year but in addition to this, new product developments have begun now to show real promise for early commercial exploitation.

The machine tool division made fair progress in eliminating products and facilities that were not viable. Much still remains to be done to bring the price competitiveness of our principal good machine tool product lines fully up to international standards and to get our operating expenses into line with continuing very poor demand levels. The current year will again be

In general engineering, we were hit more by United Kingdom and international recession than by any special factors and the profit was as expected, about half that of the previous year, Craven Tasker was the worst affected.

On the day of the preliminary announcement of our results I sent my latest letter to all the Group's employees in the U.K. I hope all shareholders will agree with what I say in the letter about the soundness and the fairness of the policies we have followed in the last two difficult years. We have used profit and cash generated in earlier, more comfortable years to consolidate the good parts of the group, to restructure the less good and to strengthen greatly our international technological and market base. We have maintained our liquidity satisfactorily. We have had some success in containing escalation of our internal United Kingdom costs. This has put us strategically in a much stronger position than we were a year or two ago; a position from which we should be well able to develop further the range and the profitability of our businesses.

Copies of the Accounts may be obtained from The Secretary, John Brown and Company Limited, 8 The Sanctuary, London, SW1P 3JU, after 10th August, 1981.

Wall Street

New York, July 29.—Stocks were slightly higher in quiet early trading. The Dow-Jones industrial average was up a point and advances led advances by a small margin.

Analysts said trading is likely to remain quiet as the market awaits the results of the house vote on the Reagan administration's tax the Reagan administration's tax cut proposal.

In addition, they said any gains may be limited by concerns about the persistence of high interest rates despite evidence that the economy is slowing. A 1.3 per cent decline in leading economic indicators for June was reported earlier.

Stocks later extended their early

Jones industrial average was up four points and advances led declines seven to five. Conoco, the most actively traded stock, eased it to 301. Du Pont, one of Conoco's suitors, said it has received 56 per cent of Conoco's stock under its tender conoco's stock under its tender offer.

Among other actives, Jos. Schlitz brewing added 1 to 141. American Telephone 1 to 551 Stocks were moderately higher, although airlines were down as much as a point. United States air traffic controllers turned down a proposed contract with the Government, daising the possibility of a strike.

Government, daising the possibility of a strike.

Delta Air Lines fell a point to 641, while Ual Inc was off a at 213 and Trans. World a lower at 191. Eastern was off at 81.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, however, was ahead more than two points, and advances outnumbered declines by nearly a seven-to-five margin.

Stocks later extended their early gains in quiet trading. The Dow-Altred Chem
Altred Stores
Allied Stores
Allied Stores
Allied Allies
Amerida Rese
Amerida Rese
Am Brands
Am Brands
Am Brands
Am Brands
Am Can Am Can Am Can Am Can Am Can Am Can Am Stores Am Motors
Am Motors
Am Standard
Am Telephone
Am Telephone
Am Standard
Am Telephone
Am And Inc
Amarica Steel
Addiand Oil
Aliente Richfield
Ayco
Ayon Produces Fat Intrat Baco 18
Fat Sat Basses 48
Fat Sat Basses 48
Fat Sat Basses 48
Fat Sat Basses 48
Fat Fat Sat Basses 58
Gen Blectric 38
Gen Mills 34
Gen Mills 34
Gen Mills 34
Gen Hotori 32
Gen Mills 34
Gen Tire 38
Gen Sat Basses 58
Gentrol 18
Gen Tellec 28
Gentrol 28
Gentrol 38
Gentrol 38 Allied Cham
Allied Shares
Amerada Hest
Am Airlines Am Broadcast
Am Broadcast
Am Broadcast
Am Cranamid
Am Cranamid
Am Cranamid
Am Slee Power
Am Hons Shares
Am Telephone
And Telephone
And Telephone
And Telephone
And Telephone
Ashland Oli
Alionic Richield
Ashro
Aron Products
Bankers TR NY
Bankers PPG Ind
Proctar Camble
Pub Ser II & Gas
Raythéen
RCA Cerp
Republic Reel
Perroids Ind
Reynolds Metal
Schumberger
Senta Fe Ind
Schumberger
Senta Fe Ind
Schumberger
Senta Fe Ind
Schumberger
Senta Reebuck
Shell Oil Shell Trams
Rignal Ce
Singer
Sony
Sin Cal Edison
Staten
Singer
Sony
Sin Cal Edison
Staten
Reynold
Staten
Reynold
Sid Oil Indiana
Telegen
Tel

Canadian Pric
Abribi
Alcan Abanin
Algona Stati
Bell Triughtone
Construction
Construction
Construction
Guif Di
Rauthfreid Can Hodeen Bay Min
Hodeen Bay Oil
Inmaron
Lumperial Oil
Int Pipe
Mass.-Fergus
Royal Trust
Resgram
Steel Co
Thomson N 'A'
Walter Hirgen
Wolfer 为新华的新新州南部共和市长州西部城市长岛

M. J. H. Nightingale & Co. Limited 27/28 Lovat Lane London EC3R 8EB Telephone 01-621 1212 The Over-the-Counter Market

1960/	BI				Conto	MA	P/1	E
High	Low	Company	Price (	Ch'ge	Gross Divipi	71d	Actual	Taxed
110	100	ABI Hidgs 10% Culs	110	_	10.0	9.1
76	39	Airsprung Group	66		4.7	7.1	10.3	14.5
52	21	Armitage & Rhodes	45		1.4	3.1	18.3	42.9
200	92 1	Bardon Hill	198		9.7	4.9	9.6	11.7
104	88	Deborah Ord	102		5.5	5.4	5.0	9.6
126	88	Frank Horsell	100		6.4	6.4	9.0	21.7
110	39	Frederick Parker	65		1.7	2.6	28.3	-
110	64	George Blair	64	_	3.1	4.8	_	_
113	59	Jackson Group	109	_	7.0	6.4	3.4	7.7
130	103	James Burrough	129	-	8.7	6.7	9.4	11.8
334	244	Robert Jenkins	304		31.3	10.3	4.2	10.7
59	50	Scruttons " A "	58	-	5.3	9.1		8.3
224	191	Torday Limited	191		15.1	7.9	7.3	12.6
23	8	Twinlock Ord	14		_		_	_
90	68	Twinlock 15% ULS	77	-	15.0	19.5	_	_
56	35	Unilock Holdings	38		- 3.0	7.9	5.8	9.3
103	81	Walter Alexander	98		- 5.7	5.8
263	181		24		- 13.1	5.4

BARLOW HOLDINGS Limited

RESULTS FOR 1980

	1980 000s	1979 000s
Earnings before tax:
Tropical agriculture	£1,632	£2,743
Investment income	£1,669	£1,233
Profit on land sales	£3,648	£ 58
Dividends	£1,882	21,411
The report and accounts wer annual general meeting held	re adopte i on 28 Ju	ed at the

CHARTER CONSOLIDATED LIMITED

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF SHARE WARRANTS TO BEARER A final dividend of 6.60 per share will be payable on or after 13th August. 1991, to persone presenting coupon No. 28 detached from share warrants to bearer. The dividend will carry a tex rodit of 2 22557p per share. Coupons, which must be left four clear days for examination, may be lodged any weekday (Sehinday excepted) between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the Bearer Reception Office at this address, or at Credit Lymmus, 19 boulevard dee fishing, 75002 Paris, or Banque Robischid 21 rue Laffitts, 75003 Paris, Listing forms may be obtained on application. 30th July. 1981

BY THE FINANCIAL EDITOR

Back to the realities

Here at home the royal wedding may the oil market is being increasingly have given us a complete day's rest from dominated by government sales, the worrying about our economic and financial problems. But it seems as though most of the world's other major markets were also on short time as well without London there to show a lead,

The dollar opened slightly lower against the main European currencies, but firmed a little following publication of the US leading economic indicators whose 1.3 per cent decline in June underlined that the eonomy was still slowing following the previous week's statistics. These showed that there was a 1.9 per cent fall in the economy in the second quarter. Even after last week's surprisingly good US money supply figures, there is still as yet no sign that the Federal Reserve is going to allow interest rates to fall, but at least the sort of pressure that was building up for a further increase has now receded.

Wall Street, already edgy over President Reagan's tax programme, has seen all this before, but managed to go higher yesterday on hopes that the weakening economy will reduce credit demands and interest rates.

The rest of the world has become just as obsessed with US rates as the US itself and until there is some end to the stalemate across the Atlantic, countries like the UK, Germany and France will just have to grin and bear high interest rates whatever the domestic difficulties they cause. The West German bond market tried to take heart yesterday from rumours that budget cuts would provide some scope for a reduction in German rates. But while the dollar strengthens the way it did against the Deutschemark on Monday the Bundesbank has precious little room for manoeuvre.

At least at home the Bank of England has steadied the nerves of the money markets, and France managed to trim money rates fractionally yesterday, but it will be some time before there is a decisive enough trend in the US to permit other world rates to come down significantly. Meanwhile the UK equity market will today be taking its usual lead from ICI's half-year figures, where the chairman's comment about current trading will be more important than the figures themselves.

Conoco

Behind the auction

It would be foolish to read any great industrial logic into the intensifying battle for Conoco. The United States has long been characterized by what is known as the "chief executive syndrome" — the machismo desire of heads of large corporations to make the grand gesture. Seagrams in search of the big buy to spend its cash; du Pont with a new chief executive pressurized by the expectations of shareholders building up behind him; the major oil companies in falling tayour with their shareholders and made suddenly aware of their freedom to manoeuvre without Justice Department restrictions — this heady mixture has brought its own combustion. It proves little beyond the fact that planning of seedcorn diversification by multinationals will always be regarded as second best to a major take-over as the only means of affecting returns in any substantial way. In so far as there is any logic, the honours probably lie with du Pont. Over the last two decades du Pont, like ICI and the leading German chemical groups, has constantly toyed with the idea of moving back "upstream" from chemicals to raw materials base of its own, even planning at one time to build its own basic petrochemical plant in the United States.

It has always withdrawn from the decision on the grounds that the oil companies, with their stranglehold on crude oil resources, left them too little room to compete.

Now that the concession system is breaking down in the Middle East and dominated by government sales, the same restraints no longer apply. It could, of course, be argued that it is precisely at a time like this, when a company can play the market and vary its sources, that it is foolish to spend large sums assuring supplies. Certainly most analysts had expected du Pont to seek purchases in the pharmaceutical or other value-added businesses. The justifi-cations put forward by Mr Edward Jefferson, du Pont's new head are probably post hoc. The rapidity of negotiations between Conoco and du Pont, Conoco's preferred suitor following the Seagram bid smacks of opportunism. Yet, from Conoco's point of view, du Pont would add rather than simply repeat its business, bringing to it a large research base and a position downstream in the market that it has been lacking so

Market changes

The reasoning of the oil companies in the Conoco fray and on the sidelines — Mobil, Texaco and Gulf — arises from a quite different starting point. Ever since the energy crisis of 1972-73, companies have seen the writing on the wall so far as continued oil growth was concerned. Hence the succession of moves - with the single and interesting exception of Texaco — to buy into coal, minerals and nuclear technology. But these have been seen largely as long term investments. Whatever the theory, the oil market since then has consistently brought, with a succession of crises, better returns than any other business in which they have been involved.

What has happened in the last six months or so is a growing suspicion by the oil companies that real oil prices will not continue to rise through the eighties and provide the mainstay of their business until their diversification ef-forts pay off in the nineties. If the current charge of the elephants represents any trend it is this: that, freed from the previous constraints of antitrust sentiment, the oil companies may now be feeling their strength in a drive for much more ambitious diversification

Conoco's coal reserves are the second largest in the United States and for companies late in the diversification field take-over represents a quick way to the head of the race.

Less acceptable may be another development in oil company thinking. Given a dramatic lowering in oil demand forecasts, the biggest single problem of oil companies today is a surplus of refining capacity. Just as the great mergers of the early years of the oil industry by Rockefeller and others were carried out to give scale to growth, so the oil industry may now be entering a period of mergers to cope with lack of growth through rationalization and closures of facilities — a trend that could develop as much in Europe as in the U.S.

Turning point

And yet one may be forgiven for thinking that the lessons of the Conoco affair will be rather simpler than this. The assumption that the turning point in oil growth has arrived stems from an extrapolation of current demand trends confused by the economic recession. It may well be that those trends are here to stay over the long-term, although the oil industry has tended to get its assumptions badly wrong over the last few years. But the central factor also remains that, for the next five years, oil supplies remain precariously dependent on the Middle East. And the reasonable assumption must be that peace in the Middle East will not reign for long.

The stock exchanges of both Europe and the U.S. have now downgraded oil stocks to the point that it is considerably cheaper at the moment to buy reserves by buying a company than going out and developing oil sources of one's own. Conoco has substantial oil reserves in the North Sea and North America. It may well prove a good straight investment for any suitor, whatever the industrial logic.

At first glance Mrs Thatcher's announcement on Monday of new measures to cut youth unemployment looked like a clear victory for the Tory moderates and Mr Jim Prior, the Employment Secretary, in particular.

Street riots and increas-ingly dismal forecasts on youngsters out of work had it seemed forced the Prime Minister and Treasury ministers to accede to demands for Thatcher appeared to give her personal endorsement to Mr Prior's ambitious proposals for a £1,000m programme to take all school leavers out of the dole queues by 1983, which went to Cabinet committee two weeks ago.

mittee two weeks ago.

'Our aim' she declared echoing Mr Prior's own words, "is to reach the position where all young people on leaving school either move into further education, find a job, or are given the chance of vocational training or community sertraining or community ser-

But a closer look at the — which will cost £150m this year and a further £700m in 1982 — reveals that the hard-liners have managed to preserve their tough mone-tarist policies virtually intact. Treasury ministers seem to have successfully resisted any accept to boost employment by increasing overall public spending and hence reflating demand.

emand, Instead, they will be look-ing for offsetting savings in other programmes when the annual review of public spending takes place this autumn. (The cost of the measures this year will come out of the contingency reserve so will not affect the planned spending total.)

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Geoffrey
Howe, reinforced this message on Tuesday evening when he hinted that if compensating savings were not made taxes might have to rise as a consequence.

The extra spending on youth employment measures has undoubtedly made the Treasury's task of checking public spending growth more difficult. Even before the new measures it was evident that fresh cuts in spending pro-grammes were becoming harder than ever to secure.

Failure to get the cuts the Treasury wants, makes the government's hopes of reduc-ing taxes before the next election increasingly remote. But there is as yet no sign that the Government is prepared to abandon its mediumterm financial strategy which envisages a continuing fall in public sector borrowing as a proportion of gross domestic product over the next three

What is more, Mrs Thatcher has announced a significant new measure which adopts hardline Tory thinking on what are seen as the inef-ficiencies and distortions in

Prior's jobs package: could it be a hollow victory?

THE NEW EMPLOYMENT MEASURES
1982-83	Cost in Numbers	affected
Setting up 20 information technology centres, each taking about 30 trainses on 6-min courses.	£5m	: · N/a ·
Extra resources to provide courses for children staying on at school or enrolling in further education.	£60m	50,000 extra to continue in education next year.
Extra cash for the Youth Opportunities Programme to provide places for every school leaver by Christmas and other youngsters unemployed for three months within following three months.	£ 3 5 0 - £400m	Extra 110,000 places 1981-82 (bringing total to 550,000).
Extra help to support apprenticeships in industry and prevent apprentice redundancies.	1 £11m	8,000 extra apprenticeships and 4,000 saved from re- dundancy.
£15 weekly subsidy for employers for each under-18 worker recruited during first year after leaving school, provided they are paid less than £40 a week.	£60	1 5 - 2 0 , 0 0 0 taken off register by March 1983.
Lowering eligible age for Job Release Scheme from 64-to 63 this November and to 62 from February 1982.	£150m	Extra 57,000 taken off register by March 1983.
Payment of higher supplementary benefit rate to unemployed people aged over 60 drawing benefit for more than a year, if they opt to retire early.	£20m	Extra . 45,000 taken off register by March 1982.
Extra money for Community Enterprise Programme and voluntary organisations to take on more volunteers.	£12m	N/a the labour market created by the labour market created by trade union bargaining. This is the scheme, reputedly the brainchild of, Professor Alan Walters, the Prime Minister's special economic adviser, which will pay employers a £15-a-week subsidy for youngsters aged under 18 employed in their first year of leaving school, provided they are paid less than £40 a week.

This scheme takes as its nd national insurance contributions from those in work)

This scheme takes as its starting point the belief that youth unemployment is higher than it need be because wages paid to mexperienced young people are too high in relation to adult earnings. By giving employers a financial incentive to pay youngsters less than £40 a week, substantially below present pay rates in most jobs, the Government is acting to force down market jobs, the Government is acting to force down market wage rates for young people.
It hopes that more jobs for youngsters will be created as a result, both directly in the subsidized firms and as a consequence of the spill-over effects on the pay of young people in general.

The Walters scheme, as it was undoubtedly intended to, poses particular difficulties for the 27 statutory waters.

for the 27 statutory wages councils, covering three million workers in poorly uniqu-

ized occupations such as catering and retailing, which fix minimum wage rates.

The four largest councils, covering two million workers.

Total cost £700m gross £4-500m net (taking account of savings in social security benefits and extra tax all set rates of more than £40 a week to 17-year-olds and two of them set rates of more than £40 to 16-year-olds. Employers paying less than this are liable for prosecution and will obviously not be able and will obviously not be able to take advantage of the subsidy scheme.

Mrs Thatcher said in Parliament on Tuesday that she hoped that the Wages Councils, independent bodies comprising representatives from employers, trade unions and independents "will take into account the measures we proposed." But the unions proposed". But the unions will fiercely resist any move within the councils to cut the statutory rates for young-sters. A spokesman for the Trades Union Congress said yesterday that any such reduction could put at risk union participation in wages councils. Union opposition to pay rate cuts for youngsters in work is likely to impose a big check on the subsidy scheme's effectiveness. But even without such opposition the omens for its success are anpropitious.

In an unpublished review of special employment pro-grammes the Manpower Services Commission points out that two previous subsidy programmes, the Small Firms Employment Subsidy and the Youth Employment Subsidy, had to be abandoned because it was found that most of the people being subsidized (three out of four in the case of YES) would have been employed anyway or were being employed only at the expense of others, for example adults on full pay.

The Government admits that the scheme will subsidize youngsters who already have jobs, and that there is a risk that older workers will be displaced by the attractions of cheaper young alternatives. But the Department of Employment reckons that the scheme could take perhaps 15-20,000 school leavers permanently off the register by March 1983 when it is fully operational, and Ministers believe that by reducing wage costs it will lead to the longterm creation of new permanent jobs.

What impact are the remaining measures likely to have on unemployment, overall? The Government estimates that the package as a whole could take an extra 216,000 people off the unemployment register by March 1983 (108,000 by March 1982), bringing the total reduction in the unemployment total stemming from special employment measures to half a million. It is now just over 300,000.

But of these measures only one (the subsidy scheme) offers any promise of additional permanent jobs. The others involve straight forward substitution of people in existing jobs (early retire-ment) or the removal of people from the labour force temporarily (the Youth Opportunities Programme and other measures for education and training).

While these can undoubtedly have a big impact on the unemployment total by reducing the supply of labour, they do nothing to expand demand.

The scale of the Government's immediate plans for ment's immediate plans for-taking people out of the labour force must also be called into question.

In particular, the Youth Opportunities Programme, which provides temporary work experience and training for periods up to a year, is already strained to bursting point to cope with its trebling in size over the past three

But there is one group which has suffered, and will go on suffering, even if plans for the young umemployed come to fruition. They are the older long-term unemployed whose prospects are crucially whose prospects are crucially dependent on the creation of new jobs. The numbers unem-ployed for over a year are expected to double to over a million by 1983, and their numbers will go on rising for some time afer total unemployment peaks.

The only programme specifically for this group—the Community Enterprise Programme, which covered 15,600 people at the end of June—helps only a tiny fraction on a temporary basis, and no significant expansion of CEP was announced on Monday.

Without on overall expansion of demand in the economy there is little real prospect of a substantial fall in adult unemployment. Indeed there are dangers that the new measures announced by the Government could by the Government could make things worse, with older workers displaced by younger ones under the subsidy scheme or the YOP and the government's intention to seek compensating savings in other public spending programmes bringing extra unemployment in their wake.

Unless the "wets" press home their advantage by pushing for reflation now, their apparent success could their apparent success could prove a Pyrrhic victory. Ministers will return from their summer holidays to face the public spending review with everything still to fight

Frances Williams

Economic notebook

No easy solution to sterling's slide

As Britain begins to throw off 1976 when the pound's disas-its royal wedding euphoria terous decline obliged Britain its royal wedding euphoria this morning, it is faced once again with all those harsher realities of national life, like unemployment, riots and the plight of sterling. The stargazers of the Treasury and the City return to search for clues to where the pound's present slide on the currency markers will end.

With sterling now in its more familiar role as one of the feebler currencies, it is difficult to believe that not long ago there appeared to be no limit to its ascent. By the early weeks of 1981, it had soared to its highest level for six years. Since then it has dropped against the dollar by an average of 2 cents a week.

The rise and fall of the pound has been spectacular. Between those dark days of to seek help from the International Monetary Fund, and last winter when it was climbing through the stratosphere, the rate of exchange against the dollar rose over 50 per cent. The subsequent drop now exceeds 20 per cent.

Sterling's rise and fall against other currencies during period is only slightly less dramatic. Its effective rate against a basket of important currencies rose by around a third and has since fallen by about 12 per

What has caused such a great reversal in international senti-ment towards the pound? There were three main factors supporting sterling at the turn of the year. The first was what may be called the "That-cher factor". This represented a general belief that the "Iron stand firm in the face of demands from the trade unions. The second factor was ster-ling's status as a "petro-currency".

The third was the level of interest rates in Britain, which were then among the highest for the industrialized nations and consequently made the pound an attractive investment. All of these three factors have either diminished in importance or completely disap-The "Thatcher factor" was seriously undermined on February 18, when the Government capitulated to the threat of a national strike by coalminers over proposals to close 23 pits. This capitulation Even the mild recovery in had a far more shattering British output in 1982 fore-effect on the currency marcast by economists at the kets than it is usually credited with. It is probably no coincidence that the pound's effective rate reached its peak only four 'days before the Government's decision not to the property of the control allow the pit closures to go ahead and to increase subsidies to the National Coal

Board instead. At the same time, the drop in world demand for oil and the consequent glut has driven down prices, and reduced the attraction of sterling as a "petro-currency". Britain has already had to cut by 10 per cent the price at which it sells North Sea oil and there remains the possibility of further cuts. Some economic forecasters now believe that it will be 1983 before the demand for oil will be sufficient to set prices on a rising trend again. As far as interest rates are concerned, those in the United States had already overtaken British rates by last autumn. But, since then interest rates in several other important countries have also gone up. Moreover, by May the differential between Eurodollar and Eurosterling deposit rates had widened to

If these developments were esponsible for the dramatic about turn in the fortunes of sterling, other, more recent events have served to further damage confidence. These were the riots in Britain's

Not only do the riots shatter the image of Britain as a socially and politically stable country, but they put a large question mark over the government's ability further cut public expenditure.

In the short-term, what now Ross Davies happens to sterling will largely depend on the course lady" would not waver in her of United States interest determination to defeat in rates if they edge downwards flation in Britain and would in the later months of this year, this will take the pressure off sterling. But if the pound is regarded with such suspicion at the trough the business cycle, this bodes ill for the upturn.

On every measure Britain's lack of international competitiveness is desperately apparent, in spite of the recent fall in the pound. Even if the Government is successful in holding down the rate of wage the 1981-82 pay round and in pushing productivity up. Britain's competitiveness will still not be restored to anything like the position in Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development is expected by them to help turn this year's huge £5,000m current account surplus into a small deficit next year. This means that a weakness on the balance of payments will quickly emerge as a contraint on any more substantial recovery, in spite of the help provided by North Sea oil. One answer to this would be for the Government to seek to get the rate for sterling to fall much further. This would help restore more of Britain's lost competitiveness, pushing up the price of our exports and raising the price at which imports come into the country.

But whether the Govern-ment favours this course of action or not, sterling seems likely to fall as soon as a current account deficit begins to appear.

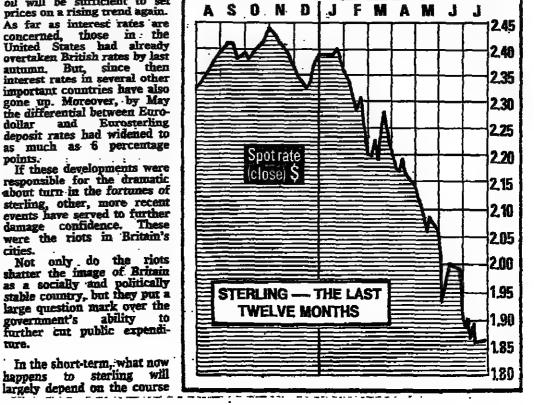

The only escape route, avoiding a renewed downward spiral of sterling depreciation-inflation and further sterling depreciation is the one that is not open to the present Government. That is combining a sterling policy. This is not open partly because the depreciation with an incomes cause the Government is ideologically opposed to incomes policies and partly because in the present state of relations with the trade unions, no agreement tween the two parties would be possible.

More hopefully, the docu-ment published last week by the TUC-Labour Party Liaison Committee (Economic issues facing the next Labour government) begins to inch towards the question of an incomes policy, but finally plumps for a combination of sterling depreciation and import con-

However, even this approach requires some restraint on incomes growth. The document says only that "an agreed policy to control inflation will be essential to safeguard expansion". What this really means must remain to be seen. But it could be important for sterling.

Melvyn Westlake

Business Diary: Rod makers query casting vote

I was surprised to see an announcement headed "Partridge annoyed" about arrangements for this year's Game Fair, which opens at Partridge, of course, have every reason to be annoyed at fairs celebrating their despatch although in my experience, however upset they may be about something, they rarely hang around long enough to argue the point. The partridge concerned about the Game Fair, however, is not the sort you shoot, but the species from which you buy fish-hooks and Redditch. Aian Bramley, Partridge's managing director, is annoyed about arrangements for the rod casting demonstrations which are so popular a feature of the Game Fair. His rods - viz, A. E. Partridge of

There, there Miss Brown. The edds were always against Lady Diana tossing her bouquet up to the fourth floor company makes rods from split cane, whereas the cast-ing demonstrations, by such stars of sedge and osier as Ian Blagburn, will be given over to rods made from a rival material, carbon fibre.

Many of the bigger rod firms have invested heavily in carbon fibre. Most casting stars, says Bramley, are hooked up with carbon fibre firms and it is their products therefore at Stowe this week. of place at Stowe this week. In fact, Ian Blagburn, who demonstrates casting for Hardy's, did demonstrate a small cane fly rod for Partridge last year. Bramley argues that it is not good enough that split came rod makers should have to rely on the courtesy of friends in the trade for a spot in this showcase. We are a British manufacturer and priority is being given in the demonstrations to people casting with rods that are imported or made from imported blanks," he says. Although it rather damages his patriotic case, he did offer to bring over a Dutch casting expert for this year's fair but was told it was too late to alter the arrangements. Par-tridge will demonstate cane rod-making at the fair.

Hullabaloo

Black Country (above right) boat builder Malcolm Braine has just completed what he claims to be the most opulent narrow boat ever to grace our canals. Sixty feer long and weighing 20 tons, the steel-hulled craft, yet to be named, has a large cabin built entirely of exotic hard woods and equipped with central heating, radio boardroom by its new owners, Rochdale Canal Company of Manchester, one of the few remaining independent canal operators. They were resurrecting a tradition daing from the boarder of canal traval when heyday of canal travel when So to speak neyday or canal travet when rival owners yied with each other to have the most outstanding flagship.

All very laudable, we thought, but basn't Rochdale been reduced to collecting tolls on a case and a half mile streeth of one and a half mile stretch of canal which is part of the Manchester link system? It used to operate the 44 miles between Rochdale and Manchester, but this has been cut in a number of places by the M6 and local authority development rendering it useless for bosting. Where will it show the flag in

Rochdale's managing direct-or, Denis Hawkins was amused. tried for allaged currency

telephone, tv, hi-fi, bar and "Yes it's true, we only have one boardroom. Boardroom? and a half miles of working ves. savs Braine of Pelsall, it canal, but from it we have boardroom. Boardroom?

Yes, says Braine of Pelsall, it canal, but from it we have yes, says Braine of Pelsall, it canal, but from it we have would be used as a floating access to the whole canal system, and we shall be able to system, and we shall be able to wherever we like." fly the flag wherever we like." And the price of this return to the days of gracious living? Nobody is saying.

Carlo Bonomi. 40-year-old head of one of Italy's biggest family empires, the Invest-Beni Immobili group, is having second thoughts about the value of keeping out of the limelight. Discretion used to be the watchword both for him and his mother, Anna Bonomi Bolchini, a leading figure in the Milan financial establishment, who retired from the chairmanship of Beni Immobili five weeks ago. But it did not prevent him

Bonomi came out with his head high, as the court acquitted him. He is naturally bitter about offences along with Roberto

Calvi of Banco Ambrosiano.

a legal system which allows over 28 days to be wasted in a prison cell, yet provides no legal redress for the damage done to his reputation.
So Bonomi, who is well acquainted with Anglo-Saxon business methods, having worked as a young man with Chase Manhatan and Lazard Freres in New York, is expected to encourage a policy of more information, to help restore the image of a group with an annual turnover of over $1,300m (£695m) and 12,000 employees. The heart of the group is Beni Immobili Italia, a property and holding company, flanked by two sub-holdings, Invest and Coge, which control about 100 companies, mostly in Italy but also in the United States and Latin America and with Dominion Insurance in Britain.

Copies of a spoof telegram from Buck House appeared on telegraph poles in the north-east Surrey village of Thames Ditton before a children's street party yesterday. Dated July 21 it read: "My fiance and I thank you warmly for pour invitation to your street party on the day of the wedding. We have cancelled all other arrangements after the ceremony and expect to be with you about 4.30. Can anyone put us up for the night as we would like to stop."

EXCL

Mr. P

Velore

Brvan 27th,

UNIVERSITY RESULTS SERVICE

The following results are issued by the University of Leicester:

EA DEGREE IN SINGLE SUBJECTS
Classics Second class Honours (upper division): Rachel A Emmurson dvision): Agase E Debeaham. Wendy Sitaw.

English

First class Honours: Fiona J Stafford, Second class Honours (upper division): D C Barclay, Jane Calagnan, M B Chew. R J Deane, Rachael L Foxwell. Deltah C T Pawluch. Carolyn A Turnor, Daphne M wedpury. Anya Whitehead. Jane A Ystes.

Second class Honours (lower division): Helen R Adult. Helen K Sanks. A Bean. Catherine A Bilham, Christine A Brookes, Ruth H Campbell. Slan Y Gase. J S D Choster, Nicola M Gollett. Lorinda Coulson. Caire P Day. Catherine B Dunn. Cella A English. Margaret ! Hillery. N C M Holmes. J H Key. Clair F M McDowell. Caroline M J Newns, K L Ross, Deborah R Sayer, Carole Stephen. J R R Tattersall. Anno T Taylor. M C Tuniswood, Julia Wassell, Susan A Whittaker. Joanna C Wicks, Julia Wright.

Telred Class Honours: Geraldine M Bowden, Janet Dalrymple. Ceclila K Edmondson, Katherine J Else, Sandra McNearnle, Catherine A Ryan,

French

Second class Honours (upper division): P S Boardmen. Lesley K J E D Saunders. Lynn Tapsell.

Geotogy
First class Honours: M G Patterson.
Second class Honours: (upper division): B D Fett, D C Kitson, K C
Nelson, G A Nicholis, Catherine
O'Brien, D Parker, Karen Pendlebury.
S E Peters. P D Smith, G J Dakin,
A F Devolo, H O Dodd, C J Downes,
M J Gillard, I M Gostick, R N Hook,
R J McKendrick, Amanda L M Mulley,
G L H Ratcliffe, T M Smith, T J
Starley, P Thomas, Ingrid D Wheeler,
G P Wignin.
Thompson.

hompson. Geology with Geophysics Second class Hensurs (upper wision): N J Cooper, D G Fosier, 25 Etchnam McNearnle, Catherine A Ryan, French
Second class Honours (upper division): P S Boardman. Lesley K
Nixon. Christine Smith, Susan J Street,
Gillien E Tysoc. Barbara I Wright.
Second class Honours (lower division): Sandra David, Janel Edmonds. Elisabeth M Glazaner.
Deborah A Halicti. A D Harrod, Jane A
Hutton, Kalluyn A Lomas, Elsine
McLaughlin. Dorothy J Morgan.
Maria J O'Connor. Frances A Read.
Cargline E Sindail, Louise H West,
Geography
First class Honours: C N Blacklock, Janel D M Bridal.
Second class Honours: C N Blacklock,
Seried Honours: C N Black Sacond class Honours (lower division); P D Helm. C I Lodge. Mining Ceology
Second class Honours (upper twiston): P Cleeson, K J Roberts, Stevenson. Second class Headers (lower division): J A Tomailn. First class Honours ; M W V Felgate class Honours; M w v ferSecond class Honours (upper divisecond class Honours (lower divisecond class Honours (lower division): A S Brown, S M Halston, Janette E Hughes, A J Thoping

Third class Honours: Eve R Dart
Pess: D v Reeding,
Mathematics with Astronomy
Second class Honours (upper division): J P Shannan

Second class Honours (upper division): J P Shantan Physics
First class Honours: D A Waltham
Second class Honours: (upper division): J E Hill, G Singh, Sactond class Honours: (lower division): J R A King, I M Scott
First class Honours: P R Dunsmutt, Sach P Reid, With Astrophysics
First class Honours: P A Brown,
First Class Honours: P A Brown,
G P Reid, W Stangers, W Walton,
G J Kellett, R S McCheyne, M Davison,
B J Kellett, R S McCheyne, M L
Parkinson
Second class Honours: (lower division): S J Brown, P W Davison, B J Kellett, R S McCheyne, M L
Parkinson
Second class Honours: (lower division): M D Burrage, R A Lewis
Third class Honours: S R Chambers,
J Choules, G C Povey, K N Walson,
S R Faller, K M Savyer, A J Smith,
D E Trotter, I N Walker

LEICESTER

ART HISTORY STUDIES

Second class Henours (upper divipar) i Pulling J. Cockrill, K. Edge, invara W. Elson, Suzanne G. Lindley, Socond class Henours (lower divipar): Hearinia K. Mumann, Amanda Newby, M. A. Wolf.
Third class Henours; Allson F. M.
I. Emily R. I. Hall, Deborah J. inyard.
Asgrolai: Christine G. Taylor.

FRENCH/GERMAN
DORD CLASS NOROUTS (WPOST diviSATED J HISTORY, P Ni Loughile
PRINTON, Vanesse L Wolley,

Second class Honours (upper divi-n): Carole A Claridge, Anna L

iffin. Second class Honours (lower divi-so)! Class M Hudson, Alexandra F sughran, P G Soulsby.

BA DEGREE IN COMBINED STUDIES Second class Hangurs (upper divi-

CMINEN A RITTER. Joan Spectors, N. Voke, H. J. Voss, Stephne J. W. And.
Julin G. Weiham.
Second class Honours (lower division): P. N. Andrews, Jonaller E. Anikey, Annabel R. Bean, Judith Boddy, Patricia A Brockley, S. Callery, Angels M. Causin, Richel M. Cousins, Frenkin, Sharon Golvin, Georgins J. Gaskin, Kathryn E. Guy, Lorraine E. Harris, R. P. Henshaw, Janet L. Hubbard, Johanna C. Ivos. T. J. Jacobs, Calre E. Jonkiss, Denise E. Jones, Donubari Kogburg, A. P. McDowell, Sarol Mistry, G. E. Mitchell, Caitryrin A. Moss, Anna M. Nagy, Barbara A. Rediarski, Cainsine A. Reces, Janet M. Reces, Litzabeth W. Rowiands, Margaret A. Seymour, Dorothy C. Shellard, Janice S. Thomas, Giyn. L. Walmsley, J. P. Young, Third class Monoursi Mary E. A. Third class Monoursi Mary E. A. Third class Monoursi Mary E. A. Tolicherine P. Mortarty, Valerte A. Powell, Elizabeth C. Warting Mary E. A. Tolicherine P. Mortarty, Valerte A. Powell, Elizabeth C. Warting Monoursi Mary E. A. Tolicherine P. Mortarty, Valerte A. Powell, Elizabeth C. Warting Monoursi Mary E. A. Tolicherine P. Mortarty, Valerte A. Powell, Elizabeth C. Warting Mondy.

BA DEGREE IN MODERN LANGUAGE STUDIES

STUDIES
Socond Class Honours (upper division); i D Connors, Deborah A Crew, Sivan P Davies, Laura A Park,
Second class Honours (tower division); i Las J Bennett, Philomena Hayward, Caroline L Hope, Jennifer A Classer.

Second Story: Lead Beaute Hope, Joseph Ward, Caroline L Hope, Joseph Ward, Caroline L Hope, Joseph Ward, Story: Helen Bowden, Third class Hoppurs: Helen Bowden, Susan C Brown, Jennifer A Vanbergen, Susan C Brown, Jennifer A Vanbergen, Susan C Brown, Jennifer A Vanbergen, Susan C Brown, Jennifer March 1988, 1988

Susan C Brown, Jennier A Vandergen.

Susan C Brown, Jennier A Vandergen.

See DEGREE IN SINCLE SUBJECTS

Biological Sciences

First class Monours: Nary D Hardwick, S N Walker,

Son I Walker,

Solida Strand Hardwick, S J Bradisugh,

Solida Strand Hardwick, R J Bradisugh,

Solida S Hardwick, Bardwick,

Solida S Hardwick, B J Bradisugh,

Solida S Hardwick, B J Bradisugh,

R Edwards, Julif E Elliott,

R Edwards, Julif E Elliott,

R Solida S Hardwick,

Solida S Hardwick,

S Newbert, J J Overell, S M Picks,

B Newbert, J J Overell, S M Picks,

F R Pluffin, Jacqueline A Rayson,

I S Roberts, Sandra J Roberts, Gillian

N Sbloy Mirk Lewin. J Simpkin,

Words S Hardwick,

Walling, C Wymbe, Amanda

R Wynne,

Second Class Honours (lower divi-

Susan R Wailing, C C Wymbe, Amanda R Wynne, Class Henours (lower dwiston): D J Bent, A L Brown, Sophle A Bruton) D J Bent, A L Brown, Sophle A Bruton J J Clements, Ann M Clode Bita J Crooks, Johniter C Field, Susan P Fothergill, Pairitis A Gorman, Ann W Groves, D M Harfita, Catherine V Hooger, Anne E Hurdman, P H Jackson, Sandra A Kingsbury, R H Jackson, Sandra A Kingsbury, Nicomanson, Sandra Miller, Anna Moseman, P O'Rath Nicola J Overlan N T Sharpe, J M Stanfield Deborah Thompson, Sandra M Wilde, M D Winder, J Kalfelding, Sandra R Synney, Sandra

Chemistry
First class Honours: P A Brown,
R T Cook. Carol Ellis.
Second class Honours (upper division): A O Adchiran G J Baker, K N
Raker, L D Camidae, P J Glewlow, J W
Davies, G H Jones, A M Lannon, H L
Robinson, J S Sanghera, L Set, C L
White, P A Young.

While P A louing
Second class Honours (lower division): G J Bennett. N P Clare, J
Fitrnattick, N S Goval, R P Gray, R J
Harris, P D G Holme, N A Isaacs,
K James, R A Lanzer, A S Pena, P W
Fuff. M M Squire, Glynic Taylor,
Javne E Wiljatt, Rostych Yahya,
Third class Honours: K Payne, Tania
A Prince, A Sawlak, D J Slater, A

Second class Honours (lower divi-tion): Sargh E Cooke, Julie D Simons, B W Wren

B W Wren. Third class Manapes: Yvonno J Benion, E Elettheriou, A Q Poland. Pass: C C Hanselman, M J Varioy.

CHEMISTRY WITH GEOCHEMISTRY

First class Monours: R A Burns, A J W Markwick, 5 J Reeson.
Second class Honours (upper division): D S Carrington, M E Dunn, P J Gallagher, G Jones, Second class, Honours (lower division): Karen J Smith, N W Taper, Third class Honours: A C Mediand, Engineering

First class Honours: P A A Stowart.
Y E Tan. C II Tong.
Second class.
Honours: (upper Hivitori): G N P Sarlow. T J H Cahna.
M J Douglas, S I Duyrer, P G Gas.
R J Goodship, Plaich, P Drite.
T J Hand S J Sharme N D Stokell, T J Hong S J Sharme N D Stokell,
Hong, B D G Winner
Hivisori J I Constandopoulus, A P
HILLAND C J S Lamb down Leona
Hivisori J Constandopoulus, A P
HILLAND C J S Lamb down Leona
W R Palmer, S P Par, S J SeyedSeff, Shallm Thakir, G Truelove, K A White, J S Woods.

Kajsidzim. Pass: R E Szionce.

Pass: I Bennett

Gilvan, Aegrotati \tetiawa T Ulan. FRENCH!POLITICS

Foot-Sain, Chilan & Tipping, Anno-Sacong class Honours (lower city-sion); Chrisline Ratterby, N & Buchanan, Swan J Cavendish, M (nors, Ananda M Hunber, M J M Joso, M J Klicourse, H A Kunenun, Rose J Pickering, G P Rhodes, M J Turney B.Sc. DEGRES IN ARCHAEOLOGICAL Andrea Shella M O'A Socond class Honours (apper dis-lon) i A Walboot Second class Honours (lower dist-lon) i W Williams

E.Se. DEGREE IN. COMBINED

First class Honours: Julie E Allural
Sacand class Honours: Julie E Allural
Sacand class Honours: Julie E Allural
Sacand Carry Honours (spaper divisala). D G Birlor, R Rocciptole, Cannel M A C Curry Bells Carlord,
Cannel M A C Curry Bells Carlord,
Macnal-Starit. Suzanne M Mason. Bars
Sally E Freeman. C R French P.
Macnal-Starit. Suzanne M Mason. Bars
J Marrett, N H Molcalle, J R P Oissowis C D Part, D J Ralph, Rachel E Robertson, Fhloan J Shaw, G B
Shingleton, Catherine M Stodderd, Ariane G Strand, Healher J Syles,
R Alder-son Healher J Syles,
R Swilly Jann White (swer divisala). R Alder-sonH S M Barwany, Linds F Becked, Judin H Braiton, M A Callashan, Peneloge Cole, Elizabeth M Critchley,
Sharon Evans, Sally G Farret, Valerie
A Gibbs, R J Hall, D A Hancock, Knursheed Hayaloolah, Barbara-Anne
Henderson, G A Mill, Pamels Hitchin,
Hondson, B Marwand, Linds
Barbara-Anne Lynn, D J McKercer,
Christine A Marsh, A Newman, Leriey
A Parr, M N Selby, Caroline M B
Slevens, R M Thompson, Gillian D
Ward
Third Class Honours : Karen J L B.S. DEGREE IN COMBINED

Stevens: R M Thompson, Gillian D
Ward
Third class Honours: Karen J L
Brigila, Jennifer A Carter, Suzahne H
Growder, Sarah Drew, P N Dankley,
R J Irvine, C E Jones, A M Predous,
Elizabeth M A Toul,
Pass I Susan M Potter, Mamoons
Shakir

SCIENCES

SCHOOLS

First class Honours: L. S. Hogg.
Second class Honours (upper division): M. G. Askew, D. J. Becton, M. P. Bodenham, P. C. Coward, P. A. Dickies, T. J. Fountaine, Susan J. Hadley, P. A. Harris, R. W. Hughos, B. S. Morton, K. Murdoch, G. A. Phillips, A. S. Rutherford, W. R. Simms, N. J. Stecte, J. T. Swayne, Minaxi B. Thakkar, Carol. Widelase Honours (lower division): Nancy M. Alborough, E. C. Ratton, J. P. Boardman, J. N. Childs, N. I. Cotton, L. Cane, Gillian A. Grossdele, B. J. Fast, S. Surchiffe, I. J. Taberner, P. J. Udd, T. Surchiffe, I. J. Taberner, P. J. Gross, P. J. Gross, M. Marku, J. M. Pindes, C. E. Polly, D. A. H. Truelov, J. H. Gross Honours: C. M. Alberson, J. H. Gross, G. E. Polly, D. A. H. Truelov, Economic and Social Histone. Economic and Social History First class Honours: A J Adams.
Second class Honours (upper discont): D P Bennett, Alson J Brown, Jenuifer M Higgs, T D Jones, Disconding McGine, Janet F

Brown, Jennifer M Higgs, T D Jones, F K Laken, Alleen McGine, Janet F Russoil.

R K Laken, Alleen McGine, Janet F Russoil.

Second Class Honours (lower decided of the Control of the Cont

Paterson.

Politics
First class Honours: J T Hamin.
Second class Honours (apper dividen): M A Brown, N M Clinic, K B Coomis, Mattern A C Dixon, A fullerton, W M Jessett, K C Lamb.
N R Polick, D Precc, P S Robinson.
Second N R Pollock, D Preece, P S Robinson, P O Whrealey, Honoures (Iewer division): Seima Akbik, Bernadolle M Barlow, S Canim, Mary Carroll, Clare M Chapman, S A Chudry, A R Cokor, W Egoat, P J Evans, D H W Feld, Caltriona M Gleeyon, P P Gnffin, Carroline S Halston, R P Harley, B A Harper, H O James, Wegan C Leyes, L C A Mills, T P Moss, P Mc Mould, L Marphy, Annie R Morgan, A J Norman, Debag M O'Connar, S M Price, Nabosan, Sonia Rowe, Diran L Schooling, Sonia Rowe, Diran L Schooling, Common, Abson L Rice, Merta B Wilnyckyl, Pass: S A Dibadail.

Second Clars Honours (upper division): M K Adenill-Adele. P I Bracley. M P Edina. Joanne E Heriow. G W Kelly, P J Slanton.
Second clars Honours (lower division): D A Beilinnham, A M Chlyors, Elizabeth Des, Norma Jenkins, F G McTowan.
Pass: R Richards. BA JOINT DEGREE IN ECONOMICS AND ECONOMIC HISTORY Second Clar Honours (upper division): 5 V Earley, V K Law, Sacond Class Monours (lower division): A 5 Narier. D C Pritchard.
Fass: P C I Chapman.
BSC ($CONOMICS) DEGREE
First class Monours: F Steinblormann.

Yin.
Second class Honours (lower division): J D H Rupday, E W Dyer, Paulina R Elistamby, J J Hayes, S C Hall, L N K Lam Thuon Mine.
Third class Honours: S T Agrotis, S P Erds!, S A Howard-Tripp, G Molfent, J M Ricketts, Moffert, J M Ricketts,

Rick (SOCIOLOGY) DECREE

First chase Honours: A K Bassadone.
Harriet K Bradley, S M Dyson, Caroline
D Sharp.
Second class Honours (upper Mysian): Audrey C Bronnah, AndreMysian): Audrey C Bronnah, AndreMysian): Audrey C Bronnah, AndreMysian): Audrey C Bronnah, AndreMysian): Faline D Devis, Caroline M
Holt, Johanna E Kirkhy, S J Robey, Sandra M Sleminski, Hilary M Turnock.

LLB DEGREE

B.Sc. DEGREE

Pass list—aubject to confirmation
v Faculty Board and Senate:
First class Honours: P R Burton,
I D Hamon, T W Maskoll, V Pate, Second class Honours upper divides: T D Chochham, D P Decley, M R
ruks, D R Ferry, S A Founcil, J Hill, A L Lear, Ann E Longworth,
I R Maild P Niomoguk, Susan J
mith, P O Williams

Betties. Clarg V Dilkes. J Pond. Janek M Walls, Dane E Wright.

DECREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE (ASSOCIATED COLLEGE)

Pass list—subject to confirmation by Senate:
First class honours; Barbara J Bollhain, Pamela J Nighthneale. Jane L Roebuck, Jenniter A Scolle, Second class honours (lower divided); The Confirmation of the Confi

COMMITTEE FOR COLLECIATE STUDIES BACHELOR OF EDUCATION (HONOURS) DEGREE Pass list—Subject to confirmation by Senale:

LEICESTER POLYTECHNIC cond class honours (upper divi-1 Susan Anndars, Susan D Brace, S Dodd. I Evans, J Graves, Polly Han, Jayno M Sheiton-Knight, McLelan, Jayno M Shelton-Knight, R L Thomas, Jayno M Shelton-Knight, R L Thomas, Second class honours (lower division): Christine F Baty, Christine Cole, R J G Drage-Weston, Wendy Hammond, Linda M Housley, B Neon, Maren A Smith, Elizabeth Telford, Rosalind J Wilson, Jane H Wood Third class honours: Elaine S Cox, Trina Hotchin, P G Kouzaris, D J Mayes, Zoe Anne Titley, J A G Venton, T B Wright.

MENE COLLEGE

Second class honours (upper division): Sarah P Kisane.

Second class honours (lower division): Gerardina Demado, C Ekins, Valerie Glover Sharon L Johnson.

Evelyn S Kelly. Susan J Tyler.

Taird class honours: Hazel J Gibbons, Lorsine Htt., R H. Lith, W Trotman.

Pass: Wendy A Jupp.

MENE COLLEGE

Second class honours (upper division): R Barnes, Hilary C Rughes, Ann M Kolpht, S T F McLellan.

Second class honours (lower division): Junice E Allen, W Brophy, Lesley J Doughts, Pauline R Harishom, J Glones, Mary Starkey.

Third Class honours: Hiller R Harishom, J Glones, Mary Starkey.

Third Class Honours: Lower division): Jennifer C Cole, P J Vickers.

Second class Honours (lower division): Alemifer C Cole, P J Vickers.

Second class Honours: Lower division): Margaret M Brooks, Teresa J Lifford, Jacquelin Walker.

Third class Honours: I D Brown, Olwen S Hickmon, A D K Johnston.

D C Lindsley, M W Wortal.

BACHELOR OF EDUCATION

(ORDINARY) DEGREE NENE COLLEGE

BACHELOR OF EDUCATION (ORDINARY) DEGREE)

Subject to confirmation by Senate LEIGESTER POLYTECHNIG
Gredit: Wendy J Barbour. K M
Boocock, Helen C Bashell, Caroline A
Butler. Patricia A Calvert. Allaon
Currentes, P. Carrier, Louis J Caroline A
Butler. Lander J With J Dortes.
Kaihleen J Control J Grand. Caroline,
Kaihleen J Lander A Grant. Sarah K
Griffan Julia M Hoyland. Carletine
Jones. Jacquelline L Lamont. Michelle
McCall. Catherine I McLauchilin. J A
Warsh, Marilyn C Warshall, Vivienne A
Warsh, Marilyn C Warshall, Vivienne A
Warsh, Helen W Rifell. Janet A Robertshaw, Julie W Sico, Sara J Thomas, Willis, Elizabeth A Winham.
Pass. Adele J Berry. Julie A Birchall,
Lyn C Brice, Anne M Concannon.
Karen A Drage, S P Harrey, Marsaret
S E Jones, Kashmira Perci. Jacqueline S
Seriesticy. Linda G Shmina, Relen P
Smith. Neme College
Condity Prance G Blark, Perlse A

Smith.

NENS COLLEGE

Credit: Prances G Black. Denise A
Bonnetie. Jane E Buckley. Susan M
Butten Gillian L Caln. P M Gollins.
Mannaret J Cramp. Sandra J Garrey.
Jadith E Insten, Christine A Kerry.
Jadith E Insten, Christine A Kerry.
Tina J Marustak. Beveriev J Means.
Gonell Nagi. Susan E Newv. Lorraine M Perrott. Gwyn Pritchard.
Carolyn J Ranson. Corinae J Singleton.
Trudy A Stone. Lynkay A J Vincent.
Norma M Wardle, Linda J Waterali.
Wanda J Weelazz.
Pass: Ridget D Andrews. Kim D
Bassnet. Linds C Blaymny. Joanette B
Boucher. Frances G Clack, Julia C
Cutiler, Audrey D Denailson. Gillian D
Ellinit. Frances E Ford. Jasephine G
McCox. Hilary J Mountford. Bocusline M Patience. Julio P Sheppard.
Carol A Winerden. Inbar Woollard.
BOARD OF EDUCATION
Laicetar Polyiethnic
Pass: Linds E Booth. Karen P Sabins.
NEME COLLEGE NENE COLLEGE

La crème de la crème

ADMINISTRATION SECRETARY

We are an international sales organisation looking for a Secretary to work in our new luxury head office in Harrow. The successful candidate will be aged 20-30 and have good secretarial skills, a sense of humour, an ability to work on own initiative and be able to communicate with people in a friendly

This demanding and varied position involves a considerable amount of personnel and telephone work together with some consumer relations.

In addition to excellent salary we offer :-Luncheon vouchers of £5 per week; 20 days holiday per annum; Interest free season ticket loan.

If you would like to join our young successful team, please write enclosing C.V. to:

Philip Stephens, Administration Manager The Tupperware Company 130 College Road, Harrow HA1 1BQ

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT TO THE CHAIRMAN £7.500+BONUS

The Chairman of the American Institute for Foreign Study, the educational travel organisers in Kensington, requires an experienced Assistant. Duties include office personnel administration, taking minutes at Board meetings, special projects and assisting with the Chairman's GLC duties, Applicants should have a good education, fast accurate shorthand and typing, a sense of humour and be able to use own initiative. Experience in travel and/or education would be helpful. Good prospects and excellent fringe benefits including free lunches, private medical insurance and pension.

Please write with full c.v. to: Mr Cyril Taylor, American Institute for Foreign Study 37 Queens Gate, London SW7 5HR.

PERSONAL SECRETARY

Experienced & mature person to work for both the chairman and Chief Executives of Womens Organisation's. Job requires organisational ablifies acceptant discretions lity, tect and discretion and good telephone man-

First class audio/secre-tarial skills, with some shorthand, essential. Salary around £6,000 p.a. + LV's according to age and experience. Hours 9 a:m.-5 p.m. (but some flexibility re-quired). 4 weeks boli-Apply: Erica Wool-dridge NFWI 39 Eccles-ton St. Victoria SW1W 9NT.

01-730 7212 Written applications to be sent in by 7th August with envelope marked P.S./CCE.

- WERBEAGENTUR IN FRANKFURT

DM3,000 PER MONTH NEG

We are a large international Advertising Agency and have been asked by our Frankfurt office to recruit a bilingual English. German ranslator. English mother tongue and fluent written and spoken German are assembled. The ability to type is an advantage. This position would suit a graduate or a person already experienced in academic translation who has an interest in advertising. The successful applicant would live and work in Frankfurt. The hours and salary could be negotiable and opportunities for further study within the German university system may be possible. For further

Mrs Heien Brient on 529 $496

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

If you thrive in a creative, hardworking, friendly atmosphere, are interested in sales/customer service, have a good administrative/secretarial background, enjoy dealing with people and are aged 23+, you could be the person we are seeking to assist a senior Manager and his select small group who focus on major projects. We are leading designers and manufacturers for the office environment with beautiful offices situated in W.1. We offer a salary negotiable from £6,500 p.a. plus normal Company benefits. Please write with full details of your career to date to: Roberta Haddick, Herman Miller Ltd., 149 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0JA or phone 01-388 7331.

MARKETING 26,000

+ Bonus + LY's + STL

tary to Director/Group Accountant, This is a very with good secretarial skills who would like to become Involved in this sometimes hectic environment. Phone Julia Michadoe at JK Person-nel on 437 3103, 18 Golden nel on 437 3103, 10 Sq., W.1, for an appoi

KENSINGTON OPPORTUNITY

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award seeks a mallyre Secretary/PA with a sarase of humour for their Assistant Director (U.K.) and become part of a busy team, Must be able to work on own Initiative, be an accurate typist (useful shorthand). be experienced in Roger Taylor, 81-937 5205.

AUDIO SECRETARY required for small friendly firm of surveyors in period offices, Mayfair. Early 20s. Good salary.

Phone: 499 5511 .

-----CHAIRMAN OF WELL KNOWN RADIO STATION with offices in Maylair.
London, requires bright efficient competent secretary with excellent shorthand & typing skills etc. Applications:

Box 0567 G. The Times.

EXECUTIVE SEGRETARY/PA £7,500

An International Oil Company situated in Mayleir are seeking a Secretary/PA to work at executive level. The successful candidate should have an excellent education together with first class sacrotatrial skills and organizing ability. For further details phone Sue Chapman.

apman.
499 5881
Altred Marks Staff
Consultants
16 Landsdowne Row
(off Berkeley Square)
London W.1

URGENT!

Keen, intelligent Secretary/telex operator/ general assistant required for small company of textile agents in Kings Cross area, up to £6,000 for right person. Ring Mrs Jones

278 7573

*************

SOLICITORS-INHER TEMPLE Audio Secretary / Tele-

phonist for small friendly firm of solicitors in Temple, working for litigation assistant. Salary negotiable subject to experience but c. £5,500 plus LVs. 353 9417 ·

EXPERIENCED

LITIGATION SECRETARY Required for Junior Part-ner in busy WI Practice, Must be upflamable with good shorthand, but some radio, Up to 26,500 for right parana (ther beautits. Tel. 580 8621.

TRAVEL PR OPPORTUNITY

Exceptional person, late 20's, urgently required to train as executive for difficult and demanding job in small but perfectly-formed PR consultancy, specialising travel industry. Must have impeccable secretarial skills and charming telephone manner, be efficient, hard-working. eminently presentable. self-posadaptable. sessed and able to function brilliantly in madhous situation. Keen news sense, literacy, writing ability, organisational skill and sense of appreciated. Travel and/or PR experiessential, driver preferred. Overtravel involved Non-smokers and selfstarters only. Full cv and daytime contact number soonest

RBPR, 9/11 Broadwick Street. London, W.1. NO AGENCIES, PLEASE

ADVERTISING P.A.

Noter a doll moment when you assist the Charmen and by D. of the successful with the control of the control

CITY CO-ORDINATOR

C.ET.GOO

Elegant and professional surrounding, are important for the image of this charitable type 'Compant, Social Surrounding the year
fore and the coordinated, continental tisleon with professional members, universities and raincers etc. with nunlessional members, unversities and categor etc., need to be handled with Intelligence and flar. Excelent education, secretarial skills and spiringing, combined with a crown administrative hackground will be used reveated finantially and with job sansfaction. For further details phone Clare Fanning.

Hodge Recruitment Sond House, 19-20 Woodstock SL London WJR 1HF (ff-629 8863)

£7,500 A young and enthusiable Secretary/PA is needed to assist this small team in setting up a new thencial exchange. Age 23-26. Speeds 100/60.

VICTORIA £7,000 This small, dynamic, young Computer Company now. needs an entinusestic and self-motivated Secretary: 10 organiza them. Age 23-30, Speeds 100/80.

ESTATE AGENTS £6,500 This well-known West End firm needs an excellent Secretary to look after a partner in the Country House Department, Age. 24-32. Speeds 100/60.

ANGELA MORTIMER LTD. Recruitment Consultants

629 9686 627 Yeso 166 Piccedilly

THATZIZZA HIMDA

c £6,000 If you would like a career with less typing utilise your admin. abilities, helping the Administrator of this well known consultancy. You must be numerate, accurate, have secretarial skills, and be willing to become involved. W.1, you would benefit scheme, 3 weeks hols. + good prospects. in-

Potter on 01-629 7262 for an immediate inter-

GRADUATE" APPOINTMENTS 7 Princes St., W.1. (Consultants)

PERSONAL ASSISTANT MANAGING DIRECTOR c. £6,250

Experienced, well-aducated P.A. required for company moving to new offices in the City (Farringdon) speeds 50/100, ability to organise Reply to Amanda Boyle
COMMODITIES RESEARCH

CHARITY BEGINS AT £5,100 Lisise with International Companies and Embassies on behalf of the overseas Personnel Officer to ensure medical personnel are safety transported overseas. Utilise your audio skills and administrative expertise and avail yourself of the company's restaurant and other varied

Graduate Girls Secretarial

. Music Lover? c. £6,000—WC1 The Marketing Manager of like famous company needs a bright secretary with acoust shifts 100.50+1 to 24sts her with a wide variety of interesting work. You must be willing to work apport of a happy teem. Hours 10-6. Good company benofits Ring 437 1128 Crone Corkill

Recruitment Consultants

Bilingual Secretary English/Spanish

BERKHAMSTED, HERTS. The Wellcome Foundation Limited, a major Stitish-maned pharmaceutical company, require a Stingual English, Spanish Secretary to the Veterinary Marketing Operations, Manager of the Latin American Regional Office to be based at Berkhamsted, a pleasant market town 23 stiles north-west of London on the main fine to Euclion.

Candidates, of English mother longue clardard, must speak fluent Spanish, Shorthard in English and Spanish is assential, and the duties include some acido conk, Previous secretarial experience would be an advantage."

ARAMCO OVERSEAS CO (UK)

KNIGHTSBRIDGE

Secretary/PA to the Creative Director of an International agency. Get up and go person needed who can help the Creative Director run a lively department. Previous experience an advantage. Salary negotiable.

Please ring Sue Wilson

Executive Secretary

for Director of large Group of Companies hased in Belgravia. Probably 30+ and living in West London, you will be a car owner with oxcellent secretarial skills and proven administrative experience. You must be capable of organising and supporting a team of Catering staff, chauffeur, etc.

For further details of this outstanding Career opportunity please contact Vicky Gardner, on 01-890 1313, ext. 353.

PA/BUSINESS COORDINATOR

Rewarding Career Opportunity

For: The Vice President of leading International Consulting Organi-sation advants over 150-major companies in Europe, USA, and Japan. Requirements: Alertness, speed, memory, communication skills, precision, stamilica, dedication, presentability, business elfitude, interest in the communication and information new frontiers, languages 499 1909 (home) and send c.v. to QSC, 16 Charles II Street, London, S.W.1.

ITALIAN PUBLISHER . MONDADORI REQUIRE

SECRETARY FOR EDITORIAL RIGHTS MANAGER Good English and some Italian necessary. Some knowledge of publishing Salary c.£5,000. Pleasant office near Oxford Circus. Please ring or write to Miss J. Varley, 1-4 Argyll Street, London W1 Tel: 01-734 6301

MAYFAIR

ESTATE

AGENTS

Efficient secretary/PA

prepared to accept considerable responsibility, wanted to work for Paymer in the Country Partner in the Country department of a lead-Contact C. C. Bailey, 01-499 9671

> £5,000 to £7,000 Wanted: lively, capable PA / Secretaries

₹********

several exciting jobs in large and small ADVER-TISING and PUBLIC RE-LATIONS agencies. For details phone Jenny or Gill or call in for coffee/ tea and a chat!

ANN PETRIE Executive Recruitment 499 0017

建筑工程工程工作的现在式的工作的工程工程 NOT TO BE MISSED!!!

Major modern fashion group based in W1 offers 25% cloth-ing discount, subsidised meals ing discount, subsidised meals and a young, very triendly a cifice environment. You'll be given the opportunity to work for the location and design of the stores. Salary neg to 25,500 (2 months review) and I.F.S.T.L. If you are 21— with O levels and good shiftyping skills ring Barry Englestone 91-629 7292

Grad Girls Sec Agy

Salary scale: £4,962-£5,525 per annum for a 37- homes 5 day week. Please write or telephone for an application form quoring reference no. NAA/14, 19 Mrs. B. M. Paron. Side Personnel Officer. The Wellcome Foundation Limited. Berkhamsted. Heris, Tol.: Berkhamsted 3333. Wellcome

PERSONNEL PROCESSORS

AGE (I'K) is a service company to Aranco, the world's larger oil producing company. The London of see is situated at Hampson-the-Hill, a few minutes walk away from the underground. The company is conducting a major employment programme and receive personnel to assive in the recruitment, menetion and relection of new overseas employees. This is a hand new relection of new overseas employees. This is a hand new relection of ferring excellent working conditions. Successful applicable, well be given full training (which may include a lemporary overseas) assignment in Europe and estimates in relocation if necessary. Applicants should enjoy people contact, have good typone signey hand an asset, and if possible an administrative background in either a personnel or recruitment environment. hand an areas of the continuent continuent.

Benefits include a pood salary, generous leave allowance and an Apply in the first instance to: Simon Friend, International Secre-

584 7050.

Administrator

(German and/or Franch). Also excellent typing and S/M speeds.
Additional adventages: Proven record with major consulting firm(s) and/or internationally triented companies, academic degrees.

FED UP OF WORKING UNDER PRESSURE 7 An easy going boss in a public holding company in N.W.1, needs a person to enjoy his sense of humour, help him run his office, deal with some of his phone calls and secretarial skills. If you are able and willing to do these things, you will be rewarded with a good basic salary + LVs free 3 course meal bonuses. Phone Ray 01-629 7262 for an immediate inter-GRADUATE APPOINTMENTS

(Consultants)

PA/SEC TO CO ACCOUNTANT £5,000 neg aae Shortherd not essential but a knowledge of General Accounts procedures its necessary to act as assistant to the Co Accountant of this large Co of Recruiment Consultants. A well spoken, well presented young person

2-3 years sec exp. Good typing speeds essential. This position in W1 for further details call: aire Campbell on .

NEGOTIATOR = Expanding lim of Edale Agents trandling ** easily home; in length, Edaure an intelligent and watership lamale residential degliator—trainees considers. Age 13-22 Salary and optimilation. —traineen consider 13-22. Salary and 99

/ 22. Salary and way
y arrangement,
Applications pids cr.40;
Hotblack Design & Cp.
314 Upper Street
Leadon, MI TOP CLASS EXTROVERT

PERSONAL ASSISTANT

CAN YOU MISS

THIS OPPORTUNITY? PA/SEC, CITY

£6,500 + £2,500 in

Frience Benefits

Although good sacretaries skills are essential working for the managing director of this Seles Markeling Company rear SI Payle, the qualities readed to move on to more work are equally important, interesting and responsible in short, a job with real properts. So if you are in your mid 20s please tolephone Elizabeth Bogod.

SENIOR SECRETARIES

3/6 Trump Street EC2V 8DA 01-606 1511

Linguist

Administrator

Personal

Assistant

£6,500 to start

Smell lively marketing team needs highly compatent person who can cover most tree lesks, harse with French/Spanish/Italian markets and att as PA to our MD Good prospects for a carrer with travet opportunities Please write—don't phone, The Secretary.

PERICHAM LTD

WII SLA

& GERMAN

SECRETARY.

The Export Director of this to prestigious world-famous to restigious. World-famous to retail company needs a secretary with good abilits and the livent French & German. This to review and interesting to position and would suit some body with 8 months previous a superience. C £5,000.

SENIOR SECRETARIES

173 New Bond Street W1Y 9PB 01-499 0092 : 01-493 5907

La creme de la creme

TAX FREE

Experienced A/R. B I dealers required immediately to work in West Africa.

Excellent conditions & wages, i.e., accommodation, food and transport paid for. Flights & visas pre-arranged.

Don't hesitate to call 01-388 4504 day or night

Shorthand Secretary

Chairman Good salary EGOOD SAIRTY

If you like a variety of work, being on your own some of the times and running a town state of the said section for my boss who is because of your my boss who is because for my boss who is the said section
for my boss who is
the said section
for my boss who is
the said section
for my boss who is the said that the said section
for a number of the saids. He is looking for tamoors aged about 30 with the said said said said
and a sense of humour.
Please phore Janke Hughan phore Janks on 278 6967.

MARKET EXECUTIVE SECRETARY 66,500 NEG. challenging career awaits u with this international company. Your awledge of the phisping dina todayor will be panded and nurfored into executive position, whilst think the company of the parties of th

Graduate Giris Secretarial

> PUBLISHING £6,500 +

The M.D. of an inter-national publishing co. Is looking for a well pre-sented PA/Sec (25-35) with a good aducation stable job record and interlates. 01-730 5148

GERMANY PA/SECRETARY

PA/Secretary to work for director. Must have knowledge of forwarding and shiptima: German not essential. 4-5 weeks' holiday. Age 25 plue. Top salary offered to the right person. If you are interested please write, giving full career to date, to Box 0535 G. The Times.

ACCOUNT FOR YOUR FUTURE £6,500 neg. + benefits Are you seeking a challeng-ing and responsible oppor-ing and responsible oppor-ing the control of the challeng taries with excellent skills and experience in the finan-cial world. Be involved in organising the office, hairs with clients and accountancy, responsibilities

A leading firm based in South Exect is seeking a corner stone to their busy complety, assisting the Constraint Manager you will be constrained by the Sales Bann in the Constraint of the Constr STEAK OTHER SUBJECT OF SUBJECT OF

SECRETARY ADMINISTRATOR

Enthusiastic, excernanced, re-accessible individual to operate London office for US coarete London office for US based international combany.
Capable of following directions, authoriting reports,
work without close scrutine.
Subrigual an advantage.
Eustress minded individual preferred.
Confect Miss Dering today
01-973 $131 Ext 418

SECRETARY/PA

£5.500 + lisyfath office desline in Rome and overseas trans-actions. Seheral business including property and over-sess procurement controls. Shorthard expensis. Suit-able see 25 *. Please ting for an interclew.
499 0374.

DIRECTOR LEVEL 11.1

c£6.000

negotiable, Tel: Deldre Allen 637 2641

OFFICE MANAGER FOR WORKSPACE

WANT TO WRITE about flats for $WT estate agents,-Ref. pari-

The sum of the sum of SECRETARIAL.

LIFE AT THE TOP £6,500

A Wedding Every Day Covent Garden

RESEARCH ASSISTANT/EDITORS
P.A. 25.000+ Marchant Banks small publishing associate requires tie start in mid-Septemher! a mucker-in used to coping her! a mucker-in used to coping with periodic bionetic activity.
Some typing: an ability to deal with devanding cliemb: a good command of English: an interest in the Carly and finance are areregulates.—Telephone 01-628 5744.

RECRUITMENT CONSULTANT C. £10,000 Due to our tremendous growth I seek mother Consultant to amment my stoceasful team. If you are career orientated, money motivated and have consultanty/agency supplies Morriscon for an immediate appointment.

Graduate Girls Secretarial

PRINCES ST., W1

VICTORIA-E8,000

Elizabeth Hunt RECRUITMENT CONSULTANTS 18 Grosvenor Street London WI IOIODOOO UI~477 4741

£6,000 + SILVER + GOLD SALVER + GOLD

Are the excitative Trading Commoditions of tind Col.
The Heat of the Col.
De Heat of the Col.
Dept is booking for a Sec.
A to become involved in all facits. They will soon be moving this a new suits of offices with every mod offices with every

Authorities and an entorable Martanee Nash.

CHAIRMANS PA/SECRETARY

Required by International Property and Finance company. Excellent secretarial skills essential. Very varied and interesting work. Must be able to work on own iniliative. Possibility of overseastrayel, Salary £5,000 .neg. Tel; 258 0124

CHARTERED SURVEYORS

SECRETARY/PA for Senior Partner. Will have junior assistant to help. Left to work on own for much of the time. Smin from Kennington tube. Ring Mrs Theobald 582 5550.

PRIVATE SECRETARY To Harley Street Urologist and Transplant Surgeon Very experienced Secretary needed in Harley Street practice to liase with the various hosnital programme and to run private practics. Short-and essential.

Telephone 935 8344 ADVERTISING MUSIC

COMPANY Advertuing experience. Balary

WE URGENTLY NEED more lob calibre lemporary secretaries with shorthand or suche skills to start work on Monday.—Carter Plan, 754 4224. BANQUET MANAGER M/F Enthusiasm the key note. Sound common property is an arrows arrange functions. Casual staff & quality control. Termine a good salery # commission. perience. Good salary comprission. A Unique Opportunity. Call Devid Weddle 01-388 8085.

NON-SECRETARIAL

TO WRITE about flats for

COVENT GARDEN BUREAU 01-353 7696

who can cope in a crisis, and son pente. CAN YOU?—Aidgrade Agy., 439 8251.

time a desired of respectively makes an extractive proposed on the confidential of the SSGS, pitabeth Hunt Recruitment Consultants. UXURY OFFICES of WI whisty brokers swall secretary (previous experience): Accurate shorthand, good typing for 2 super Drectors. To E5.000 London Town Staff Furam 355 1994.

BO LOVER WI responsibilities this sovertising company cover secretarial & administration duties gating an ensemble but level

TOOK TUPING TO 2 semen Directions. To 26,000 London Town Staff Runam 856 1994.

BOO LOVER WY responsibilities in this advertising company corresponding to the secretarial administration duries sating an engreetic but investigating an engreeting and the second second investigating and the second second in the legal world the second second in the legal world the second s

PART-TIME VACANCIES

WOULD YOU LEEE to visit owners and write details about their fixts and houses for SW1 salate agents a few hours per week? 62.50 per hour. $28.7989. TEMPTING TIMES

MC 82 - servetarial shorthand 'valua' della for 1 month. City hocking starting near week. Call Lynna Williams, Servetarias Ping an 577 8600.

Recruitment Opportunities

MOTHERWELL BRIDGE THERMAL LTD.

ENGINEERING MANAGER

Motherwell Bridge Thermal a major shell and tube heat exchanger manufacturer requires an Engineering Manager for their Uphall works.

The successful applicant will be responsible for design, draughting, welding, production engineering, quality assurance and control. Candidates for this post should ideally have a degree and considerable experience in the design and manufacture of process plant and equipment preferably in shell and tube heat exchangers.

Conditions of employment are as to be expected of one of Scotland's leading engineering group of companies. This is open to both male and female applicants. Please apply in writing to:

General Manager MOTHERWELL BRIDGE THERMAL LIMITED Uphall West Lothian EH52 5NU

Have you ever wished you were better employed?

> OSPONET THE OSPONET CONTROL OF THE OSPONET CHARLES THE STATE OF THE OSPONET CONTROL OSPONET C world kiness thesited columns, and prevent, it's not that carry you will need to demonstrate a thoroughty professional appriority—drive, entructions and the shifty to succeed working under presont are just some of the prainties present to carry subtill another present to carry subtill interest we will offer a complete life through the carry work. complete letter friming to ensure spot encies in your look them. We'll review you with a generous heaf, mistry on a 3 day forwish your ingith competitive squar-stratums, and 5 weeks

01-837 1234 ext 7115 or 6186 or write to : The Times, 200 Grays' Inn Rd, WC1X 8EX.

DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

THE BANK OF CEYLON LONDON BRANCH

is on the lookout for an energetic officer to fill the above post. Candidates please contact:

> The Manager 1; Aldermanbury Square London EC2V 7HR 01-606 6811

BANK OF CEYLON

FASHION FORECASTER/ CREATIVE DIRECTOR

A unique opportunity for someone with a creative flair to forecast womens fashion trends, to consult in depth with retailers and manufacturers and to run the Womens Style Division of our Company. The job involves worldwide research, putting together forecast reports and consulting with international clients.

We offer excellent working conditions, employee benefits and the prospect of a stimulating career. Please send detailed resume to Alice Sharland, Managing Director, Nigel French Enterprises Ltd, 167 Oxford Street, London WIR 1TA.

THE WORLD WILDLIFE FUND

A national charity raising funds for the conservation of Wildlife both in Eritain and overseas, requires an EXECUTIVE to assist in the development of a sponsorship programme. Sponsorship/marketing background self-motivation and Initiative necessary. Salary c. $5,500 p.s. Pension scheme and other staff bensfits. Office currently in London, moving to Godalming, Surrey, August

> Please apply with full curriculum vitae, to MAS BURBRIDGE. 29 GREVILLE ST., E.C.1.

Deputy Master of the Armouries

The Deputy Master will share in the day to-day admini-stration of the Armouries and help to determine long-term objectives. As Keeper of one of the Armounes' departments, responsibilities will also include administration of that department; the care, conservation, interpretation and cataloguing of its collections in the Tower and at other sites; choice of new acquisitions; planning and preparation of new galleries; publication of informative material; represent-ing the Armouries on committees.

Candidates should normally be at least 30 and have a degree with 1st or 2nd class honours in History, History of Art or a relevant subject, or an equivalent experience of particular value may also be considered. A sound knowledge of arms or armour, a reading knowledge of 2 foreign languages, and administrative experience preferred. Salary (under review) as Curator Grade B £14,429-£17,265, Starting salary according to qualifications and experience.

Tower of London

For further details and an application form (to be returned by 26 August 1981) write to Civil Service Commission, Alencon Link, Basingstoke, Hents, RG21 1JB, or telephone Basingstoke (0256) 68551 (answering service operates outside office hours).

Department of the Environment

Senior Research Assistant Police Committee Support Unit:

The Greater London Council seeks to create a direct link between the Metropolitan Police and the communities that it serves. A Police Committee has been set up to pursue this objective, and a senior research assistant is required to undertake research and related support work concerning the policing of London, law enforcement and public order, on the committee's behalf.

Working under the direction of the head of the support unit and with the help of a small team, the duties and responsibilities of the person appointed will include the conduct of research in connection with the Police Committee's inquiries into such matters as the causes and effects of vandalism and racial harassment in London and a review of policies of the police and other agencies in tackling the problems.

The person appointed will be a graduate or the uivalent and will be experienced in research into see relevant to the work of the committee. Since she/he will be expected to produce accurate and detailed material, often in limited time, she/he will require a high level of communication skills. Applicants should have serious investigative research experience which may include journalistic, television experience which may include journalistic, television or writing experience. She/he will need to possess the maintenant factful personality required for working on sensitive and difficult matters. Experience in managing or supervising professional or technical staff is also descrable.

The salary indicated includes London Weighting. This appointment may be made on a fixed term contract besis for a maximum of four years,

For an application form, which must be returned by 17 August 1981, and firther details write to Senior Officer Appointments, Ref. MP/II, Greater London Council, Room 334s, The County Hall, London SRI TPB or Telephone 01-633 7230/6665.

Working for London Director-General's Department

A New National Museum of Photography

-an Opportunity to set up and run this venture

The appointment will involve leading the team responsible for creating and running this new . museum in Bradford, W. Yorkshire which will treat photography in the broadest sense, and will include modern electronic imaging as well as its chemical counterpart. Work will aso include day to day responsibility for managing all espects of the museum's activities, and securing sponsorship or patronage for some

This post as Keeper will be based in Bradford, but initial appointment for a period of about 18 months will be in London.

1. Tour Programme

Resort couriers.

3. Sales representa-

Good salary and conditions for suitable applicants. Apply in

Box 0480 G.

The Times

EDITOR

FULL TIME

Wanted for ORYX, Journal of the Fauna and Flora Preservation Society. Editorial and production experience and knowledge of Inter-national Wildlife Con-servation Scene all servation Scene all essential. Salary by arrangement. Apply in writing with full CV, not later than August 20th to David Jones, Zoological Society of London, Regent's Park, NWI 4RY.

LLOYD'S

BROKERS

Tel : 481 3161

servation Scene essential. Salary

Enclose S.a.e.

organiser.

tives.

confidence to

Candidates (normally aged at least 30) must have a proven record of successful leadership.

They should preferably have a degree with 1st or 2nd class honours or an equivalent qualification. Museum experience or experience of working with photographs or visual records would be a mejor advantage.

Salary (under review) as Curator Grade B £13,400-£16,250. Starting salary according to qualifications and experience.

For further details and an application form (to be returned by 3 September 1981) write to Civil Service Commission, Alencon Link, Basingstoke, Hants, RG21 1JB, or telephone Basingstoke (0256) 68551 (answering service coerates outside office hours). Please rel. G/5809/1.

Science Museum

SKI TOUR OPERATOR Northern based Property has the following vacancies

Development Private Investment Group

A private investment group requires a Development Surveyor to head a new property division. The post will encompass the management of the portfolio of a multi-million pound pension fund presently invested in a wide spread of commercial, retail, industrial and agricultural properties. It will also involve the supervision of a small but rapidly expanding private portfolio of property interests. In each case it is the intention to proceed both by the acquisition of developed properties and by Initiating the group's own development schemes. There is a substantial commitment to exponsion in real terms in the ten-year plan. Candidates will be in their thirties, preferably chartered surveyors, with wide experience of site acquisition and development in which their own commercial judgment has been successfully proved. This experience may have been gained in the profession, a property company, pension fund, insurance company or other institution. The solary will be in excess of £20,000 with car and non-contributory pension. Lacation London West End.

Candidates should apply in strict confidence, giving details of age, experience, qualifications and present salary, quoting Ref: FT/721 to:

CB-Linnell Limited

7 College Street, Nottingham MANAGEMENT SELECTION CONSULTANTS NOTTINGHAM · LONDON

ADMIN MANAGER

OATAR

BUSINESS GRADUATE

wanted for Research Department of major City stockbroking firm. The requires temporary inspectors, peaking of parameter of many stockbroking firm. The stockbroking firm.

MARRED STATUS Recriticed by American consult ment on a construction project in Doha, Applicants require an ability to program simple com-cuter arsiems (WANG PCS II or APPLE: Very attractive

Tel.: 01-828 4975 Mortrosa Technical Staff (Agr) 1 Wilton Rd., Victoria, 8 W.1. MAN CANNOT LIVE ON BREAD ALONE He needs success in his career and rewards that reduce the effort and true worth. I you are honest, have integrity and the desire for better fulles are you NOW. Only those on the desire of the desired of the desired should call Fabrick Milson on 01-404 4522 01-404 4481

TECHNICAL TRANSLATORS (Engineers) required by Technical Translator Agents Electronics, Telecommunications, computers, attribute tools, automobiles, chemistry, pharmaceuticals, madical, write with dotals and r.v. to Box 0419 2 Teat.

to the wife due benevolance:  to the wife due benevolance:  this wife that the wife that the husband.—I Containing T	ANNOUNCEMENTS	HOLIDAYS AND VILLAS		ES THURSDAY JUE ONAL COLU		RENTALS	HOLDAYS AND VI	ILAS husband Corinthians 7:	NNIE CLUEMAN. Primes and relatives join together with deephal reard over the end loss of our dear friend on July 19th. 1981. R. L. A.	EUROPEAN ECONOMY FLIGHTS	HOLIDAYS AND VILLAS	FOR SALE	SERVICES	CHESTERTONS HUSON CLOSE, NWS	GREEK ISLA
BIRTHS  ER.—On 17th April 1981, to	CLUB ANNOUNCEMENTS	inclusive arrangements to:	GREEK ISLAND VILLAS		WRITE FOR MONEY		FOR £10 A D  Twenty Stortage holder includes quarantee dallon in superior tem-bedded villa or a particular holder holder. We offer holder	It Is flight and secondary works rooms. Self-extering 1275 for the test at the secondary for the secon
non (Jenan Nigel Dominic).		CAGUARI E109 . RIMINI E99 CAGUARI E109 . RIMINI E99 CATANIA E125 . ROME E105	CRETE: avaliability 2/4 propie 6. 15, 20, 27 Aug. 2 with	RESISTA  Landon's greelest usine means plate carpets. SUMMER SALE	Articles or stories. Personal correspondence coaching of the equation quality. "witing for the Press". Free from:—	battima (1 ex-salis), integral Gree, Gas Chichw. Air-cond. Pabo/Gda, Avall, now for 1 yr plus, 2000 p.w.	Svery Sordars holder incindes quarantee dation in superior lym-headed villa of the apartines also excitable. We offer hold beautiful saineds with two week prices a PORGS: Pocular vitapoin SPRIESS: The friendly, Styly island ANDROS! Very Greek, very relaxing CORFU! Stundingly beautiful CRETE. Historic Porability. Prices of the CRETE Historic Porability. Prices of the Parce of the CRETE HISTORY PORABILITY OF THE PARCES: Off the beautiful Turk.  HYKONOS: Anything goog	2158
arah Anne), a sister to Stuart d Michael. TORINI.—On 28th July, in St. tee Part, Guernsey, to Heather	PYAL OVER-SEAS LEAGUE, Park Piace St. James's and sign of 100 Princes St., Edinburgh, The Singual Conference and bioquet Venues. Contact Banqueting Man- ager. 01-343 5051.	Christin Availability Other Estopean design, avail, all seasons. 01-637 5848. PILGRIM-AIR LTD.	CORFU: junited avail for 2/4 poople. S. 10°, 24° Aug and insury sida for 7 last 2 weeks August.  PAXOS: juxiny villa sleeps 6.'8 August 31. From about £300	now on at all branches. Total warehouse Clearout. Huge Stocks. All qualities. Examples: 12ft wide Mericalou	LONDON SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM (T)	EANTEINGHAM COUTET, We	CRETE: dispring besulfed CRETE: dispring romanic RHODES: The island of charm LEVKAS: Sueped in legend PAXOS: Qff the bearn track	4769 2169 5176 2176 2186 or McLesky and Michael—a m. a brother for Irremy James. — SH-SMITH.—On 128 July. At 19101 Majernity Hosoital. To roben and Angela—a daughter.	SPORT AND RECREATION	Also Munchester 051-798 8228 ATOL 1738CD	PAXOS: INXMITY VIIIS steems 6.'8 August 51. From about £300 D.O. 2 wrks int Hight. Good Septrather solice. all decided flight from Catwick for Manchester").	Broadicom, $2.50 per se ye.	London, W.1		SUNFARE DIRECT BOO  No agent's commission, just val	KING MEANS
RERO.—On 20th July, at the North Hospital. North County Hospital. North County Hospital.	ORFOLK, 27ds available for ex- perienced a tota in excellent pheasant show on private essate in South Negrotk, ten days (Fri- days), El 100, instruding days concluded—Turnbull and care concluded—Turnbull and Con- Bant Suren, Norwich, tell (0603) 50861.	VILLA FLIGHT	Munchasis*). CORFU VILLAS LTD 01-5a1 0a51/764 2803 089 0132 (24hm) ABTA/ATOL 3378	80% wood Wilton, £10.95 per ag rd, exc VAT. RESISTA CARPETS LTD	WHEN IN LONDON rent a TV or video recorder by day wax and. I video recorder by day wax and. I video recorder by day wax and. I will be recorded by day wax and. I was a compound to the recorder of the record	CH/chw. Small baltony. Avail. immed. for 1 yr. phis. 2500 p.w.	No agent's commission, inst value of the agent's commission, inst value of the agent instant Confirmation and Book States Conden Williams of the Artol. 13188	Departures. ing by phone of past. Tol: Lendon 01-734 2041 Manchester 061-852 7560 Glasow 061-852 7562
FOR. RUBY WEDDING LLIPS: RICHARDS.—On Soth uly, 1'41. In All Saints Church. rusees. hashnir. Terance John	in South Noriotk ten days (Fridays) E1 300, instriction days considered.—Turnbull and Co., Bank Street, Norwich, rei: (0603) 50351.	Fly to the san from HEATH- ROW at batualn prices. 18126 rm. NICE E119 rm.	SUMMER FLIGHT	285 NEW KINGS ROAD, 5W6 584 FULHAM ROAD, 5W6	nem.—Dateline Computer Dates. Dept. T.1. 25 Abrustom Roed. London. W.8, 01-93H 1011. A SUNTAN at home. UVA Sunbedi for root, £25 p.w. + VAT_Alex	END OF ARBEY ROAD
annon Cecil G. Stokes officialed.  annon Cecil G. Stokes officialed.  ow at The Collage, Station  d. Bisodon, Avon.	SEASONAL SALES	VALENCIA £125 rtm. MALAGA £120 rtm. ALICANTE £120 rtm	BARGAINS	148 WANDSWORTH BRIDGS ROAD, SW6 182 UPPER RICHMOND ROAD, WEST, SW14	Spacewell 221 6730 any time, Japanese intro accepted now for specialised suction. Contact Schutten Program of Christobe	AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY	SUN AND : - A SPECIAL I
RLEY: THOMAS.—On July Colh. 1931. in Lizhdell Calned- kl. Reginald Civing to Beatrice	DISCURIO granophone focord sale now on. 9 Shephond St. WI. Palloner CLOTHES SALE now on for 2 weeks. The Sale Shop. 2 St Barnabas St., S.W.I. UK HOLIDAYS	Also many other European destinations on charter and scheduled flights.	Return fare bangains ALICANTE 1950 MAIAGA E110 ATHENS E128 PALMA 195 CORFU E128 MAHON 685 FARO E110 PRAMETURE 666 Taxes and fuel extra	207 HAVERSTOCK HILL NWS 48 HOUR FITTING SERVICE.	Flight. Bonhams Auctioneers Montpeller St., SW7, Tel: 01-58-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-51-	10 mins. Martie Arch. Intury 3 double bedroamed flat. 2 bethrooms. separate diship com. Erre pins trithm with all mid. cons. Exterior decor- sted. Lift. Col. T.V., Regimms in every rucon.	On 18 September The Times will	be focusing specifically nomes. Now at Clansvon. Pic- adilly. Llambiethian. Cow- ridge, South Glamorgan. poon: FRENCH.—On July 30th. 1951. at St. Leonard's Church.	Shop. 2 St Barnabas St., S.W.1. 750 8915.	VILLA FLIGHT 85 Whitechapel High St., E.1. Tel: 01-247 0588/9. ABTA.	Taxes and fuel extra July/Angest/Sectomber availability POLEX TRAVEL	OBTAINABLES.—We obtain the un- obtainable. Thetats for sporting symmts timestre. etc., including Covent Garden.—OI-839 5365.	vice available. Tel, Sleybond, Ol 645 0041. CLEMSFOLD HOUSE. registers rest bonne (3 miles west	in every room.	Not only will this be a guide for choose their Winter Sports, Win holidays—it will also give you the interested and affluent studence.	our readers to help them ter Sunshine or Cruising opportunity to reach an
Acston, Middleses, Ralph Labdon o Gwendoline French. Now at Wings, Fordingtridge, Hants.	UK HOLIDAYS	THE GREEK ISLANDS	11 Charing Cross Rd., London W.C.2 01-950 9191 ATOL 588 Set. 26 yrs Open Sat	Covent Garden.—01-839 5363.	Horsham i wishes to sungunce a immediate single room vacance Friendly and happy almospher Night staff and full supports care services (comder memb	Tel: 01-794 9962 before 9 am. 794 8562 (ansafma) 794 7958 after 10.00,	f Atm m-baber bromonon to ensi	Naturally, in addition to will be backing the feature ure the highest possible
	Newbury Reading, Comfortable	Carlu, Crete, Rhodes, Ports, Syros, Paros, Tires, Names and other islands, villes, acts, botch and tavenas, also flight happened to Athens, Corta, Cress and the Athens, Corta, Cress and the Corta, Corta, Cress and the Corta, Corta, Corta, coublect to suchasses.	REHO TRAVEL	OLD YORK PAYING. Flags. Building Sime. Cray Paving, Graultists. G.E.M. Landscapes, 0624	of the Registered Reg Hom Associations, West Sussex) Details: Mrs Brands Law (Matron) Tel. Slinfold (0403	CHEYNE PLACE, — Overlooking river. Spacious and sunny we fundished 5 bedroomed flat or fundished 5 bedroomed flat or funding room, kitchen, 2 bedroome, cloakroom and sarese $220 p.w. Tat. (01) 229 864 (day), 0608 50607 (evgs)4	readership. Display advertising only at £20 per minimum size 3 x 1.
Indust his lakes name	9. W. svell. 14 Aug. 50 Aug. (073521) 3705.	CTMP and Rhodes from 299, (subject to surcharge). GOOD HIGH SEASON AVAILABILITY	Australia From 2395 o/w, 2474 f/1 New Zealand	FRIGINAIRE, USA, frost free Fridge-freezers, Bartains, 449 off list, H. & C., 01-960 1200.	HOME TYPIST. Excellent present tion using IBM golf-ball; vo competitive rates.—Tel. 21 1838.	diging room, Eitchen, 2 beth rooms, closkroom and parage 5 2220 p.w. Tel. (01) 229 864 (day), 0608 50607 (evgs),	For further information and to ring The Times Personal Columns	on 01-278 9351.
ROBAUM (BERG).—On July loved wife of Arthur and mother of Edwin and Anne, tuneral	VILLAGE COTTAGE.—Nr Dartmoor Nat Park, sea. Sip. 6/7, Awail, dates July-Sept, from £85 p.w. Tel: 031-337 1304.	COOD RICH SEASON  AVAILABILITY  ENTURA KOLIDAYS  279 South Rd. Sheffield Sc  77A. Tel. (0742) 353392 cr  342391 or Tel. London 01- 250 1355 or 353 2640,  ATOL 1170	From £345 o/w, £596 r/t Direct - stopovers via USA Hawaii, Fiji or Far East Tel. or write for quotes,	DAYID HOCKNEY.— Prints and drawings for sale. At & Purn turn, Manchester, 061-834 9624	ENGLISH TUTTON for Cambridge certificate examinations by professional London area. Tel. 2 0973.	CHISWICK.—Immaculate house semi immlebed, Large master be	COMPLETE THE PROPERTY OF A SAME OF THE PARTY	COUNTRY PROPERTIES
i P.m., Willesden United Come- lary, Thursday, July 50th. Industr,—On Esth Jury at St. Thomas Hospital. Weshinster.	CHUG THROUGH THE CHILTERNS 50 of holidays. Bridgewater Bosts. Berkhamsted 3616.	LOW COST FLIGHTS	Write for leaflels.  15 NEW OXPORD ST., WC1 Tel. 01-405 8956/404 4944 ABTA approved.	DAYID HOCKNEY.—Prints an drawings for sale. An & Fundamenter. GolE34 962-5 962-1 9	RENTALS	CHISWICK.—Immaculate house semi furnished. Large master be room, frited cupboards. 2 falle bed. sole bed. stril loungs, timing room. lix. stril loungs, timing room. lix. stril loungs, timing room. lix. stril loungs, timing room, lix. stril loungs, lix. stril	EDUCATED LADY (extrovert) with constraint skills, seeks interesting and varied position.—Horsham 57867, evea.	WES, I.W., rere opportunity to nurchase a four-bedroom touri nouse in 'Old Cores' zers salling clubs, etc. £24,950,— steadman, Nertan & Co, Cowe 192641.
illness courageously borne. Major General Charles Whish Dunbar. C.B.L., late Colonel, The Royal Highland Lastlers, of Millon.	CHUC THROUGH THE CHILTERNS 30's off holidays. Bridgewater Bosts, Berkhammied 3616. 30 OFF LOSTRY Narrowboats on Ayon Ring 4708 berth avail. Tillerman Bosts, 01-609 3872, until 9 pm.	TO SALISBURY, J'BURG, LUSAKA, NAROBI, DAR, W.	£ £ £ SAVERS	Phone 658 7474 details, Creating design. CONTENTS VICTORIAN HOUSE. Fireplaces, panelling, doors	2275 P.W. KENSINGTON. Della ful 3 bedroomed flat healthin modernised and invulning to very high sandard, 2 large ceptions. 2 bein close, s V. Avienford & Co. 351 385.	1	Tei. 0780 783043.
Auchlerarder, Perthahero, Beloved Insiband of Jean and dear father of Colla, Geoffrey and Jane, Cremation private, A	porset Hamlet. Theking tol- lage. July equipped, 13 miles coast, sleeps 4, 250 p.w. From Sept. 19th. 105001 20786.	TO SALISBURY, J'BURG, LUSAKA, NARODH, DAR, W. AFRICA, PASIRO, DAR, W. BUDIA, PASIRO, DAVID, LUSTRALIA, N.Z., CANADA, BRE EUROPE, TANADA,	Up io 50% Maying to AUSTRALIA NZ BANGKOKE, EONG KONG, ENGAPORE, TOKYO MANILA, BOMBAY, MAROBE, DAR, JO'BURG, MIDOLE LAST, CANADA, GREECE and BIROPE.	Miss Janice, 01-340 5440.  OVER 800, 78 records in excelle condition, Represents a Breime condition. Pulleting Fig.	very high mandard, 2 large ceptions, 2 bath, cloak, so Aylesford & Co. 351 2383.	SUPERIOR FLATS AND HOUSE available and required for disl mats, executives. Long or shi lets in all areas,—Lipschand for. 48 Albermarie Street, Lo den, W.L. 01-499 5554.	es cac TV RESEARCHER ((emale) 5	LONDON FLATS MELPOND memorial service will be held in St. Andrews and West Church, Auchiorarder. Details to follow No flowers but depations may be	lovely orchards for young pro- fessionals and similar. Sessem- ber 20 to October 8th. Tractor drivers particularly walcome. Free	AFRO-ASIAN TRAVEL LTD., 517 Crand Bidgs., Training Bo., W.C.2. Tal: 01.859 1711/2/X	NATROBI, DAR, JO'BURG, MIDDLE EAST, CANADA, USA, GREECE and EUROPE.	grand (0548) 872659. IBM SELECTRIC, Model 82 C. years old, excellent condition £500 c.n.o. Cambridge (022	5 CHELSEA, KNIGHTSBRIDGE, B m. gravia.—Lixury houses a flats available for long or sh	art	temp See available, 01-579 6963.  TYPEST, 50 w.p.m., Ruent French/	ESTATE AGENCY sent to Friends of St. Thomas' Hospital or Perth and Kinross British Branch, Red Cross Society. On Synday 26th July 1	Caravens: ege limit 18-30. Write for details—Alkins, Tuliens Tool. Pulborough, Sussex. WILTSHIRE. Beautiful co-ass	Tel: 01-859 1711/2/5. Group and late bookings welcome.	AUSTRALIA TRAVEL CENTRE 3 Hogarth Place (Road)	ture Chair, Offers, 123, Griff	ith ham Palace Road, S.W.1.	LUXURY FLAT to let preferably embassy official. Split level sign. Baysware area. 2 b ruoms, recoption, kitchen/din area, bahrroom, porterage; 23 hes p.w. neg. 486 6195.	Typist, 50 w.p.m. Regul French, be spanish. 5 spanish has bond a spenish and the spanish and the spanish and the spanish will be spanish and the spanish and t	OSTEN MEWS, SW7 that
British Branch, Red Cross Society.  NewYCK.—On Sunday 26th July. 1931, peacefully. In her sleep. Olive thee Farmar; widow of Major of Forwick MC., Royal Northumberland Fugliers, aged B6. Funeral private 26th, Alam James, beloved husband of Bar- huru Lather of Larisham Cro- manufacture of Larisham Cro- con Rd. Beckenham.  RADENWITZ.—On July 25th, In a road accident, and rs. Joseph. Intriband of Larisham Cro- manufacture of James, Intriband of Larisham James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-  James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-   James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-   James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-   James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-   James & Assour. Seatorth Migh-   Jam	Avon Ring. A/o.8 berth avail.  Avon Ring. A/o.8 berth avail.  Tillerman Books. 01-609 3872, until y pm.  DORSET HAMLET. Thatched toi- lage. Inthy equipped, 13 miles  coast, slocpe 45 20 co.  APPLE Picking. Mixed comp in  lovily orthards for young pro-  fessionals and similar. Senten-  ber 20 to October 8th. Tracts  drivers particularly velocome. Free  carsvens: suce final 18-50. Writs  for details—Alkins, Tuliens Toal.  Pulborrouth, Sussex.  VILTSHIR R. Beautins. Co-  stresses 9, western Free Sent.  Strikes 100 "Egon Rouse fecom  mended, Excellent riding am  stone. North Devon. Riss  100984 231. Lower converse  Strikes 231. Lower converse  AA listed.—05913229.	SOUTH OF FRANCE Apartments and villas, mainly with pools immediately avail-	3 Hogarth Piace (Road) London Sw5. Tel.: 01-570 4058 (6 lines): Airline Agents	moulded from original in V. & Museum, C180, Telepho	NA BRUNSWICK GIMS. WS. Cherry garden fast comprising entra fast, mility room, record, 5 to 10 p. halfs, fir, research to 10 p. halfs, fir, research to 10 p. halfs, fir, research to 10 p. halfs, first search to 10 p. w.—Boyd, 10 p. w.—Boyd, 544 8395.	da.	-   MONTO-WOLCE OF DESCRIPTION	TREDEGAR SQ. E3 field E77.500. DAVER CT. SW3 Ise £39,980. BARKSTON GDNS. SW5 Ise £47,500.
86. Funeral private. ARRATT—On July 26th, Alan James, beloved husband of Bar- hard. Jaiher of Andrew and	class food ' Epon Rossay recom monded, Excelent riding am fishing. The Masons Arms, Know stone. North Devon. River	Apartments and villas, mainly with pools immediately available between new and Angust Valbonne, Pegomas. Opin Esecution, HighEs. Car hire and Gran In the Car hire and Gran In the Car hire and Car hire the Car hire	FLY * FLY * FLY * FLY GREECE & ISLANDS	(0483) 893233. Viewing Lond GOLD JEWELLERY and best 9 warden brands. Unwanted 9 and/or secondhand Frank Jose	on carden, Et. pleasent problem in parties. $200 p.w. Boyd. 584 8895.	MAYFAIR. LUXURY FURNISH self-contained fist. 2 dile bec lasts, with shower, faily lasts, with shower, faily Rein Diner 491 5164.	ED. '70 SHADOW, grey/black roof, black hide, manacolste, E3,000,—ted horreywood 2459 (day), Bowing-don, Hants. (042) $33771	COLLINGRAM GDNB, SWS less perthouse £87,500, snother £52,500.
natorium 1.50, Tureday, August 4lis. Family llowers only. Dona- tions if wished to C.C.1. Cricket Cittle at 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	MID WALES. Lineary converts barn in forest beside stream Sierps 4-5 no pers. Cancellation	domestic help can be arranged. For further details contact Christine or Elaine. BRAYDAYN LTD	UNBEATABLE VALUE	Jewellers, 186 Kensington H St. WB Tel: 037 4420. OLD YORK FLACSTONES, CI paving, cobble sells, etc. Nati	SHORT STAY SPECIALISTS.  SHORT STAY SPECIALISTS.  Houses/Apertments, Central  don at competitive tental  rite Palace Provertes,  6926.	OB-		DE VERE CONS. WE see with contents £165,000. KINGSTON HEE NORTH, SW7 various fill facing particular fill cacing particular fill facing particular from £1.400.
ton Rd. Reckenham.  RADENWITZ.—On July 25th, in a road accident, aged 24, jacoph, july 25th of Larget of L	AA listed,—05913239.	01-930 8282	Daily flights for D.i.Y. hois, with camping accom, accom, accom, accom, and laternas, hotels, villas, multi-confre hois, island-hopping, PLUS EDS Super Saver 2 wits for price of one Offers, 24 page colour brochurs.	Lacock (024 973) AR2. Wits. Lordship of an Essex ma available for offers to purch	mor 8926	Long let. Plaza Estates,	TEMPTING TIMES	time-charing apartments from $1.400, 01-584 6346
lands. London, N.W.11 UGMES-HALLATT.—Up July 28th poweroluly at home Lieu-Colonel July 8 444300. Bestarth Hun-	SHORT LETS	SOS Save on scheduled air fares to		TOP QUALITY Elephant skin atter of case. £350.—Tel Potters	BELGRAVIA, S.W.1.—Very at sche Stor newly dec. 1 bed. list maid. Avell, sow 6 mont year 2220 p.W. At Hom- rist.	rac-	NEW HORIZONS are siways interested to hear from experienced secretaries with compatible stills to join their seam of particulations. Temporary Stair.—01-199 2192.	LONDON AND SUBURBA land it licioted husband of Maliure and lather of Anne, Michael and Gillian and loved grantlather and giral grandfather.	FLATS DE VILLE have a selection of excitative properties available for summer.—Phone us now of 958 1721.	Save on scheduled air fares to JO SUGH, ACCRA & LAGGS, DAR, STYCHELLS, MAURI, THIS BANGKOK, NAIROST, TOWYO, SPHOAPORE, LOMBAY, CARD, ROVE, LAUSTHAM, and all European capitals, and all European capitals, and all European capitals, and all European capitals.	GREEK ISLANDS	TOP QUALITY Elephent atm atm atm atm atm atm atm atm atm at	PRIMROSE HILL Supert 2	- Kay & Lewis, 859 2245.	Ilips  IF YOU have good speeds and are unfispable come in today. We	ELVASTON MEWS. SOUTH K SINGTON. Large reboil? M hsc. Gas CH. Noble 34R de ind room, units for books oblets of art. 17R diving no endy, isbour saving it. law room. 5 bedrooms, master authe dressing room p better authe dressing room p better sery/playmour, windows to Hoof Terraco. 2 car sarage. 1 hold E165.000—Roy B d59 Kings Roed. 5w3. 552 0
manaspiving service, Friday, July 51st 11.1st, Barcontbe Parish thurch, followed by private or matter, No mourning, lamity howers only	INSTANT FLATS, Choises, Luxum serviced, Mr Page. 373 3435.  NYDE PARK 1918W OVER: 121 fatt with balcony, suit 21 family/friends, 210 per day p. or share with owner. 902 93/ Nr 1589 9865/ MOUSE, August 25/ Nr 1589 9865/ MOUSE, August 25/ ENIGHTSERIDGE LEAST AUGUST AUGU	CANADA, MANILA, BOMBAY, CAIRO, ROVE, AUSTRALIA, and all European Capitals.	Resi initiars from 2174 on a wide choice of islands with good availability. Phone for details of cancellation and stunding bargains.	PERSONAL STATIONERY.—In address and phone nur closenty printed on B'4 x 8 while tolopaper, 100 sheets.	rour room maisonette in quiet se with 4th floor pestitionse. p. w. Tel: 616 3923.	HOLIDAY FLAIS SERVICES. long term. Booking/brocks Phone 937 9886.	Also Also Dies, Also Dies, Also Dies, Also Dies, Also Dies,	objets d'art. 170 diring ro study, labour saving kit. leur room. 5 bedrooms, master suite dressing rooms.
crimation. No mounting, lamily llowers only.  AFFE. B.I.V.—On 28th July.  Post-fully at home. Dr Bornard  I. V. Jairé. of Basie. Switzer-  and. beloved hishousd of Arra-  card and loved lather of Bernard.  Private Family Range.  Adair Kinsham.  widow of Kenneth Horsindé  Kingham. Etnersi at Tumbridee  wells Crematorium at 5 p.m. on	iamliy/irlends, ElO per day p. or stare with owner, 402 92/07 589 9861	FLY FLAMINGO TRAVEL. 76 Shaftesburg Ave W.1 01-459 7751/2 Open Saturdays	details of cancellation and standby bargains.		ALL STORY OF THE PART AND	FOREST HILL Furn. flat. 3/4. 4 rooms, k. & b. £68 10 mins. City/waterloo.	5011 10 Resuchamp Place, Swo. 101 5011 10-024 9894, Temporary Secre- 107-024 9894, Temporary Secre- 108-0296, Ex.Sol ph. 02-437 1844 109-0286, Ex.Sol ph. 02-437 1844	2 other bathrooms, bidet, sery/playroom, windows to Roof Terrace, 2 car genege, 1 hold £155,000,—Roy Bro
eard and loved lather of Bernard. Private family futural. (INGHAM On July 26th, peace- fully, Rhopa Adair Kincham.	E120 p.w. 01-359 6462. KNIGHTSSRIDGE. Luxury 1 be room flat available Aug./Ser E100 p.w. Phone 550	MALAGA	455 Fulham Road, London, SW10. Tel. 01-351 3366 (24hr brochurephone), ABTA member. ATOL 3821	MUSICAL INSTRUMENT	RUCK & RUCK, 581 1741. Of furnished homses for long acceded inventily and also able, including, ST JOHN'S WOOD.—Elegant, ury Gat. 2/8 bedrooms, grange. £110 p.w. Co. hit feel Arghible 12th Aug fill assembly the control of the Arghible 12th Aug fill assembly the control of the Arghible 12th Aug fill assembly the control of the Arghible 12th Aug fill all Lucruty block with all machines. £150 Allen Bates & Co. 499 10 All	JO mina. City/Weiarioo.  CHELSEA. Large fist. 1 de bedroom, living room, k. Phone. 2-5 months. 285  2852 2870. COTTAGE.—Willy room. 1 de mies M4, furnished 3-4 rooms 1-2 gent star room. 1-2 gent star rooms 1-2 gent rooms	ouble 20-28, £3,50 ph. 01-437 1844.	EDUCATIONAL widow of Kenneth Horsingd Rippham. Funeral at Tunbridge Wells Crematorium at 3 p.m. on Monday. Aostasi 3. No Chosen	PUTNEY By river. Quiet 3 be house and sunny garden. 2 P.W. neg. All Ang. 01-789 401 BARNES, weakly/morphic 401	6. E112 pp 0. ALICANTE		PIANOS	sbie. Ideal tenants looking. ST JOHN'S WOOD.—Elegant. STY Cat. 2/3 bedrooms. Gr garage. £110 p.w. Co./b	inx. CHARMING COTTAGE. With rden. 15 miles M4, furnished 3-4 Heav rooms 1-3 year show	RECRUITMENT OPPORTUNITIES
Kingham. Fureral at Timbridge wells Crematorium at 5 p.m. on Monday, August 5. No flowers at her request, but donations, it desired to People's Dispensars for Sick Animale. South Street. Dording.  MACNAMARA.—On July 24th, suddenly at home. Colonel Charles yere Macnamara. MB. BCH DPH, late RAMC, beloved his band of Erics, father of Vera Charles and Eva. Standather of Julian and Charles. Requien Mass 1 p.m., Thursday, July 30th, at 51 Rephael's R.C Church, Portmouth Road, Surbian Cerrmanian private, Enguira	tive 5 bedroomed house, to dinen. col. t.v., 01-748 8256, STREATHAM.—Linney 3 bedroo flat. modern kitchen, stereo.	E110 pp  Saturday Moraine  TV  departures, Gatwick  15  01-838 1887 (24 hra)	DISCOUNT FARES TO Tevran, Joburg, Salisher, Nairobi, Lusaka, Siangra		of Kensherton Superb top	Dec. (036485) 340. Root SW7 MEWS.—Small bouse in ser. Cul-de-sec. Steps 3	agent agents with contacts wanted to sell discount at tickets on comment and mission basis. Full back up service. Apply in writing to box	AMENDMENT to the Thines Et tional features publication of the two full-display features now aspear. Nonday 17th August editorial. Not 26th August editorial. Not 26th August and September as previsiated. Please call Mrs. Scriveser, 01.278 9351 (or assistance required on boo and for the competitive available.
MACNAMARA.—On July 24th, 5to- denly at home. Colonel Charle Vere Macnamara. MB, BCM DPH, late RAMC, beloved hus-	simion. Avail August 3 mon let only 270 p.w. 769 6182. PARK LANE WI Modern luxu	01-828 1887 (24 hray th AURLINK 9 Wilton Rd, SW1. ATOL 118B	Tevran, Jo'burg, Salisburg Nairobi, Lusaka, Sisayar Lagro, Linde, Middle Lee Sanbay, Riong Kong, Bangsob Singapare, Kuala Tunya, Ansaraia, New Zealan Amarkca, Rio, Lina, Europe	BECHSTEIN BOUSE.	with all machines. 2250. Allen Bates & Co. 499 16 ST JOHN'S WOOD.—Newly	65. WANTED, Furn fist S London Sept. for two Cambridge	Group grad-	stated. Please call Mrs. : Scrivener, 01-278 9351, for assistance required on boo band of Erica, father of Vera Charles and Eva, grandlather on Julian and Charles, Requien Nace 1 p.m., Thursday, July	ished. 2 rooms, kitchen and bei room, Porterage and service Sult business executive or com-	d.	HELOISA TRAVEL	-1-150 2440	fial, parking, porter, as £90 p.w. incl. 248 694 want 1928.	rdens. FINCHLEY N12.—Lovely n 1/794 Ded flat. Nr Tube, Brig Airey, TV, maid, £95 g.w	LEGAL NOTICES	available.  DIAL A PROBLEM in b Physics on 01-585 9425.
Sorb. at 51 Raphael's R.C. Church, Port-mouth Road, Surbi- lon Cremalion private, Enquirie Frederick Palno, 399 2060.	10 7 months. £225 p.w. Apr 01-998 7206 day (09906) 89 evenings.	TAKE OFF WITH AIRLINK	53 Old Compton St London, WI 01-434 2572/2574/2576 Als Agt Open Sa	reconditioned. Quality at name prices.—324-350 BN Rd., Sih Croydon. 01-588 YAMAHA MUSIC SCHOOL	sason 5 bed (nily southpool fist, porter, £175 s.w. 456 4 5513, Enjoy kitchengtis bethroom 1	gdns, HAMPSTEAD. Hoge flat with 138. 3 bods. recept. kit/diner. 1000ge, newly dec: avail 7 pr: £150	attic. In the Matter of MELOBRAE LIMI- bath: TED and In the Matter of the p.w., Companies Act 1945. Notice is hereby given that the	Physics on 01-585 3425.
PITMAN.—On July 27th, 1981 pracefully in hospital, Mary Busal Pliman, of 59 Temple Fortun Hill, N.W.11, aged 69, Funga	MARRIE ARCH, HYDE PARK, Y Beaufilluf furnished house, bedrooms, a vecretions, average of the second	ail. Spain £110 rin	STOP	PIANOS, H. LANE & SON, No revened to the control of	ability of gardon, Company, dit is 01 or executives only, 270 p. in at 01-802 CO91.	C.H., S518.  AMPSTEAD, Huge flat with 38 beds, recent kit/direr, points, dissipant of the control of the contro	mette, creditors of the above-named Com- pany, which is bothe voluntarity stan, wound up are required, on or be- tions the 3rd day of September,	GARDEN HISTORY Ends Me in Oxford, Live well in C. 7-12m & 21-25th Sept. I ista Seminar, Coombe. Go Street. Schorne, Hants, JE.
service at Golders Oreen Crema forium, Monday, August 3rd a 1-15 c.m. Flowers to Leverice and Sons, Golders Green	fully (urnished flat availating the fully (urnished flat availating £160 p.w.—	Switzerland	Look so further for nights Delfil. Sombay, Kuala Lumpi Singapore, Hong Kong, Tok Sydney, Also Europe, US Caneda, S. America & Afri- NEW WAYS TRAVEL CENT 21 Swallow Streak London, W.1. 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11	II. No. 170608 1917) re tioned £1,400. Winchester £4.	condi- nihed and equipped 1st	& 2nd avocado bathroom fitted k	itchen, and sammines, their full Christian size of accompanies, their addresses and secretarions, full particulars of their secretary of their sec	Street. Selborne, Hants, noberts.—On July 27, 1981, 1 his alego, Arthur James, age 87 years, of Chase Close, Colo Hill, Amersham, Devoted Brothe	flat to let from 10th-24th Augt flat to let from 10th-24th Augt Fitted carpets, colour TV.	290	NEW WAYS TRAVEL CENT	RE Grand No. 96352 (1910). Rel condition, £3.000. Woolhampion (Berks.) ovenings.	Excelling lets. £200 p.w. Ne Ring: for suitable company lets. 2946.	poliable FLATS DE WILL Congrahor 01-602 From £55 p.w. Longrahor pulshed 938 1721	d flats any), to the undereigned Philadelle any), to the undereigned Philadelle FCA of Leonard Cortis (Co. 5/4 Bentinck Street, Londo	Courses of the late Holena, Lillan an Mand Roberts, Service at Chi ferra Crematorium, Amarahan on Monday, Appust 3rd at 2.5	immediately: £160 p.w.—  4021 day.  4021 day.  4031 day	ref. 2350-2400 per yacht at 1 of. 2250-2400 per yacht at 2250-2400 per yacht at 1 of. 2250-2400 per yac	mts 01-37 5943 last 2 mins, from Piccadilly Christon (Air Agents)	overlings EASSOON, stored to the control of the con	OCO. dining area, K & B L Deven E90 p.w. Tel. 727 8914, SLOAME SO. Elegant flats.	most areas F. & F. from and low rents, 580 1586.	attic. In the Matter of MELOBRAE Limitals, p.w., Notice is hereby aiven that the contraints for the Author of the Notice is hereby aiven that the creditors of the above-named Company, which is bother volume to gray, which is bother volume to gray, which is bother wound up to gray wound up to gray wound up to gray wound up to gray and secreptions, indiparticisms of the excitations, indiparticisms of the excitations in any in the analysis of the excitations of the excitation of t	LONDON COLLE
p.m. Family Rowers emly.  SHAW.—On 28th July 198  William Simpson (Billie) D.Sc  PhD., F.R.L.C.S., F.R.S.A	HOLIDAYS AND VILLAS	Sardina Island Saling, Non- ney Marina Hayling Isla Hants.—Tel: (070 16) 663	with- und, villes apre on the italian	(1908) rosewood adam 62,900.—01-699 5244 (signal p.m.) or weekends (after	legs. Long let £90/£145. Too filer ? AVAILABLE NOW — Lux mished flats and houses in	8932. HAMPSTEAD, Yery 17 fur double, I twin bed, double, lawin bed, double, lawin bed, double, lawin bed.	nacions prove their debts or ciaims at suc- fat. I may and bisce as shall be specific in such notice, or in default there- tally they will be excluded from it	OF SECRETARIS
Love Lane, Peterstield, Ham shire Beloved husband Caroline, adored father of Par	ZURICH, Gensva, Basie, Co	~	- from $300 ag 2 wks. Incl.	and only and state 10% of the credit on our range planes. Witten dotalls. 1077 Fleet Rd. NW3. 01-267 7	F plus & Co. 01-589 5247. of fine WimelEndon. 2 bed. squa Cosa den, modern, quici, Av hop. 2 rears: E80 mg. 947 148	re. gar. Residential Lettings,	Salid. Sectors such debts are proved of July 198 Ol-261 Dated this 24th day of July 198 MONJAK, Liquidat	Comprehensive secretar training Periodent and day stude commence father and great grandfather. Cr matten private. No flowers, b document to 51 Dunstan's. If Old Marriespone 8d London NY	ZURICH, Gensvs, Basis, Co, de Jagen, Vienna, Stockholm, bure, Sallsbury, Lurben, s in Holed see Charler, best print Hoboc Lt., 189 Cherch R London NW10 10. 01-451, 2 (ATOL 1187).	Chalet parties, antidios, agents cer- cer. best of the cert parties, antidios, agents cer. cer. cer. cer. cer. cer. cer. cer.	100 Sel	229B Fleet Rd, NW3, 01-267 7	671. COMPORTABLE residential modalion for active gentlefolk in professional St. Leonards-on-Sea hon	retired p.w. Dillons, 548 123- couple's ERAMHAM COMS. — Att	MAYPARK LIMITED. Notice horive 2 hereby given pursuant to Secti F. 293 of the Companies Act. 194	15th September, 19
STRAITON, BENEDICT. Aged on 16 of 2 Umbrid Street, Ro hammon, S.W.15, Trentrally	(ATOL 1187).	ATOL 1383B.	EP SUMMER PLIGHT SAVERS. (EP. 2135 Malaga £116 Allcant Faro £120 Liston £115, £125 Friendiy Travel (	WANTED Palma 21-580	October 1st. 0424 43147 5.W.9. Elegant, large, fully 1 betroom fist, ideal sit son or 2 professional	c.h., c.h.w. Co let. £1. graphed Wilett, 730 3435, September 1880 From Regulary September 1880 From Septem	20 p.w. that a meeting of the CREDITO of the above named Combany we be held at the officer of Leonary of Leonary with the held at the officer of Leonary was people from the combange of the Corus & C	Portland Place, London W1N 408
Corn. at S. Rophael Surbiton Church Porismouth Road, Surbiton Crymaion and Post Surbiton Crymaion of Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Crymaion of Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Surbiton Crymaion of Surbiton Crymaion of Surbiton Crymaion and Surbiton Crymaion Company and Sursing Company and Chief Sursing Crymaiorium, Amantham on Monday, August Sed at 2.5 Hellow Company and Chief Company Crymaiorium, Amantham on Monday, August Sed at 2.5 Hellow Company Crymaion Chief Company Crymaion Chief Company C	CARIBBEAN VILLA HOLIDAYS ( 2440 to £1,645 pp. For co portfolio, Reanoy Mariar Tr	Trom CHAMONIX IN AUGUST. 1 LIVEL. Bpt., slps. 4, £61 p.p. 1 £86 p.p. 2 wks. Price i ferry & 3 star insurance.— bury Travel, 0373 86491. AB	TM. 2234 Alf Agts.	ANTIQUES, bookcases, dealers, brught, Fentons 1538. A and MATINUM. GOLD, Sil	Son or professional CAP p.w. SE2 9105.  SAB p.w. SE2 9105.  SEAUTIFULLY FURNISHE SAME SAME SAME SAME SAME SAME SAME SAM	weekly, 01-228 4864, participant of flat, a b. Co let 1 year.	diffate doba or calona and the names of their doba or calona and the names and contact of the second	COUNTRY PROPER
what is it but a dream?" E outries to: T. W. Sanders. C 789 6855.	22- SOUTH OF FRANCE. LEXTERY	bury Travel, 0573 864911. AB	13338. GOYT, DODGAG.	A, and PLATINUM. GOLD, SIL PROFILE ATOL D1-405 2438 Safron HILL Loads D1-405 2438 O1-242 20 POST OFFICE RADIO PHO	modern kitchen, gard on ECL Sept. 01-229 3856. Sept. 01-229 3856.	treathan town house, 3 beds.	Dated the Sard day of July 134 Dated the Sard day of July 134 by order of the Board. R ALEXANDER	Remarkable Proper
WILKINSON.—On July 23rd, 198 peacofully at home, Fre Dorothy, and 91, below-d w of the late 8r Georae Wilkins 1st Bt., K.C V.C., and loving a	SOUTH OF FRANCE. Latery vith pools still available, tales Appust. Also Spain. P. gal, West Indies. Continued Villas. 01-245 9181.	enusi Carissean Holidays. — Ty enusi atlantic Wings. 01-602 ATOL 505B Kestsurs.	SOUTH AMERICAN, CARIB Beef Tellable fares. Tyans: Wings. 01-602 4021. Air	SEAN. 55 Channel, urgently r good prices.—Telephone 5552, Superphones.	equired. High Rd. Like 3 bed 021-443 E110 p.w. Find a he nied for 3643.	treathan recept.  1. 1 vr. modern beautifully rown house, 3 beds, 2 recept, integral garage 2 recept, integral garage and electronic states and electronic	sarden. holiday nts. 70: The the Matter of TRIAD CONTR. TORS LIMITED. By Order of decorated HIGH COURT of JUSTICE of	Besutiful neo Geo house in 3.7 acre the Bishop's Blurrlord most joven mother, grandmost and great-grandmother. Crea- tion, family only at her requ and no flowers, please Life a		HEW YORK 2220. Daily file —North American Airlines. Sackville St., W1. 01-437 5	the Comments	London, Reading, Bourn	niad for the Little BOLTONS. Inch inch fully equipped sanity furnished. Garrial inch fully equipped sanity furnished. Garrial increases inches, salironom in familiar for couple. 4 no chen, salironom in familiar for couple. 5 no chen, salironom in familiar fully per salironom in familiar fully per salironom in familiar fully per salironom saliro	and ele- land ele- land level room, k & b, and bakes ms, kit- blote with lines, c.b., T	nts. Tel. In the Matter of TRIAD CONTR. TORS LIMITED. By Driver of Control of Triad Control of Market of High Court of Marine 1981. He 13th day of May 1981 was been appeared to the Long Chartenburg Square. Lend Courtenburg Square. Lend 1981. Day LOUIDATOR of the above-out Company without a Committee Interection.	Beautiful nee General house in 3 are de la children were her delight,	GANADA CAHADA GANADA		01-651 1323 (24hrs),		between 10-5.60 p.m.	580 6321 ext 34. Eve	E 01-355 COURATOR of the above-name of the above	med shower we, bath/we separate we, Garage, brick stable block 13 with hayloft in en
IN MEMORIAM HAMMOND. FRANK.—In a joying memory of my belo	Air Agis. 01-836 6184/6	202. Holidays. (059 45) 7671. A			£275 p.w. n.n.s. Co	GTON.—BARNES RIVERSIDE.—Georgian house, 5 bet bethrooms, From Mig. 16t r.m., 255 p.w. 01-95 weekings, 01-584 yeekends, 01-584	THE FOR BEST OF THE PROPERTY O	WITH IN LANDS!
loving memory of my belo liammy who died two years boday. He tives in my hi lorver.—Directly PLANE.—In memory of Frank		RICA. HONGKONG. Jo'burg. Attat. Agts. O1-379 7829/760	Jet LOWEST AIR FARES. Air Buckingham Travel 01-980	Agents. WANTED.—Dechahund, lar dard red Intelligent stral part for and laved, dog up to 12 months old, Green devoted owner. Tel. Nottingham 604412.		Reautifulty SWISS COTTAGE (Prestit Specious lux furn Bat. dole. beda. 1. & b	road). Rectp. 2 Rectp. 2 WARWICKSHIRE CC 938 C.H. Exe bils placed self fully. 25th October, 1981. et 14-1/1	Bispon, a Stortload St
Plane, action in France and Africa, who nied in 1981 a way service on this birth —Alan and family.	SINGAPORE ? New Zesland Air Agts. 01-734 4308/3018			ABTA).	1500	maisonette, 3/4 beds, 1	186 1296. Et a bills placed 38th July. 28th Cruber, 1981. et 14-1/1 28th Cruber, 1981. et 14-1/1 28th bills cutstanding.
FORTHCOMING EVENT	PERU 23:28 rtn, trom Lond Paravian Airlines. 01-950 GREBCE & EUROPE with 06 from 289. 01-637 7381 / 44	On.— LOW AIR fares world-wide, Ju 136. 91 Regent St, W1. 01-434: 1932 LATIN AMERICA'S pest. Agts Agts 1442	initer. TEL AVIV ir £107 ret, israe. 2701. Ir £137 ret, ipais Travel, LAB 2128 (Air Asts). 1288 — Kibbutz and	I/Egypt SERVICES 01-328 Moshav Friendship & Marriag	CHELSEA. Town house, 2 bath. C.H. patto. p.w. 01-658 6367.	E200-E246 KENSINGTON. 3 bed baths, recept., mod ki	Comm. 2 DOMESTIC AND CATERI	11 W.2.
ENGLISH BAROQUE MUSIC Lacock Abbey. 71st July. August., 6.50. Lacock 227.	GREEK ISLANDS, 24 August for 3/4 in Pores for 2267 p 1-2 Might, Holday Villas 01-680 (ATOL 1988 ABTA)	Apts 1442 - 1442 rem high season for a case of	hou- hou- Russell St. WCI. 01-536 ATOL SEPTEMBER SIM/ETIM	out the 56 Gt 1261. acting to the Professionals. de luce London hotel. seiling in the couples Carden Hotel, Kensingt D1-937 9801.		baths, recept. med it. T.V. quiet med alocs ing Reikmd Pt. C.! Porter, Garage, £175 let (neg. suitable long	super cook requir	Elegant spacious and on 2 floors. 2 large tions, saater bedroof badiroom ersuits. 3 bedroom, 2nd he capacious loft, fitted and lesse expiring 1993.
ANNOUNCEMENTS	Ring EAS 01-409 0366 Air NAIROBI, JO'BURG, ALL AF Never knowingly unders	Rights   12 4    GREEK   ISLANDS   24   August 7 & 14   Sept. 2   Volume 1   August 7	holidays, Flotilla salling Greek islands. Singles, weeks. & parties with or withou rooms experience. affinat or	on the Carden Hotel, Kensing D1-937 9801.  Bhore- led in transmit Discount Control of the Carden Hotel, Kensing Control of the Carden Hotel, Kensing Control of the Carden Hotel, Kensing Hotel, Carden Hotel, Kensing H	in Royal Con. W.S. WILS Con. W.S. On the location on Sea.	bedrooms, 3 baths, £7,000 p.s. Lease, ca tains, part contents	2 recept, US Ambassador for Icela requires a super effici- for sale. Ordon Blett Cosk with plet 9941,	md Lesse expiring 1993.  Lesse expiring 1993.  Ring 01-262 64
CANCER RESEARCH	PERU 2328 rin, trom Lond Partwian Airlines, 01-930 GREECE & EUROPE with Ox from 289, 01-637 7351 fair GREEK 15LANDS, 24 August, at 107 3/2 in Porce for 2357 y 1-2 fight, Holdey Villas 01-680 (ATOL 1988 ABTA). FOR CHEAPER CONSON MAIROEL OF EUROPE MAIROEL OF EUROPE MAIROEL OF EUROPE ECONSIT. Albion Bidgs, 42 gate St. E.C.1. 01-606 9207 fair Agta). The 8844 DAILY FLIGHTS, schembled/ throughout Europe and Wor- Freedom Holdeys, 01-741 110 tines). (ATOL 4328 / 10 SWISSET.—Daily to Zunici SWISSET.—Daily to Zunici	Air Tours, 01-839 6055. AIr Tours, 01-839 6055. ATOL 0118. Starter GREECE EXPRESS COACH	TEL AWV IT £107 rel, Issue 2700. LAS	t saling the saling smart representation of the saling smart representation of the saling smart representation of the salings	Mrs Pat R Ave. 64 ROSSLYN H HAMPSTEAD	rated flat. 2 rooms.	heing), 4 2 recept. To sale. T	of lag
We look in YOU for help, be cause without the generous a of the public our work count to be cuminged two has	Intropologic Europe and Wor Freedom Holidays, 01-741 IO lines). (ATOL 4328 / SWISSJET.—Daily to Xurici Genera. Low fares, 01-950 NO NEED TO STANDEY.—	ATOL D.18.  ATOL D	Florida Saling Clob: 77. Aug/ ATHENS 2109 RETURN Aug	01-969 4.5-12.	Ol-794 II61	ict (neg. suitable long 25.57. LOWNDES SQUARE () bedrooms, 2 baths, 27.000 p.e. Lesse, ca tains, part contents Crouch & Less 493 BUKE STREET WT,—N raited (12. 2 rosms, 20.0 p.w. 6 months 20.0 p.w. 6 mont	M Hill salary, 6 months to one y spontament, Reis, essent chen/dinor, Contact only yoluntary support to re on i. Please and a donation of	NO NEED TO STANDBY.  Canada Laun America  Australia Middle East.	-USA. Africa F. EastPrinta 1 Africa O1-499 7203 Air Agis. Late SUMMER IN THE GREEK S	5. 01- Aus/ Aus/ Aus/ Aus/ Aus/ Aus/ Aus/ Aus/	ari Oct. Air. Ring	¿JEAN WILLIAM	Phone 455 5030/34 Phone 455 5030/34 RE YOU LOOKING to IS LTD live rental, furnished	100 p.w. (01) 262 7733 r an execu- or unium-	Stockwell/Kenni Luxury Fla
Imperial Room Lett AResoan und Room Lett AResoan Roy 123 Lucan's Inn Field Landon W. 2A 3PX	Fast Travel, 01-485 9300 Agts TRAVELAIR INTERCONTIN	Spotse, Rhodes, Alberts, Heathraw flights, Pling now Travel 01702 2443 ATOL 1	Corto. Lagos 2020, many de Crote. Before Trave, 93 Regen Attica 01-437 6077/439 590 1254B. Agti. Tabhiry LAST-MINUTE Holidays.	TIGHT APA	040 2402	decorated Services 05447 2746	dale Ascol Au Pair Burgau Piccadill World's largest au pair offers best jobs London on at 87 Regent St., Wil. 930	y Lid spence abroad ina residential road ina restrictions. 10
WITE	Aus Travelair Intercontin Low Cost Travel, Est. 197 Eurin Rd. N.W.1. 791 1566. IATA ATOL 109. Bonded. Late Bookings we except Europe. Visas obt. WEAR ROME. Beautital beach with all amentings, sleep $250 a.w. Estiles conservations.	Godi Calic 10654) 5-5531  diped. ADVENTURE TOURS for the	(ATOL last minute holidays, Access Visa Rickm	to that the same tong of	detached house, detached house, decomodation, fully well furnished, $225	apacions o PLAT SHAR	ING INTELLIGENT PERSON required accompany family with 2 claimen to New York in O	ired to Line: Low outgoing on the ciober.
WORLD LEADERS IN CANCER RESEARCH	with all amenities, sleep £250 p.w British owner. £10, 01-059 1286.	Geric Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  Seltome Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  Seltome Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  Seltome Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  Seltome Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  Few late vacs, Scardinavia Celtic (165.4) 5-55.51  F	ATOL As minute holidate, Access Visa Acces	4 others	O Victorian cortage in o sac, prelly property of character in very po	decorated recognition of the control	25 p.w. a long of the property	unique 582 6745 (sv Pelses
Help us make the breat through. Send your donail or in memoriam donation.	k- unlate route 1st class equi on Dens Autumn £1295 to (0380) 830476.	oment. Greece 4 wks. I Aug. Iceland 2's wis. 15 Aug. Tentrek, 01-302 6426 (24 ABTA.	PINLAND BY CAR for 2, PINLAND BY CAR for 2, Approx Aug 15-Sept Costs £100 each.—351 3rd August DEPARTU minute chance to book	O. SHATE 1414. RE. Last 2 luxury	officer flat in PB gerd	roaned 150 n develop- n develop- n fance, weil of the fance of the fan	125 p.v., 125 p.v., 235 3419.  Luid siting. 2  compton Rd. 39 5491.  1958) for two dogs. Driving location for 726 4903.	£35,000 ONLY
IMPERIAL CANCER RESEARCH FUND ROOM 160K, P.O. BOX 12 LINCOUN SIMN FIELDS LONDON WCLA 3PX	nigher sing United Brokenids	o Please o 3700 o 3700 close to sea. avail 1 August. £230 p.w. 01-537	hrs.). Java AUGUST DEPARTUI minute chance to book ville with pool and man ylaria island of Hydra in Gree isc.i. dights, night in hydrofoll and domk 6448 pp.—Call ITP 18 am- unistan 18 am- 18 am-	dd on the C. Prices Adhens From	COCCOCCOCCOCC	properties of twin bridged room Sharers welcome. C (after 6 pm). FULHAM.		BLOOMSBU
	Incident bolidare. Time	trees and polden beaches DUBLIN shine and blue sea.—I of Ltd. Travel Bureau 01-575 to SWIX EUROPE, EUROPE	5. sm. CORFU, VIDES, appronts, 411. CORFU, VIDES, appronts, 110. Corfu C	VALEDICTO  VALEDICTO  VALEDICTO  1 30441.  Sum Rolling 1 40515		Sharers welcome. C cleer 6 pm!. Caler 6 pm!. Sulcham.—Near Tube lovely malsonetts. Sulcham.—Near Tube lovely malsonetts. Sulcham.—Near Tube lower lovely malsonetts. Sulcham.	CORDON BLEV	1 bedroomed fis area. large livin modern kitchen, ca ghutters. Lease 29
WOMEN PROFESSIONA Have you had a hard u	Me Viena Zurich 01-437 85	Conen- Cheap flights, Also far E ekholm. Journeys, 01-636 6211, 77. City 637 8382 4, Air Acts.	UROPE days 01-745 5158 (A set and ATOL 0858). Julia's 15 AUGUST DEPART 75 01- Superb luxury Villas a the ocean in Palm Ba	UNIQUE set of 16 V Oak duing chairs it oak dui	Actorian scholars revealed backs FURNISHED LE	maar Gioncester Re- each, 01-375 5850 MAYFAIR, Own large t & b., ladependen	room, shared £5,500	01-636 01
WAS THE STRUGGLE WOR IT: Any experiences serious audising welcomed by won solicitor researching for bo	PARIS EAS FRINTS, 181.  PARIS EAS FRINTS, 181.  available. Stade Travri.  UIII. ABTA, ATOL 4488	Othern Most destinations inc. US 378 9116. Travelcare ( CON- D'AZUR- Mougins le	ABTA). ITP VIIIs 01-584 6211	imousine ing a pair of ind po.—Call carved character (ABTA). C2,500. Seen Lee	air hav- vidually Leading firm of heads. Agents require pe adon or organisational at	Estate RICHMOND/HAM, female to share town house, own	757 0657. Prot/civilised lovely insury com. 7V. record, TV. record	OVERSEAS PRO
solicitor researching for bo All robbes treated in atric confidence. Box O400C. ' Times.	ALS  ALS  Technical Control of the C	meres from Cannes in new development. Sleeps 4, turnished and quipped.	v village mobile homes, mains village with all amenities. VBCant wooded site, Sierp up August Book temils	connected sult boardroom.	don or organisational at would management haude management orgality furnished Successful applicar officient, conscion smart, Proficiency	lettings. ES p.w. (billy in twill be ideas and FLATSHARE, 213 Pm typing 0318, Professional	School own in the control of the con	noney or signing and according to
BRIGHT 7 Join Mensa IQ tes Mensa (B), PREPOST W Mangoon WV2 IBR, Tel:	Faterprises to Bangkot, Karachi, Mauritius, Singapore, Joburg, M Olyge, Colombo, Kuala Lumpa Olyge, Colombo, Kuala Lumpa	india. £230 p.w. Tel. Great Lt Natroit. £349 Fit/hil from £1' . Aut/ io lialy. Scala from	Phone TW Travel, 01- MUNICH — 3 Aug. 24 79. File FM.—Inter School (062 278.— LOW COST lemohaul of	7935 0255 This successful tiser placed her tiser placed h	adver- tion will be con	lettings.  I will be to the total process of the pr	MacBlair	CONDOMI
NORFOLK FURNITURE. Unhe	NZ, 45 Gr Portland St 01-636 2521/2522/146 Agts State VILLA HOLIDAYS.—Italy	O. Air 2284 Air Agis.	4606/ name it—multiple Unusual routines chean —we'll find it. Trail/ Earls Ct. Rd., London	stoperes tisement in the stopers 16 "For Sale" Co	lumns.		100 mars 100m and	IN PARAL
NORFOLK FURNITURE. Unbe note had largeline. See I'm Sales loday. The Largeline and Largeline. See I'm Sales loday. THREE cheers for the lapoy.  — Louis S. Pinna a. I'm MAUTE. W. Add ledger the	Agis Sale.  VILLA HOLIDAYS.—Italy.  VILLA HOLIDAYS.—Italy.  France, Cote d'Asur—hig availability Smechures: 01-560 7234/8591 (ATO	SPECIAL OFFER	M-31 Licensed Air Ag EARDINIA, your brack- BARDINIA, your brack- Choice swimming pool, Also	ts. sar live copy & our of menu. plan (4 days +	series (No Agenc	MARSIE ARCH. Land house, suit cotule: —347 5411 et 4 MODERN FLAT, STO	Recruitment Consults	Florida. New C
CLEMSFOLD HOUSE, charmy	no rest	Guaranteed no surchar CRETE AUG./SEPT Superb accommodable	breaklast, Half board, or bod and breaklast, August still available of Sandinia, 01-379 73	she received 4 representation of the items by the	olies on	NICE STILL BET TOOM	as p.w. linci	P.O. Box 4 St. Polers FL 33743.
home.—Sre Services. HOME TYPING. excellent p ation.—Gor Services. CORDON BLEU 7 Non McBlair & Assoc ad in Dom & Ca. MELPOND has a selection of	August/September  Nash Athens Wed/Set from homes Carle Mans/Tues from	E129. ATHENS AUG./SEPT.	ATOL 0858) Julia's Julia's Julia's Julia's Julia's Journal Surope, SA, 01- ABTA). Hass. A kilo- Village Villag	day, enabling day, enabling cancel the re	her to Ringi	the Barnes house over the condition of t	un prof females URGENT
MEISSEN AL auction.—See Se CALIFORNIA. Names mother geoded urgently.—See Dom	revices. Malaga Fris/Sals from	190. 40% off worldwide ser 1925. ABTA 01-402 4262 ABTA ATOL 2	Tice. able for Aug.—Atla days. 01-458 9422. A ABTA. PERU & MCAS. 4 wk Ling. Machu Picchu.	niis light days.  TOL 1146B days.  Expedition lifthis is the	The leading agen	IN Leader   SWIA Second ogracion from first Mortal First STR 6 HIGHGATE BORDS	n. House, com. Nanny/mothers key Station: 250 kij0 reven. RES. Pleasant il from Aus 3 required for 1st Se se of k b.	help. pable. r old
BERKSHIRE RECTORY 1825 U.K. Holldays loday. YOUNG VERY KEEN low h	26 Cortas Street Wile 27 April 18 Agents Applied Agents		16. Sept 15. £380 Details : Encounter	Nazes, Ang + flight: Overland apton Rd. simply	want offering a full in	for 2 months. U garden, laurity. U garden, laurity. Si	required for 1st Se Se of k th. required for 1st Se St40 p.m. inci. ber. Working paren Jennifer, aged 3. 3	reann and an analysis of the second
Sils.  BERKSHIRE RECTORY 1825  U.K. Holldays loday.  YOUNG VERY KEEN low h  poifer, played Berkshiro   juniors, wishes make car projessional golder. Senks of  projessional golder. Senks of  part Great Britain. Prepa  to mark to projess in a serial senks of  part Great Britain.	county as poening poening LOW FARE SPECIA	- 475 Paris	FOR SALE	DING	TEL: 01-4	5 7422 Prof/Grad 27 + own room, CR mc. Day Prof 7	Twickenham. share costage. 2100 p.c.m. 728 ext 5141 devices, swimming	nool.
part Great Britain. Prepa tend interview test and Strenge: Pinc Ridge Parm. To: Bryckned 21835. PROFESSIONAL but in a your help i why? Sec roung wife can be termis and her husband gives lob to care for their smal cost Blocks and pure if	Ascot. Connact Hermis Travel for the law end of via scheduled Eights to Alistraal	OUR NEW	CHANCERY CARPETS—Berbers as trade under 197-90 Clerken under 197-90 Clerken under 197-90 Clerken under 197-90 Clerken under 197-90 Fullem 198-80 Crightal exprisen constition 197-90 choice of date days, sic, £5 sach, 6		311 TELEX 2	9660 WANDSWORTH CO	betwoek, Stare own room and color own room and color own moker, car and swimmer. Ex	dr TV.
your help   Why? Sec	sed of via scheduled Eights to AUSTRALI suise a SANGKOK, BALL, COLOMBO, SEN sally IU S TOKYO.	GAPORE IS AVAILABLE	merners, at trade	swell Road.		p./.m. 499 1142	am, 827 2475 and swimmer. Ex	1110ms. H.
soung wife can be termined and her husband gives job to care for their small ren. Picese scale your to PCAC. 10. St Christ Plact. London wil. TALLAN PUBLISMER seeks lary.—See Creme de la 21-25.7 Editorial Pout for tronal house—See non See	up his HINTU. 255 (Booded airline Conation Copiner's Trateger'S Lunder W		MARELES—ILIES, VANI	fory tops.		Fig. 1. 499 1132 S.P. 122. Flat in all large records, 2 X18 VAC 1 areas) W.14. Perri. Lade. 138. Chen bedree $150 n. m. P. $150 n. m.	wared house. 3 Fares paid. Intell & b. £40 p.w. beld in London.	LAIRMS OF SECTION

CHOICE !

lan Lake: The Black Stuff (BBC 1, 10.15 pm)

; SPEARHEAD — IN JONGKONG (ITV, 9.00 pm) ron't do much for Army ecruitment but will add sinew ind a sense of excitement (not o mention bring a gust of professionalism) to Thursday night viewing. It's a new series about B company, Royal Wessex Rangers, whose fictitious exploits in Germany and Northern Ireland have already been chronicled. Now, they are in Hongkong , staunching the flow of illegal immigrants from China. "A bastard of a job", says the platoon sergeant. "We're stalking people; pretend your're stalking game" says the platoon commander. "Good hunting: they'll look nice on the wall", says the visiting reporter as yet another batch of refugees are pounced on after a hellish flight cross the border. Nick across the border. Nick McCarty's script is a compendium of sentiments that bruise and cut and what clinches the realism are the location photography and a cast of actors who sound like

• THE BIG SLEEP (BBC 2, 8.15 pm), Howard Hawks's film of the Chandler thriller, is infinitely better than To Have and Have Not, Hawks's film of the Hemingway story. The other factor linking the two films is the presence of Bacall and Bogart. In the Hemingway, and bogart. In the reminions this unique partnership was merely sketched in. Tonight, the portrait is crowded with detail. I have been casting post and becomes involved in political intrigue (r), 11,20 A Big Country Margaret Powell talks about her second life as a writer which began when she was fifty eight (r), 11,50 Cartoon: Barney Google and Snuffy Smith (r), 12,00 The Ark Stories, Crockle and the Kite with animal noises by Percy around for a succinct way to describe this partnership. Charles Higham and Joel Greenberg, who wrote Hollywood in the Forties, categorized them as two sophisticated people deploring the world but not angered by it. can't improve on that. • DIALOGUE BETWEEN FRIENDS (Radio 3, 10.10 pm) is Eva Figes's distillation of the letters that passed between Flaubert and George Sand. His passion has the brakes on. "I have a particular tenderness for you", he writes, and the genera tone of his letters is misanthropic towards life. "I kiss the two great diamonds which adorn your face", she writes, and her letters are warm with philanthropy. Miss Figes has turned years of correspondence into 50 minutes and John Gregson World War Two drama about a group of soldiers on the run from Rommel just before El Alamein. of marvellous conversation between Rosemary Leach and

Peter Davalle

ENTERTAINMENTS

CC Moss credit cards accepted for religion on bookings or at the box office.

Co Moss credit cards accepted for religion on bookings or at the box office.

Co Moss credit cards accepted for the show to irrefullion.

This show to irrefullion that the profit of the show to irrefullion.

The show to irrefullion that the box office as a show to irrefull the show to irrefull that the irrefullion that the second that the show to irrefull the irrefullion that the irrefullion to its interfullion to its interfullion to its interfullion that the irrefullion to its interfullion that the irrefullion that th

OPERA & BALLET

COLISEUM S 846 5161 et 240 5250 ENGLISH NATIONAL OPERA

COVENT GARDEN 2.111 1065 5
!Gardencharge of him 6.45; ma emphiseus Atali (or All peris 100,0 10 and 100,1 10

95621, Until Aug. 22 CHINESE ACROBATS

to Clorious, Intilling , and it to the missed him. Tille, see under Theatress.

CLYNDEBOURNE (estival Opera) With the London Philharmonic Orchestra, Unit (Ludy) 11, Tornight, Wed 3,51 Lv Rolland di Ficera, London, Flues 7 kg, Sun 4 85 Fidello, Sat. Mon 1,17 Aradine auf Nature, SOLD OUT. Tel for possible return, 100X OFFICE 19273 8 [2211 8] 1423.

ROYAL FESTIVAL HALL 01-228
2151 Into 01-228 Cart. Into Aug 15. Even 7.30. Not Sets
3 00.

LONDON FESTIVAL
BALLET
Crts Set La SYLPHOR. Into
Statute Meller. 344 3 to 8.
ROSALINDA 314 10 10 15.
COPPELIA. Tata C5 10 SR.

SADLER'S WELLS THEATRE EC1.
Tel 1/1-Rif 10 am to 4 pm d1213 0871 Group Sales Box Office 01-77 60a1.
Tomorrow until Aug 17 Evec.
7 70 SUMMER SEASON OF

CPERA.
Temor. Aug I. S. J. 6. B. 10.
12. 14. 13 THE CYPSY PRINTUS S. KAIMAN.
Aug S. T. 17. 17. Maik Aug R.
4. 13. 12. 30 HANSEL & GRETEL
36. Humberdank Meles L. 10 Ly
SAVE E C. 8.
TANCE SUBSCRIPTION SEASON
FOR MEABLE 181: 01-279 UNITS

CONCERTS

THE LIZABETH HALL (1)1-928 TIPL Until Sat MACIC OF VIENNA Strauss Orchestra, Dana cers. Singers.

OVAL ALSERT HALL (111-1019
5212 PROMS 81 Innight 7.50
Seltent Symbolic Stille,
General Tehnkovsky: Manical Stockhony, Segal Rolle Johnson,
Bearnemank 5.0

THEATRES

"30. Sats 4.0 and 7.45, Mais

MY FAR LADY

MY FAIR LADY

"A MARVELLOUS SHOW"

"BY THE SPECIACULAR

"Dail' Express. "FUNNING TIME OF THE STUNNING TIME STUNNING THE STUNNI

ALBERT STANDBY E2.50.

ALBERT S RIO (976 CF bl os 57)

AGAS, Gro blogs F55 2362, 379

AGAS, Gro blogs F55 2362, 379

AGAS, Gro blogs F55 2362, 379

A KNOCKOUT ''S Times

DENIS LAWSON MAN promiting

New Actor DRAMA AWAPS 90.

AL OFFY TO SO seen at all

COMMANDER STANDBY F56 P57 32

COMMANDER STANDBY F56 P57 32

COMMANDER STANDBY F56 P57 32

COMMANDER STANDBY F57 32

COMMANDER STAN

Broadcasting Guide

BBC 1 6.40 am Open University: Tanzania. 7.30 Handicapped in the Community . Closedown at 9.55 The Wombles. MacWomble

s.55 The wombles. Macwomble the Terrible (r). 10.00 Jackanory. Cyd Hayman reads Tam and Cam, an Oriental folk tale. 10.15 Cheggers Plays Pop. Fun and Games along with pop music which this morning is supplied by The Look, Shakin'. Stevens and Bad Manners (r). 10.35 Why Don't You...? Ideas for children on holiday provided by some youngsters from Bristol (r). Closedown at 11:00. 11.25 Cricket: Fourth Test. Live Coverage of the opening day's play at Edgbaston in the game between England and Australia introduced by Peter West, The commentators are Richie Benaud, Peter Walker, Mike Smith and Tom Graveney There is turther live coverage at

2.05 pm on BBC 1 and 4.25 on

6.40 am Open University: Mining. 7.05 Statistics: Significance Testing, 7.30 Maths; Differential Equations, Close-

11.00 Play School, For the under fives presented by Carol Chell and Johnny Ball, Today's story is Hans Anderson's The Unly Duckling and the guest is Julian Lloyd Webber. Close-down at 11.25.

2.15 pm Glorious Goodwood. Four races live from the Sussex course introduced by Julian Wilson — the 2.30, 3.05, 3.40 (The Goodwood Cup) and 4.15.

9.30 am Larry the Lamb: The Tale of the Inventor (r) 9.40 Cities. A look at Rome in the company of Anthony Burgess. 10.30 The Outsiders. Charlie takes an Australian government post and becomes involved in political intrins with animal noises by Percy

12.10 pm Stepping Stones.
Puppets with a purpose introduced by Vicky Ireland (r).
12.30 The Sullivans. Drama series about an Australian family during World War Two.

1.00 News 1.20 Thames News.
1.30 Emmerdale Farm. A theft is discovered in Beckindale (r). 2.00 Here Today. The theme of this week's programme is silk. Singing star Elaine Paige is the guest, 2.25 Film: Sea of Sand* (1958)

starring Richard Attenborough

4.15 Cartoon: Weasel Stop featuring Fogborn Leghorn. 4.20 Survival: In Praise of Penguins narrated by Richard

AMBASSADORS S CC 236 1171 I Let J. Tile 3, 541 5 30 5 H 341 OVER 250 PERFORMANCES RECORD-BREAKING RUN of

J. B. PRIESTLEY'S

DANGEROUS CORNER

"One of the cleverest plays over written" Daily Telegraph, Seat prices from 25 00.

one NIGHT STAND

APOLLO. VICTORIA, LONDON, SWI (opp. Victoria Station): 01-834 2819 839 6101.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

a MONOR PETULA CLARK, MICHAEL JAYSTON, HONOR ELACKMAN JUNE BRONNILL
Perfs Mon-Sat 7.50 May Wed & bat 2.74, Box Office To am pm. in person jet, 'nost plus in Special Lines: 01-854 6-10 '817. Group honkings' 11-854 2771. Gr. 01-828 80-5.

ARTS THEATRE (Gt Newbord St., W.C.2) U1-850 ARTS 12152 Red Prize Press, 1-1458 AUU, ALL STATE CS, Comma Aug S at 7,00, Spbs Irys N.Ot. McChard Huggert as RICHARD Huggert as

EVELYN WAUGH in A TALENT TO ABUSE

"A finedly anecdotal equilibrity performed entertainment." The Films Out.

ONE MO' TIME !

WORZEL GUMMIDGE

A New Musical Based and the Farauts Television Series, Tel. [1] -1750 1480.

COLLEGIATE, W.C. 1. 397 4624. SILLY SEASON STARTS HERE.

A SALUTE TO THE CREAT BRITISH ECCENTRIC. Featuring MM. LODNYVEISE the unitra-mon. ROMANS IN BRITAIN Cha-Cha, Nighth 31 S. Salutay 3 and h. CC TELEPHONE BOOK-INGS WELCOME.

COTTESLOE INT'S shall suditorium
—fow price this prove from Tues nevi THE MAYOR OF ZALAMEA by Calderon Bans by Adrian Mitchell.

CHINESE ACROBATS

THE MAD SHOW

ng Peris from Aug 4 for

POLLO Shafs Are. S (3) 437 2663. The show

BBC 2

down at 7.55.

Thames

2.05 Cricket: Fourth Test.

Further live coverage from Edgbaston on the first day's play. 4.20 Play School. For the under fives (shown earlier on BBC 2). 4.45 Cartoon: Scooby Doo in Decoy for a Dognapper (r), 5.05 John Craven's Newscound. The intelligent child's guide to the latest world events. 5.10 We are the Champions. Ron Pickering presents the fifth heat of this inter-school aquatic competition from the Central Park Swimming Pool, Plymouth. The schools represented are Ladymead School, Taumon, Liskeard School, Cornwall and Plymstock School, Plymouth. The special Guest is Sharron Davies. 5.40 News read by Peter Woods. 5.55 Regional news magazines.

The commentators are (Peter O'Sullivan, Jimmy Lindley and John Hamner).

4.25 Cricket: Fourth Test. Live coverage of the final period of play from Edgbaston in the first day of the match between England and Australia. 6.30 Open University: Islam in 6.55 Six Fifty-five Special. Tonight the music business world is featured with singersongwriters B. A. Robertson and Chris de Burgh talking to recording company executive,

Simon Draper.

7.30 News with a sub-titled spiracy synopsis for the hard-of-hear- Choice).

BEC 2 with highlights of the day's play at 11.30 on BEC 2.
1.30 Chock-a-Block, Fred Harris with a programme for the very 6.45 Holiday Report presented an aunt. by Tom Savage and John Carter, Up-to-the-minute advice 9.00 News read by Kenneth Kendall.

on your holiday with resort reports from around Britain. 6.55 Bellamy's Backyard Safari. Deep in an English garden Professor Bellamy climbs a spider's thread to examine the spores, pollen grains and seeds which fly through the air 2.25 Top of the Pops introduced by Steve Wright, Live and recorded music of the popular kind.

8.00 Citizen Smith. Wolfie, leader of the Tooting Popular Front, sees a chance to further his anti-fascist beliefs when word comes about a proposed rugby tour by a South African team (r).
8.30 It Ain't Half Hot Mum. The members of the concert group become very friendly with the

ing. 7.40 Best of Brass. The Hendon Band and The York-shire Imperial Band compete for a place in the semi-finals of this knockout competition. The music is introduced by Gerald Harrison from The Assembly

Rooms, Derby. 8.15 Film: The Big Sleep* (1946)

starring Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall. The original and best version of the Raymond Chandler thriller featuring private detective Philip Marlow. A visit to the home of a bedridden millionaire leads Marlowe into the world of blackmail, con-

and murder

pianist, Gunner Graham, when it is rumoured that he is about to inherit a lot of money from 8.35 Yealerday in Parliament.

9.00 News.
9.05 Checkpoint (new series).
9.30 The Living World.
10.00 News.
10.02 A Good Read: New paperbacks.
10.30 Daily Service.
10.45 Morning Story: "Mr Pink's Revenge" by Nick Yapp.
11.00 News.
11.05 Enquire Within.†
12.00 News.
12.02 me You and Yours. 9.25 The Good Old Days. The chairman, Leonard Sachs, introduces another selection of entertainers for our delight 12.62 pm You and Yours. 12.27 Brain of Britain 1981.† including Tessie O'Shea.

10.15 The Black Stuff by Alan bleasdale. A play about a gang of termac layers who practice some free enterprise when their boss is away. 12.00 Weather.

Regions

REC 1 VARIATIONS: Cymru/Wales 5.55mm-6.20 Wales Taday, 6.55-7.25 Heddiw: 12.00 News and weather. 12.00 News and weather. 12.00 The Scotland 8.00-3.30 Entering Scotland 8.00-3.30 Methods weather Ireland News 5.55-5.20 Scotland Fineland Six 12.00 News and weather frequent S.55pm-6.20 Regional Magazines, 12.05am Liose.

10.05 Elisabeth Schwarzkopf Masterclass. The great soprano works with Jane Mackenzie and Christine Taylor on selections from opera and Leider.

10.45 Newsnight. The latest home and overseas news plus a look, in depth, at one of the stories that made today's headlines.

11.30 Cricket: Fourth Test, Highlights of the first day's play in the match between England and Australia at Benaud. The programme at 12,05 am.

they don't get a fair deal in Youth clubs. 6.35 Walt Disney Classic. Donald's Day Off.

6.49 Film: The Comancheros. (1961) starring John Wayne and Lee Marvin. A typical all action western casting Wayne as the Texas Ranger who is after an escaped murderer and is forced to join forces with a ruthless gang in order to recapture his man.

8.30 Rule Britannia. In the second programme of his series James Bellini examines the changes which have occurred over the past century in the business of making money. 9.00 Spearbead — in Hong Kong. Adventures of Six Platoon stationed in Hong Kong and detailed to stop illegal immigrants crossing over from China (See Choice). 10.00 News. 10.30 Secrets of Midland Heights. American imported drama series about an American college community. 11.30 Christians Under Fire. Dick Taverne chairs a dis-cussion on whether it is possible to be both Christian and capitalist. Putting their arguments are Professor Brian Griffiths and Colin Barnett. Griffiths and Conn. 2.12.00 What the Papers Say. 12.15 am Close with Dilys Powell reading a favourite

With 1. 6.25 Weather. 6.30 With 1. 10.30 Listen with Mother. I.SS pm Programme News. 5.50 PM. 11.00 Study on 4. 11.30 Open University. 11.50 Gordon Russell. England and Australia at Edghaston introduced by Richie

Radio 3 6,55 am Weather. 7.00 News. 7.05 Morning Concert Smetna, Suk,

Radio 4

6.00 am News Briefing. 6.10 Farming Today. 6,30 Today. 8,35 Yesterday in Parliament.

1.00 News. 1.40 The Archers. 2.00 News. 2.02 Woman's Hour,

4.45 Story Time: Mines" (9). 5.00 News. 5.55 Weather.

1.02 Afternoon Theatre "Suddenly

5.55 Weather.
6.00 News.
6.30 Any Answers?
6.55 It's a Bargain.
7.00 News.
7.25 The Archers.
7.20 Time for Verse.
7.30 The Man of Destiny. Play by Bernard Shaw.†
8.30 Cempell's Gardens.

9.45 Kaleidoscope. 10.00 The World Tonight: News, 11.00 A Rook At Bedtime: "The Rain

Forest"(9) 11.15 The Financial World Tonight, 11.30 Today in Parliament, 12.00 News,

8.30 Gemmell's Gardens. 8.50 Proms '81 (As Radio 3).†

J.92 Afternoon incan-by David Marshall. † 4.00 What the Foreigner Saw. 4.15 A Way of Living.

RADIO

-Tonight's Prom-7.30 Radios 3 and 4: Britten — Symphonic Suite: Gloriana, Bournemouth Symphony Orches-tra under Uri Segal. Tenor; Anthony Rolfe. 8.20 Tehaikovsky: Manfred

Janacek, Dvorak; records.† 8.00 8.05 Morning Concert (continued) Thomas, Dubois, Bizet; records.

9.05 This week's composer Ravel; records.t 10.00 George Malcolm Harpsichord recital; Fricker, Rameau.† 10.35 Hindemith Lustige Sinfonietta,

11.15 Cricket: fourth test. England v Australia, commentary from Edi.40 pm Mainly for Pleasure joining (VHF).† 7.00 The Vision of Piers Plowman

7.00 The Victor of the Samuel.
7.30 Proms 81 (see panel).
7.30 Proms 81 Part 2.
9.30 Words (series) Talk by John Wells (2).
9.35 Hindemith's Second String Ouartet Recital.† 19.10 Dialogue Between Friends by Eva Figes. 11.00 News. 11.05-11.15 Messiaen on record.†

VHF (with mf above except):
5.55-6.55 am Open University:
Pastoral Care; Expression in Classical Music; Social Science concepts.
11.55 Delius Cello and Piano recital,†
11.50 Northern Sinfonia Orchestra Concert: Schubert, Mozart, Rubra, Haydn.† 1.00 pm News. 1.05 Annie Fischer Recital: Recthoven — two Piano Sonatas.† 2.00 Andrea Chenier
Opera in Jour acts by Giordano
(Radio France recording).† 4.10
Violin and Piano Recital: Elgar, Debussy.† 4.55 News, 5.00 Mainly for Pleasure (mf joins at 6.40 pm).†
11.15-12.55 am Open University:
Maths Foundation tutorial; Cognitive Development; Saltmarsh and Oil Pullution: The 'Philosophical Investigations'; Numerical Computation.

Radio 2

Wogan. 10.00 Jimmy Young. 12.00 pm John Dunn. 2.00 Ed Stewart. 3.00 David Hamilton. 5.45 News. 6.60 David Symonds. 3.00 Country Club. 3.00 Alan Dell. 10.00 Punch Line. (New series) 10.30 Star Sound Extra. 11.00 Brian Matthew. 5 from mldnight. 1.00 am Truckers' Hour. 1.00.5.00 You and the Night and the Music.

Radio I R.2010 1
5.00 am As Radio 2. 7.00 Mike Read.
9.00 Simon Bates. 11.00 Ancy
Pecbles. 12.30 pm Newsbeat. 12.45
Paul Burnett. 2.30 Dave Lee Travis.
4.30 Peter Powell. 7.00 Paul Gambaccini. 8.00 Richard Skinner.
10.00 John Peel. † 12.00 mldnight Close.

VHF RADIOS I AND 2: 5.00 am With Radio 2. 10.00 pm With Radio 1 12.00-5.00 am With Radio 2. World Service

ANJ. 465m) at the following times GMT:6.00 am Newsdesk, 7.00 World news,
7.08 Twenty-four Hours: News
Simmary, 7.45 Network UK, 8.00
World News, 8.09 Reflections, 8.15
One in Ten, 8.30 John Peel, 9.00 World
News, 8.09 Review of the British Press
9.15 The World Today, 9.30 Financial News, 9.40 Look Ahead, 9.45 Rock
Salad, 10.15 Theme and Variations
10.30 My Music, 11.00 World News,
11.09 News about Britain, 11.15
Puricults of our Time, 17.30 Business
Multer, 12.00 Radio Newsreel, 12.15 pm Tup Twenty, 12.45 Sports
Roundup, 1.00 World News, 1.09
Twenty-four Hours, news Summary,
1.30 Cricket, 1.45 The picasure s
1.00 Radiu Newsreel 3.15 Cultions,
1.00 Radiu Newsreel, 3.15 Cultions,
1.00 Radiu Newsreel, 3.15 Cultions,
1.00 Radiu Newsreel, 3.15 Cultions,
1.00 World News, 4.08 Commentary

FREQUENCIES: Radio 1 MF 1053kHz/285m or 1089kHz/275m. Radio 2 MF 693kHz/433m or 909kHz/330m. Radio 1/2 VHF 88-91MHz. Radio 3 VHF 90-92.5MHz, MF 1215kHz/247m. Radio 4 LF 200kHz/1500m and VHF 92-95MHz. Greater London area MF 720kHz/17m. LBC MF 1152kHz/261m. VHF 97.3MHz. Capital MF 1548kHz/194m, VHF 95.8MHz. BBC Radio London MF 1458kHz/206m and VHF 94.9MHz. World Service MF 648kHz/463m.

REGIONAL TV

Westward

As Thames except 9.30am Tennin Rowing, 10.10 Thunderbird 11.00 Watton Ramay 11.55-12.00 Watton Watton 12.27em-12.30 Use Honey-bur's Birthdays 1.20-13.0 News 2.25-4.15 Tilm Francis Cary Powers Lee Majors, e.20 Serra S. 15-5-65 Our Little Town 9.00 Westward Diary 8.35 Crossreads 7.00 Curiain Reiser 7.05-8.30 Film: Go West Varing Ciri i Karea Valentiner, 10.32 News, 10.36 Brass in Concert, 11.20 Me and my Camera 11.50 Faith For Life, 11.56 Closedown.

Anglia

Tyne Tees

As Themes evropi: Starts 9.20 am Good Word 9.25 News 9.30 Patierra 9.55 Knostos. 10.45 Film. Child's Flay Mond 9.25 Knostos. 10.45 Film. Child's Flay Mondon 10.20 Applantage 2.55 Fash and Co. 2.20 Iuman Face of China 3.45.4.78 Lib Regins 4 Forty. 4.20 Herchieids. 4.45-5.45 Tazas 6.00 News. 50.20 Grossraeda 6.25 Northern Life 7.00 Incredible Hulk. 2.00-8.30 Big Jack 8 Brilish. 10.30 News. 10.32 Stap. 11.00 Double Top 11.30 Questors. 12.00-12.05 am Marriage

ATV As Thames except: 9,45 nm lost blands 10.10 (.116x 11.00-12.00 Seame Sirect. 1.20 pm-1.30 News. 2 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 2 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 2 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 2 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 3 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 3 (.120 pm-1.30 News. 6.05 (.120 pm-1.30 pm-1.30

HTV Cymru/Wales

As Thames except: Starts 9.50am Thunderbirds, 10,40-12.00 film: Love Match: (Arthur Askey), 7.20pm-7.30 News 2.25-4.15 film: Three Main for Lias 1,00e Brown, 4.20 Spiderman, 4.45 flying Kiwi. 5,10 Jobine 5.20-5.45 Crossroads 6.00-6.40 Report West, 10.28 News, 10.30 Stren: 11.15 Me and my Camera, 11.45 Gloseduwa.

Granada : As Thames except: 9.36 am Bubbles, 8.35 World we Live in, 10.00 Belween the Tides, 10.15 Lourel and Hardy*, 10.35 Seathcombers, 11.00-12.00 Sesame Street 1.20 pm-1.30 Granada Reports, 2.25-4.15 Füm Healers, 4.20 link House on the Prairie, 8.00 Granada Report, 6.25 This is Your Right, 8.30 Crostroad, 7.00-8.30 Film: Beach Pairol in Richard Hill), 10.30 Celebration, 11.00 Mg and My Camera, 11.50 Monte Carlo Stew 12, 25am-12.48 What the Papers Say

Scottish As Thames every: Starts 8.55 am Simon in the Land of Chalk Drawings 19.00 illands 10.25-12.00 How the West Was Won 1.20 pm-1.30 News. 2.5-4.15 Film. Ling Bellomon's Monos Deborah Kerr. Stewart Granger: 4.20 Little House on the Prairie 5.15 Tiddlers Tales 5.20-5.45 Crossroads 6.00 Scotland Today 6.30 Years of Lightning. 7.00 New You See it 7.30-10.30 House of 1.00 Song 71.00 Just Here to the Row 1.00 Song 71.00 Just Here to the Row 1.00 Song 71.00 Just Here to the Row 1.00 Song 71.00 Concert. 12.15 am-12.20 Lais Call

Yorkshire

As Thames except: 9.30 am Sally and Jake. 9.40 Ajphabel. 10.05 Bailey & Bird. 11.05 Bailey & Bird. 10.05 Bailey &

As Thames except: Starts 2.35 am Wild.
Wild World of Animals 19.00 freetime.
10.25 George Hamilton IV. 10.53
Servival, 11.15 Bailey's Bird 1,569
12.00 Larry the Lamb 1.20 pm. 45
News 2.25-4.15 Film Passionals
Friends (Ann Todd) 4.20 Beachcombers 4.45 Flying Kiwl. 5.15
Capitain Nemo. 5.26-5.45 Crossroads Lighting 7. 55-5.30 Film Lacy and the 13.35 Earl of Peri One 1.100 Mg and 13.35 Earl of Peri One 1.100 Mg and
13.35 Earl of Peri One 1.100 Mg and
Surgeon 12.20 am Weather followed
Surgeon 12.20 am Weather followed
Surgeon 12.20 am Weather followed

Entertainments Guide

A haul of illegal immigrants: Spearhead in Hongkong (ITV

Briers (r), 4.50 Sierra, Chief 5.45 News 6.00 Thames News Ranger Jack Moore is seriously injured while out fishing.

5.45 News 6.00 Thames News 6.25 Help! Viv Taylor Gee with news of young wamen who feel

LYRIC HAMMERSMITH OF 01-741 2311 to 16 Aug. LIFT present the maunificent Brazilian Combary MACUNAIMA—Immersahiumnini, inventive.
Booking now spent CHAPTER
TWO. Ned Simon's control with MAUREEN LIPMAN, From 10 Aug
LYRIC STUDIO: Last peris 1
Test, Tamor & Sal N.O. BLUE DOT DISEASE—a mad summer revies. A hour 11. Trie, All seats $2.5

LYRIG S to 4577 76866, Crp Solve 577 (466), Pretiews from 5 August at 8.00. Opens Aug 11 at 7.00 John Standing, Esfelic Kobier, Ruch Lloyd in Nool Cowpered. "TONIGHT AT 8.30"

MAY FAIR THEATRE, Suption St.
W. C. 629 3036.7 (Trp. Sairs)
St. C. 629 3036.7 (Trp. Sairs)
ROMENA COOPER, JILLAN
ILLAN GLOVER, THEADIMAN
IN AS OTHERS SEE US by Basil Boshirovi, Lomor ANN File.
BANK, POLLY JANFS, BARRY FUSIER, DAVID KING IN LET
THERE BE LOVE, 3n Anthology
by Coofery Smith, 22.50, 64.00, 65.50, 26.50.

GOOSE-PIMPLES "INCEMDIARY COMEDY, APPALLINGLY FUNNY" (Time MANAJINE)
"SUPENB COMIC ACTING",
THE INULS.
"THIS IS A TERRIELY FUNNY PLAY STRONGLY RECOMMENDED" 'S lines!, MON TO SAT 8 P.M., SAT NAT
3 u.m. (Trans Siles 37" [MIS].

S u.m. Gram Sales 370 fam.

CLOBE THEATRE, DIANT 1502.

ALEC McCOWEN

ST. MARK'S GOSPEL

"AN UNPARALLED TOUR DE FORCE." Berrard
Levis
Sunday Times.
Tupe-Sal al 7.45, Sun al 4.50
(no perfs Mon . East prices:
Stalls 25.50, E4.70 & E3.50. Capet circle 25.70 & E4.70 & E3.50. Capet
circle 25.70 & E4.70 & E3.50. Capet circle 25.70 & E4.50. Ca GREENWICH. S CC 258 7735.
LTG. I. SM. 5 & 8.
LTG. III. SM. 5 & 8.
LTG

THE GREAT NEW ORLEANS
MUSICAL, ONE MO'TIME IS A
GOOD TIME! LOUID BADDINGS
01-830 2002, Runs teledaty, 01-820
200 COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUMN
COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUMN
COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUMN
COLUMN THANK OF THE COLUM HAMPSTEAD THEATRE S 722 95.11
ETON NO. Sat that 4.26
ROOK LINDSAY
New York Award Winning Play HOW I GOT THAT STORY by Amilia 1713 experience once "Kun Tick, Skillid, lunay & darming "Limes.

HAYMARKET, THEATRE ROYAL

TOOL THE STATE TO THE TO T CHICHESTER Fostival Theolic (C.45 7875)2. School sponsored by Varion and Rosa Life UNDERNEATH THE ARCHES Luday 2.50 & 7.0. IAN CARMICHAEL DEBORAH

THE BEST LITTLE

THE BEST LITTLE WHOREHOUSE
IN TEXAS
SO "A EUCCESS? ! DITOULD SAY
SO "S LIBRES" "BAWDY
LOTS OF FUN A URIGHT, BUS "EXHILARATING" TIMES.
"VERY FUNNY INDEED
WILL RUN 150 VERRS" REC
LOUID & EYES MOR. 10 TOUR. M.O.
171. NOL 6.70 0.30 Uroun Surv
END AUG. 22.
DUCHESS S & CC. 836 8243.

end Aug. 22.

Duchess S & Cl. R36 M243.
Eves. N. Wed. N. Sat. R.20 & H.30
Francis Matthews
Gaorge Systell
"BEST THRILLER FOR YEARS"

THE BUSINESS OF MURDER.

THE BUSINESS OF MURDER

"AN UNABASHED WINNER"
"SENSATIONAL, A THRILLER THAT ACHIEVED IT ALL "TIMES.
"THE MOST INGENIOUS MYSTERY
FOR A DECADE, MUST SE SEEN" ANAL. "TERRIC" N.O.W.
FORTUNG RUSSHIPS! W.C. S. TE BOA WITCO "EI, UI-120 12235.

THE ROYAL SMAKESPEARE COMPANY IN THE HOLLOW CROWN
SEATS AVAILABLE TONIGHT
AN HOLLOW CROWN OF THE HOLLOW CROWN
CHIEFO, Adrian Harman, Exprair
Legis-Hunt, Richard Pasco,
In the with Pleasure and Repentence unext peri tomory.
Crown sales 379 folds. Smaken
UCLUS (3) on the day

GARRICK SECC UDX Off Tel, 836

MILE LEIGHTS SMASH MIT

PREER USTINOV
EVGS. Mon-Sail. 8.0 p.m. Mats.
Wol. at 2.30. Sail. at 4, 31. Will, 31 (L.M. Val. at 4, 4).
HER MAJESTY'S, 930 6606/7 CC 930 6025; 6. (if) Sale, 177 8001.
Eves not, Sal Malvau
IN THE NATIONAL THEATRE'S MILLIA WARD WINNERS
INTERNATIONAL SWASH HIT
A MAJET'S

A MAJET'S AMADELS by PETER SMAFFER Directed by PETER HALL "TEINLENDOLS PLAY CHORNING BOX OFFICE SICC-CESS." BERNARD LIVE. I'MS.

OVERHEARD

CRITERION S "50 3216 cc 579 o %5. Grp bigns 83o 3462, Mun to Thur 3.00, Fr 2 5st 5,60 & 6.45 STALLS FROM 12.30. UDARIO FO'S FARCE MAKES YOU GLOD TO BE ALIVE D. Tel. KINGS HEAD, 726 1419. Dur. T. Show 8.50. RUNYON ON BROADWAY. 11.15 p.m. WON-DERLAND, a new musical set in Hollywood in the 403. CAN'T PAY? WON'T PAY! HONDON INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL OF THEATRE. August 3 to 10 Info 01-22 4571. Comrence from: BRAZIL Listre.
High Mose: GERMAN (forCLO. WOLLAND JAPAN (FORCRO. WOLLAND JAPAN)
New Half Mose & ICA. Full
Extractorine from 12 VEDICO. "UPROARIOUSLY WELL DIR-ECTED, GALES OF LAUGHTER!" Tinies, "HILARIOUS BLACK, FARCE, MAD PANTOMIME, VERY FUNNY" D EXP. DOMINION Tolt Court Rd 1580 5500 Evec 3.00, Sat 5.00 and 5 for until Aug 20 Percet from China pi of the worlds greated and of the world of viscosium of the worlds greated and of the control of viscosium of viscosium

MICHAEL CRAWFORD in the Brazilway Musicol BARNUM THE REAL SHOW IN TOWN BAR NUNL 'S, KINTOT. EVGR, 7.30, MILE WOOD, & Spin. Use the Barrum hot lines OI-437 2055, OI-734 8%1 for instant Gredit-Card reservations.

reete. A hout "II. Trie, An avails 23.
Front is Aug. JELLY ROLL SOUL an impression of the life of Jelly Roll Morton with the music.

MFRMAID TH, Pund's Dork, Black-friance ECA Tel 01-256, 6568 "DACK WITH A SPLASH" N 95. "A zaging stoging swinging busked very, very funnt." D.Ex. EASTWARD HO! Last 2 works, must end Ang. S. Evenings S.H. Mais Thurs & S.H. A.M. C. O. O. S.H. Mais Thurs & S.H. S.H. M. S.H. M. M. S.H. M.

A LESSER GOD.

NATIONAL THEATRE S CC CAR
THE STORM THE SEE SEPARATE ENTRIES UNDER
OUTLIER LYTHERON COTTESLOE. Gaver Lytheron Summer
Standby any unsold years 125.50
(122.181 bad-week mats) from 10
8.m. on day. Car park. Restaurant CON 2005. (Tould card badys. CN 5045. TOURS OF THE BUILDING daily (Incl. backstage)
C 130. Info 6.3 ORBO.

NY about 18.18 VILLI STYLE.

NEW LONDON THEATRE C.C. Drury Lane hCC 405 (472 or ul-135 )-57. Booking how until Feb 1982: Insarest Underground Coul Gift Eye 8.0, (use, 5at 3.0 & 8.6 Credit card and lelephane bookings from 9 a.m. CATC CATS CATS
THE ANDREW LLOYD WEBBER/
1. 5. ELIOT MUSICAL
ADDITIONAL BOX OFFICE (a)
ADDITIONAL BOX OFFICE (a)
ADDITIONAL BOX OFFICE (a)
ADDITIONAL BOX OFFICE (a)
The lease of the land of the lan

ANCE. TO PPREGRAL

OLIVER INT'S open singer. Ton't

10.131 Phate vary sivil MAR

AND SUPERMAN Inclining Dan

June as Hell to Ernard Shiw.

Tomer 7.15 A MONTH IN THE COUNTRY.

OPFIN AIR RECENT'S PARK CAS
18th 2431 MUCH ADO ABOUT
NOTHING With Kale (*1415)
CAVE Permand tanight I'l. &
531. 7.45. Mat. hedgy 2.36.
ANDROCLES AND THE LION
MAI SSL 2.36.

PALACE S C.
OH WHAT A BEAUTIFUL
EVENING I'' Only Maid.
ROGER'S & Hammarisin's

FOR ARTHON CERTS ST.

THEY'RE PLAYING
OUR SONG

OUR SO

OKLAHOMA ! "A MAGICAL MUSICAL EXPERIENCE" S. Times.
Evenume 731 Wed. Sal. 3,00
no 2025 July 291 For crute boatings 01-379-6051. Religy selection of seats available OURENS S CC 01-734 1158.

OPENING TONIGHT AT 7.0 Subsub-framers 6.0 Mat Wed 5.0.

Saterdary 6 M & R 90.

EDWARD FOX

ROBIN RAILFY JAMES 5-TOUT

and PRINKELLA SCALES in QUARTERMAINE'S TERMS

PICCADILLY S 437 4506 CC 579 fvs.5. Lip. Blog. UL-379 fvs.7 fvs.7 fvs. Brit. About 15 fvs. Blog. Brit. EDUCATING RITA

EDUCATING RITA
COMEDY OF THE YEAR (SWET) AWARD 1980
"SPLENDID THEATRE EVENING QUITE OUTSTANDING."—Time Oni.
"A MARVELLOUS PLAY, HILARHOVED, EXCITED AND EXHILARATEU S TAIL SLAY MA USING MOVED, EXCITED AND EXHILARATEU S TO SHAY COMMENTED BY IN STAIL SLAY BAYS
LET AS A SHAY SHAY BAYS
LET AS A SHAY BAYS
LET AS A SHAY BAYS
LET AS BALL S.O. LEVER BALL S.O. LEVER BALL S.O. LEVER BAY BAYS
WEBBET. SUBJECT STORM TO THE PRINCE SHIP FROM BAY BAYS
WEBBET. SHIP FILES TO WALTER PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE
USO HERI. CC HOILING THEATRE
PAUL DANIELS IN

PAUL DANIELS in TT'S MAGIC "TRIUMPH" Fa. Times. "A WHNNER" Variety. "PURG PAGIC" Sun. Hirrar.
Thurs. 8 U Fri. & Sol. 6 & 845.
From Aug. 3 Mon. Thurs. Eves.
7 30, Fri. & Sol. 5 20 & 8,00.
Group Sales 579 6001.

RAYMONG REVUEBAR or 735
1095, At 7, 9, 11 p.m. Upea
Suns. Paul Raymond prepris
THE FESTIVAL OF ERCYTICA
New Actst New Uirts New
Trillie 23rd sepailoral year
Fally sir conditioned. RIVERSIDE STUDIOS: 01-748 3.V5-1, Extended by popular demand quilt 9 Aug I Five Times to Sun,
B r.m. Low Price Mai, all seals CI 50 Sal, 3 pm. Ken (Lajubell's WAR WITH THE NEWTS direct from Five/Tman Theatre, Liveryou, "A hilarious farce" N.53d. ROUND HOUSE 267 2564.
ROYAL INCHANGE THEATRE CO.
TOM COUNTNEY
CHRISTOPHER GABLE IN
THE MISANTHROPE Last Peris, Ecos. B. Sal, Mat. 4.30, PRIVATE WARS by James McLatte, Tomor, & Sal, 10.45. All seats £1.50.

AN SOLIC ELL SO.

ROYAL COURT'S CO 73U 1745.

EDWARD BOND'S

RESTORATION

INTERPREDICT FUNNY

RICH IM ACHIEVEMENT GIAN.

MIGHLY EFFECTIVE SCENES

OF WIT AND COMEDY SLENT.

SHOOM ALLOW ES BRIANDL'

TO BOND

ETS T. W. Sharp, Mail

SEATS E2. ROYAL COURT THEATRE UP-STAIRS 730 2551, TO COME HOME TO THIS by Carol Bunyan. Eyes, 8.0.

EAVOY S. 01-876 88ES. but credit (and bootings, ring . 1930-6.0, Sats. 9.30-4.30). Evgs. 8.0 (purs. 5.0, Sats. 9.30-4.30). Evgs. 8.0 (purs. 9.30-4.30). Evgs. 9.0 (purs. 9.30-4 "A REALLY EXCITING THRIL-LER, IT REVER RELAXES ITS GRIP." D Tel. "Supremely successful, there are shocks and twists gaiges" Sun. Mirror. THEY'RE PLAYING

THE MOUSETRAP 29th YEAR SORRY we never to reduced prices Theatre fully air-conditioned.

STRAND CC 01-856 2560/4145
H.O. Mais, Thurs, 7.00. Sais, 5.30 & R.O. From Sept 12 Sais, at 5.0 & R.O.,
11th EYSTERICAL
LONGEST FUNNING COMEDY
IN THE WORLD:
NO SEX PLEASE -WE'RE BRITISH 2 ERS OF NON-STOP LAUGHTER Directed by Allan Davis Grp Sales Sox Office 01-579 6061 A TOW PLEY BY SIMON GRAY DESCRIPT BY HAROLD PINTER.

T CLASH OF THE TITANS (A) 1. Rem prins clair 1.00. X.30, 5.00. R. 20. Rem prins clair 1.00. X.30, 5.00. Rem prins clair 1.00. Rem pr

HIGH SMIRE, 5.73 6 UN.

R Mo Smoking Area.

No smoking Area.

No smoking Project Charles, 1-ic. Sq. 447

Project Charles, 1-ic

ART GALLERIES

ACNEW GALLERY, 43 Old Bond St. W.1 629 6176 LIFE AND LANDSCAPE IN BRITAIN 1670-1870. July 310 July 3109 571, 9.30-5 50, Thurs, until 7 p.m.

ANTHONY d'OFFAY 9 & 23 Dering SI, W1. Robert Sevan/New Work by Gallery Artists, 629 1578

CS 378 STRATFORD - UPON - AVON Royal Shakebears Theory (0789) Shakebears PRESENT LAUGHTER

"THE BUST OF NOCL COVERD'S PLAYS" FT. "TERRIFIC" STORS, UCP. Bales But Office 379 5061. VICTORIA PALACE ST 01-528 4735'0, 01-854 13-17, Eves, 7.30, Wedneeday & Saturday 3.45 Group Sales 01-374 6061. ANNIE " UNBEATABLE FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT " Obertur

WAREHOUSE, Donniar Theatre, bathain Sired, Covent Garden, too cyling 256 Sept. ROYAL SHAKESPEARE COMPANY THE SHADOW OF A GUNMAN by Sean Classy. A line relivat, Cidil. Tonight 7.50 p.m. lew returns artificials. New returns may be available. New; performance Thirteenth Might 5 Aug. TYNDHAM'S, S.B.A. SUIH, CC 779 1.5e.S. Groups B.76 A'462, Mon-iri, B.U. Sat. 6.0 & A.45, Runs Uhrs. Helt & Braces in Dario I o's ACCIDENTAL DEATH

OF AN ANARCHIST "The combination of brity-laugh contest, and political anger is amaingly sucressful." Newswerk. WHITEMALL, Box Office Fel. (1)-859 mills, 950 8014,7765, C.C. (1)-451 (651) 6664, Whitehall's Latest Fakes. "ANYONE FOR DENIS?" by JULIN WELLS, directed by DICK GLUMENT, Mon. Sat. eyes H.15 pm. Sat. Mal. 5 (8). when the control of t

YDUNG VIC. 928 6365. Eves. N.U. Sal. 6 & H. Alyl scale 62.50. CHILDE BYRON MILITARY TATTOO

The Royal Tournament, London's great military (align, July 15th-August 1st, 2.30 and Mon's 7.30. No San peri Special majmer for Hopsi Wedding 109 only 21 5.00. Evening perionalize 7.30. Got Ottree-Laris Court Exhibition CINEMAS ACADEMY 1, 957 DELL FIG. RAHMAY 1, 957 DELL FIG. RAHMAY 4 BEIGHTIGHT THE AVIATOR'S WIFE (A), Pross 2.10 (aut Sun 1 420, 6.50, 8.40, 6.60, 10.00 THE MARIDNETTES (X), Pross 2.50 (Not Sun 1 4.50, 6.60, 6.60, 6.60, 7.00 THE MARIDNETTES (X), Pross 2.50 (Not Sun 1 4.50, 6.60, 6.60, 7.00 THE MARIDNETTES (X), Pross 2.50 (Not Sun 1 4.50, 6.60, 7.00 THE MARIDNETTES (X), Pross 4.50, 6.60, 8.50, 6.60, 8.5

Frogs 4.21. (Sal, San only 1.25.)
GAMDEN PLAZA, Comden Town.
481 2345 10ps, luber, MICHILL
ANGCLO ANTONIONIS TME OBERWALD MYSTERY (A).
3.35. b.05. 8.40 daily, last reening show buokable in adtaire.
EMPIRE, Leirester Square, 437
1234. RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARK (A). Seals boneable for the last performance only into Last shows: Advance bon office opena
from 11 am in 7 mm (mm lums) (redit for bookings thin the
last performance only into Last
shows: Advance bon office opena
from 11 am in 7 mm (mm lums)
(redit for bookings thin the last 250-250. 6.00: 8.30. Lair show every night Nov RITZ.
Leicester Square Time EAMDITS
(A). Soc. 6.00: 8.40. BRITISM LIBRARY (In British MUSTID), ARTASURES, FOR THE NATION, until 4 uct. TUDOR MAP-MAKING, until 31 Dec. White, 16-5; Suns, 2.50-6, Adm. free. BRITISH MUSEUM, THE GAULS: CELTIC ANTIQUITIES FROM FRANCE, Unit 13 Sent, WEdys, 10-5, Suns, 2,30-5, Adm, free, BROWSE & DARBY, 19 Cork St. W 1. 01-754 7961. FRENCH PAINTINGS. FISCHER FINE ART. 30 King Si.
St. Janes's. S. V. J. 879 39-12.
MICHAEL SANDLE — Recent
Sculplura and Drawings. L'mil 7.
August. Mon.-Fri. 10-5.30.
Sais. 10-12.30.

Wanted

Southern

Classified Guide

22 Announcements 22 Domestic Situations Educational 22 22 Financial Notices Flat Sharing 22 For Sale Holidays and Villas 22 20, 21 La creme de la creme Legal Notices 22 Motor Cars 22 Musical Instruments 22 Property Recruitment Opportunities 21 22 Secretarial and Non-secretarial 21 Appointments 22 Services 22 Short Lets Situations Wanted 22

> Box No. replies should be addressed to :-The Times, P.O. Box 7. 200 Gray's Inn Road, London WC1X SEZ.

22

REDFERN CALLERY, ERIC PASTZ, New Pannings, July 31a1-Aug 174h. 20 (fork Street, London, W.). Mon-17 10-5.30. Sars 10-18-30. Taxe Callery, Millbank, SWI. DAVID JONES 1895-1971, C2R1 RICHARDS 1765-1971 India bool. Julit aim. Aug White, 10-6, Suns. 2-6. Recorded information; v1-621 7128. HAYWARD GALLERY (Aria Council), Squith Bank, London, S.E.L.
PICASSO'S PICASSOS, AtomThur, 16-k, 1ri & Sai, 10-a,
Saira, 10-a, Adm, L2, Mon, Sair,
10-12 adm, L1. KENWOOD C.L.C. The Ivroth Be-queti, ilinapperad Lane, NV. ANTHONY CARD. Recent Brogase, 1876-81. Lerry doc mi. Sunday 10-7 mill 31st August. mation: of-fell 712H.

(ICTORIA A ALBERT MUSEUM, 5.

ICC. SPOTLIGHT: Four Centuries of Easter Costame, Until August 9 Adm. Cf. 50 NEW GLES, Until October 11. Adm. Cf. 50 OLD & MODERN MASTERS OF PHOTOGRAPHY, Until October 4. Adm. 12m Wkity, 10-5. 50, Suns. 2.30-5.50, (Joseph Fridgys. Summay 10-7 minu 5151 August.
EFREVIE UALLERY : 50 Hruton
51, W.L. UL-14-3 1570 3. 2574
CENTURY WORKS ON VIEW.
MOR-11. 14-5.
LINSIER FINE ART. 9 Herciord
Hd 12. UL-22-5 1925. SUMMER
SHOW 81. Twelve International British, Dutwing, graphic, 5- ulitures, Ture -Fr. 16-6, 521 11-5. 2.30-5-30. (30-ord Fridges,
WARWICK ARTS TRUET, 33 Net10.11 Survive Remarks drawings
1428-71, 23 University 10.1.
WHITECHAPPE ART GALLERY,
WHITECHAPPE ART GALLERY,
WHOTO-PIECES '71-80. 11-5
Sun-in, timed Sat, Free, Tube
Addrale Last. LUMLEY CAZALET, 24 Dayles, St., W.1, 400 5050, Original Prints by Bragus, Majuses, Miró, Picasco, 36-3 Prints by young MARI BOROUGH 1. Albemarie 51... Wi. Oskar Kokoschka (1735-1971). Memoria F.Mishinon until 7th Aug. Manetr. 10-5 30 Sal 10-12 30 MUSEUM OF MANKIND, Burling-ton 1:dn:, VI. ASANTE Kingdom of Gold. VLNY- 16-5. Suns. 2:30-n. Adm. tree. WRAXALL GALLERY 27 Cheval Plane, Suff. 742 5657. Surding by Abrahams & HALL WEG, Publings by PROCKTOS. STOCKHAM & TURLINGTON, Until 29 Aug., Mon-Sal. 10-6. NEW ART CENTRE, 41 Shahe St S.W.1. 01-255 2011, July 21-Aug 38 Moore, Sutherland Piper Hitchens, elf

OWEN EDGAR, 6 West Halkin St. isclaratia. S W.L. 1975 1996 EXHIBITIONS — 1 IMPORTANT 1916 C. PAINTINGS — 1 Incl. 7th August Man-Prit, 10-6, Wate for tree brothere. EXHIBITIONS FAUSTUS CALLERIES, 01 formore St. 5W1, 01-950 1864 AN ENGLISH VISION, An exhibition including William Blake, Sampel (Somer, Edward Calvert, Pact Nash and Graham Sutherland, 20-51 July, Mon-Sat, 9 50 to 3, 70 PARKIN GALLERY, 11 Moltomb St S.W.1. 01-235 8111 SI S.W. 01-255 HTT CHRISTOPHER NEVE, NICHOLAS HELY HUTCHINSON, UNIII LUGUST 122H Important 19th Century Paintings
New on view
6 Duke Si. St. James's, S.W.1., 01-50 19th, Gallery hours:
Mon.-ft, 4.50 p.m.,
5al 11 a.m.-1 p.m. ROYAL ACADEMY Picadilly. N i Summer Fabilities nil 16 Aug Leonardo Da Vinci nil 1 Oct Onen dalle 10-5. Clord July 29 Adm. 19 asch at 21.70. Concessionare rate 61 20 acoirs. OAP c students, children and till 1.15 Suns.

ROYAL WESTMINSTER, 1.00° veers of litstore Parliament Squar, SWI Mon-Sat 10-6 Thurs 10-8, Sum 12-6 Adm Cl. 20 & El 09. W. H. PATTERSON, Commercial free Cylindron of HELPN BRAD-LEV, M.B.E. Until 1 Aggust, Mon. Std. 10-6, 19 Albertario St. W. I.

WENDING DOTSES FOR THE FRINCESS OF WALES STONE CHICAGO CHICAGO

ment. But Mr ment shou find a wa The movi ahout solv as trade cirizens of Sudden severe pri past have among Pi prices wa Governmen programme he one of the econd First, socie dent that acceptable can be disc self-manage conflict he lem. but I to terms. self-manage and the G cooperate (self-manas accomplish The auti ahout an managemer planning -1 ienets of s argument in a p should be independen ad vocates a way to pos of its pres difficulties optimistica. prospects f

Mr. P

(estat Valore

7

EXCL

25 Fat, unfinished - ip short, Capone (8). religious books (8).

26 Dashed to be patched up (6). 27 Equivocates about singular

Today's events

Royal exhibitions

ACROSS

fly (6).

phoney (6).

print (12).

(9).

(5).

The Duke of Gloucester, as patron, attends World Canoc Championships, Holme Pierrepont, dent, Loughborough Singing Week, visits Loughborough, 4.15.

Royal wedding souvenirs, Design Centre, Haymarket, 9.30; royal wedding dresses of past, Museum

London, London Wall, 10 to

; Imperial collection, crown cwels and regalia of 15 countries,

Central Hall, Westminster, 10 to 7; replicas of wedding dress of

The Times Crossword Puzzle No 15,591

1 Not paying attention to open-

5 Vulgarian daughter is kind of 10 Regrets work being rejected as

12 Head has written letter to 14 Record measure in a row of 18 Voters that make things up?

21 Trust me to become extreme

23 Girl: age about one hundred

9 Country girl's studies (8).

donor of prize (5).

13 Young people's achievement (9).

24 No trains? Check (6).

ing of debate is characteristic

DOWN I The gods made her bay (6). 2 Penman to score (6).

3 About mum holding one kind of elastic (9). 4 Sharp rise seen in deception, for example (12).

7 Funny comedian with super natural powers (8).

not walking (8). 11 Stuff for bowmen (12). 15 In this dramatic murder scene see (9).

8 Walking, in a way - in a way,

Dehenhams, Oxford Street, from 9.30; Royal Family associations with Loudon Transport, Loudon Transport Museum, Flower Mar-ker, Covent Garden, 10 to 6;

Anne's, Guildhail, Windsor, 10.30 to 5; royal celebrations, Cameo Stamp Centre, 75 Strand, 9 to 5.30; royal Westminster, tracing Westminster's history from pre-

16 Used brush or brushwood base 17 More difficult for tinker to repair (8). 19 Calling about one for Philippic (6).

20 A slight touch of anxiety over the ship (6). 22 Fred's capital in part of Baron Carva (5).

Solution of Puzzle No 15,590

historic times, especially bor-ough's royal links, Royal Insti-tute of Chartered Surveyors, Par-liament Square, 10 to 6; por-trait of Lady Diana Spencer, National Portrait Gallery, 10; figure of Lady Diana, Madame Tussand's Marelabore, Park 6 Tussaud's, Marylebone Road, Talks Royal Connections, Royal School of Needlework, 25 Princes Gate, Kensington, 9.30 to 5.

Crafts made for royal wedding, Charles de Temple Gallery, 52 Jermyn Street, 11 to 5: "A Princess for Wales", royal weddings from Queen Victoria's to Princess for Could be seen to 200 Talks

Clodion's Cupid and Psyche, by Anne Ceresole, 11, Chinese jade, by Gillian Darby, 2.30, Baroque cabinets by Sarah Bowles, 3.30, all Victoria and Albert Museum; Raphael, by Colin Wiggins, National Gallery, 1; "The campaigns of Turhmosis III", 11.30, "Tombs of the nobles", 1.15, by George Hart, British Museum; "Pop Art; 2", by Pat Turner, Tate Gallery, 1; "Flesh-eating animals", by Joyce Pope, Natural History Museum, Kensington, 3; internal combustion engines, Science Museum, 1.

Music Christopher Herrick, organ, Westminster Abbey, 6.30; Philip Norman, organ and Allan Brafield, trumpet, St Olave, Hart Street, 1.05; Sandra McCartney, organ, St Mary-at-Hill, 1.15.

Band concerts College Garden, Westminster Abbey, 12.30; St Paul's steps, 12; St James's Park, 12.30 and 5.30; Regent's Park, 12.30 and 5.30. Walks

Historic charm of Mayfair and St James's, meet Green Park station, 11; royal tour, including changing of the guard, meet St James's station, 10.30; fashionable London, meet Green Park station, 7; Roman wall, meet Tower Hill station, 7 station, 7.

Royal timetable

The Prince and Princess of Wales will spend the first three days of their honeymoon at Broadlands, Romsey, Hampshire, the home of Lord Romsey.

They will leave on Saturday afternoon for Eastleigh airport to fly to Gibraltar, arriving there at about 5 pm. At 6.30 pm they will board the royal yacht Britannia for a two-week Mediterranean cruise.

The royal wedding presents will go on public view at St James's Palace from August 5 to October 4. The exhibition will be open on Mondays to Saturdays from 10 to 7 and from noon to 6 on Sundays. (Admission £1.50 for adults, 80p for children under 15, and 70p for pensioners. Proceeds to go to a charity chosen by the Prince).

by the Prince). It is planned to exhibit the Princess's wedding dress but where and when has still to be

Papers

The New York Times, in an edi-torial entitled "The Wedding, at a proper distance", recalled the episode in Upstairs, Downstairs in which Edward VII came to dinner and was cheered when he arrived, the servants peering from an upstairs landing holding their breath, "No one of them was close enough to see a quite ordin-ary man with a cough. Kept at a distance, they saw instead a king ", the newspaper commented. "The British Royal Family has correctly gauged the point at which man and myth marry. . . In celebrat-ing the marriage of its eldest son. and with the extraordinary pomp and ceremony that is uniquely ROYAL EYE VIEW: This photograph was taken from the top of Buckingham Palace, and shows the kind of view the Royal Family get from the balcony below. Crowds are packed round to Victoria Memorial and right up to the Mall to Trafalgar Square to salute the Prince and Princess of Wales and the wedding guests.

THE TIMES INFORMATION SERVICE

after all, still here."

The conservative and authoritative Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung said in a leading article: "Every nation has its method of dealing with problems or over-coming them. In Britain's case, the most important element in this method is continuity, which is embodied in the monarchy." In Sao Paulo O Estado said

In Sao Paulo O Estade said the royal wedding was a moment to dream for the English, who could temporarily forget their racial problems.

Die Welt said of British Government plan for alleviating youth unemployment: "As long as industry and above all the unions—with their completely unrealistic wage demands for apprentices—resist a vocational training tices—resist a vocational training system like the German one; government money like this will be no more than a drop in the bucket."

The Washington Post yesterday gave support in an editorial to the rival tax bill being presented by the Democrats. Corriere Della Sera reported that an amnesty was expected for tax offences.

The Pound

Bánk buys 1.70 33.55 81.25 2.33 14.77 8.75 11.12 Australia S Austria Sch Belgium Fr Canada 5 Denmark Kr Finland Mkk 14.07 8.35 10.62 France Fr Germany DM Greece Dr Hongkong S Ireland Pt Italy Lir Japan Yn Netherlands Gld 10.45 1.22 2210.00 438.00 4.98 11.25 118.00 1.81 176.50 2310.00 Norway Kr Portugal Esc South Africa Rd Spain Pta Sweden Kr Switzerland Fr USA $ Vuscolaria Dor Yugoslavia Dnr 75.00 70.00 Hairs for small denomination bank notes only, as supplied on Tuesday by Barclays Bank international Lid. Different rates apply to travellors' cheques and other foreign currency business. London: The FT Index fell on Tuesday 3.2 points to 525.3.

Roads

Midlands: One lane of A5 closed just north of Atherstone, near Hinckley and temporary signals at Paulerspury, between Towcester and Story Stratford, on A5. All M6 traffic shares one carriageway between junctions 9 (Wednesbury) and 11 (Wolverhampton). Junction 10 (Walsall) completely shut. Follow diversion. North : All traffic sharing one

Carriageway on A1 from junction
G at Carville to junction H,
Chester-le-Street intersection, Durham. Two-way traffic on M6 between junctions 37 and 38, near

Wales and the West: Several lanes of M4 closed between junctions 24 (A449/Midlands) and 25 (Newport). Outside lanes of M5 in both directions closed between junction 22 (A38/Burnham on Sea) and impedion 22 (A38/Burnham on Sea) and junction 23 (A38/Bridgwater) Scotland : Northbound traffic on Scotland: Northbound traits on A947. old Meldrum Road, Bucks-burn, Aberdeen, diverted via Bank-head. M90, between junctions 4 (Kelty) and 10 (M85/Dundee), several lanes of both carriageways

Information supplied by AA.

Latest pamphlets

Discovering Canals in Britain, by Peter L. Smith. The history of canals from early river navigadecline due to railway competi tion, to their re-emergence for leisure cruising. Useful guide for day excursions to waterway sites or for longer cruising. (Shire Pub-lications Ltd, Cronwell House, Church Street, Princes Risborough, Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, 51.35.)

Strolling Through London, by Frank Cook, Nine leisurely expeditions in detail to self-contained London neighbourhoods, each with London neighbourhoods, each with own distinctive personality. The emphasis is on strolling. Each suggested tour is about two miles long. Ideal for visitors and rourists but mutives might also learn a thing or two. (Frank Cook ravel Guides, & Wykeham Court, Old Perry Street, Chisheburst, Kent, £1.75.)

Desperative Wellie for Majorists

Derbyshire Walks for Motorists, by Clifford Thompson. "There is a challenge, a remoteness, a mag-netic desolation on the heights of the northern moors that is not found elsewhere in the county ". Mr Thompson says. He has selected 30 circular walks where, having parked his car, the motorist can enjoy a freedom not available elsewhere. The walks vary from 2½ to 12 miles long. (Frederick Warne Ltd. 40 Bedford Square, London, WC, £1.50.)

Sporting fixtures

Cricket : Fourth Test, England Australia, at Birmingham (11.30 to 6.30), County championship (11 to 6.30, unless stated): Derbyshire v Gloucestershire, at Derby; Lancashire v Essex, at Camerbory; Lancashire v Middlesex, at Southport; Leicestershire v Nortinghamsire, at Hinckley; Somerset v Glamorgan, at Taunton, 11.30 to 7: Surrey v Sussex, at Guildford; Worcestershire v Northamptonshire, at Stourbridge, 11.30 to 7; Yorkshire v Warwickshire, at Scarborough. Other match: Hampshire v Sri Lankans, at Bournemouth, 11.30 to 6.30. 6.30. unless stated): Derbyshire Racing: Meetings at Goodwood, 2, including Goodwood Cup at 3.40, and Doncaster, 2,15.

Golf: English amateur cham-pionship, at Burnham and Berrow, Somerset; British women's open, at Northumberland GC, Newcastle upon Tyne. Tennis : British junior champion ships, at Eastbourne.

Equestrianism : Nations Cup, at Hickstead. Canoeing: World racing championship, at Nortingham.

Pole : Cowdray Park Challenge Cup, at Midburst. Sport on TV BBC 1: 11.25, cricket, fourth Test; 2.05, cricket, fourth Test; 5.10, "We are the Champions", BRC 2: Z.15, racing, Goodwood Cup; 4.25, cricket, fourth Test; 11.30, cricket, fourth Test.

Parliament today

Commons, 2.30: Wildlife and Countryside Bill, completion of remaining stages, Lords, 3: Education Bill, report stage, first day.

Anniversaries

Henry Pord was born at Dearborn, Michigan, 1863, William Penn died at Ruscomb, Berkshire, 1718, and Thomas Gray at Cambridge, 1771. I office.

Weather forecast

The general situation: An anticyclone to the west of the British Isles will persist, with a ridge of high pressure over the country.

Forecasts from 6 am to midnight

Lendon, Central S, SW, Central N
England, Midlands, Channel Islands, Wales:
Dry with sunny pediods; wind NE light;
max term 23 to 25C (73 to 77F).
SE Empland, East Anglia: Cloudy at first,
soon dispersing inland to give sunny periods,
but peristing on constat, wind NE or E light; max temp 24C (73F); sormal or costs 20C (68F).
E, NW, NE England, Lake District, Isle
Man, Borders, Edinlands, Bondes, Aberdeen: Dry with sonny periods; wind variable, light; max temp 2L to 23C (70 to 73F).
SCOtland, Glasgow, Central Highlands, Argyll, N Jurished: Cloudy at first.

variable, light; max temp 21 to 23C (70 to 73F).

SW Scotland, Elasgow, Carbel High-lands, Argyll, N Ireland: Cloudy at first, sunny periods developing; wind W, light; max temp 21C (70F).

Mazar Farth, Ne. NW Scotland, Orkney, Shetland: Mainly cloudy, some rain or drizzle at first, but sunny intervals developing; wind W, moderate; max temp 16C (61F).

Outlook for temperate max temp 16C (61F).

Outlook for temperate sand Saturday: Mostly dry and warm with sunny intervals apart from some rain over N Scotland. Some thundery rain in the extreme S.

SEA PASSAGES: S, North Sea: Wind N to NE light or moderate; san slight, Siralts of

SEA PASSAGES: 5, resuch seal which it in the light or moderate; sea slight, Straits of Doyer, English Channel (E): Wind NE light or moderate; sea slight becoming moderate later, St George's Channel: Wind NE light or moderate; Sea slight. Irlish Sea: Wind NW becoming variable light;

5m sets : 8.52 pm Son rises : 5.21 am New mass : Torontous.

Yesterday Temperatures at midday yesterday : c, cloud ; i, fair ; s, son.

C F f 15 59 Supruse/ c 17 63 Inversess f 16 61 Jersey e 21 70 London c 20 68 Manchester s 18 64 Newtastle s 17 63 Romaldsway

Gorleston

Lighting up time Lander 9.22 pm to 4.52 am Bristol 9.32 pm to 5.02 am Edinburgh 9.54 pm to 4.45 am Manchestar 9.39 pm to 4.52 am 9.39 pm to 4.52 am

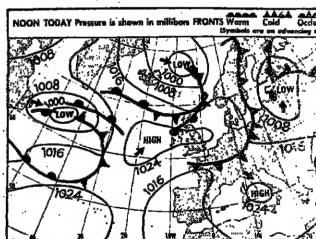

London

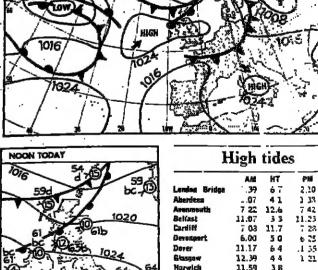

Temp: max 7 am to 7 pm 24C (75F); sin 7 pm to 7 am, 18C (64F). Humidity; 7 pm, 58 per cent. Raio: 24hr to 7 pm, sil, Sun: 24hr to 7 pm, 8.4hrs. Bar, mean sea teet, 7 pm, 1,020,5 millibars, steady. 1,000 millibars=29.53in.

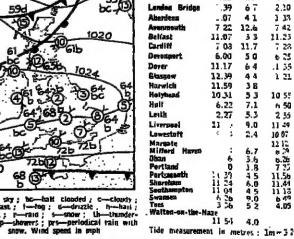

Satellite predictions LONDON: Big Bird: 22.34-22.37; SE°; 45NE; N. Intercornes 14R (July 31); 2.41-2.48; SSW°; 75N; NNE.

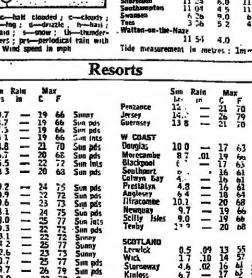

MANCHESTER: Casmas 236R: 22 14-22.20: W; 60NNW; ENE. Big Bird: 22.34-22.37; SE'; 4SE; N. Intercasmas 14R (July 31): 2.41-2.48; SSW'; BOESE; NNE. Satellite

TIMES NEWSPAPERS
LIMITED 1981
Printed and published by Times Newspapers Limited, P.O. Rev 7, 200 Gray's lan Road, London WGLY REZ, England,
Telephone: 01-8-7, 125-1, Telext,
25-1971, Thursday, July 30, 1981.

مكدا من الاص